TREATIES, ENGAGEMENTS, AND SANADS

RELATING TO THE

TERRITORIES COMPRISED WITHIN, OR IN POLITICAL

RELATION WITH,

THE

I—BENGAL.

IN 1599 an Association was formed to trade with the East Indies, and on the 31st December 1600 they obtained from Queen Elizabeth an exclusive charter of privilege, constituting them a body politic and corporate, by the name of "The Governor and Company of Merchants of London trading to the East Indies."

The Company's first factory was established at Surat.

In 1624, a Farman was obtained from the Mughal (Mogul) Emperor Jahangir, permitting the English to trade with Bengal, but restricting them to the port of Pipri in Midnapur. The regular connection of the Company with Bengal, however, did not commence till 1642, when a factory was established at Balasor; and in 1652 permission was obtained for unlimited trade, without payment of customs, on an annual payment of 3,000 Rupees.

In 1661 Charles II. granted a new charter, vesting the Company with power to make peace or war with any Prince not Christian, and to seize and send to England unlicensed traders. A fresh charter was again granted in 1693, confirming the exclusive privileges of the Company for twenty-one years. In 1698 a rival Company was formed, known as the new or "English Company," which amalgamated with the old or "London Company" in 1702, and the two parties took the name of "The United Company of Merchants trading to the East Indies."

During the administration of Shaista Khan, Subadar of Bengal, the English were subjected to much oppression. Shaista Khan exacted a duty of $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. on their merchandise, and his officers arbitrarily extorted large sums from the factors, until in 1685 it was resolved to seek redress by force of arms. The hostile attitude of the English exasperated the Emperor Aurangzeb, who ordered that they should be expelled from his dominions. The Company's factories were seized, and their affairs were brought to the brink of ruin when negotiations for peace were set on foot, and a reconciliation was effected.

In 1698 the English obtained permission from Azam-ush-Shan, grandson of Aurangzeb and Governor of Bengal, to purchase the towns of Sutanati, Govindpur and Calcutta. The sanad is not supposed to be extant; but it is more a matter of antiquarian interest than of historic importance.

In 1756 Nawab Siraj-ud-Daula became Subadar of Bengal in succession to his grandfather Alivardi Khan. He had previously manifested aversion to the English. The Governor of Calcutta refused to deliver up one of the principal officers of finance under the Nawab's late uncle, the Governor of Dacca, whom the Nawab had resolved to plunder, whereupon Siraj-ud-Daula attacked and captured Calcutta on the 5th August. One hundred and forty-six English fell into his hands and were thrust into "The Black Hole," where all save twenty-three perished in the night. On the 2nd January 1757 Calcutta was re-taken by a force from Madras under Clive and Admiral Watson, and on the 4th of February the Nawab's army was surprised and defeated by Clive. Overtures were then made by the Nawab, and on the 9th February 1757 a Treaty (No. I) was concluded, by which the Nawab agreed not to molest the Company in the enjoyment of their privileges; to permit all goods belonging to the Company to pass freely by land or water, without paying any duties or fees; to restore the factories and plundered property; to permit the Company to fortify Calcutta; and to establish a mint. Three days later a Contract (No. II) with the Nawab, offensive and defensive, was signed.

War having broken out between France and England, Clive attacked the French settlement of Chandarnagar (Chandernagore). Siraj-ud-Daula furnished the French with arms and money, and was preparing to make common cause against the English. At this juncture a confederacy was formed among Siraj-ud-Daula's chief officers to depose him. The English joined this confederacy, and concluded a Treaty (No. III) with Mir Jafar Ali Khan. At the battle of Plassey, which was fought on the 23rd June 1757, the power of Siraj-ud-Daula was completely broken, and Mir Jafar was installed by Clive as Subadar of Bengal with the title of Nawab.

In 1758 the Shahzada, afterwards Shah Alam, fled from Delhi, in consequence of some dispute with his father, the Emperor Alamgir II., and entered into a league with the Subadars of Oudh and Allahabad for the conquest of the Lower Provinces. The Prince entered Behar with about 40,000 men, and laid siege to Patna.

Mir Jafar was greatly alarmed, and Clive marched to his aid with what force he could muster. The terror of Clive's name was sufficient, and ere he reached Patna the Shahzada's army had almost entirely dispersed. As a reward for this service Mir Jafar granted Clive the quit-rent, about three lakhs per annum, which the Company had agreed to pay for the zamindari of Calcutta.*

In 1759 an armament of seven ships from Batavia unexpectedly made its appearance in the mouth of the Hugli. Mir Jafar had secretly encouraged the Dutch to send this force. He was alarmed at the growing power of the English, and wished to counter-balance it with that of the Dutch, while the latter were eager to share in the wealth which the British had acquired in Bengal. Clive, though sensible of the responsibility he would incur by attacking the forces of a friendly power, was satisfied that, if he allowed the Batavian armament to join the garrison at Chinsura, the Nawab would throw himself into the arms of his new allies, and the English ascendancy in Bengal would be exposed to serious danger. To prevent this, he obtained from the fears of the Nawab a mandate, directing the newly arrived armament to leave the river. Under the authority of this order, and with the pretext of enforcing it, Clive caused the Dutch to be attacked both by land and water. They were completely defeated, and all their ships were taken. A Convention (No. IV) was then signed, by which the Dutch agreed to pay an indemnity, and the English to restore their ships and property. An Agreement (No. V) was at the same time made between the Nawab and the Dutch, which was guaranteed by the Governor in Council of Fort William.

To meet his pecuniary engagements, Mir Jafar had recourse to the severest exactions. He resigned himself to unworthy favorites; and it became necessary to depose him in favour of his son-in-law Mir Kasim Ali Khan, with whom a Treaty (No. VI) was concluded on the 27th September 1760. By this treaty the British obtained possession of Bardwan, Midnapur and Chittagong.

Serious disputes arose between Mir Kasim and the English regarding the right of the servants of the Company to trade and to have their goods passed free of duty, and these disputes led at last to war. Negotiations were opened with Mir Jafar, and on the 10th July 1763 a Treaty (No. VII) was executed between him and the Company. Mir Kasim, after sustaining a series of defeats, and revenging himself by the murder of his English prisoners, fled to Oudh, and eventually to Delhi, where he died in great indigence and obscurity in 1777.

In 1764 Mir Jafar agreed to pay five lakhs a month (No. VIII), in addition to the sums for which he had contracted in the recent treaty, towards the expense of the war, which was then being carried on against the Wazir of Oudh, who, with the Emperor Shah Alam, had espoused the cause of Mir Kasim.

Mir Jafar died in January 1765, and was succeeded by his son Najm-ud-Daula, with whom a new Treaty (No. IX) was concluded, by which the Company took the military defence of the country entirely into its own hands, and among other conditions the Nawab bound himself to appoint, by the advice of the Governor and Council, a Deputy to conduct the government, who should not be removable without their consent.

In 1764 the army of Shuja-ud-Daula, the Wazir of Oudh, who, under the pretence of assisting Mir Kasim, had invaded Behar, was completely routed, and the Wazir was obliged to throw himself on the generosity of the English. The whole of his dominions were restored to him, except Allahabad and Kora, which were given to the Emperor of Delhi, who, on his part, conferred the Diwani of Bengal, Behar and Orissa on the Company by Imperial Farman (No. X); the English became security for the regular payment of twenty-six lakhs a year by the Nawab, and agreed to allow the Nawab the annual sum of 53,86,131 Sikka Rupees for the support of the Nizamat.

Najm-ud-Daula died on the 8th May 1766, and was succeeded by his brother Saif-ud-Daula, a youth of sixteen. A Treaty (No. XI) was concluded with him, by which he ratified the treaties formerly concluded with his father and brother, and the Company agreed to support him in the Nizamat, and to allow him an annual stipend of 41,86,131 Rupees.

Saif-ud-Daula was succeeded in 1770 by his brother Mubarak-ud-Daula, with whom a new Engagement (No. XII) was made. By this engagement the Nawab Nazim's stipend was fixed at 31,81,991 Rupees. This is the last treaty which was formed with the Nawab Nazim. The office of Subadar had now become merely a nominal one, all real power having passed into the hands of the Company. In 1772 the stipend was reduced to sixteen lakhs a year, at which rate it continued to be paid down to 1880. In 1869 the Nawab Nazim, Saiyid Mansur Ali Khan, left Murshidabad and went with his family to England, where he took up his permanent residence.

In 1873 the affairs of the Nawab Nazim having fallen into confusion, Commissioners were appointed under a special Act to arrange for the liquidation of his debts and to ascertain the amount of jewels and immovable property held by the Government for the purpose of upholding the dignity of the Nawab Nazim for the time being. By this Act the Nawab was declared incapable of contracting any pecuniary obligation.

In 1880, Saiyid Mansur Ali Khan Bahadur agreed to retire from the position of Nawab Nazim, and to renounce and relinquish all claims and demands to the position and title of "Nazim and Subadar of Bengal, Behar and Orissa" and all personal right of interference in Nizamat affairs, in consideration of an annual stipend of £10,000, or a payment of Rs. 10,00,000, in settlement of various miscellaneous claims, and of a suitable provision for his four children born in England. The conditions of this arrangement are embodied in a formal deed, dated the 1st November 1880, which Saiyid Mansur Ali executed in London. On the abdication of Saiyid Mansur Ali, the title "Nawab Nazim of Bengal, Behar and Orissa" ceased to exist. His eldest son, Nawab Ali Kadr Saiyid Hasan Ali Mirza, has been granted the hereditary title of "Nawab Bahadur of Murshidabad," and allowed precedence over all titled nobles of Bengal. To Nawab Ali Kadr has also been assigned an annual allowance of Rs. 3,30,000. The Nawab Nazim died at Murshidabad on the 5th November 1884.

On the 13th August 1814 a Treaty* was concluded in London between Great Britain and the Netherlands, providing, among other stipulations, for the

* This Treaty and the Additional Articles will be found in Hertslet's Treaties, Vol. I, pp. 359—369.

The following are the Articles which have reference to India—

I. His Britannic Majesty engages to restore to the Prince Sovereign of the United Netherlands, within the term which shall be hereafter fixed, the Colonies, Factories, and Establishments which were possessed by Holland at the commencement of the late war, viz., on the 1st January 1803, in the seas and on the continents of America, Africa, and Asia; with the exception of the Cape of Good Hope and the Settlements of Demerara, Essequibo, and Berbice, of which possessions the high Contracting Parties reserve to Themselves the right to dispose by a Supplementary Convention, hereafter to be negotiated according to Their mutual interests, and specially with reference to the provisions contained in the 6th and 9th Articles of the Treaty of Peace signed between His Britannic Majesty and His Most Christian Majesty on the 30th of May 1814.

II. His Britannic Majesty agrees to cede in full Sovereignty the Island of Banca, in the Eastern Seas, to the Prince Sovereign of the Netherlands, in exchange for the Settlement of Cochin and its Dependencies on the coast of Malabar, which is to remain in full Sovereignty to His Britannic Majesty.

restoration to the Dutch of the factories and establishments possessed by them in India and the Eastern Seas on the 1st January 1803: by an additional article the Dutch agreed to cede to the British Government the district of Baranagar on payment of an annual sum to be fixed by mutual agreement.

In pursuance of these arrangements formal Deeds of transfer were executed in the cases of Chinsura and Baranagar respectively (Nos. XIII and XIV). The transfer of Kalkapur to the Dutch remained in abeyance in consequence of their assertion of a claim to the exercise of certain prescriptive rights of sovereignty and independence within that factory which were inconsistent with its purely commercial status.

The tenure of the Dutch was not of long duration. By articles 8 and 13 of the Treaty between Great Britain and the Netherlands, dated the 17th March 1824 (No. XV), the Dutch settlements in Bengal were again made over to the British Government, in whose possession they have ever since remained, and formal Deeds of transfer of the settlements of Chinsura, Falta, Kalkapur, Balasor, Dacca, and Patna* were executed (Nos. XVI to XX).

III. The places and forts in the colonies and settlements which, by virtue of the two preceding Articles, are to be ceded and exchanged by the two high Contracting Parties, shall be given up in the state in which they may be at the moment of the signature of the present Convention.

IV. His Britannic Majesty guarantees to the subjects of His Royal Highness the Prince Sovereign of the United Netherlands, the same facilities, privileges, and protection, with respect to commerce and the security of their persons and property within the limits of the British Sovereignty on the Continent of India, as are now or shall be granted to the most favoured nations.

His Royal Highness the Prince Sovereign, on his part, having nothing more at heart than the perpetual duration of peace between the Crown of England and the United Netherlands, and wishing to do His utmost to avoid anything which might affect their mutual good understanding, engages not to erect any fortifications in the establishments which are to be restored to Him within the limits of the British Sovereignty upon the Continent of India, and only to place in those establishments the number of troops necessary for the maintenance of the police.

V. Those colonies, factories, and establishments which are to be ceded to His Royal Highness the Prince Sovereign of the United Netherlands by His Britannic Majesty, in the Seas or on the Continent of America, shall be given up within three months, and those which are beyond the Cape of Good Hope, within the six months which follow the ratification of the present Convention.

ADDITIONAL ARTICLE—II.

ADDITIONAL ARTICLE.

II. The small district of Baranagar, situated close to Calcutta, being requisite to the due preservation of the peace and police of that city, the Prince of Orange agrees to cede the said district to His Britannic Majesty, upon a payment of such sum annually to His Royal Highness as may be considered, by Commissioners to be appointed by the respective Governments, to be just and reasonable, with reference to the profits or revenue usually derived by the Dutch Government from the same.

* The deed relating to Patna is not forthcoming.

In accordance with the provisions of the Treaty* of Kiel, dated the 14th January 1814, between Great Britain and Denmark, the town of Serampur and the Danish possessions attached thereto were restored to Denmark (No. XXI). The British Government again obtained possession of Serampur by the Treaty of the 22nd February 1845 (No. XXII) with Denmark.

On the 7th March 1815 a Treaty† was signed between Great Britain and France, by which the supply of salt, opium, and saltpetre to the French establishments in India were regulated. To give full effect to this treaty, a Convention was agreed upon on the 13th May 1818 between the Adminis-

The following Article has reference to India :—

III. His Majesty the King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland consents to restore to His Danish Majesty all the possessions and colonies which have been conquered by the British arms in this present war, except the Island of Heligoland, which His Britannic Majesty reserves to himself with full and unlimited sovereignty.

Additional Articles signed at Liege, 7th April 1814 :—

I. The evacuations, cessions, and restitutions, stipulated by the above-mentioned Treaty, shall be executed in Europe within a month, in the seas of America within three months, and in the continent and seas of Asia within six months, after the ratification of the Definite Treaty.

II. It is further agreed that in all the cases of cession stipulated, there shall be allowed to the inhabitants, of whatever condition or nation they may be, a term of three years, reckoning from the ratification of the present Treaty, to dispose of their property, acquired and possessed whether before or in the course of the war; during which term of three years they shall be at liberty freely to exercise their religion, and to enjoy their property. The same facility is granted within the countries restored, to all persons, inhabitants or others, who shall have formed any establishments during the time which those countries were possessed by Great Britain.

In respect to the inhabitants of the countries restored or ceded, it is agreed that no one shall be prosecuted, disturbed, or troubled, either personally or in his property, under any pretext, on account of his political opinions or conduct, or of his attachment to either of the high Contracting Parties, or for any other cause, unless it be for debts contracted with individuals, or for acts subsequent to the present Treaty.

III. The decision of every claim between individuals of the respective nations for any debts, property, effects or rights whatever, which conformably to common usage and the law of nations ought to be brought forward, shall be referred to the competent tribunals, and in such cases there shall be prompt and complete justice rendered in the countries where the claims are respectively put forth.

CONVENTION between GREAT BRITAIN and FRANCE, signed at London, the 7th of March 1815.

In the name of the Most Holy and Undivided Trinity.

The trade in salt and opium throughout the British Sovereignty in India having been subjected to certain regulations and restrictions, which, unless due provision be made, might occasion differences between the subjects and agents of His Britannic Majesty and those of His Most Christian Majesty; Their said Majesties have thought proper to conclude a Special Convention for the purpose of preventing such differences, and removing every cause of dispute between their respective subjects in that part of the world, and in this view have named for their respective plenipotentiaries, viz., His Majesty the King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Robert, trators of the French establishments in India and the Government of Fort St. George, by which the manufacture of salt in the French

And His Majesty the King of France and Navarre, the Sieur Claude Louis de la Chatre, descendant of the Princes of Deols, Count de la Chatre, His Ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary at the Court of London, &c., &c., &c., who, after having communicated to each other their respective Full Powers, found in good and due form, have agreed upon the following articles:—

I. His Most Christian Majesty engages to let at farm to the British Government in India the exclusive right to purchase at a fair and equitable price, to be regulated by that which the said Government shall have paid for salt in the districts in the vicinity of the French possessions on the coast of Coromandel and Orissa respectively, the salt that may be manufactured in the said possessions, subject to a reservation of the quantity that the Agents of His Most Christian Majesty shall deem requisite for the domestic use and consumption of the inhabitants thereof; and upon the condition that the British Government shall deliver in Bengal to the Agents of His Most Christian Majesty, the quantity of salt that may be judged necessary for the consumption of the inhabitants of Chandernagore, reference being had to the population of the said settlement, such delivery to be made at the price which the British Government shall have paid for the said article.

II. In order to ascertain the prices as aforesaid, the official accounts of the charges incurred by the British Government, for the salt manufactured in the districts in the vicinity of the French settlements on the coasts of Coromandel and Orissa respectively, shall be open to the inspection of a Commissioner to be appointed for that purpose by the Agents of His Most Christian Majesty in India; and the price to be paid by the British Government shall be settled according to an average to be taken every three years, of the charges as aforesaid ascertained by the said official accounts, commencing with the three years preceding the date of the present Convention.

The price of salt at Chandernagore to be determined, in the same manner, by the charges incurred by the British Government for the salt manufactured in the districts nearest to the said Settlement.

III. It is understood that the salt works in the possessions belonging to His Most Christian Majesty shall be and remain under the direction and administration of the Agents of His said Majesty.

IV. With a view to the effectual attainment of the objects in the contemplation of the high Contracting Parties, His Most Christian Majesty engages to establish in His possessions on the coasts of Coromandel and Orissa, and at Chandernagore in Bengal, nearly the same price for salt, as that at which it shall be sold by the British Government in the vicinity of each of the said possessions.

V. In consideration of the stipulations expressed in the preceding Articles, His Britannic Majesty engages that the sum of four lakhs of Sicca Rupees shall be paid annually to the Agents of His Most Christian Majesty, duly authorised, by equal quarterly instalments; such instalments to be paid at Calcutta or at Madras, ten days after the bills that may be drawn for the same by the said Agents shall have been presented to the Government of either of those Presidencies; it being agreed that the rent above stipulated shall commence from the 1st of October 1814.

VI. With regard to the trade in opium, it is agreed between the high Contracting Parties, that at each of the periodical sales of that article, there shall be reserved for the French Government, and delivered upon requisition duly made by the Agents of His Most Christian Majesty, or by the persons duly appointed by them, the number of chests so applied for; provided that such supply shall not exceed 800 chests in each year; and the price to be paid for the same shall be determined by the average rate at which opium shall have been sold at every such periodical sale; it being understood that if the quantity of opium applied for at any one time shall not be taken on account of the French Government by the Agents of His Most Christian Majesty, within the usual period of delivery, the quantity so applied for shall nevertheless be considered as so much in deduction of the 800 chests hereinbefore mentioned.

The requisitions of opium as aforesaid are to be addressed to the Governor-General, at Calcutta within thirty days after notice of the intended sale shall have been published in the Calcutta Gazette.

possessions throughout India was to cease, and 4,000 Star Pagodas were to be paid annually to the French Government as an indemnification to

VII. In the event of any restriction being imposed upon the exportation of saltpetre, the subjects of His Most Christian Majesty shall nevertheless be allowed to export that article to the extent of 18,000 mounds.

VIII. His Most Christian Majesty, with the view of preserving the harmony subsisting between the two nations, having engaged by the twelfth Article of the Treaty concluded at Paris, on the 30th of May 1814, not to erect any fortifications in the establishments to be restored to Him by the said Treaty, and to maintain no greater number of troops than may be necessary for the purposes of police; His Britannic Majesty on His part, in order to give every security to the subjects of His Most Christian Majesty residing in India, engages, if at any time there should arise between the high Contracting Parties any misunderstanding or rupture (which God forbid), not to consider or treat as prisoners of war, those persons who belong to the civil establishments of His Most Christian Majesty in India, nor the officers, non-commissioned officers, or soldiers, who, according to the terms of the said Treaty, shall be necessary for the maintenance of the police in the said establishments, and to allow them to remain three months to settle their personal affairs, and also to grant them the necessary facilities and means of conveyance to France with their families and private property.

His Britannic Majesty further engages to permit the subjects of His Most Christian Majesty in India, to continue their residence and commerce so long as they shall conduct themselves peaceably, and shall do nothing contrary to the laws and regulations of the Government.

But in case their conduct should render them suspected, and the British Government should judge it necessary to order them to quit India, they shall be allowed the period of six months to retire with their effects and property to France, or to any other country they may choose.

At the same time it is to be understood that this favour is not to be extended to those who may act contrary to the laws and regulations of the British Government.

IX. All Europeans and others whosoever, against whom judicial proceedings shall be instituted within the limits of the said settlements or factories belonging to His Most Christian Majesty, for offences committed, or for debts contracted within the said limits, and who shall take refuge out of the same, shall be delivered up to the Chiefs of the said settlements and factories; and all Europeans and others whosoever, against whom judicial proceedings as aforesaid shall be instituted without the said limits, and who shall take refuge within the same, shall be delivered up by the Chiefs of the said settlements and factories, upon demand being made of them by the British Government.

X. ment agreeing to sell this salt at approximately the same price as that obtained by the British Government in the adjoining districts.

In 1839 a Convention (No. XXIII) was signed, by which the French Government at Chandarnagar renounced their right to the supply of salt in consideration of receiving an annual payment of Rupees 20,000, and further agreed to give every facility for the sale of British salt in Chandarnagar, and to assist the British Government in realising the revenue produced by its consumption.

In 1853 a Convention (No. XXIV) was signed at Paris by which the boundaries of the French and English possessions round Chandarnagar were readjusted.

In 1884 a Convention* was concluded for five years between the Government of India and the French Government, represented by the Chef de Service at Chandarnagar. In 1889 this Convention† was renewed for another term of five years.

That we behave in such manner to the inhabitants and lower sort of people, that by our good management the said Pergunnahs may flourish and increase. That we suffer no robbers nor house-breakers to remain within our districts, and take such care of the King's highways that the travellers and passengers may pass and repass without fear or molestation. That (which God forbid) if the effects of any person be plundered or stolen we discover and produce the robbers or thieves, together with the goods, and deliver the goods to the owners, and the criminals to condign punishment, or else that we ourselves be responsible for the said goods. That we take especial care that no one be guilty of any crime or drunkenness within the limits of our Zemindarry. That after the expiration of the year, we take a discharge according to custom, and that we deliver the accounts of our Zemindarry agreeable to the stated forms every year into the duffercana of the Circar, and that we refrain from demanding the articles forbidden by the Imperial Court (the Asylum of the World). No. IV.

Au nom de la Trinité très Sainte.

A tous ceux que ces présentes concernent, ou en quelque manière peuvent intéresser, soit notoire.

Le très noble & très Respectable Président & Conseil du fort William, & le très Noble & très respectable Directeur & Conseil du fort Gustavus, dans ces pais ici, témoignant un désir ardent, d'assoupir les troubles qui agitent Bengale, d'obvenir aux calamités si souvent éprouvées, de faire cesser, ôter & terminer tous les obstacles & différens survenus, & de restaurer dans leurs établissemens une tranquillité parfaite, ont pour cette fin nommés, muni de pleins pouvoirs & députés au lieu destiné aux conférences à Garrethy, les honorables Messieurs : savoir.

Le très Noble & très Respectable Directeur et Conseil du fort Gustavus ; Messieurs Jean Bacheracht & Jean Charles Kist : Membres du Conseil Politique & de la Justice.

Lesquels, après s'avoir mutuellement assurés de leurs pleins pouvoirs expédiés en bonne forme, & conféré des différens objets que leur Principaux ici ont jugés nécessaires pour être insérés dans ce présent Instrument d'un general accommodement, finalement sont convenus, après une délibération mure, d'une pacification, dont est issue heureusement une cessation entière de toutes les hostilités tant par mer que par terre, selon les articles dont le contenu ici suivie.

DEMANDES.

de la part des Anglois.

ART 1er.

Messieurs le Directeur & Conseil de Chintsura donneront satisfaction suffisante à Messieurs le Président & Conseil du Fort William de l'insulte offerte au Pavillon Britannique, par les Commandans des Vaisseaux Hollandois, et pour la detention de plusieurs de nos Vaisseaux, qui ont été saisis et arrêtés au bas de la Rivière contre les traités et l'alliance qui subsiste entre les deux Nations, et de la part des Hollandois.

Messieurs les Directeur et Conseil du Chintsura témoignent que comme ils ont toujours eu des sentimens pacifiques, les troubles qui sont entrevenus & ont altéré la bonne intelligence entre les deux Nations, ne peuvent pas produire comme ils n'ont pas produit qu'une douleur sensible, & tout ce qui s'est passé en bas par rapport au Pavillon Anglois et aux insultes qui sont commis, est sans leur ordre et

à regret peut-être par des gens d'Equipage au premier abord dans un mal entendement des ordres, avec quelle démonstration ils espèrent que Messieurs le Gouverneur & Conseil seront suffisamment satisfaits.

ART. 2d.

Messieurs le Directeur & Conseil de Chintsura dédommageront et la Compagnie, & les particuliers de tous dommages causés par les Commandans de leurs Vaisseaux, soit par leur ordre, ou non, et rendront immédiatement tous nos Vaisseaux, munitions, et effets qui peuvent encore rester dans leurs mains.

Comme les Vaisseaux Hollandois ont reçu aussi une grande perte & dommage, il paroît dur d'insister sur le dédommagement; mais ce qui est en effet sera rendu volontairement: On prie Messieurs le Gouverneur & Conseil de réfléchir sur cet Article équitablement, et en cas qu'on ne désistera, nous ferons en sorte de les satisfaire.

ARTICLE 1e.

Que Messieurs les Anglois étant dans les termes d'un accommodement effectuent que leur allié le Nawab s'en retourne ou au moins qu'il se tienne tranquille dans son camp, sans nous faire aucun tort, et que les articles de notre accommodement soient acceptés, approuvés & confirmés par le Nawab, comme principal, autant qu'ils le concernent, tant pour le présent que pour l'avenir.

Nous nous sommes déjà servi de tout notre crédit auprès du Nazim, et nous continuerons de même pour l'engager à faire retirer son armée, le moment que les Messieurs du Gouvernement Hollandois ont rempli ses ordres. Les articles convenus entre les Anglois et les Hollandois ne peuvent point être entremêlés dans le Traité que le Gouvernement de Hougly doit conclure avec le Nazim comme principal.

Comme on n'a agi ni par déclaration de guerre, ni par commission, nos troupes & gens de mer, ne peuvent être considérés comme prisonniers de guerre qui soient sujets à une capitulation, mais simplement comme des arrêtés temporels; de sorte qu'ils doivent être libres, et sortir avec tous les honneurs militaires.

Que toutes les personnes, possessions, établissements, terres, maisons, vaisseaux, bâtimens, tant de la Compagnie, qu'aux particuliers, & tout ce qui en dépend, soient déclarés libres & rendus en présence des Députés exprès, des deux partis, dans l'état qu'ils étoient.

Les Ratifications seront échangées sous l'approbation de Messieurs les Directeurs des Compagnies le plus tôt qu'il sera possible.

Nous ne regardons point les officiers et troupes Hollandoises comme nos prisonniers; mais comme ceux du Nazim : Nous sommes donc prêts à les relacher dès que le gouvernement de Hougly ont fini leur négociation avec le Nazim, à l'exception de ceux qui veulent entrer dans nôtre service, ou qui demandent la protection du pavillon anglois.

Convenu, & arrêté que la Langue françoise, dont on s'est servi dans quelques exemplaires de ce présent traité d'accommodement, & dont on sera obligé de se servir à l'avenir dans son exécution, ne fournira aucun exemple qui pourroit être allégué au préjudice des Maitres et Principaux respectifs des deux parties Contractantes, mais qu'on se réglera dans la suite selon ce qu'on trouvera à l'égard des Principaux des deux partis, qui sont dans le droit, coutume & possession d'expédier & recevoir pareils Traités & actes dans une autre Langue que le françois déjà observé, ou ce qui doit être observé.

Demands on the part of the English.

ARTICLE 1.

The Director and Council of Chinsura shall afford due satisfaction to the President and Council of Fort William for the insult offered to the British flag by the Commanders of Dutch vessels, and for the detention of several of our ships, which have been seized and stopped down the river, contrary to Treaties and the alliance subsisting between the two nations, as well as for other acts of hostility committed by the said vessels.

ARTICLE 2.

The Director and Council of Chinsura shall indemnify both the Company and individuals for all losses caused by the Commanders of their vessels, whether by their orders or not, and shall immediately give up all our ships, munitions, and effects which may still be in their hands.

Replies on the part of the Dutch.

ARTICLE 1.

The Director and Council of Chinsura state, that as they have always entertained pacific sentiments, the troubles which have arisen and affected the good understanding between the two nations cannot but be a source of great pain, and that what has passed respecting the British flag and the insults offered, has taken place without their orders and to their regret.

Those acts may probably have been committed by the people composing the crew under a misconception of orders. With this explanation it is hoped that the Governor and Council will be satisfied.

ARTICLE 2.

As Dutch vessels have also suffered great loss and injury, it seems hard to insist upon indemnification, but what there is in effects shall willingly be restored.

The Governor and Council are requested to consider this Article in a spirit of equity. In the event of their not desisting, we shall endeavour to satisfy them.

Replies on the part of the English.

ARTICLE 1.

We have already used all our influence with the Nazim, and will con-to remain quiet in his camp, without doing us any injury, and that the Articles of our settlement shall be approved, accepted and confirmed by the Nawab as a principal, in as far as they concern him, as well for the present as for the future.

ARTICLE 2.

There shall be a mutual oblivion of all that passed during the prevalence of troubles which have now ceased, as well as a perfect assurance of friendship, fidelity, and communication between the two nations through the respectable Chiefs of each, without the toleration of any hostility on either side, under any pretext whatsoever. Each shall do his best to maintain this good understanding and to augment the welfare of both, without directly or indirectly aiding those who may desire to hurt either nation.

ARTICLE 3.

As the acts done have not resulted from a declaration of war, our troops and seamen cannot be considered as prisoners of war, subject to a capitulation, but simply as persons under temporary detention; they should, therefore, be released and allowed to depart with military honours.

ARTICLE 4.

That we shall be left in free, quiet, and undiminished possession of our establishments, commerce, rights, and prerogatives.

to continue doing so with a view to induce him to withdraw his army, as soon as the gentlemen of the Dutch Government have fulfilled his orders.

The Articles agreed upon between the English and the Dutch cannot be intermixed in the Treaty which the Government of Hooghly is to conclude with the Nazim as principal.

ARTICLE 2.

Approved, so far as this Article does not contravene our alliance with the Nazim of the country, and shall be observed while friendship shall subsist between our respective Sovereigns in Europe.

ARTICLE 3.

We do not regard the Dutch Officers and troops as our prisoners, but as those of the Nazim. We shall, therefore, be prepared to release them as soon as the Government of Hooghly shall have brought its negotiations with the Nazim to a close, with the exception of such of them as may wish to enter our service, or may apply for the protection of the British flag.

ARTICLE 4.

We have never interrupted the Dutch gentlemen in the enjoyment of their just rights or privileges, and have no intention to do so.

ARTICLE 5.

That all persons, possessions, establishments, lands, houses, vessels, belonging as well to the Company as to individuals, and all dependent thereon, shall be declared free, and restored in the state in which they were, in presence of the special deputies of the two parties.

ARTICLE 6.

The ratifications shall be exchanged with approbation of the Directors on the part of the respective Companies as soon as practicable.

ARTICLE 7.

Finally, the two parties shall be reciprocally guaranteed in respect to the execution of the foregoing Articles.

We do not see the necessity of this Article.

Agreed and resolved, that the French language, which has been used in some copies of the present Treaty, and which it shall become necessary to use hereafter in its execution, shall furnish no ground for any allegation to the prejudice of the respective masters and principals of the two contracting parties, but that matter shall be regulated according to the practice of the principals who are in the habit of despatching and receiving similar treaties and acts in other than the French language.

Any separate Articles which may be appended shall have the same force as if they had been inserted in the Treaty.

RATIFICATION.

We, the undersigned, accept, by these presents, the foregoing Articles of a mutual settlement negotiated and adopted for the general pacification of the establishments of our respective masters and principals through our Deputies, namely, on the one part, Messrs. Richard Becher and John Cooke, Counsellors at Fort William, and on the other, Messrs. John Bacheracht and John Charles Kist, Members of the Political Council and of the Department of Justice at Fort Gustavus here; and we approve, confirm, and ratify the same, in the name, and subject to the approbation of, our respective masters and principals in Europe, promising to cause immediately and faithfully the mutual restitution stipulated in the aforesaid Articles, with a view to the removal of the misunderstandings and disorders which have hitherto prevailed, and, moreover, to bring the contents of this convention as far as may be necessary, by means of a formal publication, to the knowledge of all those who are dependent on us, in order that the same may, in all essential points, be religiously observed, so as to avoid in future whatever may tend to disturb the friendship and good understanding now happily subsisting between our respective establishments.

In witness whereof, we have signed and affixed to these presents the Seals of the two East India Companies, respectively.

DEMANDS made on the part of the NABOB MEER MAHAMED JAFFIER KHAN, and agreed to by the COUNCIL at the time of signing the Treaty.

ARTICLE 1.

I formerly acquainted the Company with the particulars of my own affairs, and received from them repeated letters of encouragement and kindness with presents ; I now make this request that you will write in a proper manner to the Company, and also to the King of England the particulars of our friendship and union, and procure for me writings and encouragement, that my mind may be assured from that quarter, that no breach may ever happen between me and the English, and that every Governor, Counsellor, and Chief of the English that are here, or may hereafter come, may be well disposed and attached to me.

ARTICLE 2.

Since all the English gentlemen, assured of my friendly disposition to the Company, confirm me in the Nizamut, I request that to whatever I may at any time write, they will give their credit and assent, nor regard the stories of designing men to my prejudice, that all my affairs may go on with success and no occasion may arise for jealousy or ill-will between us.

ARTICLE 3.

Let no protection be given by any of the English gentlemen to any of my dependents, who may fly for shelter to Calcutta or other of your districts, but let them be delivered up to me on demand. I shall strictly enjoin all my Fouzdars and Aumils, on all accounts to afford assistance and countenance to such of the Gomastahs of the Company as attend to the lawful trade of their factories ; and if any of the said Gomastahs shall act otherwise, let them be checked in such a manner as may be an example to others.

ARTICLE 4.

From the neighbourhood of Calcutta to Hooghly, and many of their Pergunnahs bordering upon each other, it happens that, on complaints being made, people go against the talookdars, ryots, and tenants of my town, to the prejudice of the business of the Circar; wherefore let strict orders be given that no peons be sent from Calcutta, on the complaints of any one upon my talookdars or tenants; but on such occasions let application be made to me, or to the Naibs of the Fouzdarry of Hooghly that the country may be subject to no loss or devastations; and if any of the traders, which belonged to the Bucksbunder and Azimgunge, and have settled in Calcutta, should be desirous of returning to Hooghly, and carrying on their business there as formerly, let no one molest them. Chandernagore and the French factory were presented to me by Colonel Clive, and given by me in charge to Ameer Beg Khan; for this reason let strict orders be given that no English gentleman exercise any authority therein, but that it remain, as formerly, under the jurisdiction of my people.

ARTICLE 5.

Whenever I may demand any forces from the Governor and Council for my assistance, let them be immediately sent to me, and no demand made on me for their expenses.

The demands of Nabob Shujah ul Mulek, Hossam ô Dowla, Meer Mahomed Jaffier Khan Behauder, Mahabut Jung, written in five Articles, we, the President and Council of the English Company, do agree and set our hands to, in Fort William, the 10th of July 1763.

Total ...	Rs.	5,00,000

Written the 19th of Rubbi-ul-Awul, the 5th year of the Jaloos, 16th September 1764.

No. IX.

ARTICLES of a TREATY and AGREEMENT concluded between the GOVERNOR and COUNCIL of FORT WILLIAM, on the part of the ENGLISH EAST INDIA COMPANY, and the NABOB NUDJUM UL DOWLA.—1765.

On the part of the Company.

WE, the Governor and Council, do engage to secure to the Nabob Nudjum-ul-Dowla, the Soubahdarry of the Provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa; and to support him therein with the Company's forces against all his enemies. We will also at all times keep up such force as may be necessary effectually to assist and support him in the defence of the Provinces; and as our troops will be more to be depended on than any the Nabob can have, and less expensive to him, he need therefore entertain none but such as are requisite for the support of the Civil Officers of his government, and the business of his collections through the different districts.

We do further promise that in consideration the Nabob shall continue to assist in defraying the extraordinary expenses of the war now carrying on against Sujah-ul-Dowla, with five lakhs of Rupees per month, which was agreed to by his father; whatever sums may be hereafter received of the King, on account of our assistance afforded him in the war, shall be repaid to the Nabob.

On the part of the Nabob.

In consideration of the assistance the Governor and Council have agreed to afford, in securing to me the succession in the Soubahdarry of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa, heretofore held by my father, the late Nabob Meer Jaffier

Ally Khan, and supporting me in it against all my enemies, I do agree and bind myself to the faithful performance of the following Articles :—

ARTICLE 1.

The Treaty which my father formerly concluded with the Company upon his first accession to the Nizamut, engaging to regard the honor and reputation of the Company and of their Governor and Council as his own, and granting perwannahs for the currency of the Company's trade, the same Treaty, as far as is consistent with the Articles hereafter agreed to, I do hereby ratify and confirm.

ARTICLE 2.

Considering the weighty charge of government, and how essential it is for myself, for the welfare of the country, and for the Company's business, that I should have a person who has had experience therein to advise and assist me, I do agree to have one fixed with me, with the advice of the Governor and Council, in the station of Naib Soubah, who shall accordingly have immediately under me the chief management of all affairs : And as Mahomed Reza Khan, the Naib of Dacca, has in every respect my approbation and that of the Governor and Council, I do further agree that this trust shall be conferred on him, and I will not displace him without the acquiescence of those gentlemen ; and in case any alteration in this appointment should hereafter appear advisable, that Mahomed Reza Khan, provided he has acquitted himself with fidelity in his administration, shall in such case be reinstated in the Naibship of Dacca with the same authority as heretofore.

ARTICLE 3.

The business of the collection of the revenues shall, under the Naib Soubah, be divided into two or more branches as may appear proper ; and as I have the fullest dependence and confidence on the attachment of the English and their regard to my interest and dignity, and am desirous of giving them every testimony hereof, I do further consent that the appointment and dismissal of the Muttaseddees of those branches, and the allotment of their several districts, shall be with the approbation of the Governor and Council ; and, considering how much men of my rank and station are obliged to trust to the eyes and recommendations of the servants about them, and how liable to be deceived, it is my further will that the Governor and Council shall be at liberty to object and point out to me when improper people are entrusted, or where my officers and subjects are oppressed, and I will pay a proper regard to such representations, that my affairs may be conducted with honor, my people everywhere be happy, and their grievances be redressed.

ARTICLE 4.

I do confirm to the Company, as a fixed resource, for defraying the ordinary expenses of their troops, the Chucklas of Burdwan, Midnapore, and Chittagong, in as full a manner as heretofore ceded by my father. The sum of five lakhs of Sicca Rupees per month for their maintenance was further agreed to be paid by my father; I agree to pay the same out of my treasury, while the exigency for keeping up so large an army continues. When the Company's occasions will admit of a diminution of the expenses they are put to on account of those troops, the Governor and Council will then relieve me from such a proportion of this assignment, as the increased expenses incurred by keeping up the whole force necessary for the defence of the Provinces will admit of: And as I esteem the Company's troops entirely equal thereto and as my own, I will only maintain such as are immediately necessary for the dignity of my person and government, and the business of my collections throughout the Provinces.

ARTICLE 5.

I do ratify and confirm to the English the privilege granted to them by their Firmaund and several Husbulhookums of carrying on their trade by means of their own dustuck, free from all duties, taxes or impositions, in all parts of the country, excepting in the article of salt, on which a duty of 2½ per cent. is to be levied on the rowana or Hooghy market price.

ARTICLE 6.

I give to the Company the liberty of purchasing half the saltpetre produced in the country of Purnea, which their Gomashtahs shall send to Calcutta; the other half shall be collected by my Fouzdar for the use of my offices; and I will suffer no other persons to make purchases of this article in that country.

ARTICLE 7.

In the Chuckla of Sylhet, for the space of five years, commencing with the Bengal year 1171, my Fouzdar and a Gomastah on the part of the Company shall jointly provide chunam, of which each shall defray half the expense, and half the chunam so made shall be given to the Company.

ARTICLE 8.

Although I should occasionally remove to other places in the Provinces, I agree that the books of the Circar shall be always kept and the business conducted at Moorshedabad, and that shall, as heretofore, be the seat of my government: And wherever I am, I consent that an English gentleman shall reside with me to transact all affairs between me and the Company, and that a person of high rank shall also reside on my part at Calcutta to negotiate with the Governor and Council.

ARTICLE 9.

I will cause the Rupees coined in Calcutta to pass in every respect equal to the siccas of Moorshedabad without any deduction of batta; and whosoever shall demand batta shall be punished: The annual loss on coinage, by the fall of batta on the issuing of the new siccas, is a very heavy grievance to the country; and, after mature consideration, I will, in concert with the Governor and Council, pursue whatever may appear the best method for remedying it.

ARTICLE 10.

I will allow no Europeans whatever to be entertained in my service, and if there already be any, they shall be immediately dismissed.

ARTICLE 11.

The kistbundee for payment of the restitution to the sufferers in the late troubles as executed by my father, I will see faithfully paid. No delays shall be made in this business.

ARTICLE 12.

I confirm and will abide by the Treaty which my father formerly made with the Dutch.

ARTICLE 13.

If the French come into the country I will not allow them to erect any fortifications, maintain forces or hold lands, zemindarries, &c., but they shall pay tribute, and carry on their trade as in former times.

ARTICLE 14.

Some regulations shall be hereafter settled between us for deciding all disputes which may arise between the English Gomastahs and my officers, in the different parts of the country.

In testimony whereof, we, the said Governor and Council, have set our hands and affixed the seal of the Company to one part hereof; and the Nabob before-named hath set his hand and seal to another part.

(A true copy.)

(Signed) W. MAJENDIE,
Secretary.

MEM.—This Treaty was executed by the President and Council of Fort William, on the 20th of February 1765, and by the Nabob on the 25th of the same month.

AGREEMENT regarding BARNAGORE—1817.

We the undersigned British and Netherlands Commissioners appointed by our respective Governments to adjust the amount of the annual sum which is to be paid by the British Government in consideration of the cession of the district of Barnagore conformably to the provisions contained in the second additional article of the convention concluded between His Britannic Majesty and the King of the Netherlands on the 13th of August 1814, taking for a liberal basis of adjustment the average annual revenue yielded during a period of twelve years under the Dutch Government according to the accounts kept and recorded in the Accountant's Office at Chinsurah and according to other sources of information; deducting therefrom the annual amount of ground rent paid by the Dutch East India Company, and also the expenses incurred for the necessary Police establishments at Barnagore, do consider that the payment of the sum of six thousand and five hundred rupees annually by half-yearly payments to the King of the Netherlands would be a just and reasonable compensation for the cession of the above-mentioned district of Barnagore conformably to the provision of the 2nd additional article of the convention, and do accordingly hereby agree to submit this our deliberate opinion for the approbation and sanction of the respective authorities under which we act.

Nous soussignés Commissaires Britannique et Neerlandais, appointés par nos Gouvernements respectifs pour fixer le montant de la somme annuelle que le Gouvernement Britannique payera en considération de la cession du district de Barnagore en conséquence des accords contenus dans le second additional article de la convention conclue entre Sa Majesté Britannique et le Roi des Pays Bas le 13 de mois d'Avril 1814, prenant pour base liberal d'un arrangement l'average d'un revenu annuel perçudurant uneperiode de douze années sous le Gouvernement Neerlandais, selon les comptes tenus et notés dans le bureau de commerce à Chinsurah, et selon d'autres ressources d'information; en deducant le montant annuel des rentes territoriales payés par la compagnie orientale Neerlandais avec les dépenses payées pour l'établissement de police necessaire à Barnagore, considerons, que le payment annuel de six mille cinq cent Sa. roupies, à être payée par demi année à Sa Majesté le Roi des Pays Bas, servit une juste et raisonnable compensation pour la cession du sous mentionné district de Barnagore, selon le continu du second additional article de la convention, et en conséquence consentons à soumettre notre opinion mûrement pesée, à l'approbation et sanction des autorités respectives, sous lesquels nous agissons.

In witness, whereof we hereunto affix our seals and signatures.

En conséquence, le Gouvernement français s'engage à donner toutes facilités pour la vente du sel ainsi importé à Chandernagor, et à ne prélever ni laisser prélever, par qui que ce soit,

ARTICLE 5.

It shall be allowable to either of the contracting parties by a notice given at the least one year in advance to re-establish the old order of things, under which the French Government receiving from the English golahs the salt necessary for consumption by the inhabitants of Chandernagore shall make its own profit thereby, as has been done hitherto.

ARTICLE 5.

Il sera loisible à chacune des parties contractantes, moyennant avis donné au moins une année à l'avance, de rétablir l'ancien ordre des choses, d'après lequel le Gouvernement français recevant des Golahs anglais le sel nécessaire à la consommation des habitants de Chandernagor le fera débiter à son profit, comme par le passé.

No. XXIV.

AGREEMENT made between the FRENCH and BRITISH GOVERNMENTS relative to the limits of the SETTLEMENT of CHANDERNAGORE—1853.

WHEREAS the mixture of English and French territories, jurisdictions, and other rights belonging to the two Governments, respectively, around the French Settlement of Chandernagore in the East Indies, is the cause of inconvenience to which the Governments of Her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of His Majesty the Emperor of the French are desirous of putting a stop;

The undersigned, Her Britannic Majesty's Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary at Paris, and His Majesty the Emperor's Minister for Foreign Affairs duly authorized by their respective Governments have agreed as follows:

1st.—That the limits of the jurisdiction and of all other rights whatever of the French Government on the territory of the French Settlement of Chandernagore in Bengal shall be according to the plan drawn up in common by the respective Commissioners of the two Governments and annexed to the proposition for the settlement of the limits of the French territory at Chandernagore signed provisionally (excepting the reserves contained in it) at Chandernagore on the 4th of September 1852; to the South and West, the excavation commonly called the French Ditch, and to the North the same Ditch or the line indicated in the plan by an orange outline.

ATTENDU que le mélange des territoires anglais et français, et des juridictions, et autres droits appartenant aux Gouvernements respectifs, autour de l'établissement français de Chandernagore dans les Indes Orientales présente des inconvénients auxquels le Gouvernement de Sa Majesté la Reine du Royaume Uni de la Grande Bretagne et d'Irlande et celui de Sa Majesté l'Empereur des Français désirent mettre un terme;

Les soussignés Ambassadeur Extraordinaire et Plenipotentiaire de Sa Majesté britannique à Paris, et Ministre des Affaires Etrangères de Sa Majesté l'Empereur des Français dûment autorisés par leurs Gouvernements respectifs sont convenus de ce qui suit:

1er.—Les limites de la juridiction et de tous droits quelconques du Gouvernement français sur le territoire de l'établissement français de Chandernagore en Bengale seront selon les indications du plan dressé de commun accord, par les commissaires respectifs des deux Gouvernements, et annexé un projet de délimitation provisoirement signé, (sauf les réserves que contient ce projet,) à Chandernagore le 4 Septembre 1852: au Sud et à l'Ouest, l'excavation appelée le Fosse français, et au Nord, le même fossé ou la ligne indiquée sur le plan par un liséré orange.

With regard to the boundary to the East or on the side of the river Hooghly, matters shall remain as they are in respect to the jurisdiction or other rights whatsoever of the settlement of Chandernagore, without prejudice to the respective claims of the two Governments.

And inasmuch as the section of the boundary above-mentioned from the termination of the ditch to the bank of the river is very intricate and confused owing to the inter-spersion of the houses of the inhabitants of the two territories; therefore in order to render the boundary as exact and clear as possible, and thus to obviate all future disputes upon the point, pillars of masonry or some other material shall be erected at a joint expense throughout the whole extent of this said portion of the boundary.

2d.—That, on the one hand, the Government of Bengal shall recognize the exclusive jurisdiction of the French Government over the whole of the territory included in the limits above described.

3rd.—That, on the other hand, the French Government shall relinquish to the Government of Bengal the jurisdiction which the former now exercises within portions of territory at Goualpara, Cantapouricour, Tonquiponcour Duplesiepoty, Barasette, situate without the circuit of the Ditch round Chandernagore; and that this cession shall include also the revenue or land rent now collected by the French Government from these said lands amounting annually to a sum of one hundred and eighty rupees one ganda and a half (Rupees 180 $1\frac{1}{2}$ ganda) as detailed in the schedule which accompanies the draft of Quand à la limite d l'Est ou du côté du fleuve Hooghly les choses en resteront, pour la juridiction et autres droits quelconques de l'établissement de Chandernagor, dans l'état actuel, sans préjudice des prétentions respectives des deux gouvernements.

Et attendu que la limite ci-dessus énoncée depuis l'extrémité du fossé jusqu'à la rivière, reste très confusée par le pêle-mêle des maisons des habitants des deux territoires, il sera établi, à frais communs, sur l'étendue de la ligne sus-indiquée, des bornes en maçonnerie ou en toute autre matière à fin de rendre cette limite aussi précise et apparente que possible et de prévenir par ce moyen toutes contestations ultérieures sur ce point.

Agreement drawn up at Chandernagore on the 4th of September 1852.

4th.—That, on its side, the Government of Bengal will consent by way of compensation to relinquish to the French Government the annual revenue of thirty-five rupees, fourteen annas five gandas (Rupees 35 14 annas 5 gandas) now collected by the former of the two Governments from the lands dependent on the Talook of Digra and Telinipara which lie to the north of the French Ditch; and further to make a reduction of one hundred and forty-four rupees, one anna, sixteen gandas and a half (Rupees 144 1 anna 16½ gandas) in the annual rent of 3,520 francs or about Rupees 1,466 now paid to the Hooghly Treasury by the Government of Chandernagore as representatives of certain ancient Talookdars.

In witness whereof the undersigned have signed the present Agreement and have affixed the seals of their Arms thereunto.

(Sd.) COWLEY.

Envoi de quoi les soussignés ont signé le présent arrangement et y ont apposé le cachet de leurs armes.

Fait à Paris le 31 Mars 1853.

Proposition of the French and English Commissioners for the Settlement of the limits of the French Territory at Chandernagore.

We, the undersigned—

Pierré Paul Damier Victoria Dufour de Gavardie, JUDGE, President of the Court of first instance, Propositions des Commissaires anglais et français pour la fixation des limites territoriales de Chandernagor.

Nous Soussignés—

William Erskine Baker, Major au Corps des Ingenieurs de la Présidence du Fort William.

Emile Auguste Cort Morvein,
Assistant Commissary of Marine,

Commissioner appointed by the Governor of the French establishment in India,

AND

William Erskine Baker, Major in the Corps of Engineers of the Presidency of Fort William,

Samuel Wauchope of the Civil Service of the same Presidency,

Robert Barclay Chapman of the same Civil Service,

Commissioners appointed by the Most Noble the Governor-General of India,

Having proceeded jointly and independently to investigate the de facto ancient limits of the French Settlement at Chandernagore,

And having failed to determine,
by any sufficient documentary evidence, the existence of any such limits fixed by treaty,

Do hereby agree to recommend to our respective Governments the adoption of the following conditions, viz.,

1stly.—That the limits of the jurisdiction of all other rights whatever of the French Government shall be as delineated in the annexed plan, that is to say, that the boundary to the eastward shall be the right bank of the Hooghly river.
That the boundary to the southward and westward shall be the excavation commonly called the French ditch.
That the boundary to the northward shall be also the said French ditch, or, where the ditch does not exist,

Samuel Wauchope du Service Civil de la même Présidence.

Robert Barclay Chapman du même Service.

Commissaires nommés par M. le Gouverneur Général des provinces et possessions anglaises de l'Inde.

ET

Pierre Paul Damien Victorin Duffaur de Gavardie, Juge Président de lere instance.

Emilé Auguste Coët Morven, Aide-
Commissaire de la Marine.

Commissaires nommés par M. le Gouverneur des Etablissements français dans l'Inde.

D'après les constatations et verifications aux quelles nous avons procédé soit contradictoirement, soit séparément pour reconnaître quelles sont de facto les anciennes limites du territoire français de Chandernagor au Bengale.

A défaut de documens suffisants sur l'existence de ces limites, telles qu'elles ont pu être fixées par les traités,

Sommes d'accord de proposer à nos
Gouvernement respectifs l'adoption de l'ensemble des conditions suivantes, savoir :

1. Que les limites de la Juridiction et de tout droit quelconque du Gouvernement français, seront selon des indications du plan ci-annexé, à l'Est, l'espace jusqu'on peut s'étendre le mouillage des péniches et bateaux du côté de la rive droite de l'Hougly ; au
Sud et à l'Ouest, l'excavation appelée le fossé français ; et au Nord, le mêmfossé et la ligne indiquée sur le plan ciannexé par un liséré orange.

the line indicated in the plan by an orange edging.

And, inasmuch as the last section of the boundary from the termination of the ditch to the bank of the river is very intricate and confused owing to the interspersion of the houses of the inhabitants of the two territories, therefore, in order to render the boundary as exact and clear as possible and thereto obviate all future disputes upon the point, it has been agreed that in the event of these propositions being definitively sanctioned, pillars of masonry or some other material shall be erected at a joint expense throughout the whole extent of the said portion of the boundary.

2ndly.—That, on the one hand, the Government of Bengal shall recognize the exclusive jurisdiction of the French Government over the whole of the territory included in the circuit above described.

3rdly.—That, on the other hand, the French Government shall relinquish to the Government of Bengal the jurisdiction which the former now exercises within portions of territory at Gawalpara Kontapookar—Jogipookar, Duplapate, Barassette situate without the circuit above specified, and that this cession will include also the revenue or land rent, now collected by the French Government from the said land amounting annually to a sum of one hundred and eighty rupees, one ganda and a half (Co.'s Rupees 180-0-0-1½) as detailed in the Schedule which accompanies this Agreement.

4thly.—That on its side, the Government of Bengal will consent by way of compensation to relinquish to the French Government the annu-

Et attendu que cette dernière limite depuis l'extrémité du fossé jusqu'à la rivière reste très confusée par le pêle-mêle des maisons des habitants des deux territoires, il a été convenu que si le présent projet décharge recevait une sanction définitive il serait établi à frais communs, sur l'étendue de la ligne sus indiquée, des bornes en maçonnerie ou en toute autre matière à fin de rendre cette limite aussi précise et apparente que possible et de prévenir par ce moyen toutes contestations ultérieures sur ce point.

2. Que d'une part le Gouvernement du Bengale reconnaîtra, comme appartenant exclusivement au Gouvernement français la juridiction sur tout le territoire compris dans les limites ci-dessus indiquées.

3. Que d'autre part le Gouvernement français cédera au Gouvernement du Bengale la juridiction sur les portions du territoire dépendant de Gawalpara, Cantapoucour, Jouquipoucour, Duplexipatty, Barassette et situées en-dehors du fossé d'enceinte de Chaudernagor, et que cette cession entraînera celle des revenus de rente foncière ou cazanas actuellement perçus par le Gouvernement français sur les dits terrains et s'élevant par an à une somme de cent quatre vingts rupies un ganda et demi (180 Rs. 1½G.) d'après état détaillé joint au présent exposé de conditions.

4. Que de son côté, le Gouvernement du Bengale consentira, à titre de compensation à transférer en la possession du Gouvernement français le revenu al revenue of thirty-five rupees, fourteen annas, five gandas, now collected by the former, from that portion of the Government revenue Mehal of Digra which lies to the north of the French ditch at Tilniepara, and, further, to make a reduction of one hundred and forty-four rupees, one anna, sixteen gandas and a half (Co.'s Rupees 144-1-16½) in the annual rent of 3,520 Francs or about 1,466 rupees now paid to the Hooghly treasury by the French Government as representative of certain ancient Talookdars.

The preceding conditions translated into the two languages, English and French, have been drawn up and signed at Chandernagore, this fourth day of September, eighteen hundred and fifty-two.

II.—KUCH BEHAR.

The Rajas of Kuch Behar probably belong to the non-Aryan tribe of Koch, a people of Tibetan or Dravidian origin, now largely scattered on the North-Eastern Frontier. More than three centuries ago two brothers named Bisu Singh and Sisu Singh established by their conquests a principality in the North-Eastern part of India. The former is the immediate ancestor of the Rajas and of the Nazir Deos, or Ministers, of Kuch Behar. Bisu Singh's son, Nar Narayan, extended his sway eastwards over Lower Assam, and at this time the Koch territories must have embraced the greater part of the Dinajpur, Rangpur, and other districts, once forming the Aryan kingdom of Kamrup, which the Afghan King of Bengal overthrew in 1489. About 1603 the Mughal armies greatly encroached on the little State of Behar, until at about the beginning of the last century the Raja's dominions were reduced to their present limits.

The British Government came in contact with Kuch Behar in 1772. The Bhutanese, whose trade with Bengal was carried on through the countries occupied by the Koch Chiefs, appear to have always maintained a connection with Kuch Behar, and to have occasionally interfered in its affairs. Some years previous to 1772 the then Raja of Kuch Behar, Dhairjendra Narayan, who had a dispute regarding succession with his brother Ram Narayan, deprived the latter of the appointment of Minister. Ram Narayan appealed to the Bhutanese and was re-instated by them. Ram Narayan was, however, subsequently put to death by the Raja whom the Bhutanese then carried off to the hills, appointing his brother, Rajendra Narayan, Raja in his place. On the death of Rajendra Narayan shortly afterwards, the Nazir Deo set up Dharendra Narayan, son of Dhairjendra Narayan, as Raja. The Bhutanese had on their side appointed to the gadi Brajendra Narayan, the son of the captive Raja's elder brother; each party proceeded to support their nominee, and the Nazir Deo being worsted and driven out of the country, applied to the East India Company for aid. This was granted, after the Nazir Deo had in 1773 concluded, in the name of Dharendra Narayan, a Treaty (No. XXV) by which the Raja agreed to acknowledge subjection to the British Government, to allow the Kuch Behar country to be annexed to Bengal, and to make over to the British Government one-half of the annual revenues of Kuch Behar for ever. The other moiety he was to retain on condition of remaining firm in his allegiance to the British Government, who, on the other hand, bound themselves to assist the Raja with troops whenever he might require them for the defence of the country, the Raja bearing the expense. Captain Jones, with a small force of sepoy then proceeded to Kuch Behar, dispossessed the Bhutanese and pursuing them to the hills compelled them to make terms with the British Government. A treaty was concluded with Bhutan in 1774, and agreeably to one of its articles, Raja Dhairjendra Narayan was released from confinement. Though in 1776 a Sanad (No. XXVI) was granted to Raja Dhairjendra Narayan conferring on him the zamindari of Kuch Behar, he did not re-assume the government of the State until the death of his son Dharendra Narayan, which occurred in 1780. Raja Dhairjendra Narayan died in 1783 and was succeeded by his son Harendra Narayan, an infant. Disturbances ensued, and in 1788 two Commissioners were sent to conduct a local enquiry, and on receipt of their report a British Commissioner was appointed to the management of the State. The Raja came of age in 1800, and the Commissioner was withdrawn. As however the Raja could not manage the affairs of the State, Commissioners were re-appointed in 1802, and again in 1805, 1813 and 1817, to supervise the administration. These powers eventually devolved on the Governor-General's Agent, North-East Frontier. Harendra Narayan died at Benares in 1839. Shivendra Narayan, a natural son of the deceased Raja, was then placed upon the gadi. Before his death he adopted one of his brother's sons named Narendra Narayan, who succeeded him in 1847. Narendra Narayan being at this time about four years old, the State was governed by Brajendra Narayan Kumar, brother of the late Raja, as Regent. He died in 1857, and the two widows of Raja Shivendra Narayan undertook the management of affairs. In 1862 Raja Narendra Narayan received a Sanad (No. XXVII) guaranteeing to him the right of adoption. He died in August 1863 in the twentieth year of his age, and was succeeded by his son Nripendra Narayan, who was made a Maharaja Bahadur in February 1880, and came of age in 1883, when he was installed as Ruling Chief. In 1873 a question arose as to whether Kuch Behar should be designated a "State," an "Estate" or a "Raj"; the decision was that the designation "State," which had been used in the adoption Sanad granted to the Raja of Kuch Behar by Lord Canning, should remain unaltered. Kuch Behar now therefore bears the designation "State." During the present Maharaja's minority the State was managed by the Commissioner of Kuch Behar and Rajshahi, and an officer, corresponding in position to a Deputy Commissioner of a non-regulation district in British territory, was in immediate charge. The State and its people prospered remarkably during the British administration. The annual revenue demand on all accounts increased from Rs. 8,37,025 to Rs. 11,26,848; the British rupee was made the legal tender in the State; an improved system of land settlement and the general principles of administration in force in British districts were introduced without interfering with any special local customs and traditions; subdivisions were established; the police were re-organised; numerous schools were opened; the postal department was placed under the Post-Master-General of Bengal; a line of telegraph was carried through the State; considerable sums were spent on roads, bridges and public offices, and large savings in Government securities were made over to the Maharaja on his installation.

The State pays a tribute of Rs. 67,700-15. This amount was permanently fixed in 1780. The area of the State is 1,307 square miles, and the population at the census of 1881 was 602,624. The provisional returns for the census of 1891 show a population of 578,868, but as the report of the census operations has not yet been received, no explanation of the apparent decrease can be at present given. It is possible that the provisional figures are inaccurate. The military force consists (1891) of 192 men and four field guns. The Maharaja receives a salute of 13 guns. He administers the State with the assistance of a Council of which he himself is the President and which is composed of the Superintendent of the State, who is Vice-President, the Diwan, who is Revenue Member, and the Civil Judge, who is the Judicial Member; the officers at present holding these posts have been lent by the Government of India.

In the year 1878 His Highness was married to the eldest daughter of the late Bahu Keshab Chandra Sen of Calcutta and shortly after left India on a visit to England. A son and heir was born in 1882. The second child, a daughter, was born in 1885. A second son was born in 1886 and a third and fourth in 1888 and 1890.

In June 1884 His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor-General granted a sanad declaring hereditary the title of Maharaja Bahadur conferred in 1880 upon Nripendra Narayan, and authorizing the assumption of this style by future rulers on the formal recognition by the Government of their succession. The Maharaja's assumption of the distinctive titles of "His Highness" and "Bhup Bahadur," by which designations he is to be addressed in all official correspondence, was also sanctioned; the latter title, which is an old family distinction, was thus formally recognised.

In the year 1887 His Highness again visited England, accompanied by Her Highness the Maharani and family. He was graciously received by Her Majesty the Queen-Empress and the Royal Family, and the decoration of a Knight Grand Commander of the Order of the Indian Empire was conferred on him. The Maharaja is also an Honorary Lieutenant-Colonel of the 6th Regiment of Bengal Cavalry, and Aide-de-Camp to His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales.

The Patit Churcha Settlement was concluded in 1886-87. An increase of Rs. 68,824 was obtained from this source. A re-settlement of the State has since been concluded and the increase, which is progressive, will amount to about Rs. 2½ lakhs in 1895-96. The demand for the year 1891-92 is Rs. 10,82,350. The estimated total revenue for the year (exclusive of Chaklajat, Panga, and Darjeeling receipts) is Rs. 13,37,472.

A Palace has been built and almost all the State Office establishments have been accommodated in permanent buildings.

In 1887 the Victoria College was opened in commemoration of the Jubilee of Her Most Gracious Majesty's reign.

Durrinder Narain, Rajah of Cooch Behar, having represented to the Honorable the President and Council of Calcutta the present distressed state of the country, owing to its being harassed by the neighbouring independent Rajahs, who are in league to depose him, the Honorable the President and Council, from a love of justice and desire of assisting the distressed, have agreed to send a force, consisting of four Companies of Sepoys and a field piece for the protection of the said Rajah and his country against his enemies, and the following conditions are mutually agreed on:—

1st.—That the said Rajah will immediately pay into the hands of the Collector of Rungpoor 50,000 Rupees, to defray the expenses of the force sent to assist him.

2nd.—That if more than 50,000 Rupees are expended, the Rajah will make it good to the Honorable the English East India Company, but in case any part of it remains unexpended that it be delivered back.

3rd.—That the Rajah will acknowledge subjection to the English East India Company upon his country being cleared of his enemies, and will allow the Cooch Behar country to be annexed to the Province of Bengal.

4th.—That the Rajah further agrees to make over to the English East India Company one-half of the annual revenues of Cooch Behar for ever.

5th.—That the other moiety shall remain to the Rajah and his heirs for ever, provided he is firm in his allegiance to the Honorable United East India Company.

6th.—That in order to ascertain the value of the Cooch Behar country, the Rajah will deliver a fair hushabood of his district into the hands of such person as the Honorable the President and Council of Calcutta shall think proper to depute for that purpose, upon which valuation the annual malguzary, which the Rajah is to pay, shall be established.

7th.—That the amount of the malguzary, settled by such person as the Honorable the East India Company shall depute, shall be perpetual.

8th.—That the Honorable English East India Company shall always assist the said Rajah with a force when he has occasion for it for the defence of the country, the Rajah bearing the expense.

9th.—That this Treaty shall remain in force for the space of two years, or till such time as advice may be received from the Court of Directors, empowering the President and Council to ratify the same for ever.

This Treaty signed, sealed, and concluded by the Honorable the President and Council at Fort William, the fifth day of April 1773, on the one part, and by Durrinder Narain, Rajah of Cooch Behar, at Behyar Fort, the 6th Maug 1179 Bengal style, on the other part.

III.—TIPPERAH.

The Rajas of Tipperah (Tripura) are, like the Rajas of Manipur, of Indo-Chinese stock, with an admixture of Aryan blood. The family appears to have adopted Hinduism at least 200 years ago. Like all other converts in their position they have taken the status of the Kshatriya caste, and claim descent from the Lunar race as the Bhuiyas (or Bhunjas) do from the Solar race. The family name is at present Dev Barman though this is a very recent assumption, dating from the revival which has followed, within the last 50 years, the spread of Sanskrit among the middle classes. All Kshatriya may be called Barman (armour), as all Brahman may be called Sharma (might). The distinctive family name was and still is Manik (a jewel); their annalist says that the name was Phâ up to 1279 A.D., when Tughral, then Governor of Bengal, conferred on the family the appellation Manik.

There is no trustworthy account as to the limits of the ancient State of Tipperah; but at various times it gained conquests and possessions, which carried its armies from the Sundarbaus in the west to Burma in the east, and from Kamrup in the north to Burma in the south. The military prestige of the Tipperah Rajas was at its height during the sixteenth century, and it was not till the beginning of the seventeenth century that the Mughals obtained a footing in the country. About 1620, however, in the reign of Jahangir, a Mughal force invaded Tipperah under the command of Nawab Fateh Jang. The capital was taken, and the Raja sent a prisoner to Delhi. He was offered his State again on condition of paying tribute, but refused. The Mughal troops, after occupying the country for two and a half years, were forced by an epidemic to leave it. Eventually, however, the Nawab of Murshidabad seized on a large portion of the territory in the plains, and parcelled it out among his Musalman nobles.

The western and southern portions of Tipperah are included in Todar Mall's rent-roll, but they were only conquered, according to Grant, in Shah Jahan's reign. In 1728, or according to the annalist 1732, there was a reconquest, when Tipperah was placed on the rent-roll under the name of Roshanabad, a large number of Mughal troops were posted in the country, and in the course of a few years Tipperah became a Mughal province.

In 1765 Tipperah came under British rule. Krishna Manik was made Raja by the aid of the English, in succession to the former Mughal Governor. Krishna Manik died about 1780. There being no Jubraj his Rani, Janhovi Mahadevi, ruled the country for some time ; but eventually at her request Government recognised her nephew Rajdhar Manik as Chief. At the death of Rajdhar Manik towards the close of the last century anarchy prevailed. Ultimately, in 1808, the British Government recognised Durga Manik as Raja. On the death of Durga Manik Ram Ganga, who had been a rival claimant, was appointed Raja by the British Government. He died in 1826 when he was succeeded by his brother Kasi Chandra Manik, who was in turn succeeded in 1830 by another brother, Krishna Kishor Manik. Krishna Kishor Manik died in 1850, when his son Ishan Chandra Manik was recognised as Chief. On his death in 1862 the succession was disputed, but the question was eventually decided in 1870 in favour of the late Chief's brother Bir Chandra Manik, the present Raja. In 1871 a Political Agent was appointed to reside at Agartala, the Raja's capital. The main object of the appointment was the protection of British interests on the frontier, which were in especial danger from Lushai raids. This tribe, in retaliation for the Raja's proceedings against it, was in the habit of carrying its incursions into British territory. It was explained to the Raja that the Government of India in sending an Agent to Agartala had no intention of adopting a policy which would prejudice his interests or which would interfere with the lawful and proper exercise of his authority within his State. In 1878 the Political Agency as a separate post was abolished ; the Magistrate of Tipperah being appointed ex-officio Political Agent, while a Native Deputy Magistrate was stationed at Agartala as Assistant Political Agent. From this time forward the mal-administration of the Maharaja was the subject of frequent report, and special steps were at length taken in 1889 to introduce much needed reforms. After lengthy negotiations it was decided that the Maharaja should appoint for five years a minister with full powers of administration. The selection of the minister was to be made by the Maharaja in consultation with the Political Agent ; in pursuance of this arrangement the Maharaja, in March 1890, appointed Rai Umakanta Das Bahadur, the Assistant Political Agent, to be Minister of the State, and all duties in connection with the Political Agency have been transferred as a temporary measure to the ex-officio Political Agent.

The change has already been attended by good results. The revenue of Tipperah in the year 1890-91 was a little under ten lakhs of Rupees, and the expenditure about nine and a quarter lakhs.

The British Government has no treaty with Tipperah ; nor does it receive any tribute.

The Raja of Tipperah is the holder of very considerable zamindaris in the British districts of Noakhali, Tipperah and Sylhet, in the plains along the border of the State.

Succession is determined in the same peculiar way as in Manipur. The ruling Raja has the power of nominating any of his brothers or sons as his successor under the title of "Jubraj," and a successor to the "Jubraj" under the title of "Bara Thakur." On the Raja's death the "Jubraj" becomes Raja and the "Bara Thakur" becomes "Jubraj" and in turn Raja, even to the exclusion of the Raja's natural heirs. The eldest son, however, succeeds if no nomination has been made. In the case of a disputed succession the decision of the British Courts of Law regarding the zamindaris in the plains is accepted as carrying with it the right to the Chiefship of Hill Tipperah.

Nazarana is taken on succession, the position of the Raja having been declared by the Government of India in 1870 to be that of a feudatory.

The area of Hill Tipperah is 4,086 square miles; the country is hilly and covered with dense forests. More than 1,000 square miles in the interior are believed to be uninhabited. The population as ascertained in 1881 was 95,637, of which the hill tribes numbered about 49,915. The returns of the last census (1891) show a total population of 1,37,442. The advance in population for the ten years 1881-91 has thus been at the rate of nearly 44 per cent. for the whole period; the density per square mile is however only 33·6. The income derived from the hills is Rupees 3,12,465, while the zamindaris have a gross rental of over Rupees 6,00,000. The principal trade is in cotton and timber. The Raja has (1891) a military force of 314 men, besides 100 armed Binandias or tahsil sepoys. The State has neither field artillery nor cavalry. The Chief receives a salute of 13 guns. In 1877 Government conferred upon the Chief the title of Maharaja as a personal distinction.

Since the establishment of the Political Agency marked improvements have taken place in the general administration of the State.

Extradition of criminals escaping into British territory is allowed according to the general law and rules on the subject. Offenders, who escaping from British territory take shelter within the State, are surrendered through the Political Agent to the British Courts.

With the consent of the Maharaja the country has been both trigonometrically and topographically surveyed by Government.

The question regarding the southern, western, and northern boundaries between the State and British territory, was for a long time a constant source of trouble. It was, however, finally settled in 1865, and all disputes which had arisen in connection with the matter were decided by arbitrators appointed by the Government of India and the Tipperah State. The eastern boundary was also much unsettled, a circumstance which frequently gave rise to complications between Tipperah subjects and the Lushais. To put a stop to this the Government in 1874 decided that the Lungai river should be the boundary between the Lushais and Tipperah towards the east and communicated its decision to the Maharaja. The river Pheni is the recognised boundary on the south between Chittagong and Tipperah. The existence of coal in the sub-division of Kailashahr and Sonamuna was brought to notice in 1886, but the extent and capacity of the seams have not been ascertained.

The practice of sati in Hill Tipperah was forbidden by an order of the Maharaja in 1888.

The disturbances in the Lushai Hills during the last few years have led to the migration of a considerable number of people from the Chittagong Hill Tracts into Hill Tipperah.

LUSHAIS.

To the east of Tipperah lies the territory of the Lushais, who are called Kukis by the Hindus, and who in former times owed allegiance to the Rajas of Tipperah. The Lushais are impatient of control, and they became independent in 1826 during the confusion which attended the disputed succession to the Chiefship of Tipperah and which was followed by a series of raids on the Sylhet border. One occurred in 1826, while the next raid of consequence was in 1844. The latter was led by the Chief Lal Chokla and his cousin Botai, and there was reason to suspect the Tipperah Raja of connivance. The Manipuri colony of Kochabari in Partabgarh was attacked, twenty persons were slaughtered and six carried off as captives. As the Tipperah Raja failed to obtain the surrender of the offenders, an expedition was sent into the hills under Captain Blackwood. Lal Chokla's village was besieged and he finally surrendered on the 4th December. Lal Chokla was tried and transported. In 1849 a number of outrages were committed upon Tipperah and upon Kuki settlements within our territories in Kachar and Sylhet. Such settlements have always been the especial objects of attack in these frontier raids. The political relations on this frontier were at that time in the hands of Colonel Lester, and that officer by a judicious employment of the Kukis,—that is, of the Lushais domiciled within our borders,—as soldiers, and by an expedition undertaken to punish the Lushais for these depredations, exerted such a salutary influence over them that for some time they gave no trouble. Communication with them became frequent, Bengali traders going up to their villages and returning with ivory and wax in return for salt, clothes, etc.

In 1862 a series of raids was committed on Sylhet villages by Sukpial, at that time the most considerable of the Lushai Chiefs, but proposals to coerce him were for various reasons abandoned, and in 1864 an attempt to open negotiations with him ended in failure. In December 1868 Sukpial's followers committed devastations in Hill Tipperah and advanced into Sylhet, plundering and burning villages on their way. Similar outrages were committed early in 1869 by other Lushais on tea gardens in Kachar. A small force in two columns was despatched against these tribes, but, owing to the lateness of the season and the scarcity of supplies the troops returned without fully accomplishing the objects in view. In December 1869 Mr. Ware Edgar, Deputy Commissioner of Kachar, visited the Lushai country at the invitation of some of the Chiefs and concluded arrangements with Sukpial, which on the occasion of a second visit in 1870 were embodied in a Sanad (No. XXVIII) given to Sukpial and accepted by him with the reservation that he was only responsible for the security of traders from the Chattarchura range of hills to the Sonai, as his authority did not extend east of that river.

In 1871 serious raids were committed on Hill Tipperah, Sylhet, and Kachar by the Lushais, and especially by the two cognate tribes of Sailus and Howlongs. A strong force in two columns was directed against the offending tribes. The tribes of Vompilal, Poiboi, and Vonolel, the most powerful Chiefs, were reduced to submission; the fine imposed was paid; the captives were recovered; and verbal agreements were taken from the Chiefs to live amicably with all British subjects from Manipur to Arracan and to allow free access to their country. This expedition produced for a time the desired effect; it shewed the Lushais that their recesses were not inaccessible to a British force, and that their inroads into British territory or into allied States would be duly punished. Since that time no raids have taken place on Hill Tipperah; but in 1888 four raids were committed on British territory which were more serious than any that had occurred since 1871.

A general northward movement of the Lushai tribes with whom we were originally acquainted, has been for some time past taking place, and has been caused partly by the search for india-rubber, for which there is a brisk demand, and partly by the pressure of other powerful tribes who are advancing from the south-east, and among whom are the Lushai tribes of Puis and Soktes. This migratory tendency was first brought to notice in 1875-76.

Subsequently to 1875 three bazars were established in the Lushai country, and were supplied by native traders from Kachar. They were located on the three principal streams flowing out of that country; at Changsil (formerly Bepari bazaar), at Sonai bazaar, and at Tipaimukh. The bazaars increased for a time in size and importance but their growth was checked by the exactions of the Chiefs, and subsequently they fell off seriously owing to the failure of the supply of rubber brought in by the tribes. At the present time they are all closed.

In 1876-77 hostilities broke out between the Eastern and Western Lushais; the former under the Chiefs Lalbura, Chunglen, and Bungte; the latter under the Chiefs Sukpila, Khalgom, and Lempunga. Each party invoked the intervention of the British Government on its behalf. They were told in reply that the request could not be entertained except on a joint application for mediation.

In 1877 Mr. Luttman Johnson, Deputy Commissioner of Kachar, made a successful tour through Lushai country.

In 1878 the Changsil bazaar, which is under Sukpila's protection, was plundered by a party of Lushais. Sukpila was called upon to pay the losses of the merchants, which he ultimately did.

Sukpila died in the end of 1880. This was a matter of regret as latterly his great influence had been steadily exerted towards the maintenance of friendly and conciliatory relations with the British Government. On his death the quarrels between the Eastern and Western Chiefs were prosecuted with renewed vigour. In 1881-82 famine prevailed in the country. Measures of relief were inaugurated by the British Government when the pressure of want began to be felt; the three principal Chiefs met and agreed to a cessation of hostilities. The scarcity abated on the setting in of the rains, whereupon the internecine quarrels of the tribes broke out afresh.

In January 1883 a small party of Sokte or Kamhow Lushais plundered the Tipaimukh bazaar and carried a boy off captive. The captive, the plunder, and a fine of Rupees 450 were subsequently recovered through the Manipur Raja.

In December 1883 symptoms of turbulence appeared among the Eastern Chiefs, and it became known that they were meditating raids on British territory. Measures were at once taken for the protection of the border. The Lushais however quieted down and nothing further happened. The policy of sending one of the Kachar officers to pay a friendly visit to the principal Chiefs from time to time was followed with success. The frontier posts were carefully maintained, and the military branch of the frontier police was placed on an improved footing.

Settlements of parties of these border tribes within the British boundary are not permitted except after sanction duly asked and obtained, and on sites specially assigned. These sites are invariably chosen at a considerable distance within the border, in order to prevent raids on the settlements, and to obviate the chance of disputes arising between the communities, and the risk of our being involved in their feuds.

The sources of information about Lushai matters were much circumscribed by the closing of the three bazaars, the establishment of which is referred to above. The Tipaimukh bazaar has not been opened since the attack on it in January 1883. The Sonai bazaar was plundered by some of the Chief Khalgom's men, and as no reparation was afforded the traders refused to return. Lastly the Changsil bazaar was gradually abandoned, trade being unprofitable.

Nearly all the Lushais referred to are under the control or influence of the Government of Assam, but some of the Howlongs and the recently formed tribe of Puis or Molienpuis are at present under the Bengal Government.

For later events in the Lushai Hills see the Assam narrative in this volume.

TRANSLATION of the SUNNUD given to SOOKPILALL.—1871.

The order of the illustrious Government.

Be it known to the Looshai Lall (Sookpilall) and to all other Lalls, Muntrees, and people of Looshai villages between the Tapai and Tipperah Hills.

The illustrious Government has laid down the following line of division:—

From Chutturchoora to the mouth of Bhyrubbee Cherra, from the mouth of Bhyrubbee Cherra to Bhyrubbee Tillah, from Bhyrubbee Tillah to Kolosep Tillah, from Kolosep Tillah to Noongvai Hills, from Noongvai Hills to Koobecherra Mookh, which falls to Sunai Nuddee, and it has ordered that the country to the north of the said line shall be called Cachar and the Marthinlong or Northern Looshai lands; on the other side of that line of division shall be called the Looshai hills. The name Marthinlong or Northern Looshai includes those people who drink the water of the Toavai, Tipai Tuirol or Sonai Tinpar or Rukni, Sinlong, or Dullessur, and Kloong Doong or Guttur.

The illustrious Government has further ordered that (Sookpilall) and all other Looshai Lalls, Muntrees, and people shall not in any way injure or annoy any of the people of Sylhet or Cachar.

If any Looshai suffers any injury or annoyance at the hands of Cachar or Sylhet people, and wishes to have his wrongs redressed, he must make a request to that effect to the Burra Sahib (Deputy Commissioner) of Cachar, who has been ordered by Government to do justice in such cases.

The Lalls and Muntrees of the Looshais shall be answerable for the safety of all merchants and wood-cutters who go to the Looshai hills to trade or cut timber.

There are, as is known, various hill tribes known as Simthinlong drinking the water of the river flowing to the south. If they or the people dwelling in the east of the Tipai, are about to attack or annoy any people of Cachar or Sylhet, and if Sookpilall, etc., know of it and cannot prevent them from passing through their villages, then Sookpilall, etc., must at once give information to the Burra Sahib (Deputy Commissioner) of Cachar.

If a dispute arise between Sookpilall, etc., and the people of the Rajahs of Munnipoor or Tipperah, he or they may inform the Burra Sahib (Deputy Commissioner) of Cachar, who will endeavour to get the matter enquired into.

When the Burra Sahib of Cachar or any Government Officer who may be deputed by him goes to visit the Looshai hills, Sookpilall should meet him in person or by deputy at some place to be appointed from time to time within the hills.

If in any year no European Government Officer goes to the hills, then Sookpilall, etc., shall send to the Burra Sahib (Deputy Commissioner) at Doodpate (Silchar) some respectable Looshais.

If at any time all the above orders of Government be not carried out, the said Government may revoke this Sunnud and pass such orders as it thinks proper. But as long as Sookpilall, etc., shall obey all these orders and any similar ones which the Government may issue from time to time for the preservation of peace on both sides of the above-mentioned line, the Government will not interfere with the affairs of their villages, and will leave them in the undisturbed possession of their village land.

tendent of the Tributary Mahals there are at present the seventeen States detailed in the margin. They are commonly known as the Tributary Mahals of Orissa. Angul and Banki were also formerly included among the Orissa Tributary Mahals, but have been annexed by Government owing to the misconduct of their respective Chiefs. Banki was, by Act XXV of 1881, incorporated with the district of Katak (Cuttack), while Angul was formed into a scheduled district under Act XIV of 1874 and has now, with the Khandmals, been joined into a separate district.

Until the year 1803 the Tributary Chiefs of Orissa were feudatories of the Raja of Nagpur. During the Mahratta war of that year a small force marched from Ganjam and took the town of Katak on the 10th October 1803. Balasor had been already captured on the 21st September in the same year. When the plains of Orissa had been brought under British rule negotiations were entered into with the Hill Chiefs, and in November 1803 treaty engagements were executed by, and kaulnamas given to, the Rajas of Narsinghpur, Tigiria, Dhenkanal, Ranpur, Baramba, Khandpara, Nayagarh, Talcher, Daspalla, Athgarh, Nilgiri, Hindol Banki, and Angul. The two last have, however, since ceased to be Native States.

Meanwhile on November 2nd, 1803, the Mahrattas were defeated at the Barmul Pass, and the Raja of Bod and Sopa tendered his submission to the British Government. The treaty with the Raja of Bod, who was also in name at least the Raja of Athmalik, was concluded on the 3rd March 1804. A treaty with the Raja of Daspalla was also concluded at about the same time. In consideration of his engaging to keep the Barmul Pass safe no tribute was to be exacted from this Chief on account of the above State. In a treaty dated the 17th December 1803 between the East India Company and Sena Sahib Suba Raghuji Bhonsla, it was stipulated that the engagements which the British Government had made with the feudatories of the Sena Sahib Suba in Orissa were to be confirmed, and that a list of the persons with whom such engagements had been made was to be given to the Sena Sahib Suba when the treaty was ratified by the Governor General in Council.

A treaty was concluded with the Raja of Keonjhar on the 16th December 1804 by which he was to pay a tribute of Rupees 2,976-11-11, but in recogdition of his services during the mutiny, this was afterwards reduced by Rupees 1,000. In 1868 a disputed succession in Keonjhar rendered it necessary for us to despatch a considerable force into the country and restore peace. After this the country was for some time under British superintendence, which was withdrawn in 1878. In May 1891 an insurrection, in which the hill tribes were the chief movers, broke out but was easily put down by a small force of troops and police. The Maharaja was temporarily relieved of his duties and the State put under management with a view to a searching enquiry into the causes of discontent. It was decided to permit the Maharaja to resume control of his State, but measures were instituted for the improvement of his administration and an agent was appointed to assist and advise the Maharaja.

A treaty with Morbhanj was concluded on the 1st June 1829. This is the largest and most important of the Tributary Mahals from every point of view. It has till recently been under management during the minority of the Chief, who took over charge in September 1890. The Baunghati portion of Morbhanj was, owing to the mismanagement of the Raja, Srinath Bhanj, placed under the control of the Deputy Commissioner of Singhbhum, but was restored in 1878 to Maharaja Krishna Chandra Bhanj, who succeeded Raja Srinath Bhanj.

In the early treaties Athmalik was dealt with as a tributary of Bod, but in later times it seems to have been considered as quite distinct, and separate engagements were entered into in 1875 with the Rajas of both these States renewing their settlements for twenty years.

Pal-Lahera was originally a larger State, but was dispossessed of much property by neighbouring Rajas. About the year 1778 the Keonjhar Raja appears to have obtained ascendancy in Pal-Lahera owing to his interference in a dispute about the succession. In 1825 an attempt was made to disown the supremacy of Keonjhar, but it was unsuccessful. An objection was preferred to the Political Agent of the South-West Frontier on the ground that Pal-Lahera was subject to Sambalpur, but it was decided that the Keonjhar Raja was paramount, and the Chief of Pal-Lahera was ordered to pay tribute to him. In 1840 the Raja of Keonjhar was deprived of all right of interference in the local affairs of Pal-Lahera, and the Chief of the latter is allowed to pay his quit-rent to the Chief of Keonjhar through the office of the Superintendent of the Tributary Mahals. In 1880 the Keonjhar Raja wished that this quit-rent should be increased, but this was not allowed. The present Raja of Pal-Lahera is only seven years old, and his State is under the direct administration of the Superintendent; as are also the States of Dhenkanal, Narsinghpur and Baramba during the minorities of their respective chiefs.

In the Regulations of 1805 all the Tributary States of Orissa, except Bod, Pal-Lahera, and Athmalik (of which no mention was made) were exempted from the operation of the Bengal Regulations.

The office of Superintendent was created in 1814. In 1839 and 1840 rules were framed for the administration of civil and criminal justice in the Killahs; and the Government of India directed that the Superintendent was to be guided by the spirit of these rules which abolished sati and human sacrifices, and deprived the Rajas of the power of life and death, and of making war, though in other respects leaving them the power of local control.

In 1839 the Raja of Banki murdered one Raghunath Paramgara and was deposed, while his State was declared forfeited.

In 1848 the Raja of Angul was likewise deposed for aiding the malcontents of Bod in their opposition to those officers of Government who were engaged in suppressing human sacrifices, and for making preparations to wage war against Government.

In 1885 it was found that the Khands of the high lands of Bod, known as the Khandmals, had for some years past ceased to render allegiance to the Raja of Bod who himself admitted that he had no power in the country and was not in possession of it. It was also found that some of the tribal chiefs of the Khandmals had harboured Chakra Bisoi and other public enemies who frequently committed depredations in Ghumsar. The Khandmals were therefore occupied by Government and permanently removed from the jurisdiction of the Raja of Bod. They have ever since remained under direct management and control.

It has been decided by the Secretary of State in Council, in accordance with a ruling of the High Court in the case of Morbhanj, that the Tributary Mahals of Orissa do not form part of British India, and the question of giving new sanads to the chiefs defining their status, powers and position, is under consideration.

A comparison of the results of the census of 1891 with the figures obtained ten years previously shows a remarkable increase in the population of the Tributary Mahals of Orissa. Omitting Bod (the area of which was reduced in 1885), the following is a summary of the figures—

Year.	Total population.	Density per mile.
1891	1,607,169	123.3

Or an advance of 268,130 in total population, and of 21.3 in density.

The actual increase in population shown by these figures is upwards of 20 per cent. in the ten years.

In Bod the density per square mile is now 70·8 as against 63 in 1881, but no reliable deductions can be drawn from these figures as the relative distribution of the population in Bod proper and in the Khandmals in 1881 is not known.

Copies of the Engagements (Nos. XXIX to XXXIX) entered into with the Chiefs of the Tributary Mahals are appended.

The Chiefs of the Mahals have agreed to abandon all monopoly of salt and all restrictions on its free transit through, or sale in, their territories.

In 1842 the principal States agreed to suppress sati.

In 1862 Sanads (No. XL) were given to the Chiefs guaranteeing to them the right of adoption, and in 1874 the hereditary title of Raja was conferred on them (No. XLI).

V.—TRIBUTARY MAHALS OF CHUTIA NAGPUR (CHOTA NAGPORE.)

These Mahals formed part of the South-Western Frontier Agency created in 1838 on the suppression of the Kol insurrection : the designation was changed in 1854 to that of Commissionership of Chutia Nagpur. The other Mahals under Chutia Nagpur were transferred to the Central Provinces in 1862.—See Nagpur, Vol. VIII.

Sarguja.	Korea.
Udaipur.	Bonai.
Jashpur.	Chang Bhakar.
Gangpur.	Singhbhum.

The territories forming these States, with the exception of Singhbhum, were acquired by cession in 1817 from Raghuji Bhonsla, and in 1818 Government sent a Superintendent to Sarguja to restore order in the country, which had become distracted by domestic feuds. In 1820 and 1825 Engagements (Nos. XLII and XLIII) were made with the Chief of Sarguja. In 1819 Engagements (Nos. XLIV and XLV) were also taken from the Chiefs of Jashpur and Korea, of which latter State Chang Bhakar was then a feudal dependency ; but in 1848 separate Settlements (No. XLVI) were made with Korea and Chang Bhakar. Jashpur and Udaipur were originally feudal dependencies of Sarguja, and the former still pays tribute through that State.

The State of Udaipur was held to have lapsed in 1852 in consequence of the Chief, Dhiraj Singh, having been convicted of manslaughter, but Government continued to pay its tribute to Sarguja. In 1860 the State was conferred on Lal Bindesari Parshad Singh Deo Bahadur, younger brother of the Chief of Sarguja, as a reward for his services in the mutiny, and an Agreement (No. XLVII) was concluded with him. From this time Udaipur became a distinct tributary State, the Raja paying his tribute direct to Government and Sarguja receiving credit for the same.

In 1875 the settlements with the Tributary Chiefs, which had long expired, were renewed for a period of twenty years, and they received Sanads, of which a form (No. XLVIII) is given, declaring the fact and the liability of their States to a revision of tribute at the close of that period. An exception was made in favour of Udaipur.

In 1882 an appeal was preferred to the High Court by one Metha Kharia against a conviction and sentence passed upon him by the Commissioner of Chutia Nagpur. The offence was committed in Gangpur and the case was referred by the Chief of that State to the Commissioner for trial. The accused was tried in Lohardaga. The case was heard on the 15th September 1882 by a Divisional Bench of the High Court, which rejected the appeal on the ground that the Court had no power to interfere.

Saraikala and Kharsawan.—The Singhbhum country was never conquered by the Mahrattas, and was in the position of an independent State when Raja Ghansham Singh tendered his allegiance to the British Government in 1818. The object of the Raja was partly to be recognised as owning the allegiance of his kinsmen, the Raja of Saraikala and the Thakur of Kharsawan, whose estates are situated in the Singhbhum country, and partly to procure assistance in subduing the refractory tribe of the Larka Kols. The Raja's pretensions to supremacy were not recognised. An Agreement (No. XLIX) was in 1820 taken from him only as regards his own estate. It is believed that separate engagements were taken from the Raja of Saraikala and the Thakur of Kharsawan, but no copies of these are extant. These estates have never been under direct British administration except in the case of the recent minority in Kharsawan, when the State was under management from 1884 until the Thakur attained his majority in 1890. The Chiefs are feudatories bound, when called upon, to render service to the British Government. Their position is nearly similar to that of the Chiefs of the Tributary Mahals, with this difference that they have never had to pay tribute to Government.

Part of the estate of the Raja of Singhbhum, afterwards styled the Raja of Porahat, was confiscated in 1857 for rebellion, and granted to the Raja of Saraikala and the Thakur of Kharsawan, while Rupees 97 paid as quit-rent by the Thakur of Anandpur, whose estate was held in subordination to the Raja of Porahat, were remitted in perpetuity. Sanads (Nos. L and LI) were issued for these grants to the Raja of Saraikala and the Thakur of Kharsawan. The remainder of the Singhbhum Raja's estate was sequestered during the Raja's lifetime, and Government declared that on his death a member of his family should be reinstated in Porahat. Arjun Singh, the ex-Raja, was in 1862 granted an increased pension of Rs. 400. He has since died leaving an only son, a minor.

The Rajas of Saraikala have always been distinguished for loyalty to the British Government. Raja Ajambar Singh died in 1837 of illness brought on by exposure and fatigue in the Kol campaign, in the course of which he rendered important services. His son and successor Raja Chakradhar Singh Deo, who in 1856 received the title of Raja Bahadur as a personal distinction, gave valuable assistance during the Singhbhum mutiny of 1857 and during the Keonjhar campaign in 1868; he was rewarded for his services on the former occasion with a khilat and with a portion of the sequestrated estate of the Raja of Porahat. Chakradhar Singh died in 1883, and was succeeded by his son the present Raja, Kunwar Udit Narayan Singh, then 35 years of age. On account of the services of his father and grandfather, as well as on account of his own character, the title of Raja Bahadur was in 1884 continued to the Kunwar as a personal distinction.

The rules for the levy of nazarana on successions are applicable to the States of Saraikala and Kharsawan.

The Larka Kols were subdued in 1821, and an Agreement (No. LII) was made with them, by which they bound themselves to be subject to the British Government, and to pay a fixed tribute to their Chiefs. But in consequence of repeated outrages it was found necessary to send a force against them in 1836, when fresh engagements were verbally made and solemnly sworn to, by which they bound themselves to obey and pay revenue to the British Government. In 1838 each of the headmen received a Sunnad (No. LIII) and patta, in the former of which all the conditions which they had sworn to abide by were specified. Whenever a new headman is appointed he receives a Sunnad, and swears to abide by the conditions. In 1857 a large number of the Larka Kols espoused the cause of the Raja of Porahat, but on the restoration of order they reverted to peaceful pursuits.

Whereas, with the sanction of the Government conveyed in their Secretary's letters No. 27, dated 17th May 1847, and No. 48, dated 5th July following, I, the Agent to the Governor-General at Ranchee, in Chota Nagpore, have concluded with you, Rajah Umolesing, Zemindar and proprietor of Pergunnah Korea, a settlement of that Pergunnah, containing 350 mouzahs, "Uslee and Dakhilee," with a right to all cultivated and waste land, jungles and hills, jheel and beel, reservoir, tanks, wells, "kutchas and pucks," "Julker" (fisheries), Bunker, and Putker (forest produce), ponds, groves of "Tar, Muhoowa, and Mango," productive and unproductive, at an annual jumma of Company's Rupees 400 for ten years, from 1255 to 1264 F., excepting Lakheraj, Khyrat, Bishoonpeereel, Aina, Brahmutur, and Shibotur lands, Abwabs and Sayer, Gunjeat, Tuhbazaaree, Dān, and other Bazaar dues, it becomes you to conciliate and render contented all resident, as well as Pyekasht, Ryots

All Police and Foujdarry cases, heinous and petty, that occur within your estate, you will promptly investigate and decide according to the method approved by the Authorities, and you will report the result to them. You will, like all other Zemindars, perform Police duties. When the time arrives for the appointment of a British Officer, he will superintend the Police and conduct all cases, Dewannee and Foujdarry, and you will even then continue to perform Police duties. You will be responsible for all crimes committed within your estate, and you will exercise the same Police powers as the Illaquadars of Jubbulpore and Sagur. Your responsibilities, too, will be the same as theirs. You must not conceal any crime or hush up a case, but you must decide it impartially. You must submit to the Agent, Governor-General, Monthly Criminal Returns and Reports. If you fail in the payment of the Government revenue, and if it be proved that you are guilty of neglect of your Police duties, of disobedience of orders, of the crime of oppression and tyranny over your Ryots, or of taking or giving bad counsel, the whole Zemindarry of the said Pergunnah will be resumed by the Government, and you will be debarred from all interference with it. In the above event the Orders of Government are positive; you should therefore be cautious and vigilant in all respects.

TRANSLATION of the SUNNUD granted to RAJAH BINDESSUREE PERSHAD SING DEO, BAHADOOR, of OUDEYPORE, by the COMMISSIONER of CHOTA NAGPORE, dated 12th December 1860.

Whereas, in lieu of the loyal services rendered by you, the Pergunnah of Oudeypore has been bestowed to you by the Government, with the title of Rajah Bahadoor, and a Sword and Sunnud, with the Signature and Seal of His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor-General of India, and whereas the sum of Rupees 533-5-4 is fixed for the tribute of the said Pergunnah, and the sum of 500 Rupees is paid out of the collections of the said Pergunnah to Ranee Bunkoonwaree, widow of the late Nursing Deo, Ex-Rajah of Oudeypore, as a pension, and whereas the sum of one Rupee per diem is at present paid by Government to the families of Dheeraj Sing and Sewraj Sing for their support, these items are due and obligatory on you to be discharged. It is therefore necessary that you pay into Government Treasury annually by three instalments the sum of Rupees 533-5-4 on account of the tribute of the said Pergunnah, and the amount of 500 Rupees on account of the pension of Ranee Bunkoonwaree during her life, and for the present a sum of one Rupee per diem for the maintenance of Dheeraj and Sewraj Sing's families, and in future whatever amount may be fixed for their support, you will, without objection, pay into the Government Treasury, and will continue to enjoy the Pergunnah bestowed on you and the heirs male of your body; you will remain firm in your alliance to render all such services as may be required of you by the British Government.

TRANSLATION of the AGREEMENT tendered by RAJAH BINDESSUREE PERSHAD SING DEO BAHADOOR of OUDEYPORE, dated 12th December 1860, corresponding with the 15th Aghun 1268 Fuslee.

Whereas I, Bindessuree Pershad Sing Deo, having received through the favour of the Government the Pergunnah of Oudeypore, with the title of Rajah Bahadoor, as also a Sword with a Sunnud under the autograph of His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor-General of India; whereas the annual tribute of the said Pergunnah is fixed at Rupees 533-5-4, and whereas 500 Rupees are paid out of the collections of the said Pergunnah as a pension to Ranee Bunkoonwaree, relict of the late Nursing Deo, Ex-Rajah of Oudeypore; and whereas an allowance of one Rupee per diem is paid by Government to the families of Dheeraj Sing and Sewraj Sing for their maintenance, it is a stringent and bounden duty on me to discharge myself all these items. TRANSLATION of an AGREEMENT tendered by RAJAH BINDESSUREE PERSHAD SING DEO BAHADOOR, of OUDEYPORE, regarding the Police administration, dated 12th December 1860, corresponding with the 15th Aghun 1268 F. S.

Whereas the Police duties of Pergunnah Oudeypore have been consigned to me by the Government, and I have of my own free will and accord taken them upon myself, I do therefore promise and place on record that I will discharge the duties thereof faithfully and honourably; and whatever suits may be instituted for debts, &c., I will decide impartially and honestly, and will listen to all pleas that may be given. If both parties shall agree to have their dispute decided by arbitration, I will appoint arbitrators, and instruct them to adjust the suit without partiality. In the heinous criminal cases, viz., dacoity, plunder, murder, wounding, burglary, theft, and highway robbery, &c., which may be perpetrated in my jurisdiction, I will make thorough inquiries, and apprehend the offenders and impartially investigate the case. I will send reports of all such cases to the Commissioner. In cases where sentence of more than two years' imprisonment should seem to me necessary, I will submit the records after proper investigation to the Commissioner, as is customary in this Commissionership. I will transmit the monthly papers, &c., on the 5th of every succeeding month, and will not conceal any crime. I will not be guilty of any oppression or hardship on the inhabitants of the said Pergunnah. I will also keep up a vigilant watch on my Amlahs that they may not oppress the ryots. I will not impose or confine any one on account of the prohibited duties. I have no claim on the intestate property, it all belongs to Government, and whatever such property shall come into my hands I will report about it to the Commissioner. If I act contrary to the foregoing stipulations, I shall be held responsible for it, and if it is proved on me I shall submit to the orders passed for me. Wherefore I do write these few lines in the shape of an Agreement to be used when required.

TRANSLATION of a SUNNUD given by CAPTAIN TICKELL to RAORIA, MANKEE of KOWSILLAPOSSI in BUR PEER, dated 10th December 1838.

Be it known to you, Raoria, Mankee of Kowsillapossi in Bur Peer, that the post of Mankee in Bur Peer is given to you; therefore I give you this sunnud under orders of the Agent, Governor-General, of the 10th December 1838. You must act in accordance therewith. In conformity with your Agreement, made in presence of the Agent, Governor-General, and Assistant Commissioner, you will be held responsible for all the crimes, vis., theft, murder, dacoity, highway robbery and plunder, etc., occurring in all the villages under your charge. If the revenue of your Illakah be not received on the fixed date, you will be held personally responsible for it; the Government revenue will be collected according to the current settlement and such as may be hereafter made. You will perform your duties zealously, and must arrest and deliver up criminals. You must not willingly allow offenders to escape in any way, whether in consideration of relationship or bribes. If any offenders escape from another Illakah, and take refuge in your Illakah, you must arrest them and bring them to Court, and if you conceal them or favor their cause, it will be to your discredit. You must report to the Court at once the occurrence of any theft, murder, dacoity, highway robbery and plunder, etc., that takes place in your Illakah, and you are authorised to try and determine yourself petty cases, such as quarrels, altercations, etc., and report the fact to the Court. You are to remain loyal, and obey any orders given you by myself or any person constituted by my successor. For your assistance a Moondah has been appointed in each village in your Illakah. They must obey your orders, and they will also promise before the Agent, Governor-General, and Assistant Commissioner, that they will obey their Mankee's orders and aid him; whatever good or bad occurs in their respective village, they must report it to the Mankee: if they cannot find the Mankee, they will report the fact to the Naib Mankee. If I become ill or go to some other place on my own business, another officer will be appointed to discharge the duties entrusted to me at present. Moreover, if you receive orders to arrest any offender either from the Assistant Commissioner or Acting Assistant Commissioner, you must arrest the offender and bring him to Court. If the offender absconds from your Illakah to any other, you must trace and arrest him. Or if the Mankee of other Illakah requires assistance from you to apprehend a felon, you must comply instantly and make no excuse, and exert yourself to the utmost, so that the felon may be secured. If you be ill, or may have occasion to visit other villages, you must entrust your duties to your Naib. He is appointed by Government for those duties. Moreover, if you see that you will be detained for some time at some place on your own business, you must report that to the Court—that there may exist no anxiety in your mind. If you receive any orders from any Rajah, Baboo, Zemindar, or Karpurdauz, on any pretence whatever, you must not fail in your engagement; on the contrary, you must arrest the bearer of the said order, and bring him to the Assistant Commissioner or to the Officer in charge for the time being. If anybody disturbs the peace of your Illakah, you must collect your force or followers, and arrest the man and bring him to the Assistant Commissioner. If the disturber of the peace leaves your Illakah for another, you must go there, apprehend him, and bring him to Court, and must not knowingly let him escape: you must always act up to the above instructions. You will receive a separate Pottah, and will receive one-tenth out of the revenue which will be collected by Government from your Illakah. If you neglect the discharge of the Government duties entrusted to you, then the tenth part of the revenue promised to be paid to you will be withheld, and the Pottah of the Mankeeship will be taken back and given to some other person; you must keep this as a sunnud.

TRANSLATION of a POTTAH given by CAPTAIN TICKELL to RAORIA, MANKEE of KOWSILLAPOSSI in BUR PEER, dated 19th
March 1839.

Be it known to Raoria, Mankee of Kowsillapossi in "Sath Bunturia :": the undermentioned villages are entrusted to you. You are nominated Mankee of those villages. You must keep the ryots in those villages satisfied, and settle them. You must be attentive to the Government orders, and collect the revenue of your Illakah according to the settlement, and bring it yourself. Whatever revenue will come from any village, one-sixth of it will be given to the Moondah, and from the remainder you will get one-tenth. Therefore this Pottah is given to you.

(Here follows specification of villages.)

VI.—SIKKIM.

Sikkim, called by the Tibetans Demojong and Demoshong, i.e., the land or valley of rice, and by the Lepcha called Rong, is at present bounded on the north by Tibet, on the east by Bhutan, on the west by Nepal, and on the south by the British district of Darjeeling. The name Sikkim, or more properly Sikhim or Sukhym, is perhaps derived from two Limbu words meaning "New Palace," and refers to the new kingdom founded by the Tibet foreigner Penchoo Namgyel.

The boundary with Tibet has been defined in Article 1 of the Anglo-Chinese Convention of the 17th March 1890; and that with Nepal is a continuation southward of the above boundary. On the east the river De-chu or Dik-chu, rising in Mount Gipmochi, practically separates Sikkim from Bhutan.

In remote times the country of the Rong-pa or Lepcha was much more extensive, as in an old document it is thus described:—

* The Tanga pass by Chumalhari just north of Phari.

‡ Probably Tambur Chhorten now in Nepal.

§ Kanchinjunga.

Demojong lies to the south-west of Lhasa, being bounded on the north by the Mon-Thangla* mountain, which is guarded by the spirit Kiting. On the east of Demojong lies the Tegongla mountain. Its southern gate is Nagsar-bhati,† which is guarded by Magon-Chamdul-Yabdui. Its western gate Timar‡ Chhorten is guarded by the terrible female spirit Mamo. The Kangchan Joiña§ mountains and the spirit Thamar Gamen of Zar guard it on the north."

The country was then chiefly inhabited by Lepcha, but encroachments on all sides very shortly took place.

In the beginning of the sixteenth century of our era, there was born of a noble family, which was connected with a ruling dynasty of China, at a place called Kham-miag-andong near Lithang, one Guru Tashe. Being warned by an oracle, Guru Tashe proceeded to Lhasa, whence his son Jo-khyé-Bumsa found his way to Sakya. Here the son succeeded in raising one of the four great pillars of the chief monastery: this was said to have defied the efforts of 10,000 men to raise, hence the ancestor of the Sikkim Rajas gained his name, "The Lord of 10,000 Heroes." In Sakya he married the daughter of the Hierarch. From Sakya he proceeded to Chompi, where he built a house, the site alone of which now remains, to the north of the present palace. Being childless, he consulted the Lamas and was told to propitiate the Chiefs of the Lepcha. He crossed the Chola and at Rankpo met Thekong-Tek and Nyekong-Nal, Lepchas: they promised him three sons. He returned to Chombi, where two sons were born, while the third was born at Pyakchen, below Phieungong; their names were Lang-morab (The Ploughman), Kya-bo-rab (The Swindler), and Mipon-rab (The Leader of Men); these came into Sikkim to Gantok, but their father remained and died at Chombi. At Gantok, Mipon-rab, who had married a Tibetan lady of Sakya, had born to him a son, who is known as Guru Tashe: his grandson, Phun-tsho-Namgyel (i.e., Penchoo Namgay), the date of whose birth is given as 1604 A.D., became the first Raja of Sikkim.

Some thirty odd years later, three celebrated Lamas came into Sikkim,

(a) i.e., Kun-zong Namgyel, who founded the old monastery at Dubdi; his followers founded Sanga Cholling for all nationalities, and afterwards Pemionchi for Tasonga.

(b) His followers founded Kartok.

(c) His followers founded Namchi and Taahiding and Senau.

viz., (a) Lha-tsan Chhembo by the Kanglanama pass, (b) Khamdu Zangbo by the Singli-la, and (c) Gnadag Sempa Chhembo from Nepal via Namchi. These met at Yok-sam and deliberated over the way to convert the people of Sikkim to the truths of Buddhism. The result was that they sent To-den Kalzang Tondub to search for a man named Penchoo. This Lama came to Gantok, where he found Phun-tsho-Namgyel mentioned above, and brought him back to Yok-sam. There the three Lamas declared him King of Sikkim. Thus—

(These dates are approximate only.)

(3) built the palace at Rubdenchi.

(8) was murdered by orders of his sister Pende-Amo, who also invited the Bhutanese to seize Rubdenchi.—Vide Bhutan narrative.

(4) went to Tibet disguised as a mendicant, but was recognised by the Gyalwa Karmapa Lama (Gupa Wanchuk Dorze), Sakang Monastery built.

(1) Phun-tsho-Namgyel became the first Raja of Sikkim. His accession is said to have occurred in 1641. He was succeeded by his son,

(2) Ten-sung Namgyel, born in 1644. He again was succeeded by his son,

(3) Cha-dhor Namgyel, born in 1686. His son died in 1717.

(4) Gyur-mé-Namgyel was born in 1707. He ascended the gadi in 1717, and was in 1734 succeeded by his son,

(5) Namgyel-Phun-tsho, born the previous year. He was succeeded by his son (born about 1769),

- (6) Ten-zin-Namgyel, who died 1793 when his son succeeded him.
- (7) Palace at Tumlong commenced in 1814. (7) Chug-phui-Namgyel, born in 1785. He died in 1863, and was succeeded by his son,
- (8) Sikyong Namgyel, born in 1819 and died in April 1874, when
- (9) Thothumb Namgyel, his half-brother, and the present Raja, was placed on the gadi. Thothumb was born in 1860.

There had been several Bhutanese invasions before the reign of Cha-dhor Namgyel, but it was about 1706, when De-ba zi-r Dar was Raja of Bhutan, that his general Ta-pa-nag-wang-Tin-le occupied Rubdenchi and built forts at Ongdo-phodang, Takse-gong, and Namgyel Tempoo in Sikkim. The result of all these invasions was the permanent loss of all the country between the Tista (Teesta) river south of the Rishi Chu and the Tegong-la range. Again, while Chug-phui-Namgyel was still but a child, the war between Nepal and Tibet-cum-China broke out, and the Nepalese, after sacking Tashi-thunpo, destroyed Rubdenchi and established themselves firmly in Sikkim, south and west of the Tista. The tradition goes that after the Chinese had expelled the Nepalese from Tibet, they called on the Sikkimese to show their boundaries. The Raja being a minor and a fugitive, and everything being in confusion, there was no one to come forward, so the Chinese-Tibetan authorities gave up the Tista to the Nepalese as the south boundary of Sikkim, made the Chola-Jelep range the north and east boundary, and appropriating the Chombi valley as part of Tibet, even went so far as to deprive the Sikkim Raja of his ancestor's estate at Piahte-jong and Samye in the province of U (Lhasa).

For some years Pemionchi and all the South Tista tract of Sikkim paid rent to Nepal until 1815, when the Nepalese were expelled by the British, who in 1817 restored all this country together with the Tarai to the Sikkim Raja. Our relations with Sikkim had commenced at the outbreak of the war with Nepal in 1814-15. The Gurkhas commenced inroads on Sikkim as early as 1780, and when their encroachments in British territory resulted in war, they had overrun Sikkim as far eastward as the Tista river, including the Morang or Tarai at the foot of the hills. It was the object of the British Government to give every possible assistance to the Maharaja of Sikkim to expel the Gurkhas, and on the conclusion of the Nepal war the country between the Mechi and the Tista, which had been wrested by us from the Nepalese, was made over by Treaty (No. LIV) to him. The main object of this treaty was to shut out the Nepalese from the means of carrying out any views of aggrandisement to the eastward. But even then Sikkim lost the country between our present Nepal boundary and the Tambur river: on the eastern portion of this tract there are still living several Lepcha families under a Lepcha Kazi.

From 1817 to 1825 there do not appear to have been any business transactions between the Maharaja of Sikkim and the British Government. But in 1825 or 1826, one hBah-Lu or Bho-Lod, the Prime Minister of Sikkim, and maternal uncle to Raja Chug-phui Namgyel, was murdered by the latter's orders, while hBah-Lu's cousin, Yuk-Lha-Thup alias Da-Thup, fearing a similar fate, fled from Sikkim and took refuge in Nepal with some 800 of his Lepcha tribesmen.

Shortly after this, disputes arose on the Sikkim and Nepal boundary which came under the cognizance of the Governor-General's Agent for the North-Eastern Frontier and the Resident in Nepal. In 1828 Captain Lloyd was deputed to the Sikkim Frontier in connection with these disputes. He penetrated the hills in company with Mr. J. W. Grant, the Commercial Resident at Malda, as far as Rinchingpung. These gentlemen, attracted by the position of Darjeeling, brought it to the notice of the Governor-General, and it was resolved by Government to open negotiations with the Maharaja of Sikkim on the first convenient occasion for the cession of Darjeeling to the British Government in return for an equivalent in lands or money. This opportunity occurred in 1834-35, when the Lepcha refugees in Nepal made an inroad into the Sikkim Tarai, and Colonel Lloyd was deputed to enquire into the causes of the disturbance. The refugees were obliged to return to Nepal, and the negotiation ended in the unconditional cession by the Maharaja of the Darjeeling tract under a Deed of Grant (No. LV), dated February 1835.

In 1841 the Government granted an allowance of Rs. 3,000 per annum to the Maharaja as compensation for the cession of Darjeeling, and in 1846 a further sum of Rs. 3,000—in all Rs. 6,000 per annum.

The settlement of Darjeeling advanced rapidly, its population having risen from not more than 100 souls in 1839 to about 10,000 in 1849, chiefly by immigration from the neighbouring States of Nepal, Sikkim, and Bhutan, in all of which slavery is prevalent. There was free trade in labour and all other commodities, with forest land enough for all comers to settle in, and every encouragement was given to the new arrivals. The increased importance of Darjeeling, under free institutions, was a source of early and constant jealousy and annoyance to the Diwan of the Maharaja, who was himself the monopolist of all trade in Sikkim, and it was shared in by the Lamas and other principal people in the country, who lost their rights over slaves settling as British subjects in our territory. The plan pursued was through reports and secret emissaries to frighten our new subjects, by declaring that they would be delivered up as escaped slaves to their former masters, and by discouraging the resort in every way of the Sikkim people to Darjeeling; added to which some British subjects were occasionally kidnapped to be sold into slavery, and there were frequent denials of aid in capturing and surrendering criminals. There had always been an arrangement for a mutual exchange of slaves between Sikkim and Bhutan, and Dr. Campbell, the Superintendent of Darjeeling, was constantly importuned by the Maharaja of Sikkim and his Diwan to get the British Government to follow a similar course with Sikkim, which was of necessity steadily refused.

In 1849 Dr. Hooker and Dr. Campbell, while travelling in Sikkim with the permission of Government and of the Maharaja, were suddenly seized and made prisoners. The object was to force Dr. Campbell to relinquish claims for the surrender of criminals; to make him, while in durance, agree to the dictation of the Diwan regarding the giving up of escaped slaves; and to detain him until these enforced conditions should be sanctioned by Government. Foiled by the declaration that whatever concessions might be extorted then would not be confirmed by Government, and intimidated by the declaration of the Governor-General that the Maharaja's own head should answer for it if a hair of the head of Dr. Campbell or Dr. Hooker were hurt, the Sikkimese eventually released the prisoners on the 24th December 1849.

In February 1850 an avenging force crossed the Great Ranjit river into Sikkim. The expedition resulted in the stoppage of the annual grant of Rs. 6,000 enjoyed by the Maharaja, the annexation of the Sikkim Tarai, and of the portion of the Sikkim hills bounded by the Rammam river on the north, the Great Ranjit and the Tista on the east, and by the Nepal frontier on the west. This new territory was put under the management of the Superintendent of Darjeeling; the Diwan was ostensibly dismissed from office, and for some years matters proceeded smoothly and well between Sikkim and our Government. But this man having worked his way into power again through his wife, an illegitimate daughter of the Maharaja, the kidnapping of our subjects was resumed without the possibility of obtaining redress. In April and May 1860 two aggravated cases of kidnapping were reported to Government. All ordinary efforts to procure reparation having failed, the Governor-General in Council resolved to occupy the territory of the Maharaja lying to the north of the Rammam river and to the west of the Great Banjit, and to retain it until our subjects were restored, the offenders given up, and security obtained against a recurrence of similar offences. On the 1st November 1860 the Superintendent of Darjeeling crossed the Rammam with a small force, and advanced as far as Rinchingpung. But he was eventually forced to fall back on Darjeeling. A stronger force was then despatched under command of Lieutenant-Colonel Gawler, accompanied by the Hon'ble Ashley Eden, as Envoy and Special Commissioner. The force advanced to the Tista when the Sikkimese acceded to the terms dictated by the Governor-General, and on the 28th of March 1861 a new Treaty (No. LVI), consisting of twenty-three articles, was concluded by the Envoy with Maharaja Sikyong Namgyel, as his father, Maharaja Chug-phui Namgyel, though alive and in Chombi, was afraid to come over.

The annual allowance of Rs. 6,000 forfeited in 1850 was in 1862 restored, as an act of grace, to the ruling Maharaja Sikyong Namgyel: it was increased in 1868 to Rs. 9,000, and in 1873 to Rs. 12,000, on the understanding that it was granted without any reference to the increased value of Darjeeling and purely as a mark of consideration for the Maharaja.

In 1868 the Maharaja solicited permission for the return of the ex-Diwan but the request was refused as being contrary to the 7th article of the treaty of 1861, and likely to lead to intrigues for the succession. But to understand this and subsequent events, an examination of the family relations of Raja Chug-phui Namgyel is necessary. A genealogical tree is attached (p. 161).

Neither Chug-phui nor Sikyong Raja appears to have taken much interest in the administration, and so, in consequence of their relationship by marriage and birth, first Diwan Namgay and after his banishment, in a lesser degree

* Died in 1888.

Changzed Kar-po became the really influential personages in the State. Diwan Namgay* was anti-English in feeling and conduct, while Changzed, on the other hand, pretended much sympathy for the English.

In 1873 Raja Sikyong Namgyel, accompanied by his half-brother, the present Raja Thothub Namgyel, and his half-sister Seringputti, and Changzed Gelong Kar-po, visited Sir George Campbell, then Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, at Darjeeling.

Raja Sikyong Namgyel died in April 1874, and intrigues were attempted to set aside the accession of Thothub Namgyel in favour of Tinkle Namgyel.

On the death of his half-brother, Thothub married the widow, a lady of Tashe-lhunpu by name Pending. She died in childbirth in 1880, leaving three children by Thothub—vis., a daughter, Namgyel Dumo, born in 1876, and two sons, the elder Tchoda-Namgyel, heir to the Raj, born in 1877, and the younger Chotal, born in 1879, supposed to be the incarnation at Phodang of Sikyong Namgyel.

In October 1875 Sir Richard Temple had a friendly interview with the Raja and Changzed Kar-po at Chomnaga near the Cho-la pass. At this interview the Raja expressed his desire that the British Government should undertake arrangements for the conservation of the sal, pine, and other forests in his territory, but nothing was actually carried out.

The Maharaja was invited to be present at the Imperial Assemblage at Delhi on the 1st January 1877, but as he was unable to attend, his banner, medal and ring were duly presented to him at Tumlong by Mr. John Ware Edgar (afterwards the Hon'ble Sir John Edgar, K.C.I.E., C.S.I.), then Deputy Commissioner of Darjeeling.

Some complications, which had arisen as far back as 1872 between one Lachmi Das Pradhan, the head of the Nepalese Newars in Darjeeling, and the Lassu Kazi, the Sikkim Vakil in Darjeeling, but had been smoothed over, again became prominent in 1878, so that in November of that year the present Raja and Changzed Kar-po came to Kalimpong to meet the Hon'ble Sir Ashley Eden, the then Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal. The question of Nepalese settling in Sikkim was there discussed, and Nepalese settlers were admitted in certain parts under certain restrictions. This agreement, owing to the intrigues of the exiled Diwan Namgay, the Dorji Lopen of Pemionchi and Norden Gelong, tahsildar at Kalimpong, did not work well, and events culminated in the disturbances and fight at Rhenok in 1880. Mr. A. W. Paul was then sent to settle matters at Tumlong, and a fresh agreement was drawn up and promulgated on the 14th April 1880. This, with some slight modifications arranged by the Phodang Lama and the Dorji Lopen, worked well.

Changzed Kar-po, after a visit to Giantzi, where he met the Chinese Amban and some of the Tibetan officials, died in 1879. This visit apparently took place shortly after the interview with Sir Ashley Eden, and appears to have resulted in some secret agreement with Tibet and the investiture of Thothead Namgyel with a Chinese button of the first rank (plain coral).

As stated above, Rani Pending died in 1880, and these two deaths threw the whole power of the State into the hands of the old Rani Men-chi and Diwan Namgay, who naturally, from living wholly at Chombi, favoured Tibetan interests and the cause of young Tintle, then growing up to manhood.

Raja Thothead meanwhile lived peacefully at Tumlong and evinced no disposition to contract a second marriage. However, pressure seems to have been brought to bear on him, and so having obtained two elephants from the Government of Bengal in 1881, he sent them to the Grand Lamas at Tashe-lhunpu and Lhasa, in charge of Nudup Gyaltsen (brother of the Phodang Lama) and the Rhenok Kazi. These officers, when at Lhasa, arranged a marriage between the Raja and the daughter of Shafe Utok, one of the leading men in Tibet.

Unfortunately the old Rani and her son Tintle, accompanied by Diwan Namgay, followed shortly afterwards in 1882-83, and, apparently in furtherance of their design to place Tintle in direct succession to the Raj, broke off this match, and secured as a wife to the Raja the daughter of an inferior officer in the Dalai Lama's court, known as Leden-se. It is said that the old Rani had to execute a bond, guaranteeing that the Raja of Sikkim would receive the girl as his Rani; but without the slightest attempt at a show of decency, the girl immediately went to live with Tintle, and by the time the party returned from Lhasa to Chombi, she was very far gone in pregnancy, and in fact bore two children before Raja Thothead ever saw her. All this helped the intrigues in favour of Tintle, as his joint-marriage with Leden-se's daughter is pointed out as proving that Thothead and Tintle are legitimate brothers, and so both of the Royal family, polyandry being permissible under Tibetan law. The real facts as to Tintle's parentage are given in the genealogical table at page 161.

Raja Thothead up to 1884 remained in Sikkim and refused to have anything to do with the girl, but in 1885 the influence of Tintle became too great, especially as the Deputy Commissioner himself approved of his going to Chombi to learn what was being done regarding the dispute between Bhutan and Tibet and the interruptions to trade. Accordingly Raja Thothead went over to Chombi nominally to pay his respects to the Shafe Rampa. Subsequently the Raja was requested to remain at Chombi, while the Macaulay Mission was in progress in 1886. In that year, after the stoppage of the Mission, the Tibetans advanced into Sikkim and built a fort at Lingtu, which they persistently refused to evacuate. The Raja remained at Chombi, notwithstanding the remonstrances of the Indian Government and the stoppage of his pension, until December 1887, when he returned to Gantok, having in the meantime made an agreement with the Tibetans at a place called Galing. In March 1888 the Sikkim Expeditionary Force was sent against Lingtu, which the Tibetans were compelled to evacuate, and in September the campaign ended with the complete expulsion of the Tibetans across the Jelep.

In December 1888 the Chinese Resident, His Excellency Shêng Tai arrived at Gnatong, and negotiations were opened with a view to a settlement of the Sikkim-Tibetan dispute, but were unsuccessful, and so were formally broken off on the 11th January 1889.

On the arrival in Darjeeling of Mr. James H. Hart, of the Chinese Imperial Customs Service, fresh attempts at the solution of our difficulties were made, and after a long interchange of views negotiations were re-opened towards the close of 1889, and resulted in the Convention (No. LVII) signed in Calcutta on the 17th March 1890. Supplementary negotiations on the subject of trade regulations and border arrangements are now in progress.

In June 1889 Mr. J. C. White, Executive Engineer, was appointed Assistant Political Officer at Gantok to advise and assist the Maharaja in his administration of the country. A representative Council, selected from the chief men in Sikkim, was also established with the same view. Good roads, properly bridged throughout, have been opened from Pedong in British territory to the Jelep pass and to Tumlong. Iron bridges have also been constructed across the Tista, and communication throughout Sikkim has been very greatly improved.

During 1891 the Maharaja resided continuously at Rubdenchi; the Council were unable to induce him to return to Gantok; and he showed little interest in the administration. In March 1892 the Maharaja secretly left Pemionchi, where he had recently been staying, with the intention of proceeding to Tibet. On entering Nepal the party was however stopped, and after communication with the Government of India, the Nepal Darbar escorted them back to British territory. The Maharaja was then informed that, as he had declined to comply with the conditions prescribed by the Government of India, he must remain out of power and under surveillance. The Members of the Council continue to render loyal support to the Assistant Political Agent, and the administration is being satisfactorily conducted. The Maharaja's son Tchoda-Namgyel is now in Tibet.

Nearly the whole of the revenue of Sikkim, except that derived from graziers, is now paid into the treasury in cash; in 1889-91 the total revenue was as follows:—

	Rs. 1889.	Rs. 1890.	Rs. 1891.
Land revenue	13,585	14,121	29,294
Excise	1,448	3,331	3,783
Forests	2,752	5,281	3,946
Miscellaneous	2,551	1,952	5,838
Balance from preceding year	7,366	15,401
TOTAL	20,336	32,051	58,262

The expenditure was as under—

	Rs. 1889.	Rs. 1890.	Rs. 1891.
Raja's personal expenditure	4,575	7,375	4,600
Expenditure on public works	9,742	1,974	29,999
Ditto on agriculture	64	774	2,054
Ditto miscellaneous	588	3,701	4,360
Ditto survey	1,409	1,272
Loans, advances and refunds	1,419	9,568
TOTAL	14,969	16,652	51,853

The value of the registered British imports into Sikkim in 1891-92 was Rs. 1,26,989 and that of the exports from Sikkim into British territory was Rs. 2,20,157. These were the figures given in the frontier register; but the trade is believed to be very much larger. Exports and imports passing between British territory and Tibet through Sikkim exceed the above figures considerably.

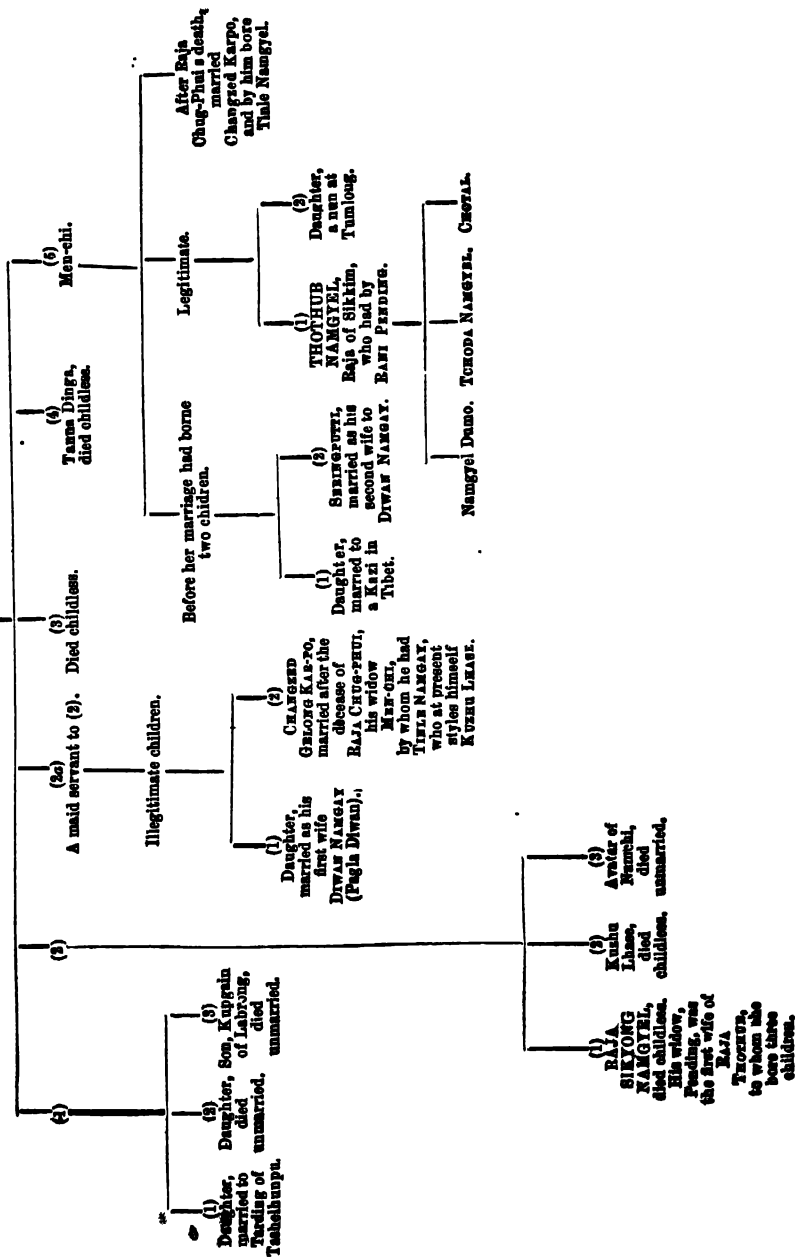

The area of Sikkim is about 2,818 square miles. The population, according to the census taken in February 1891, was 30,458 as under:—

Lepcha	5,762
Bhutia	4,894
Limbu and other Nepalese	19,802
	30,458

There are no regular troops in Sikkim: in the event of war the entire male population are bound to take up arms.

COPY of a SUNNUD granted to the RAJAH of SIKKIM, dated 7th April 1817.

The Honorable East India Company, in consideration of the services performed by the Hill tribes under the control of the Rajah of Sikkim, and of the attachment shown by him to the interest of the British Government, grants to the Sikkimputtee Rajah, his heirs and successors, all that portion of low land situated eastward of the Meitche River, and westward of the Maha Nuddee, formerly possessed by the Rajah of Nepal, but ceded to the Honorable East India Company by the Treaty of Segoulee, to be held by the Sikkimputtee Rajah as a feudatory, or as acknowledging the supremacy of the British Government over the said lands, subject to the following conditions:—

The British Laws and Regulations will not be introduced into the territories in question, but the Sikkimputtee Rajah is authorized to make such laws and regulations for their internal government, as are suited to the habits and customs of the inhabitants, or that may be in force in his other dominions.

The Articles or Provisions of the Treaty signed at Titalya on the 10thth February 1817, and ratified by His Excellency the Right Honorable the Governor-General in Council on the 15th March following, are to be in force with regard to the lands hereby assigned to the Sikkimputtee Rajah, as far as they are applicable to the circumstances of those lands.

It will be especially incumbent on the Sikkimputtee Rajah and his officers to surrender, on application from the officers of the Honorable Company, all persons charged with criminal offences, and all public defaulters who may take refuge in the lands now assigned to him, and to allow the police officers of the British Government to pursue into those lands and apprehend all such persons.

In consideration of the distance of the Sikkimputtee Rajah's residence from the Company's Provinces, such orders as the Governor-General in Council may, upon any sudden emergency, find it necessary to transmit to the local authorities in the lands now assigned, for the security or protection of those lands, are to be immediately obeyed and carried into execution in the same manner as coming from the Sikkimputtee Rajah.

In order to prevent all disputes with regard to the boundaries of the low lands granted to the Sikkimputtee Rajah, they will be surveyed by a British Officer, and their limits accurately laid down and defined.

TREATY, COVENANT, OR AGREEMENT entered into by the HONORABLE ASHLEY EDEN, ENVOY and SPECIAL COMMISSIONER on the part of the BRITISH GOVERNMENT, in virtue of full powers vested in him by the RIGHT HONORABLE CHARLES EARL CANNING, GOVERNOR-GENERAL in COUNCIL, and by HIS HIGHNESS SEKEONG KUZOO, MAHARAJAH of SIKKIM on his own part—1861.

Whereas the continued depredations and misconduct of the officers and subjects of the Maharajah of Sikkim, and the neglect of the Maharajah to afford satisfaction for the misdeeds of his people have resulted in an interruption for many years past of the harmony which previously existed between the British Government and the Government of Sikkim, and have led ultimately to the invasion and conquest of Sikkim by a British force; and whereas the Maharajah of Sikkim has now expressed his sincere regret for the misconduct of his servants and subjects, his determination to do all in his power to obviate future misunderstanding, and his desire to be again admitted into friendship and alliance with the British Government, it is hereby agreed as follows:—

All previous Treaties made between the British Government and the Sikkim Government are hereby formally cancelled.

2.

The whole of the Sikkim Territory now in the occupation of British forces is restored to the Maharajah of Sikkim, and there shall henceforth be peace and amity between the two States.

3.

The Maharajah of Sikkim undertakes, so far as is within his power, to restore, within one month from the date of signing this Treaty, all public property which was abandoned by the detachment of British Troops at Rinchin-poonng.

In indemnification of the expenses incurred in 1860 by the British Government in occupying a portion of the territory of Sikkim as a means of enforcing just claims which had been evaded by the Government of Sikkim, and as compensation to the British subjects who were pillaged and kidnapped by subjects of Sikkim, the Sikkim Government agrees to pay to the British authorities at Darjeeling the sum of 7,000 (seven thousand) Rupees in the following instalments, that is to say :—

May 1st, 1861	1,000
May 1st, 1862	3,000

As security for the due payment of this amount, it is further agreed that in the event of any of these instalments not being duly paid on the date appointed, the Government of Sikkim shall make over to the British Government that portion of its territory bounded on the south by the River Rummam, on the east by the Great Runjeet River, on the north by a line from the Great Runjeet to the Singaleelah Range, including the monasteries of Tassiding, Pemonchi, and Chaugacheling, and on the west by the Singaleelah Mountain Range, and the British Government shall retain possession of this territory and collect the revenue thereof, until the full amount, with all expenses of occupation and collection, and interest at 6 per cent. per annum, are realized.

The Government of Sikkim engages that its subjects shall never again commit depredations on British territory, or kidnap or otherwise molest British subjects. In the event of any such depredation or kidnapping taking place, the Government of Sikkim undertakes to deliver up all persons engaged in such malpractice, as well as the Sirdars or other Chiefs conniving at or benefiting thereby.

The Government of Sikkim will at all times seize and deliver up any criminals, defaulters, or other delinquents who may have taken refuge within its territory, on demand being duly made in writing by the British Government through their accredited agents. Should any delay occur in complying with such demand, the Police of the British Government may follow the person whose surrender has been demanded into any part of the Sikkim territory, and shall, on showing a warrant, duly signed by the British Agent, receive every assistance and protection in the prosecution of their object from the Sikkim officers.

Inasmuch as the late misunderstandings between the two Governments have been mainly fomented by the acts of the ex-Dewan Namguay, the Government of Sikkim engages that neither the said Namguay, nor any of his blood relations, shall ever again be allowed to set foot in Sikkim, or to take part in the councils of, or hold any office under the Maharajah or any of the Maharajah's family at Choombi.

The Government of Sikkim from this date abolishes all restrictions on travellers and monopolies in trade between the British territories and Sikkim. There shall henceforth be a free reciprocal intercourse, and full liberty of commerce between the subjects of both countries; it shall be lawful for British subjects to go into any part of Sikkim for the purpose of travel or trade, and the subjects of all countries shall be permitted to reside in and pass through Sikkim, and to expose their goods for sale at any place and in any manner that may best suit their purpose, without any interference whatever, except as is hereinafter provided.

The Government of Sikkim engages to afford protection to all travellers, merchants, or traders of all countries, whether residing in, trading in, or passing through Sikkim. If any merchant, traveller, or trader, being a European British subject, shall commit any offence contrary to the laws of Sikkim, such person shall be punished by the representative of the British Government resident at Darjeeling, and the Sikkim Government will at once deliver such offender over to the British authorities for this purpose, and will, on no account, detain such offender in Sikkim on any pretext or pretence whatever. All other British subjects residing in the country to be liable to the laws of Sikkim; but such persons shall, on no account, be punished with loss of limb, or maiming, or torture, and every case of punishment of a British subject shall be at once reported to Darjeeling.

No duties or fees of any sort shall be demanded by the Sikkim Government of any person or persons on account of goods exported into the British territories from Sikkim, or imported into Sikkim from the British territories.

11.

On all goods passing into or out of Thibet, Bhootan, or Nepaul, the Government of Sikkim may levy a duty of customs according to such a scale as may, from time to time, be determined and published without reference to the destination of the goods, provided, however, that such duty shall, on no account, exceed 5 per cent. on the value of goods at the time and place of the levy of duty. On the payment of the duty aforesaid a pass shall be given exempting such goods from liability to further payment on any account whatever.

With the view to protect the Government of Sikkim from fraud on account of undervaluation for assessment of duty, it is agreed that the customs officers shall have the option of taking over for the Government any goods at the value affixed on them by the owner.

13.

In the event of the British Government desiring to open out a road through Sikkim, with the view of encouraging trade, the Sikkim Government will raise no objection thereto, and will afford every protection and aid to the party engaged in the work. If a road is constructed, the Government of Sikkim undertakes to keep it in repair, and to erect and maintain suitable travellers' rest-houses throughout its route.

14.

If the British Government desires to make either a topographical or geological survey of Sikkim, the Sikkim Government will raise no objection to this being done, and will afford protection and assistance to the officers employed in this duty.

15.

Inasmuch as many of the late misunderstandings have had their foundation in the custom which exists in Sikkim of dealing in slaves, the Government of Sikkim binds itself, from this date, to punish severely any person trafficking in human beings, or seizing persons for the purpose of using them as slaves.

16.

Henceforth the subjects of Sikkim may transport themselves without let or hindrance to any country to which they may wish to remove. In the same way the Government of Sikkim has authority to permit the subjects of other countries, not being criminals or defaulters, to take refuge in Sikkim.

17.

The Government of Sikkim engages to abstain from any acts of aggression or hostility against any of the neighbouring States which are allies of the British Government. If any disputes or questions arise between the people of Sikkim and those of neighbouring States, such disputes or questions shall be referred to the arbitration of the British Government, and the Sikkim Government agrees to abide by the decision of the British Government.

18.

The whole military force of Sikkim shall join and afford every aid and facility to British Troops when employed in the Hills.

19.

The Government of Sikkim will not cede or lease any portion of its territory to any other State without the permission of the British Government.

20.

The Government of Sikkim engages that no armed force belonging to any other country shall pass through Sikkim without the sanction of the British Government.

21.

Seven of the criminals, whose surrender was demanded by the British Government, having fled from Sikkim and taken refuge in Bhootan, the Government of Sikkim engages to do all in its power to obtain the delivery of those persons from the Bhootan Government, and in the event of any of these men again returning to Sikkim, the Sikkim Government binds itself to seize them, and to make them over to the British Authorities at Darjeeling without delay.

With a view to the establishment of an efficient Government in Sikkim, and to the better maintenance of friendly relations with the British Government, the Maharajah of Sikkim agrees to remove the seat of his Government from Tibet to Sikkim, and reside there for nine months in the year. It is further agreed that a Vakeel shall be accredited by the Sikkim Government, who shall reside permanently at Darjeeling.

This Treaty, consisting of twenty-three Articles, being settled and concluded by the Honorable Ashley Eden, British Envoy, and His Highness Sekeong Kuzoo Sikkimputtee, Maharajah, at Tumloong, this 28th day of March 1861, corresponding with 17th Dao Neepoo 61, Mr. Eden has delivered to the Maharajah a copy of the same in English, with translation in Nagri and Bhootiah, under the seal and signature of the said Honorable Ashley Eden and His Highness the Sikkimputtee Maharajah, and the Sikkimputtee Maharajah has in like manner delivered to the said Hon'ble Ashley Eden another copy also in English, with translation in Nagri and Bhootiah, bearing the seal of His Highness and the said Hon'ble Ashley Eden. The Envoy engages to procure the delivery to His Highness, within six weeks from this date, of a copy of this Treaty, duly ratified by His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor-General of India in Council, and this Treaty shall in the meantime be in full force.

NO. LVII.

CONVENTION between GREAT BRITAIN and CHINA relating to SIKKIM and TIBET—1890.

Whereas Her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Empress of India, and His Majesty the Emperor of China, are sincerely desirous to maintain and perpetuate the relations of friendship and good understanding which now exists between their respective Empires; and whereas recent occurrences have tended towards a disturbance of the said relations, and it is desirable to clearly define and permanently settle certain matters connected with the boundary between Sikkim and Tibet, Her Britannic Majesty and His Majesty the Emperor of China have resolved to conclude a Convention on this subject and have, for this purpose, named Plenipotentiaries, that is to say :

Her Majesty the Queen of Great Britain and Ireland, His Excellency the Most Hon'ble Henry Charles Keith Petty Fitzmaurice, G.M.S.I., G.C.M.G., G.M.I.E., Marquess of Lansdowne, Viceroy and Governor-General of India.

And His Majesty the Emperor of China, His Excellency Shêng Tai, Imperial Associate Resident in Tibet, Military Deputy Lieutenant-Governor

Who having met and communicated to each other their full powers, and finding these to be in proper form, have agreed upon the following Convention in eight Articles:—

1. The boundary of Sikkim and Tibet shall be the crest of the mountain range separating the waters flowing into the Sikkim Teesta and its affluents from the waters flowing into the Tibetan Mochu and northwards into other rivers of Tibet. The line commences at Mount Gipmochi on the Bhutan frontier and follows the abovementioned water-parting to the point where it meets Nipal territory.

2. It is admitted that the British Government, whose protectorate over the Sikkim State is hereby recognised, has direct and exclusive control over the internal administration and foreign relations of that State, and except through and with the permission of the British Government, neither the Ruler of the State nor any of its officers shall have official relations of any kind, formal or informal, with any other country.

3. The Government of Great Britain and Ireland and the Government of China engage reciprocally to respect the boundary as defined in Article 1, and to prevent acts of aggression from their respective sides of the frontier.

4. The question of providing increased facilities for trade across the Sikkim-Tibet frontier will hereafter be discussed with a view to a mutually satisfactory arrangement by the High Contracting Powers.

5. The question of pasturage on the Sikkim side of the frontier is reserved for further examination and future adjustment.

6. The High Contracting Powers reserve for discussion and arrangement the method in which official communications between the British authorities in India and the authorities in Tibet shall be conducted.

7. Two Joint Commissioners shall, within six months from the ratification of this Convention, be appointed, one by the British Government in India, the other by the Chinese Resident in Tibet. The said Commissioners shall meet and discuss the questions which by the last three preceding Articles have been reserved.

8. The present Convention shall be ratified, and the ratifications shall be exchanged in London as soon as possible after the date of the signature thereof.

In witness whereof the respective negotiators have signed the same and affixed thereunto the seals of their arms.

Done in quadruplicate at Calcutta this seventeenth day of March in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety, corresponding with the Chinese date the twenty-seventh day of the second moon of the sixteenth year of Kuang Hsü.

VII—BHUTAN.

Bhutan is a State of Tibetan origin, situate in the Eastern Himalayas between 26°45' and 28° north latitude, and between 89° and about 92° east longitude. There is no reliable history and very little tradition regarding the origin of the Bhutan Government. Apparently immigrants from the Tibetan province of Kham occupied the country at least four centuries ago, but priests, or Lamas, from Tibet had probably obtained a footing there even earlier. The present form of Government, consisting in a dual control by the clergy and the laity, as represented by the Dharma and Deb Rajas, dates from the middle of the sixteenth century. The first Dharma Raja is said to have been Shabdung Nag-kWang Nam Gyel (Nawang Nam Gyel) a brother or cousin of the Tibetan saint Duk Kiule, who was born about 1569. The earlier portion of Nawang Nam Gyel's life was spent in Tibet, where he married and had children, but, being warned in a dream to go south and take up his adopted country, the Lama entered Bhutan and settled for three years at Tsari—Ta-go Dorjeden. He afterwards moved to the Punakha valley, which he made his head-quarters. He appointed one Desi Amged as his minister, who thus became the first Deb Raja. After his death Nawang Nam Gyel appeared in three separate incarnations; thus his body became the second Dharma Raja Ngag-tWang-hJigsmed Grags-pa; his voice appeared in the person of Ngag-tWang Sakya Tenzing, while his mind returned to Kham, where its incarnations have continued.

Nawang Nam Gyel had a son, Jam-phul Dorje, who became a celibate and incarnate Lama; and his incarnations are called Ta-sGo Khri Rimpoche, to distinguish them from the successors of Nawang Sakya Tenzing, who are called the "Thi" Lamas,* or Lam Thipa. Nawang Nam Gyel appointed Penlos and Jangpens, officials corresponding to Commissioners of Divisions, to administer the country, and kept them under complete control. On his death he was succeeded by his supposed incarnation. The new Dharma Raja, when he grew up, considering that temporal and spiritual powers were incompatible, confined himself entirely to the latter, and appointed a minister to wield the former. This minister by degrees became the Deb Raja and temporal ruler of Bhutan. At present the Deb Raja is chosen by election from time to time from among certain great functionaries of the State; the Dharma Raja holds his office for life.

The next noticeable event in Bhutan history is the outbreak of hostilities with Sikkim. The third Raja of Sikkim, Cha-dhor Nam Gyel, was born in

* Thi (Khri) is the Tibetan for a "seat" or "throne".

1686 and succeeded his father about 1700. In his youth he appears to have mortally offended his half sister Pendé Amo. On his accession the quarrel broke out again and Pendé Amo invited the Bhutanese to invade Sikkim and expel her brother. Accordingly the Deb Raja of Bhutan sent a force which overran Sikkim, occupied the palace, and compelled Raja Cha-dhor to fly to Tibet. The date of this invasion is variously given as from 1700 to 1706, and the Bhutanese appear to have held Sikkim for five or six years. On Raja Cha-dhor's return from Tibet the Bhutanese retired and evacuated all Sikkim west of the Roro Chu and Tista river, but still continued to maintain their position at Fort Damsong, and to occupy what is now the Kalimpong sub-division, and the country between the De-chu and the Tegong-la range. In 1770 the Bhutanese again invaded Sikkim, but were utterly defeated and their troops annihilated.

The first intercourse of the British Government with Bhutan commenced with the expedition sent in 1773 for the relief of the Raja of Kuch Behar (see p. 99). The Bhutanese, driven out of Kuch Behar and pursued into the hills, threw themselves on the protection of Tibet. The Tashe Lama, then Regent of Tibet, and guardian of the Grand Lama of Lhasa, addressed the Government of India on their behalf. The application was favorably received and a Treaty of peace (No. LVIII) was concluded on the 25th April 1774, by which the Bhutanese agreed to pay to the British Government an annual tribute of five Tangan horses, to deliver up the Raja of Kuch Behar, and never to make any incursions into British territory or molest the rayats in any way.

From that time, with the exception of two unsuccessful commercial missions in 1774 and 1783, there was little intercourse with Bhutan, until our occupation of Assam, which connected the British and Bhutan frontiers. With the annexation of Assam there commenced a continued series of aggressions by the Bhutanese on British territory, followed by reprisals on the part of the British Government and by the occupation of the Duars, or passes, which lie at the foot of the Bhutan Hills. governed by the Towang Raja, who was immediately dependent on Lhasa, and not on the Bhutan Darbar, there are in all nineteen* Duars on the Bengal frontier and on the frontier of Assam. Over the Bengal

Duars, which extend from the Tista, on the eastern boundary of Sikkim, to the Manas, the Bhutanese for many years held sovereign dominion ; and, previous to the annexation of Assam by the British Government during the first Burmese war, they had also wrested four of the Assam Duars from the Native Government, while the other three were held on a sort of joint tenure by the Bhutanese and Assamese. The tribute for these seven Duars, including the tarai tract below them, was paid in kind, fixed at the value of Rs. 3,049. The Kamrup Duars under this arrangement remained in the hands of the Bhutanese all the year round, but the Darrang Duars were annually surrendered to the Assamese Government from July to November. This anomalous provision led to trouble ; while a further and endless source of dispute arose from the fact that the tribute was paid in kind, while its value was fixed in specie.

After the annexation of Assam, the tribute was paid to the British Government, who also continued the system of joint occupation of the three Duars of Kuriapara, Buri Guma, and Kalling. Under the British Government the character of the tenure and the mode of paying tribute were constant sources of irritation and quarrel. In 1828 outrages by the Jangpen of Buri Guma resulted in the attachment of that Duar by the Government ; but in 1834 it was restored on the payment of a fine. Fresh outrages in the Bijni Duar in the following year, coupled with a refusal to pay the current tribute, were answered by threats of attachment, which, however, were not carried out. Wanton incursions from the Banska Duar in 1836 led to its attachment and ultimately to armed collision with the Bhutanese. In 1837 Captain Pemberton was sent on a mission to the Deb and Dharma Rajas, but his deputation failed to secure any effectual or permanent settlement.

In 1841, in consequence of renewed aggressions and of the increasing disorganisation of the country, the seven Assam Duars, comprising some 1,600 square miles in area, were annexed to the British possessions, and it was agreed a sum of Rs. 10,000 should be annually paid to the Chiefs as compensation : this sum was considered equivalent to one-third of the revenue of the Kamrup and Darrang Duars. No written agreement was made regarding this arrangement. These Duars are now under the control of the Chief Commissioner of Assam.

A similar arrangement, under a written Engagement (No. LIX), was made in 1844 with the Bhutia communities dependent on the Towang Raja, and a sum of Rs. 5,000 a year, representing one-third of the net revenue, was fixed as compensation for the resumption of the Kuriapara Duar. (See page 209.)

These measures proved effectual as regards the country lying under this portion of the Bhutan hills. But along the Bengal section of the Duars outrage followed upon outrage. At length in 1854 the Darbar sent a rude intimation that the compensation paid for the loss of the Assam Duars was insufficient, and must be increased. The natural refusal of the Government of India to listen to this demand was followed by Bhutanese raids on Assam. Lord Dalhousie intimated to the Darbar that in future all property plundered by the Bhutanese would be deducted from the annual payment on account of the Assam Duars, and that further outrage would lead to the permanent annexation of the Duars on the Bengal side. These threats, however, produced no lasting effect; acts of kidnapping and plunder continued; and in 1859-60, the territory known as the Ambari Fallakotta on this side the Tista, which was held in farm from Bhutan, was taken possession of, the terms under which it would be restored being fully explained to the Deb Raja. As these outrages did not cease, and as the usurpations of the frontier Governors made it doubtful whether letters to the Bhutan Government were not intercepted, the Deb and Dharma Rajas were informed that a mission would be sent to explain the demands of the British Government, the consequences of not acceding to them, and the terms of the treaty with the Raja of Sikkim, whom the Bhutan authorities had threatened with attack under the pretence that the Ambari Fallakotta rents had been withheld owing to the rupture between him and the British Government. After a year's delay, caused by the evasive replies of the Bhutan Government, the mission started in December 1863.

The Envoy, the Hon'ble Ashley Eden, reached the capital, Punakha, on the 13th of March 1864, where he found the Deb and Dharma Rajas puppets in the hands of the Tongsar Penlo, the successful head of an insurrection which had lately taken place. By this man, who refused to treat except on condition of the restoration of the Assam Duars, the mission were subjected to gross outrage and insult; with difficulty they obtained permission to return after the Envoy had signed under compulsion an agreement that the British Government would re-adjust the whole boundary between the two countries, restore the Assam Duars, deliver up all runaway slaves and political offenders who had taken refuge in British territory, and consent to be punished by the Bhutan and Kuch Behar Governments acting together if they ever made encroachments on Bhutan.

The engagement which had been extorted from the Envoy was at once repudiated by the British Government; and, as a punishment for the treatment to which the mission had been subjected, the Ambari Fallako was declared (No. LX) to be permanently annexed to the British dominions; the payment of revenue to Bhutan from the Assam Duars was stopped for ever; and the Bhutan Government were informed that, if the demands of the British Government were not complied with by the 1st September 1864, such further measures as might appear necessary would be adopted to enforce them. No steps having been taken, within the time specified, to comply with these demands, the Bengal Duars were permanently annexed (No. LXI) to the British territories, and the districts were occupied in force by British troops.

Within a few months the Bhutan Government made overtures for peace and asked for the restoration of the Duars. They were informed that the Duars could not be restored; that if they were sincerely desirous of peace and would consent to the conditions laid down by the British Government, peace would be granted; but that if they delayed and an advance on Punakha became necessary much more stringent terms would be exacted. Preliminary negotiations were accordingly opened, and during their continuance hostilities were suspended. The principal conditions offered to the Bhutan Government were that they should surrender all British subjects and all subjects of Kuch Behar and Sikkim detained in Bhutan against their will; that they should subscribe articles for the mutual extradition of criminals, the maintenance of free trade, and the arbitration by the British Government of all disputes between the Bhutan Government and the Chiefs of Kuch Behar and Sikkim; that they should cede to the British Government the whole of the Duars, together with certain hill posts protecting the passes into Bhutan; that they should deliver up two British guns which had been lost at Diwangiri, return the agreement they had extorted from the Envoy, and apologise for the insult offered to the British Government in the person of the Envoy; and that, in consideration of the fulfilment of these terms, the British Government would pay to the Bhutan Government from the revenues of the Duars an annual sum beginning with Rupees 25,000 and rising to Rupees 50,000. The treaty extorted from the Envoy was given up and an apology was tendered for the insults offered to him, but as the guns which had been lost were in possession of the Tongsar Penlo, who had not signified his adherence to the terms, a separate Agreement (No. LXII) was concluded, providing that no payment would be made to the Bhutan Government until the guns were actually restored. They were eventually surrendered on the 25th February 1866. The permanent arrangements effected were recorded in a Treaty (No. LXIII) concluded on the 11th November 1865 ; and, by the Proclamation (No. LXIV) of the 4th July 1866, the Duars were declared to be annexed to the territories of Her Majesty the Queen. The gross revenues of these districts at the time of cession were estimated at Rupees 1,50,000. Tshang Sithûb was at this time the Deb Raja : the treaty is called by the Bhutanese the ten article treaty of Ra-wa-Pang or Pani.

In accordance with the provisions of article 5 of the treaty of 1865, payment of the allowance to the Bhutan Government was temporarily withheld in 1868, in consequence of the Bhutanese having put a stop to intercourse between Bhutan and Baxa, and of their having disregarded the provisions of article 4 by sending an officer of inferior rank to receive the annual payment. In 1869 dissensions broke out among the Bhutanese Chiefs and have since been of frequent occurrence, but the British Government has held itself aloof from the complications of Bhutan politics.

The only powerful Deb Raja who reigned for many years was Jigme Nam Gyel,* who, as Penlo of Tongsar, was so hostile to the British mission of 1864. After an unusually long reign for a ruler of Bhutan, he retired in 1873 in favour of his brother Gantem Nam Gyel†, who came to Baxa to meet the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in 1875 ; this was the first occasion on which a Deb Raja ever entered British India, or met one of the English Governors. Jigme Nam Gyel's retirement was however no more than nominal. He continued to decide everything of importance. At the beginning of 1877 the pretensions of a rival claimant caused a civil war, and for about seven months the rebels gained ground. On this Jigme Nam Gyel came forward again, resumed the supreme authority, and in a short time defeated the insurgents. Soon after, however, he once more retired in favour of Gantem Nam Gyel, who ruled till March 1879, when he resigned, and was succeeded by Shujah Jain‡ (alias Shujah Nam Gyel).

At the end of the civil war of 1877, two Chiefs of the insurgents' party, the Penlo of Paro and the Jangpen of Punakha, with a few followers, took refuge in British territory. They were disarmed on arrival at Baxa, and eventually settled in the Darjeeling Hills for nearly two years, until a change in political affairs allowed of their return to Bhutan. One of the Chiefs, however, died in exile. The party arrived in a state of destitution and received from Government compassionate grants in cash and land for cultivation on condition of their abstaining from intrigues in Bhutan. The Deb Raja asked for their surrender, which was refused, as they were merely political offenders, and the treaty did not allow of it.

In March 1880 a raid was committed by a Suba on a British village, Chunbati, near Baxa on the frontier, the object being the recovery of some persons who had escaped from slavery in Bhutan and settled in British territory. Six persons were carried off, and ten of the raiders being satisfactorily identified, a demand was made for the restoration of the captives and the surrender of the raiders in accordance with the treaty. The Deb Raja delayed and made excuses. He was consequently told that the annual subsidy paid to the Bhutan Government on condition of good behaviour would be withheld till he complied with our demands. While the matter was pending two of the captives escaped and returned to Baxa, and eventually, on finding that the subsidy would not be otherwise paid, the remaining captives and eight out of ten raiders were delivered at Baxa in July 1881, one raider having died and another escaped on the road. The raiders were convicted, and the sentences passed were upheld by the High Court on appeal.

Shujah Jain (alias Shujah Nam Gyel) ruled till June 1880, when he died after an illness of three months. The Jangpen of Punakha put forward a relative named* Lamchen, another Jangpen, for the throne, but Jigme Nam Gyel, distrusting this candidate, again came forward and succeeded in securing his own re-election as Deb Raja. He seems to have been unwilling to discharge the ordinary duties of the Deb Raja, but determined to be the real temporal sovereign in all matters of importance, and so, whenever he was unable to secure the election of a candidate who would be in his hands, Jigme Nam Gyel reigned in person. He died in July 1881, from the effects of a fall when riding a yak, and Lamchen, then about 45 years of age, succeeded him. Shortly after this the retired Deb Raja Gantem Nam Gyel died. Lamchen appears to have reigned peacefully till May 1883, when, in consequence of ill health, he resigned and died a few days afterwards. Gan-Zang,† a nephew on the mother's side of his immediate predecessor, was then elected Deb Raja without opposition on the 16th May 1883. He seems to have relied as much on the two principal Chiefs, the Penlos of Paro and Tongsar, as did the Deb Rajas at the time of Sir Ashley Eden's mission.

Deb Lamchen, out of friendship to Deb Jigme Nam Gyel (Nago) appears to have appointed Tinle, the latter's eldest son, to be Paro Penlo, and the younger brother Ujen Angchu (or Angdu) Jangpen of Angdu Phodang. On the murder of his uncle, the Tongsar Penlo, Ujen succeeded and has been Tongsar Penlo ever since. In 1883 Tinle, Paro Penlo, attacked Phari in Tibet and seized the Tibetan Jangpen: this outrage led to the Mission of the Shafe Rampa and a Chinese Popen to Paro in July 1885. Shortly after his return from Phari, Tinle broke his leg and died in 1884 at his brother's place in Tongsar.

In October 1884 quarrels broke out between the Tongsar Penlo (Ujen Angchu) and Alu Dorzi, Thimpu Jangpen, on account of the latter withholding Tongsar's share of the British subsidy. This resulted in Tongsar capturing Simtokha Fort about the 14th May 1885. A fortnight later the contending parties held a meeting to consider terms; but at this meeting Tongsar's adherents treacherously attacked the opposite party, killed some of Thimpu's adherents and wounded the Punakha Jangpen. Shortly after, in July, the Thimpu Jangpen and others fled to Tibet and asked for help.

On the 23rd August 1885 Deb Gan-Zang had to retire and was succeeded by Tongsar's nominee, Pang Sangye Dorzi, a learned Lama who is commonly known as 'Eapen Loben', or 'Yanpe Lopen'.*

In March 1886 there was another joint Tibetan and Chinese Mission to Paro, which settled certain terms of agreement between the Tongsar Penlo and Alu-Dorzi, the ex-Thimpu Jangpen. But the disagreement between India and Tibet regarding Lingtu shortly afterwards breaking out, these terms were never carried into effect. The Paro Penlo paid the Political Officer, Mr. A. W. Paul, a visit at Kalimpong in March 1889. About this time Deb Yanpe resigned and the Tongsar Penlo retained the whole power. During the Sikkim Expedition Alu Dorzi is suspected of having actively aided the Tibetans in the fight at Gnatong on the 22nd May 1889 and of having remained with them during the rest of the campaign: he is now in receipt of a small pension. In 1889, in consequence of outrages committed on villages situated in the north of the Kamrup district of Assam, the Bhutan subsidy was temporarily stopped, and as the warnings issued to the Deb Raja produced little or no effect, it was determined in February 1892 to establish a police post at Kakolabari, for the protection of British subjects, and to deduct from the annual subsidy payable in January 1893 all expenses incurred on account of this outpost.

There is no accurate information in regard to the area, population, or revenue of Bhutan. The population was estimated by Sir Ashley Eden at 20,000; it is now probably much more. The revenue is not known. The value of the registered trade with British territory in 1891-92 was—

KHUREETA to HIS HIGHNESS the DEB RAJAH—(dated Simla, the 9th June 1864).

You are well aware that for many years past wanton outrages have been committed by your subjects within the territories of the British Government and within the territories of the Rajahs of Sikkim and Cooch Behar, who are under British protection. Men, women, and children have been kidnapped and sold into slavery; some have been put to death; others have been cruelly wounded; and much valuable property has been carried off or destroyed. These outrages, it is well known, are not the act of individual criminals, who set the laws of Bhootan at defiance; they are perpetrated with the knowledge and at the instigation of some of the leading Chiefs of Bhootan. Over a period of thirty-six years these aggressions have extended. Many remonstrances have been in vain addressed to the Bhootan Government, and the British Government has been compelled, in its own defence and the defence of its protected and subordinate allies, to have recourse to measures of retribution. In 1828 and 1836 the British Government were most reluctantly forced to occupy the Booree Gooma and the Banska Doars, but these districts were subsequently restored to the Bhootan Government in the hope that the Bhootan Government would fulfil the offices of friendship towards their neighbour by restraining their subjects from the commission of such aggressions for the future.

This hope proved illusory, and after the British Government had in vain endeavoured to secure a better understanding with the Bhootan Government

* Ghurkola.	Chappakhamar.	by means of a friendly mission, it became Banska.	Bijnee.	necessary in 1841 to annex permanently to

Kulling.		Doars, a measure which, it was believed, would convince the Bhootan Government that British territory cannot with impunity be persistently and wantonly violated. Nevertheless, the British Government, willing to believe in the friendship of your Government, and careful only to secure an undisturbed frontier and to live at peace with the people of Bhootan, paid to your Government annually a sum of Rupees 10,000 from the révenues of these Doars.

But even this moderation on the part of the British Government, this sign of its anxiety above all things for peace, was misunderstood. Outrages did not cease. Precautions had to be taken for the defence of the British frontier, and not only the Deb and Dhurma Rajahs, but the local Governors on the frontier, particularly the Tongso Pillo, had to be distinctly warned that unless these insults to the British Government were put a stop to, the British Government would have no alternative but to resort to further measures of retribution.

These warnings were ineffectual; it is unnecessary to repeat the numerous acts of aggression to which the British Government patiently submitted, and the further remonstrances which were addressed to your Government before they carried their threats into execution by the stoppage of the rent of Rupees 2,000 a year for the Ambaree Fallacottah, which the British Government held in farm. Of the reasons which forced the British Government to this measure, your Government were duly informed, and you were warned that the rents of Ambaree Fallacottah would not be paid until full reparation should be made, captives released, and the guilty parties punished. These measures also proved ineffectual; and as the British Government were unwilling to be committed to a course of retributive coercion, it was determined to make one effort more by peaceful negotiation and the despatch of a friendly mission to explain fully the demands of the British Government and to put the relations of the two Governments on a satisfactory footing. Of this intention the Bhootan Government were informed in 1862 by a special messenger, who carried letters to the Deb and Dhurma Rajahs, and by more recent letters addressed to you by the Honorable the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal. The mission, under the conduct of the Honorable Ashley Eden, a high functionary of the British Government, and my Envoy and Plenipotentiary, reached your Court at Poonakha on 13th March 1864. Mr. Eden was the bearer of a Draft Treaty which he was instructed to negotiate with you. The terms of that Treaty were so just and reasonable, and so favorable to the best interests of both Governments, that I did not anticipate its rejection, more especially as Mr. Eden had full discretion to modify any of the details not inconsistent with the principles of the Treaty to meet the wishes of the Bhootan Government. It was, of course, optional with you to accept or reject this Treaty in whole or in part, and had you received my Envoy in the manner suited to his rank as my representative, and as by the usages of nations he ought to have been received, but declared your inability to accede to the demands of the British Government, this rejection of my proposals, however much to be regretted as forcing the British Government to coercive measures for the protection of the persons and property of its subjects, would not in itself have been an offence.

But you are aware that not only have the just demands of the British Government been refused, but they have been refused in a manner disgraceful to yourself and to your Durhar and insulting to the British Government. Not only has the Envoy deputed to your Court not been received with the dignity due to his rank; he has not even received that protection from personal insult and violence which is extended to an Envoy by the laws of all nations save the most barbarous. By the Tongso Pillo and his coadjutors in Council the letter addressed to you on the part of the British Government has been treated with contumely; my Envoy was publicly insulted and derided in your own presence, and has been compelled under threats of personal violence to sign an engagement agreeing to restore the Assam Doars.

This engagement I entirely repudiate, not only because it was beyond Mr. Eden's instructions to agree to any such terms, but because the engagement was extorted from him by personal violence and threats of imprisonment. The treatment to which the mission which was deputed to your Court to remove all causes of dispute by peaceful negotiation was subjected, has been so disgraceful that the British Government cannot allow the Government of Bhootan to go unpunished.

I am aware that your authority has been usurped by the Tongso Pillo and other Chiefs, but it cannot be permitted that, for the insubordination of your Chiefs and the internal distractions which weaken the Government of Bhootan, the subjects of the British Government should suffer and the Envoy of the British Government should be insulted and maltreated.

I therefore inform you that the district of Ambaree Fallacottah, heretofore held in rent from the Bhootan Government, is permanently annexed to the British dominions, and that all payments of rent from that district and of revenues from the Assam Doars to the Bhootan Government have ceased for ever. You have been informed both in writing and by my Envoy that all British subjects of Cooch Behar and Sikkim, of whom there are said to be more than three hundred, who are now held captive by your Chiefs and in your monasteries, or are detained in Bhootan against their will, must be released, and that the property which has been carried off from British territory, or Cooch Behar, or Sikkim within the last five years, must be restored. I now warn you that, unless these demands are fully complied with by the 1st day of September next, that is, three months from this date, I shall take such further measures to enforce these demands as may seem to me to be necessary.

For many years past outrages have been committed by subjects of the Bhootan Government within British territory, and in the territories of the Rajahs of Sikkim and Cooch Behar. In these outrages property has been plundered and destroyed, lives have been taken, and many innocent persons have been carried into and are still held in captivity.

The British Government, ever sincerely desirous of maintaining friendly relations with neighbouring States, and specially mindful of the obligations imposed on it by the Treaty of 1774, has endeavoured from time to time by conciliatory remonstrance to induce the Government of Bhootan to punish the perpetrators of these crimes, to restore the plundered property, and to liberate the captives. But such remonstrances have never been successful, and, even when followed by serious warning, have failed to produce any satisfactory result. The British Government has been frequently deceived by vague assurances and promises for the future, but no property has ever been restored, no captive liberated, no offender punished, and the outrages have continued.

In 1863 the Government of India, being averse to the adoption of extreme measures for the protection of its subjects and dependent allies, despatched a special mission to the Bhootan Court, charged with proposals of a conciliatory character, but instructed to demand the surrender of all captives, the restoration of plundered property, and security for the future peace of the frontier.

This pacific overture was insolently rejected by the Government of Bhootan. Not only were restitution for the past and security for the future refused, but the British Envoy was insulted in open Durbar, and compelled, as the only means of ensuring the safe return of the mission, to sign a document which the Government of India could only instantly repudiate.

For this insult the Governor-General in Council determined to withhold for ever the annual payments previously made to the Bhootan Government on account of the revenues of the Assam Doars and Ambaree Fallacottah, which had long been in the occupation of the British Government, and annexed those districts permanently to British territory. At the same time, still anxious to avoid an open rupture, the Governor-General in Council addressed a letter to the Deb and Dhurma Rajahs, formally demanding that all captives detained in Bhootan against their will should be released, and that all property carried off during the last five years should be restored.

To this demand the Government of Bhootan has returned an evasive reply, from which can be gathered no hope that the just requisitions of the Government of India will ever be complied with, or that the security of the frontier can be provided for otherwise than by depriving the Government of Bhootan and its subjects of the means and opportunity of future aggression.

The Governor-General in Council has therefore reluctantly resolved to occupy permanently and annex to British territory the Bengal Doars of Bhootan, and so much of the Hill territory, including the Forts of Dallingkot, Panakha, and Dewangiri, as may be necessary to command the passes, and to prevent hostile or predatory incursions of Bhootanese into the Darjeeling district or into the plains below. A Military Force amply sufficient to occupy this tract and to overcome all resistance has been assembled on the frontier, and will now proceed to carry out this resolve.

All Chiefs, Zemindars, Munduls, Ryots, and other inhabitants of the tract in question are hereby required to submit to the authority of the British Government, to remain quietly in their homes, and to render assistance to the British troops and to the Commissioner who is charged with the administration of the tract. Protection of life and property and a guarantee of all private rights is offered to those who do not resist, and strict justice will be done to all. The lands will be moderately assessed, and all oppression and extortion will be absolutely prohibited.

The future boundary between the territories of the Queen of England and those of Bhootan will be surveyed and marked off, and the authority of the Government of Bhootan within this boundary will cease for ever.

No. LXII.

AGREEMENT entered into by HIGH OFFICERS of the BHOOTAN GOVERNMENT for the surrender of the two Guns—1865.

We, Samdojey Deb Jimpey and Themseyrensey Donai, the two high officers of the Bhootan Court, will go back to the Deb Rajah and fully explain to His Highness about the two guns which fell into the hands of the Bhootan troops on the evacuation of Dewangiree, and obtain His Highness's consent to go to Tongso about them. If we succeed in getting back the guns by bringing Tongso Penlow to terms, we will either bring the guns back and restore them at Sinchula, or else cause them to be handed over to the British officers at Dewangiree; but if we should unfortunately be unsuccessful, one of us will come down to the Representative of the British Government for assistance, and, in the meantime, we agree to explain to His Highness the Deb Rajah that no money payment can be expected under the 4th Article of the Treaty. We further agree that no money payment under the Treaty shall be due to the Bhootan Government in the event of Mr. Eden and Cheeboo Lama declaring that a second copy of the Treaty extorted from them was left by them in Bhootan, until such time as the said second copy shall be found and surrendered to the Representative of the British Government, and we fully understand and acknowledge that, until the two* British guns are restored, no money payment under the Treaty will be due to the Bhootan Government.

* They were eventually surrendered on 25th February 1866.

Done this 10th day of November 1865, corresponding with 23rd-9th month, Bhootea year Shim Lung, or one day previous to the date fixed for the formal signature of the Treaty in public Durbar at Sinchula.

PROCLAMATION.—1866.

Whereas in the Proclamation issued on the 12th November 1864, His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor-General in Council announced his resolution of occupying permanently and annexing to British territory the Bengal Doars of Bhootan and so much of the hill territory, including the forts of Dalimkote and Dewangree, as might be necessary to command the passes and to prevent hostile or predatory incursions of Bhootanese into the Darjeeling district, or into the plains below;

And whereas, in pursuance of that resolution, the British Government, under Article 2 of a Treaty concluded on the 11th day of November 1865, has obtained from the Government of Bhootan for ever the cession of the whole of the tract known as the Eighteen Doars bordering on the districts of Rungpoor, Cooch Behar, and Assam, together with the Talook of Ambaree Fallacottah and the Hill territory on the left bank of the Teesta, up to such point as may be laid down by the British Commissioner appointed for the purpose;

It is hereby declared that the territory ceded by the Bhootan Government as aforesaid is annexed to the territories of Her Most Gracious Majesty the Queen of England.

It is further declared that the ceded territory is attached to the Bengal Division of the Presidency of Fort William, and that it will accordingly be under the immediate control of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, but that it shall not be subjected to the general regulations.

PART II.

TERRITORIES COMPRISED WITHIN, OR IN POLITICAL RELATION WITH,

THE

I.—ASSAM.

The different portions of territory included in the Province of Assam were formerly quite distinct, and have different histories ; they were brought under British administration at different times and in different ways, and it is therefore necessary to treat them separately. For present purposes the following division will suffice :—

- (I.) Assam Proper, that is, the five districts of Kamrup, Darrang, Nowgong, Sibsagar, and Lakhimpur.
- (II.) Goalpara, including the Eastern Duars.
- (III.) Kachar, including the North Kachar Hills.
- (IV.) The Jaintia and Khasi Hills.
- (V.) The Garo Hills.
- (VI.) The North-Eastern Frontier.

In 1873 it was determined by the Government of India to separate the districts now forming the Assam Province from the administration of the Government of Bengal, and to form them into a Chief Commissionership. By a proclamation dated the 6th February 1874, the districts of Goalpara, Kamrup, Darrang, Nowgong, Sibsagar, Lakhimpur, the three Hill districts, and the district of Kachar were taken under the immediate authority and management of the Governor-General in Council ; and by a notification of the same date they were formed into a Chief Commissionership, and Lieutenant-Colonel

R. H. Keatinge, V.C., C.S.I., was appointed the first Chief Commissioner. On the 12th September of the same year, by another proclamation and notification, Sylhet was added, and the Province, as it now exists, was completed.

(I.)—ASSAM PROPER.

The history of Assam Proper, or of so much of the valley of the Brahmaputra as belongs to the modern province of Assam, may be said to begin with the growth of the Koch power upon its western frontier, and the invasion of the Ahoms in the east. It appears certain that, while the bulk of the inhabitants have always been of non-Aryan origin, the colonisation or conquest of parts of the valley by Aryan settlers began at an early date.

About the beginning of the thirteenth century occurred an event which was destined to have a great influence on the destinies of Assam. This was the invasion of the Ahoms. The Ahoms were Shans from the ancient Shan Kingdom of Pông, whose capital, Mogaung, still exists. Chukapha their leader entered Assam with a small following in the year 1228 A.D. The Ahoms found the country into which they descended either empty of inhabitants or held by small settlements of Chutias, a people of the Bodo race, whom they had no difficulty in subduing. Within the narrow limits of a territory corresponding to the south-eastern part of the Lakhimpur and part of the Sibsagar district, the Ahom kings succeeded each other with great regularity. The Ahoms, extending their power along the south bank of the Brahmaputra, subdued the Bara Bhuiyas (about 1450 A.D.), and thus touched the Koch power on the west as they touched the Chutia power on the south-east.

The Ahoms overthrew the Chutia dominion in Upper Assam about 1500 A.D., and held their own against the Koch. Several Musalman invasions are recorded in the history of the Brahmaputra Valley, and they all bear the same character of temporary success due to superior arms and discipline, and ultimate failure attributable to the unfavourable nature of the climate, ignorance of the country, want of communications, and the impossibility of repairing losses by reinforcements. The first expedition of the kind was unsuccessful. A second invasion occurred about the middle of the 16th century. The last and greatest was that undertaken by Mir Jumla in 1660-62. He captured the capital of the Ahoms, but his force melted away in the rains, and he was obliged to retreat with the loss of his guns. Though unable to wrest any territory from the Ahoms, the Musalman viceroys of Bengal were strong enough to conquer the greater part of the Koch kingdom, so much nearer to their frontiers. In 1682 the imperial general Manzur Khan carried off the last Koch king, Surya Narayan, a prisoner to Delhi. Even in Bengal, however, a relic of the Koch kingdom survived, and forms the present State of Kuch Behar; while the Koch territories in Assam, ruled by the tributary Rajas of Darrang, were never annexed to the Musalman dominions.

Before the last Muhammadan invasion, the Ahoms had been largely converted to the Hindu religion. The reigning monarch became a convert in 1655 A.D., and adopted the name of Jayadhwaja Singh, and henceforward all the Ahom kings bear both Ahom and Hindu names. There were now no rivals to the Ahoms in the Assam Valley. The Kacharis had been defeated just before Mir Jumla's invasion, and the Rajas of Darrang and Bijni became tributary to the Ahom power on the fall of the Koch monarchy. In 1695 Rudra Singh, the greatest of the Ahom kings, ascended the throne. His dominions comprised the whole of the Brahmaputra Valley, so far as it was inhabited, except a strip of submontane territory claimed by the Bhutias. In 1780, Gaurinath Singh succeeded to the throne. His reign was marked chiefly by a formidable rising of the Moamarias, a powerful religious sect. Gaurinath being hard-pressed, applied in his extremity to Mr. Rausch, a salt farmer at Goalpara. Mr. Rausch, it is said, sent a body of 700 sipahis to Gaurinath's aid, but these sipahis were cut to pieces by the Moamarias. In the meanwhile Krishna Narayan, Raja of Darrang, taking advantage of Raja Gaurinath's difficulties, made a descent upon Gauhati. Gaurinath, meeting with further reverses, again applied to Mr. Rausch for help, and also sent a deputation to Calcutta. At the close of 1792 the British Government sent a detachment, under the command of Captain Welsh, to assist Gaurinath. Captain Welsh defeated Krishna Narayan, put down the Moamaria insurrection, and reduced the whole valley to obedience. The first treaty with any of the Assam Chiefs was a commercial Agreement (No. LXV) made in 1793 with Raja Gaurinath Singh; but this was never ratified or published by Government, on the ground that the Raja's administration was not sufficiently strong to ensure the observance of the agreement. Captain Welsh was recalled in 1794. A few months later Gaurinath died. He was succeeded by Kamaleswar Singh, who died in 1809 and was succeeded by his brother Chandra Kanta Singh. The reign of this prince was marked by the appearance of the Burmese in Assam. Chandra Kanta having quarrelled with his minister, the Bura Gohain, applied for aid to the Burmese. The Burmese entered Assam with a forces with which the Assamese were utterly unable to cope. Shortly after, however, the Burmese retired; on which the Bura Gohain deposed Chandra Kanta and set up Purandar Singh. Chandra Kanta again applied to the Burmese, who sent an army and reinstated him. In 1819, Purandar Singh applied for aid to the British Government, but was refused. Chandra Kanta, however, quarrelled with the Burmese, who finally expelled him from Assam, and he sought refuge with the British officers at Goalpara. But at this juncture matters had come to a crisis between the British and the Burmese, and on the 5th March 1824 war was declared against Burma. A British force advancing with a gunboat flotilla conquered the valley as far as Koliabor, and during the next cold season completed the subjugation of the rest. Finally, on the 24th February 1826, the Burmese by the treaty of Yandabo, ceded Assam to the East India Company.

For some time after the conquest it was still doubtful whether the Company would retain in their hands the province they had won. Mr. Scott, the Commissioner of North-East Rangpur, administered the country, Captain White being appointed in 1827 to assist him in Lower Assam, and Captain Neufville in 1828 to have charge under him of Upper Assam. The Moamarias, whose country, known as Matak, is now comprised in the Lakhimpur district, were left under their own ruler, styled the Bar Senapati, who in May 1826 executed an Agreement (No. LXVI) whereby he acknowledged the supremacy of the British Government, and bound himself to supply 300 soldiers in time of war. The management of the country was left in his own hands, except as regards capital offences. In January 1835 the obligation to supply troops was commuted to a money payment of Rs. 1,800 a year (No. LXVII). The Bar Senapati died in November 1839, and, as his successor refused the terms offered him, the management of the country was assumed by the British Government in 1842, and pensions were given to the members of the family. The Matak number about 26,000 souls.

The Khampti Chief of Sadiya, called the Sadiyakhoa, was, on the 15th May 1826, confirmed as the Company's feudatory in possession of that district. In 1839 the Khamptis headed an insurrection of the border clans, attacked and partially destroyed the military station of Sadiya, and killed the Commandant and Political Agent, Colonel White. The combination was not broken up and dispersed till many lives had been lost. The son of the Sadiyakhoa, for his complicity in this rebellion, was exiled with his followers to Narayanpur on the Dikhrang, in the west of the Lakhimpur district, where the colony still exists. Sadiya, the district of the Khampti Chief, was, by a proclamation issued in 1842, incorporated with the rest of the province.

In 1833 the districts of Sibsagar and Lakhimpur, north of the Brahmaputra, were placed under the administration of Raja Purandar Singh, who executed a Treaty (No. LXVIII) binding himself to administer the country upon the principles of justice established in their territories by the East India Company, to act according to the advice of the Political Agent stationed in his principality, and to pay an annual tribute of Rupees 50,000. Thus of Assam Proper there remained British in 1833 only the districts of Kamrup, Nowgong and Darrang; the latter then only extended to and included Bishnath, beyond which was Lakhimpur, subject to Purandar Singh.

In October 1838 Purandar Singh's territories were resumed by the Government of India; the Raja had fallen deeply into arrears with his tribute, and declared himself unable any longer to carry on the administration. In July 1839 a proclamation was issued by the Governor-General in Council annexing the territory to Bengal, dividing it into two districts, Sibsagar and Lakhimpur, and directing that these two districts should be administered in the same manner as the districts of Lower Assam. The incorporation of the Kamrup and Darrang Duars in British territory in 1842 is noticed under the Bhutan section of the Bengal narrative.

TRANSLATION of a new system of COMMERCE adopted by the MAHARAJAH SURGY DEO, ASSAM, 28th February 1793.

The Maharajah Surgy Deo, highly sensible of the benefit he has experienced from the aid which has been afforded to him by the English Government, and desirous not only of cementing the harmony and friendship which subsists between him and that power, but also of extending the beneficial effects thereof, in general, to the subjects of Bengal and Assam, has, at the recommendation of Captain Welsh, the representative at his Court of the said English Government, agreed to abolish the injudicious system of Commerce which has heretofore been pursued, and to adopt in its stead the following plan, liable however to such alterations and amendments as occasions may require, for the mutual benefit and comfort of the subjects of both countries.

ARTICLE 1.

That there shall henceforth be a reciprocal and entire liberty of Commerce between the subjects of Bengal and those of Assam, for all and singular goods and merchandizes on the conditions and in such manner as is settled in the following rules.

ARTICLE 2.

That to facilitate this free intercourse between the subjects of both nations, those of Bengal, in fulfilling the conditions hereafter prescribed, be permitted to proceed with their boats loaded with merchandizes into Assam, and to expose their goods for sale, at any place or in any manner may best suit their purposes, without being subject to any other duties than are established by these Articles.

ARTICLE 3.

That a regular Impost be levied on all goods or merchandizes, whether of Export or Import, and that these duties be fixed as follows :—

Imports.

1st.—That the Salt of Bengal be subject to an Impost of 10 per cent. on the supposed prime cost, reckoning that invariably at 400 Rupees per 100 maunds of 84 sicca weight to the seer.

2nd.—That the Broad Cloths of Europe, the Cotton Cloths of Bengal, Carpets, Copper, Lead, Tin, Tutanag, Pearls, Hardware, Jewellery, Spices, and the various other Goods imported into Assam, pay an equal Impost of 10 per cent. on the Invoice price.

3rd.—That Warlike Implements and Military Stores be considered contraband and liable to confiscation, excepting the supplies of those articles which may be required for the Company's troops stationed in Assam, which, and every other matter of convenience for the said troops, whether of clothing or provisions, are in all cases to be exempt from duties.

Exports.

1st.—That the Duties to be levied on all articles of Export (except in such cases as are hereafter mentioned) be invariably 10 per cent., reckoning agreeable to the rates hereby annexed to each, viz. :—

			Rs. As. P.
Mooga Dohtees, per md. of 84 sa. wt. to the seer			95	0	0
Mooga Thread,	ditto	ditto	70	0	0
Elephants' Teeth,	ditto	ditto	50	0	0
Cutna Lac,	ditto	ditto	4	0	0
Chuprah and Jury Lal,	ditto	ditto	3	8	0

2nd.—That all articles of Export not herein specified (with the exception of the following), and for which no certain calculation can be made, be subject to an equal Impost, in such instances always to be paid in kind; and with respect to these articles which have been particularized, that the Duties be received either in money or kind, as may be most convenient to the Merchant: but as it may happen that a temporary scarcity of grain may occur either in Bengal or Assam, to provide against which, Rice and every description of Grain to be exempt from Duties.

ARTICLE 4.

That any person or persons detected in attempting to defraud the Surgy Deo of the Duties hereby established, shall be liable to a confiscation of his or their property, and for ever after debarred the privilege of the trade.

ARTICLE 5.

That for the purpose of collecting the said Duties, Agents be appointed and Custom Houses established for the present, one at the Candahar Chokey and one at Gowhatty.

ARTICLE 6.

That it be the business of the Agents to be stationed at the Candahar Chokey to collect the Duties on all Imports and on all Exports, the produce of the country to the westward of Gowhatty, for which they are to be held responsible. They are to examine all boats passing up and down the river, and, after having settled with the proprietor for the amount of the Duties, they are to grant him a passport, specifying the number and quantity of each article, a copy of which they are to forward, without delay, to the Agents at Gowhatty, whither, or further, if it be necessary, the Merchant may proceed under sanction of the said pass.

ARTICLE 7.

That it be the business of the Agents stationed at Gowhatty to collect the Duties on all Exports the produce of the country parallel to it, north and south, and also on all Exports the produce of the country to the eastward, as far as Nowgong, for which in like manner they are to be held responsible. They are to examine all boats passing down the river, and to grant passports to the proprietors, copies of which to be forwarded to the Agents at the Candahar Chokey, who are to re examine the cargo, lest, on the way between Gowhatty and their station, the merchant may have taken goods on board which could not be specified in the pass granted at that place.

ARTICLE 8.

That as an incitement to the Agents to be industrious in the discharge of their duty, a recompense be made to them, bearing a proportion to the amount of the collections, and that for the present it be fixed at 12 per cent. on the said collections, which is calculated to defray all incidental expenses.

ARTICLE 9.

That the said Agents be required to be sureties for each other, and that the whole be bound by engagements to the Surgj Deo, not only for the purity of their conduct in the collections, but also that they abstain from having any concern, either directly or indirectly, in trade.

ARTICLE 10.

That a copy of their accounts be produced on or before the 10th of every month, and that the payment of the collections be made into the hands of any person the Surgj Deo may appoint to receive it at the expiration of every quarter.

ARTICLE 11.

That the standard weight hereafter, both for Exports and Imports, be 40 seers to the maund, and 84 sicca weight to the seer.

ARTICLE 12.

That as much political inconvenience might arise to both Governments from granting a general license to the subjects of Bengal to settle in Assam, no European merchant, or adventurer of any description, be allowed to fix their residence in Assam, without having previously obtained the permission of the English Government and that of the Surgj Deo.

ARTICLE 13.

That as Captain Welsh, the representative of the said English Government, in consideration of the Surgj Deo having removed the prohibitory restrictions which have hitherto existed, to the detriment of a free intercourse, has signified his intention of bringing to punishment all persons from Bengal, offending against the established laws of Assam, or infringing these Articles, so the Surgy Deo, on his part, declares he will punish all abuses in his subjects, tending to obstruct or discourage the reciprocal intercourse this system is designed to promote.

ARTICLE 14.

That copies of these Articles be affixed at every public place throughout Assam, that none may plead ignorance, and that Captain Welsh be requested to send one officially to his Government.

TRANSLATION of an AGREEMENT entered into by MATEE BUR
BUR SENAPUTTEE, on the 23rd January 1835, in the presence of the POLITICAL AGENT, UPPER ASSAM.

ARTICLE 1.

I agree to relinquish my claim to the village of Suckhowah, which has been the cause of dispute between the Suddeya Khawah Gohain and myself ; further, I agree that the following shall be recognized as the territorial boundaries of my district. On the north the Berhampooter ; on the west the Boormee Dehing River, separating my territory from that of Rajah Poorunder Sing ; to the east the Dibroo River and the Danquree Nullah, which falls into it. From the rise of the nullah a boundary line will be formed to connect it with the Boore Dehing River ; for this purpose Lieutenant Charlton can depute one person and I will depute another.

The lands lying between the Dhul Jan and Gooroo Jan Nullahs, which fall into the Danquree Nullah, to be considered under my jurisdiction, and the persons deputed as above mentioned can connect them by definite marks, so as to form a boundary line. These are the territorial boundaries of the country under my jurisdiction, and have no reference to the pecuniary questions now pending between me and the British Government.

I cannot agree to the demand which the British Government has made me to contribute towards the expenses of the State in an increased proportion, quinquennially, or by paying a tribute of Rs. 10,000 per annum, as I engaged to do under the Assam Government. But if the British Government requires me no longer to furnish a Military Contingent of 300 men, I agree to pay in their stead the usual Capitation Tax for these 300 men, which, at the rate of Rs. 6 per head, will amount to Rs. 1,800 per annum. I further agree to restore to the British Government the arms of this force if required. I likewise will adhere to the engagement I formed with Captain Neufville, to pay Rs. 551 per annum, on account of Pykes who absconded from Upper Assam, whilst that Province was under his charge in 1829; and further I agree to pay to those who have absconded from Rajah Poorunder Sing's territory within the last two years. I will cause them to be counted, but if suspicion is entertained that a false enumeration will be given in, I agree that the British Government may nominate an Officer to take a new census.

TREATY and AGREEMENT concluded between MR. THOMAS CAMPBELL ROBERTSON, AGENT to the GOVERNOR-GENERAL on the NORTH-EAST FRONTIER, on the part of the HONORABLE COMPANY and RAJAH POORUNDER SING, now residing at GOWHATTY, in ASSAM—1833.

ARTICLE 1.

The Company give over to Rajah Poorunder Sing the portion of Assam lying on the southern bank of the Burrumpooter to the eastward of the Dhunsiree River, and on the northern bank to the eastward of a nullah immediately east of Bishenath.

ARTICLE 2.

The Rajah Poorunder Sing agrees to pay an annual tribute of 50,000 Rupees of Rajah Mohree coinage to the Honorable Company.

ARTICLE 3.

The Rajah Poorunder Sing binds himself, in the administration of justice in the country now made over to him, to abstain from the practices of the former Rajahs of Assam, as to cutting off ears and noses, extracting eyes or otherwise mutilating or torturing, and that he will not inflict cruel punishment for slight faults, but generally assimilate the administration of justice in his territory to that which prevails in the dominions of the Honorable Company. He further binds himself not to permit the immolation of women by suttees.

ARTICLE 4.

The Rajah Poorunder Sing binds himself to assist the passage of the troops of the British Government through his territory, furnishing supplies and carriage on receiving payment for the same.

ARTICLE 5.

Whether at Jorhath or elsewhere, wheresoever a spot may be required for the permanent cantonment of the troops of the British Government, the Rajah agrees that, within the limits assigned to such cantonment, he shall exercise no power whatever ; all matters connected with such cantonment to be decided on by the Officer of the British Government.

ARTICLE 6.

In the event of a detachment being stationed at Suddeya or elsewhere, the Rajah Poorunder Sing binds himself to render it all the assistance that it shall require in regard to provisions and carriage.

ARTICLE 7.

The Rajah binds himself ever to listen with attention to the advice of the Political Agent to be stationed in Upper Assam, or to that of the Agent to the Governor-General, with a view to the conduct of affairs in the country made over to him in conformity with the stipulation of this agreement.

ARTICLE 8.

The Rajah binds himself not to carry on any correspondence by letter or otherwise, or to enter into any Contract or Agreement with the Rulers of any Foreign States. In all cases of necessity he will consult with the Political Agent or Agent to the Governor-General, by whom the necessary communication will be made.

ARTICLE 9.

The Rajah binds himself to surrender, on demand from the Agent to the Governor-General or Political Agent, any fugitive from justice who may take refuge in his territory, and always to apply to those Officers for the apprehension of any individuals who may fly from his territory into that of the Honorable Company, or of any other State.

ARTICLE 10.

It is distinctly understood that this Treaty invests Rajah Poorunder Sing with no power over the Moarmaria Country of the Bur Senaputtee.

ARTICLE 11.

It being notorious that the quantity of opium produced in Assam is the cause of many miseries to the inhabitants, the Rajah binds himself that, whatever measures may be determined on with a view to checking this source of mischief in the territory of the Honorable Company, corresponding measures shall be adopted in the territory made over to him.

In the event of the Rajah's continuing faithful to the Articles of this Treaty, the British Government engages to protect him from the aggressions of any foreign foe, but if, which God forbid, he should in any way depart from a faithful adherence to the same, and be guilty of oppressing the people of the country entrusted to his charge, then the right is reserved to the Government of the Honorable Company, either to transfer the said country to another ruler, or take it into its own immediate occupation.

(II.)—GOALPARA.

This district consists of two very distinct portions—the permanently settled part, comprising the three thanas of Goalpara, Dhubri and Karaibari, and the temporarily-settled part, called the Eastern Duars. The first tract was originally a portion of the district of Rangpur, and as such was included in the province of Bengal, which, by the Mughal Emperor's farman of the 12th August 1765, became part of the dominions of the East India Company. Like the neighbouring district of Kamrup, this tract was inhabited chiefly by Meches or Kacharis, and members of the same race converted to Hinduism under the name of Koch. It formed part of the dominions of the Koch dynasty of Rangpur, and, as has already been related above, passed out of their hands when Manzur Khan in 1682 overthrew King Surya Narayan.

In 1867 the five Eastern Duars, which were annexed by the British Government on the conclusion of the Bhutan war (see Bhutan), were incorporated in Goalpara.

BHUTIA TRIBES ON THE FRONTIER.

The Bhutias of the Kuriapara Duar, which lies east of Bhutan Proper and extends from the Doisham to the Rota river, are dependent upon the Towang Raja, who is himself an official subject to the Government of Lhasa. The Chiefs of this Duar, called the Sat Rajas, used to levy dues from the inhabitants of the adjoining plains. In 1844 their claims were bought out (No. LIX) by the British Government on payment of an annual sum of Rs. 5,000. Since then our relations with these people have only once been disturbed. In 1852 one of the Gelongs, or Tibetan officials appointed from Lhasa to supervise the local chiefs, having some misunderstanding with his superiors, fled to British territory. His surrender was peremptorily demanded by the authorities of Lhasa, and a Tibetan army moved towards the frontier. A British force was assembled at Udalgiri with two guns. But no hostilities actually occurred, the Tibetans retired, the fugitive Gelong was removed to Gauhati, and the Duar was re-opened for trade.

Next to these Bhutias subject to Towang come the Sat Rajas of Char-duar, chiefs who live at villages called by the people of the plains Rupraigaon and Shergaon. They claim to be independent of Towang, and rule the tribes from the Rota to the Diputa river. The first Treaty with them was concluded in 1853 (No. LXIX). The Thebengia Bhutias are a distinct race, and extend several days' journey into the hills; but they used, in junction with the Sat Rajas, to levy contributions from the people of the adjacent plains. From 1839 to 1844 these people were excluded from the plains by the British Government in punishment for outrages committed by them. On their submitting and executing a formal Agreement (No. LXX) to refrain from aggressions, the Shergaon and Rupraigaon Bhutias received an annual pension of Rs. 2,526-7 a year. A similar payment of Rs. 145-13-6 is made to the Thebengia Bhutias, but they do not appear to have subscribed any engagement. These tribes come down annually to receive their pensions at Tezpur.

TREATY signed by CAPTAINS REID and CAMPBELL and CHANGDANDOO NAMANG LEDEN and DAO NURHOO, BHUTIA RAJAS, on the 28th JANUARY 1858, at KURREAHPARAH, ZILLAH DARRUNG.

We, Changdandoo Raja Namang Leden Raja Dao Nurhoo Rajah, being deputed by the Daba Rajas to carry letters of friendship to the Agent, Governor-General, North-East Frontier, desiring that the former friendly relations which existed between the Government of India and our Lassa Government (lately disturbed by the misbehaviour of one of our Gellings) should be again resumed, and being ourselves desirous above all things that peace should exist between our Government and that of India, do (now that we are assured the Government of India do not intend to invade our country) hereby solemnly declare that all military force in excess of what is required to maintain order in our own country shall be immediately withdrawn, and the soldiers sent to their houses, and should the peace be ever broken by us, we shall consider that all claim to the Rs. 5,000 hitherto yearly paid to our Government by the Government of India shall be forfeited, and that our trade with the people of the plains shall be put a stop to.

And all this we of our own good will agree to and swear to in the presence of Captains Reid and Campbell, signing the agreement as copied out in Bhutia language from the Bengali copy made by Tuckha Mahomed Darogah.

And moreover, with regard to the followers and others of the Gelling who have come down to the plains for protection, we promise not to molest them, but hope, with the good help of the Agent, Governor-General, to make friends with them and persuade them to return to their own country.

No. LXX.

AN AGREEMENT entered into by DURJEE RAJAH, TAUGJOOG RAJAH, DUKPAH RAJAH, JOYPOO RAJAH, CHANG KHANGDOO RAJAH, SAUGJA RAJAH, ROOP RAE GYA TOOUNG BHUNGDOO RAJAH, SURGYAH, of BHOOTAN, dated 29th Maug 1250 B. S.

Under the supposition that we were concerned with Niboojoo Rajah, Kawree Bhoot, and Bogah Bhoot, in the murder of Muddoo Sykeah, of Ooang, in Chardoar, and therefore required to give up the above-mentioned supposed murderers, which we were unable to do, in consequence of which the

Duars were attached, and we forbidden to frequent them; and it being now ordered that we be allowed a pension in lieu of black-mail and may again visit the Plains for the purposes of traffic under a sworn Agreement, to ensure the ryots from any oppressions from us:—We hereby pledge ourselves to act up to the following terms, swearing according to our custom by placing salt on a daw or Bhootan sword, and biting it, and cutting the skins of a tiger and bear:—

1st.—We pledge ourselves to report our arrival in the plains to the Patgarree, and never to commit any fraud or theft against any ryot or Patgarree in trafficking with them, or any other act of oppression. Neither will we allow any of our people to do so, or we shall forfeit our privilege of visiting the Plains.

2nd.—We pledge ourselves never to join any person or persons that may be at enmity with the British Government; and furthermore to oppose every effort made against the Government the instant it shall be brought to our knowledge, and report faithfully any intelligence we may get of any conspiracy being carried on. We also pledge ourselves to act up to any orders we may get from the British authorities. Should it ever be proved that we have joined in any conspiracy, we shall not be allowed to visit the Plains.

3rd.—We will never come into the Plains armed, and in our traffic confine ourselves exclusively to the established market places at Lahabarree, Balle, Barah, Oobung, and Tezpur, and not deal with the ryots in their private houses, neither will we permit any of our people doing so.

4th.—We consider ourselves in all civil aggrievances bound to abide the decision of the British Courts.

5th.—I, Durjee Rajah, am content to receive a monthly pension of 25 Rupees, and for the rest of my people 20 Rupees each, altogether 145* Rupees in lieu of our black-mail, and we relinquish every other right in Chardoar.

6th.—The moment we hear that any of our people have been guilty of any crime in the Plains, we engage to give up the offender.

7th.—We pledge ourselves to act up to the foregoing terms, or forfeit our pension.

(III.)—KACHAR.

The early history of Kachar, or Hiramba, is obscure. Although it has given their current name to the Bodo population of Assam, the part of the district south of the Barail was not till some two hundred years ago in the possession of the race now called Kacharis. It would appear that it formerly belonged to the kingdom of Tipperah or Tripura. It is, however, certain that the last native king of Kachar was the descendant of a line of princes who came originally from the Assam Valley. The Kachari kings were forced, by the aggressions of the Ahoms on the north and of the Angami Nagas on the south, to remove and take up their abode on the Mahur river. While settled there, about the beginning or middle of the seventeenth century, the Kachari king married a daughter of the Tipperah Raja, and received the valley of Kachar as her dowry. And some time between 1700 and 1750 the capital was transferred to Khaspur, on the Madhura river in the plains. In 1790 the Raja, by appropriate ceremony, became a Hindu and a Kshatriya.

In the beginning of the present century the valley of Kachar was the scene of a struggle for supremacy between the Manipuri brothers, Marjit, Chaurjit and Gambhir Singh, who had been driven from their own country by the Burmese. The Burmese were then in Assam, and, as lords of Manipur (which they had conquered from Marjit in 1819), threatened to annex Kachar. This the British Government, seeing the danger which it would cause to Sylhet, decided to prevent. Negotiations were first entered on with a view to an alliance with the Manipuri brothers. These overtures fell through, and it was resolved to take up the cause of Govind Chandra, the refugee Raja of Kachar, who, with the Raja of Jaintia, was taken under British protection. The Burmese armies, which had advanced both from Assam and Manipur, were driven out, and Govind Chandra was replaced on the throne. A Treaty (No. LXXI) was executed on the 6th March 1824, by which the Raja placed himself under British protection, and agreed to pay a tribute of Rs. 10,000. Govind Chandra was assassinated in 1830, and as he left no heir, either natural or adopted, the country was annexed by proclamation on the 14th August 1832.

Since Kachar became British territory, the only important political events which have marked its history have been the Lushai raids of 1849 and subsequent years until 1871, the last of which was followed by the expedition of 1871-72. In 1857 the sepoy of the 34th Native Infantry, who mutinied, in Chittagong in November of that year, were met in Kachar, defeated, and dispersed by the Sylhet Light Infantry.

North Kachar.—North Kachar is divided from the valley of the Barak by the range of the Barail, and lies between the Jaintia and the Naga Hills. When the district was under Native rule, during the last years of the reign of Govind Chandra, North Kachar was the scene of a struggle between that prince and one of his officers, Kacha Din, who rebelled and endeavoured to establish an independent government. He was captured and put to death by Govind Chandra, but his son Tularam revived the rebellion, and in 1824 joined the Burmese in their attack on Kachar. After a series of years, during which Tularam successfully held his own, Mr. Scott induced Govind Chandra in 1829 to assign to him a tract of country in the hills, and bind himself not to molest him within these limits. After the assassination of the Raja of Kachar, Tularam was a candidate for the vacant chiefship, but failed to establish his title. In 1834 he entered into an Agreement (No. LXXII) with the British Government, in which he resigned all the western portion of the tract ceded by Govind Chandra, retaining the tract on the east, bounded on the south by the Mahur river and the Naga Hills, on the west by the Diyung, on the east by the Dhansiri, and on the north by the Jamuna and Diyung. For this he was to pay a tribute of four pairs of elephants' tusks annually, receiving a monthly pension of Rupees 50. Tularam died in October 1850. His sons, Nakulram and Brajanath, held the country for two and half years more, when the former was killed in the Naga Hills, whither he had led an expedition to avenge an attack on his village of Semkhor; and in 1854 the tract was resumed by the British Government, the surviving members of Tularam's family receiving pensions.

In 1839 the portion of North Kachar not included in Tularam's dominions was annexed to Nowgong; and in 1853 a separate officer was placed in charge at Asalu, near the northern skirts of the Barail, whose business it was to keep order among the Kukis and Arung Nagas dwelling in that neighbourhood, and to protect them against the Angami Nagas to the east, who were constantly making raids into this country and that held by Tularam. In 1854 this officer's charge was augmented by the addition of Tularam's principality.

In 1866 the Government of India agreed to a proposal that a new district should be formed, with its head-quarters at Samaguting, Asalu being abolished as a subdivision, and North Kachar being divided between the Khasi and Jaintia Hills, South Kachar and Nowgong, that portion lying to the west of the Dhansiri and the country on both banks of the Diyung forming, with the Angami Naga Hills, the new district.

At the close of the Naga war of 1879-80 sanction was given to the re-establishment of the subdivisional charge of North Kachar, where since 1866 no officer had been located, the hillmen being left, save for the rare cold-weather tours of the Deputy Commissioner, entirely to themselves. The subdivision was opened in December 1880, and placed in charge of an Assistant Superintendent of Police, who was stationed, for the dry-weather months only (the hills being very unhealthy in the rains), at Gunjong, in the centre of the tract.

Towards the end of 1881 a Kachari fanatic, named Sanbhudan, gave out that he was possessed of supernatural powers, and that his mission was to restore the ancient Kachari kingdom. He gathered about him an ignorant following and, in January 1882, after demanding the cession of North Kachar, attacked Gunjong and burnt it to the ground. In a subsequent attack on Maibong, where Major Boyd, the Deputy Commissioner, with a party of police was encamped, the assailants were repulsed with loss, but Major Boyd unfortunately received a wound from the effects of which he died shortly after. Sanbhudan, after the collapse of the insurrection, evaded capture until the end of 1882 when, in endeavouring to escape from the police, who had succeeded in surrounding him, he was wounded, and bled to death.

(IV.)—JAINTIA AND KHASI HILLS.

Jaintia.—The Raja of Jaintia, a Chief of Khasi lineage, was found by us, on the annexation of the district, in possession of a tract of plain country lying between the town of Sylhet and the Kachar border, and measuring about 450 square miles, in addition to his hill territory stretching from the foot of the hills overlooking the Surma Valley to the Kalang river in Nowgong. At the same time that Kachar was taken under British protection, in March 1824, a Treaty (No. LXXIII) was made with Ram Singh, the Raja of Jaintia, by which he acknowledged allegiance to the Company, and promised to aid in the military operations then commenced against the Burmese in Assam. In 1832 four British subjects were seized by Chattar Singh, Chief of Gobha, under the orders of the heir-apparent, Rajendra Singh, and three of them were sacrificed to Kali, the tutelary goddess of the Raja's family. One escaped and gave information of the outrage, which led to a demand by the British Government for the surrender of the culprits. Negotiations went on for two years without any result; in November 1832 Ram Singh died and Rajendra Singh succeeded him; and it was finally resolved to punish this atrocious crime (which had been preceded by similar outrages in 1821, 1827 and 1832) by dispossessing the Raja of his territory in the plains, and confining him thenceforth to the hilly tract. On the 15th March 1835 formal possession was taken of Jaintiapur, and the annexation of the plain territory was proclaimed by Colonel Lister; in April the district of Gobha was similarly annexed to Nowgong in Assam. Upon this, the Raja declared himself unwilling to continue in possession of his hill territory, over which he had but little control, and this also became included in the Company's dominions. The population of the plains of Jaintia, like that of Kachar, is made up of Sylhet rayats, with but a slight leaven of settlers from the hills.

The Khasi Hills were first brought into direct relations with the British Government in 1826, after the conquest of Assam. The Chiefs or Seims of the Khasi States on the northern border of the hills had gradually, since the decay of the Ahom power in the year 1794, established themselves in the plains of Kamrup in the tracts known as Duars, and were accustomed to pay only a nominal allegiance to the Assam Kings. When Assam was acquired by the East India Company, it became an object with Mr. Scott to establish communication through the hills with Sylhet, and while the new administration of Kamrup refused to recognise the right of the Khasi rulers to encroach on the plains of Assam, Mr. Scott was able, by agreeing to allow Tirat Singh Seim of Nongkhlaio, to rent some lands in Borduar, to induce that Chief, and to persuade the other Seims, to permit a road to be made through the hills via Chirrapunji, Maojang and Nongkhlaio, to Gauhati.

In 1829 an attack was made on a survey party at the village of Nongkhlaio, and Lieutenants Burlton and Bedingsfield, with about 50 or 60 natives, were massacred. This event was followed by a general confederacy of most of the neighbouring Chiefs to resist the British, and by a long and harassing war, in which troops from Assam and Sylhet co-operated in the retaliatory measures which became necessary. Eventually, Tirat Singh submitted in 1833, and was confined as a prisoner for life in the Dacca jail. The other Chiefs had either previously made terms with the British Government, or did so immediately after; and since that date the establishment of a British officer with an adequate military force in the midst of the people has sufficed to maintain the most absolute tranquillity. The force was originally stationed at Chirrapunji, but was moved in 1866 to Shillong. ~

The greater part of the Khasi Hills consists of the territories of Native Chiefs in subsidiary alliance with the British Government; only a few scattered villages have remained British since the conquest of 1833, or have been ceded since then under special circumstances. The people govern themselves through their elected rulers, who are bound to follow the advice of their darbars. They pay no revenue to the British Government, but the Seims are required on investiture to confirm the cession to the paramount power of the mines and minerals, elephants, forests and other natural products of their States, on the condition of receiving half the profits from these sources. All petty crime committed by their subjects is dealt with by the Chiefs and their darbars; only heinous offences, or those cases in which subjects of different States are concerned, are tried by the British authorities. The people are well-to-do.

Regarding the Jaintia Hills, it has already been related how, on the annexation of the plains country of Jaintia in 1835, Raja Rajendra Singh declined to retain the hilly portion of his principality, which thus lapsed to the British Government. This tract, inhabited by the same race of mountaineers as the neighbouring Khasi territory, was thereupon placed under the administration of the Political Agent at Chirrapunji. The Jaintia Hills were (and still are) divided into twenty-three petty districts, twenty of which are in charge of headmen, called Dollois, chosen by the people themselves, while the remaining three are under hereditary Sardars. From 1835 to 1855 the people were left very much to themselves. The Dollois heard all civil cases, at first without exception, and after 1841 up to a certain limit, and all criminal complaints not of a heinous character in which only people of their own villages were concerned. No taxes of any kind were levied throughout the hills, the only contribution required being the annual offering of a he-goat from each village, which had been exacted by the Jaintia Raja. In 1858 Mr. Mills, of the Sadar Court, reported on the district, and on his recommendation a police thana was established in the hills at Jowai. In 1860 a house-tax was imposed, and within a few months the people were in open rebellion. Fortunately a large force of troops was close at hand, and before the revolt could make any head it was stamped out and the villages awed into apparent submission. After this rising, measures were taken to improve the administration of the Dollois, who were notoriously corrupt, but still no officer was posted to the sub-division. In January 1862 the people of the Jaintia Hills were again in fierce rebellion. The occasion was the imposition, only a year after the house-tax had been introduced, of the income-tax, to which 810 persons in the hills were subjected. The suppression of the revolt was long and tedious. It was not till November 1863 that the last of the rebel leaders surrendered, and the pacification of Jaintia could be said to be complete.

An English officer with full powers has since those events been stationed at Jowai; the administration of the Dollois has been reformed, education has been encouraged, and the country has been thoroughly opened up by roads. The Jaintia Hills are now secure and peaceable.

The Khasi States are twenty-five in number, of which the principal are Sokrah (Cherra).—The Treaty (No. LXXVI) with the Cherra Raja, Diwan Singh, was concluded on the 10th September 1829, and on the same date the Raja ceded (No. LXXVII) land for the station of Chirrapunji in exchange for an equivalent in the Sylhet zilla. In the same year an Engagement (No. LXXVIII) was made with the Sardars of Bairangpunji, by which they bound themselves to be subject to Diwan Singh. In 1876 the Bairangpunji villages were resumed and brought under direct control; the inhabitants since then pay revenue (house-tax) to Government at Rupees 2 per house.

Deputy Commissioner.

In 1830 Diwan Singh's nephew and successor, Subha Singh, ceded (No. LXXIX) additional land for the station of Chirrapunji, and in 1840 Subha Singh gave a perpetual lease (No. LXXX) to the British Government of the coal hills at Chirrapunji and confirmed a perpetual lease of the Bairangpunji coal mines granted by the Sardars of that group (No. LXXXI). Subha Singh was succeeded by Ram Singh, who, on the 16th May 1857, signed an Agreement (No. LXXXII) confirming the engagements of his predecessors. Ram Singh died on the 23rd April 1875, and a collateral member of the family, Hajan Manik, was elected in his stead.

Khyrim.—On the death of Singh Manik, Raja of Khyrim, his grand-nephew Rabon Singh was elected by the Chiefs and elders of the country; the election was confirmed, and an Agreement similar to that executed by the Nongkhlaio Chief (see No. LXXXIV) was taken from Rabon Singh. Rabon Singh died in August 1871, when his next brother, Klur Singh, was elected as his successor, and the election was confirmed on his signing the usual Agreement (No. LXXIV). Rabon Singh rendered valuable services to the British Government during the Jaintia rebellion of 1862-63 and obtained a pension of Rupees 150 per mensem; it was granted for two lives, and will terminate with the present recipient U. Klur Singh, Seim.

In the year 1878-79 the people of 25 villages in the State of Khyrim complained of long-continued oppression and undue exactions on the part of their Seim U. Klur Singh, and prayed that they might be allowed to become British subjects. The Seim retorted with complaints of rebellious refusal on their part to submit to his lawful authority and to his customary demands. The matter was enquired into by the Deputy Commissioner of the district and a reconciliation between the parties was effected, the disaffected villages promising to return to their allegiance and to pay the Seim all his dues as sanctioned by the local authorities, on the following conditions:—

- (1) The Government to select and appoint from among their community four Sardars to take charge of, and watch over, their interests.
- (2) All petty cases in their villages to be tried and decided by the four men appointed as above.
- (3) All serious and difficult cases or disputes between the 25 villages and either the Seim or outsiders to be referred to the Court of the Deputy Commissioner and to be decided by him.

The Sardars and the disaffected people subsequently applied to return unconditionally to their allegiance to the Seim, and after a local enquiry by the Deputy Commissioner, Khasi Hills, the authority of the Seim was restored.

Nongstain.—Mut Singh, Chief of Nongstain, died in 1862, before the completion of the agreement with the British Government into which he had proposed to enter. He was succeeded by Don Singh, who had been chosen by the elders of the tribe. The title of Raja Bahadur was conferred on Don Singh on his signing an Agreement (No. LXXXIII). Don Singh died and was succeeded on the 15th March 1878 by his brother U. Borson Singh, whose election was duly confirmed. Borson Singh died in February 1890 and was succeeded by his brother Jeensing, but before receiving the sunnud granted to him, he too died and has been succeeded by his nephew U. Madan, whose election was confirmed by the Chief Commissioner in December 1890.

Nongkhlaio.—A Treaty (No. LXXXIV), with a view to open up communication between Sylhet and Assam, was formed in 1826 with Raja Tirat Singh, by which the Raja, on receiving a promise of the protection of the British Government, voluntarily surrendered his independence. In 1829 Tirat Singh was prominently concerned in the massacre of two British officers, with about sixty native subjects. Hostilities ensued, and after a harassing war with the Hill Chiefs, most of whom joined Tirat Singh, the Raja surrendered. He was imprisoned for life in the Dacca Jail, and Government conferred the Chiefship on his nephew Rajan Singh, who was installed on the 29th March 1834, and with whom a new Engagement (No. LXXXV) was made.

Rajan Singh became deeply involved in debt, and abdicated in favour of Jidar Singh, on condition of his debts being paid and a stipend being allowed him. Jidar Singh died in 1856, and the succession was disputed between Rajan Singh and Bor Singh, a distant collateral relation of Jidar Singh in the female line. Rajan Singh died before the dispute was settled, and as Bor Singh was considered to have no claims of family, and was objected to by many of the Sardars, Government resumed the country. The Home Government, however, disapproved of the resumption, and directed that a Chief should be chosen by the assembled Mantris and heads of clans. The choice fell on Bor Singh, and the Chiefship was conferred on him and his lineal heirs for ever, subject to certain conditions (No. LXXXVI). In May 1866, finding himself incapable of managing his affairs, Bor Singh abdicated (No. LXXXVII) in favour of his heir Chand Rai, who was recognised in 1868 under the usual conditions (No. LXXXIV) as Chief of Nongkhlaio. Chand Rai died and was succeeded, on the 19th January 1874, by U. Hajan Singh. This Chief was, at the request of his subjects and on proof of grave maladministration, deposed, and his cousin U. Kine Singh, the present Seim, was appointed in his stead on the 16th March 1876. This Chief became a convert to Christianity after his election.

Myliim.—Originally this State was included in that of Khyrim, but in the time of one Ron Singh, Seim of Khyrim, a dissension arose, his nephew Singh Manik disputing the succession. Ron Singh, however, fought and conquered this Singh Manik, who retired to Longkyrdem in Khyrim, where he lived in obscurity.

U. Ron Singh was succeeded by U. Lhatu Manik, and he by U. Bor Manik. In U. Bor Manik's time, a second Singh Manik, a great-grand-nephew of the Singh Manik above referred to, requested permission to reside at Nongkrem, and he and U. Bor Manik having struck up a friendship, it was agreed that U. Singh Manik should succeed U. Bor Manik on the throne. But when U. Bor Manik died U. Singh was not allowed to quietly succeed him. A nephew of U. Bor named U. Hajan Singh contested the succession, and it ended by the people dividing into two parties and electing U. Singh Manik Seim of Nongkrem and Longkyrdem (Khyrim) and U. Hajan Singh as Seim of the remainder of the State under the name of Myliim. After the conquest of the Myliim country in 1829, the Chief Bor Manik, then called Chief of Khyrim, ceded to the British Government the territory on the south and east of the Umiām or Boga Pani river, called also Um-miao in the upper parts of its course (No. LXXXVIII). In 1834 a proposal was made to restore this tract to the Chief, but the proposal was never carried out.

In 1860 the chief men of Myliim presented a petition, complaining against the Chief Hajan Singh, who had succeeded U. Bor Manik. As the Chief was extremely unpopular, violated the customs of the country, and gave himself up to habitual drunkenness, he was deposed in 1861, and Milai Singh was elected by the elders and people in his stead. A new Engagement, similar to that made with the Nongkhlaio Chief (No. LXXXVI), was taken from Milai Singh. In December 1863 Milai Singh signed an Agreement (No. LXXXIX) by which he ceded the lands required for the military cantonment and sanitarium of Shillong, and renounced all his sovereign and personal rights therein. By his engagements he was bound to give such lands rent-free: compensation was, however, allowed to him in the shape of a money payment of Rupees 2,000, while the rights of private proprietors were bought up for Rupees 6,325, and an annual payment of Rupees 108. Milai Singh died in January 1868, and the election of his successor, Hain Manik, was confirmed on his signing the usual Agreement (No. LXXIV).

Langrin.—The Chief of Langrin died in December 1862, and was succeeded by his nephew U. Mit Singh, whose election was confirmed on his subscribing to an Agreement (No. XC). U. Mit Singh died on the 24th of April 1874, and was succeeded by the present Seim, U. Bor Singh, on the 6th of June 1874, whose election was confirmed on execution of the usual agreement.

Nongspung.—In 1872 Phanbalang, Chief of Nongspung, died and his nephew U. Step was elected in his stead. The election was confirmed under the usual conditions. On the death of U. Step, Santu Singh was duly elected on the 2nd of March 1877 and confirmed in his appointment. Santu Singh resigned in 1885 in favour of his nephew U. Parba Singh, whose nomination was unanimously accepted by the Chiefs and elders of the State in a public darbar. U. Parba Singh was therefore confirmed in the Chiefship on his executing the usual agreement in December 1885.

Marioo.—An Agreement (No. XCI) was made with U. Lar Singh, Chief of Marioo, in 1829.

U. Phan, Chief of Marioo, died in 1862, and was succeeded by U. Ron, who signed an Agreement (No. XCII) and received the title of Raja. U. Ron was, on his death, succeeded by his brother U. Jiei on the 14th October 1879, who received the usual sunnud. U. Jiei died on the 4th April 1888 and was succeeded by the present Seim, U. Burom Singh, his nephew, who has received the usual sunnud.

Dwara Nongtyrmen.—An agreement was made with this State in 1833, but no copy of it exists. A copy however of the agreement with the present Sardar, U. Jantrai, who was appointed on the 5th May 1870, is appended (No. XCIII).

Maosenram.—An Agreement (No. XCIV) was taken from Adhor Singh Chief of Maosenram, in 1831. The late Chief U. Mit died in 1837, and was succeeded by his nephew Adhon Singh under the usual conditions (No. LXXIV). Adhon Singh was deposed for drunkenness and inefficiency, and his nephew U. Ramon was appointed Seim in his place on the 25th January 1875. He executed an Agreement (No. XCV). On his death in 1889, his nephew U. Symburai, a minor, was by an unanimous vote of the populace elected Seim in March 1890. The election has been confirmed by the Chief Commissioner on condition of his executing the usual agreement when he comes of age, the young Seim and the Darbar being till then jointly held responsible for the due management of affairs of the State.

Maharam.—Agreements were made with the Chiefs of Maharam in 1839 and 1852 (Nos. XCVI and XCVII). In October 1864 U. Sai Singh was elected Chief of Maharam in succession to U. Step Singh, and was recognised by Government on his signing an Agreement (No. XCVIII). In 1875 U. Sai Singh was deposed for misgovernment. It had been the practice in this State to elect two Seims, a senior, called Seim-lih (lih=white), and a junior, called Seim-iong (iong=black), the one being supposed to act as a check on the other; but this system, which was in force in most, if not all, of the Khasi States in former times, gave rise to inconveniences, and the opportunity of U. Sai Singh's deposition was taken to abolish it, Adhor Singh, a member of the Seim-iong family, being appointed sole Chief of Maharam. On Adhor Singh's death, U. Kison Singh, his nephew, was appointed on the 15th December 1877, and received the usual sunnud.

Bhawal.—An Agreement (No. XCIX) was in December 1832 executed by U. Phaz, Chief of Bhawal Punji. In 1860, on the succession of Dhabur Singh, an Agreement, similar to that taken from Nongkhlaio (No. LXXXVI) was made with him. Dhabur Singh died in 1874, and was succeeded, under the usual conditions (No. LXXIV), by Lorshai Singh. U. Lorshai was succeeded by U. Bamon Singh, his nephew, on the 20th January 1875. He executed an Agreement (No. C). Bamon Singh died in August 1889 and was succeeded by his nephew U. Ram Singh, who has received the usual sunnud.

Maoiong.—U. Wan Singh, Chief of Maoiong, was killed in a tribal affray in March 1865, and his cousin U. Jan Singh was elected his successor. The occasion of this succession was taken to introduce the general form of Agreement (No. LXXIV) alluded to above, but U. Jan Singh died before a sunnud could be conferred on him. U. Jit Singh, the present Seim, was elected in his stead. The first engagement with Maoiong dates from 24th June 1829, but there is no copy of it extant. A copy of the Agreement executed by U. Jit Singh is appended (No. CI).

Treaties with other Chiefs are given under Nos. CII to CIX. Agreements (Nos. CX to CXII) were made with the present Chiefs of Nongsohphoh, alias Nobosohphoh, Jirang and Malaisohmat.

The revenue of the Khasi and Jaintia Hills, which is chiefly derived from a house-tax and from the rent of mines and quarries, amounts to about Rupees 57,000. The area of these hills is 6,070 square miles with a population (according to the census of 1891) of 197,690.

The written Agreement of Soobha Sing, Rajah, and the Officers, Sirdars and other Cossiahs, residing at Cherra Poonjee, executed in the current year 1237 B.S. to the following purport:—

Whereas the locality ceded by Dewan Sing, Rajah, during his lifetime, to the Honorable Company, under an Agreement he furnished for the purpose of erecting buildings on for gentlemen and convalescent persons, is now insufficient for that object in consequence of a great number of Government subjects having resorted to the place; we therefore, in compliance with the request of Mr. David Scott, Agent to the Governor-General, cede to the Government, agreeably to the terms of the previous Agreement furnished by the late Rajah, the land lying to the south-east of that place, extending up to the valley and river as specified in the said Agreement, and give this Agreement to the effect that we will abide by, and act in accordance to, the conditions specified in the late Rajah's Agreement. To which purport we have executed this Agreement.

To

Agent to the Governor-General.

My country having been taken possession of by the Honorable Company in consequence of my having made war with them, and thereby caused considerable losses, I now come forward, and placing myself under the protection of the Honorable Company, and acknowledging my submission to them, agree to the following terms as sanctioned by the Presidency authorities :—

1st.—I cede to the Honorable Company the lands I formerly held on the south and east of the Oomeeam river, and I promise not to interfere with the people residing on those lands without the orders of the Agent to the Governor-General.

2nd.—I consent to hold the remaining portion of the territory agreeably to the sunnud of the Honorable Company as their dependants, and to conduct its affairs according to ancient customs ; but I am not at liberty to pass orders in any murder case without the permission of the Governor-General's Agent, and will report to him any case of this kind that may occur.

No. LXXXIX.

AGREEMENT with the CHIEF of MOLEEM—1863.

Whereas it was stipulated in the Agreement entered into by me, Melay Sing, Rajah of Moleem, under date 19th March 1861, with the British Government, that the right of establishing civil and military sanitarium, posts and cantonments, within my country should remain with the British Government; whereas Lieutenant-Colonel J. C. Haughton, Agent to the Governor-General, North-East Frontier, under the instructions of the said Government, has selected, for the purpose of civil and military sanitarium, etc., the land hereinafter described, I hereby renounce, with the advice and consent of my Muntrees and the heads of my people, all sovereign and personal rights therein to Her Majesty the Queen of England and the British Government. It is, however, stipulated, should the proprietors of any of the land within the limits hereinafter described be unwilling to sell or part with their land to the British Government, the said persons shall continue fully to enjoy the same without impost or taxation as heretofore, but that in all other respects the jurisdiction and sovereignty of Her Majesty the Queen of England, and of the British Government, and the officers of Government duly appointed, shall extend over the said land and over all persons residing thereon, and to all offences committed therewithin.

Boundary.—The boundary of [the lands of Oo Don Sens to the south and east of the Oom Ding Poon stream which have been purchased; the boundary of the lands of Ka Stang Rapsang, south of the stream south of the Oom Ding Poon adjoining the village of Sadoo which have been purchased; the boundary of the lands of Oo Bat Khaobakee touching the Oom Ding Poon stream which have been purchased; the boundary of the lands of Ka Doke adjoining the last-named which have been purchased: the boundary of the land of Soosaka adjoining the last named which have been purchased; the boundary of the Shillong lands which have been purchased, from which point the boundary will follow the north and west sides of the present Government roads till the boundary of the lands of Borjon Muntree which have been purchased is met. It will then follow the boundary of the said Borjon's land till the boundary of the said land again meets the Government road now existing, which it will follow till the boundary of the Raj lands purchased are met. It will follow the boundary of the Raj lands till that dividing the Longdo lands of Nongseh from the Raj land and the land purchased from Oo Reang-Karpang of Nongseh, and will go between the two last on the east side of a hill by a path till the boundary stone of the Longdo of Nongseh at the head of a watercourse is met. It will then follow that watercourse to the junction of it with the Oom Soorpee, leaving the hill with the Lungdo jungle of fir trees on it to the left or north and west side. The boundary will then cross the Oom Soorpee river and ascend by a ravine opposite inclining somewhat to the right hand to monumental stones (Mowshin Ram), near one of which a peg and pile of stones is placed. The boundary will then descend the hill backwards towards the point of Youdoe Hill, that is, the hill on which the Youdoe Bazar is held, to a pile of stones and a peg not far from the Government road which it crosses and not far from the Oom Soorpee river. The boundary thence turns north-east by ascending the hollow to the ridge which divides the water-flow, on which is a mark, to the hollow to the north-east, which it follows by the water to the Oom Kra river leaving the Youdoe Bazar hill and the village of Mao Kra on the left hand. The boundary thence turns eastward, following the base of the hills and excluding all cultivation in the plains, including within it the hill lands given to the Government by Oo Beh till the lands of Oo Dor given to Government are met, whence the boundary, in the same way, follows the base of the hills excluding the cultivation in the plains till the river Pomding Neyam is met. Opposite a cave at the mouth of this stream, when it enters the plain, a peg and pile of stone is met. The boundary thence follows the same stream to its head in the rice lands of Oo Beh aforesaid; thence it follows the foot of the hills, leaving the village of Limeria to the left or east side, and excluding the rice cultivation of Oo Beh, but including the hill land given by him to Government till it reaches the head of the said rice cultivation, where it turns sharply to the left or east between two hills till it reaches the banks of the stream Oom Ponteng Kom, the downward course of which it follows till the junction of the same water, now called Oom Soorpee, with the Oom Jussaci is reached. This river is the boundary till its source is reached from a pile of stones, near which, marking the boundary of land purchased from Oo Don Sena, the boundary crosses over south-westerly to the point where the Oom Shillong makes a bend; at that point stones have been placed opposite ten fir and five oak trees on the spur of a hill. The boundary then follows the Oom Shillong till the boundary of Oo Don Sena's land is met, which it follows the point from whence it started is reached. I agree that the Government, or the possessor of the land within named, as well as the Shillong lands, shall have the joint right of turning off all water adjoining the said land for use, subject to such rules as the Government may prescribe. I promise also, as far as in me lies, to preserve the sacred groves whereon the water supply is dependent, and to punish any of my subjects found cutting the trees of the said groves and to deliver up for punishment any British subject found so offending.

To

MAJOR LISTER,

*Political Agent to the Governor-General,

I, Songaph, Rajah, resident of the Mahram country, having wantonly made war against the Honourable Company, and caused great loss of life to their people, and put them to considerable expense, have myself been driven through fear a fugitive to the jungles, and acknowledge having committed great faults; but I now crave an amnesty for the past offences of myself and my Cossiah people, and enter into this Agreement, in the hope of being permitted to remain in my country in the capacity of a Sirdar (Chief) on the following terms:—

2nd.—That I acknowledge my dependency on the Government, and agree to stay in my country, as a Sirdar (Chief), or as if I have been appointed a Sirdar by the Government. I am, however, to adjudicate, amongst my own people, according to custom, but will not put any one to death.

3rd.—That if any of the Government troops should pass through my country, I will attend and furnish them with such provisions as they may require, receiving payment for the same at the customary rates.

4th.—That should any disturbances arise in the hills, I will, if so ordered, attend with all the Cossiahs of my country, and remain in attendance as long as I may be required to do so, receiving merely subsistence for my people from the Government. •

5th.—That if any murderers or dacoits should take refuge in my country, I will apprehend them and deliver them up when called on to do so.

6th.—That, in atonement for my faults, I promise to pay the Government a total fine of 2,000 Rupees; but I am to lodge this amount within a month from the present date.

To

OOSEP SING, DHOLLAH RAJAH,
Resident of Rongthong Poonjee, in the Mahram Territory.

KNOW HEREBY:

It appears that Oober Sing, Dhollah Rajah of the Mahram territory, having deceased, you requested to be appointed Rajah there, on the ground of the country having been under the control of your uncle, the late Songaph, Dhollah Rajah, your application being supported by a petition from Oomon Muntree, Oolar Sing Rajah, and other persons consenting to it; but final orders were deferred on it, in consequence of Ramsye, Kallah Rajah of Nonglang Poonjee, in that territory, having set up a claim founded on the right of his uncle, the late Ram Sing, Kallah Rajah, to which Oojeet Lungdeo, Ooksan Sirdar, and certain other persons signified their assent in a petition they presented. As you and Ramsye Rajah have, however, this day come to an amicable arrangement, and filed a deed of compromise to the effect, that of the two Kallah and Dhollah Rajahs of Mahram, the Kallah Rajah is to be subordinate to the Dhollah Rajah, and the investigations connected with the duties of the Raj are to be conducted by them together in consultation, and the profits derived therefrom are to be enjoyed by them both, and as you have therein stated that you are to be Rajah in the place of the aforesaid Dhollah Rajah, retaining the said Ramsye Rajah as your subordinate, and investigating and deciding cases occurring in the country in concert and consultation with him, which are otherwise to be considered null and void, and the afore-mentioned Ramsye Kallah Rajah has expressed his willingness to remain as your subordinate, and according to former custom to investigate and decide cases taking place in the country in company and consultation with you, the decisions being invalid, unless so conducted, etc., besides which, you two persons are, agreeably to previous practice, to enjoy the profits derived from the country, and to share the losses incurred therein, and as you have assented to the above stated terms, and requested that a Perwannah may be given to you, appointing you as Rajah in accordance therewith, you are, therefore, informed that you are hereby appointed Rajah in the room of the Dhollah Rajah of the territory of Mahram, and it will be your duty to conduct investigations and give decisions there as stipulated in the deed of compromise, and according to your own sense of proper justice, retaining Ramsye Kallah Rajah as your subordinate, and both of you acting together and in consultation to do what is incumbent on you. You will, moreover, obey all orders that may be issued to you, from time to time, on the part of the Honorable Company, without delay, observing the terms agreed on in the deed of compromise referred to.

TRANSLATION of a PETITION of the WAHADADARS of CHEYLA POONJEE, to the POLITICAL AGENT of the COSSIAH HILLS in the year 1851, soliciting his assistance in causing the attendance, at their Durbars, of persons resisting their authority, and offering to abide by his decisions in appeals preferred to him against their orders, or in complaints made to him against their acts.

RESPECTFULLY SHEWETH,

That previous to the occupation of these Hills by the Honorable Company, we were appointed to the offices of the four Wahadadars of our village of Cheyla Poonjee, and protected the people by conducting enquiries and investigations in our country. That when these Hills afterwards came into the possession of the Honorable Company, we were confirmed in our appointments, agreeably to former custom, with the approval of the late Mr. David Scott, and most efficiently protected the inhabitants by investigating cases in the country by our own authority; but during the last two or three years, certain Cossiahs of our village, who are unruly, powerful, and evil-advising persons, have formed themselves into a party to carry out their own purposes, and are oppressing and harassing some of the poor Cossiahs, and if they complain, and we send for these persons through our officers, they openly resist our authority and assault them, besides making various remarks about us. When we also summon defendants in cases under trial before us, these violent individuals screen them, and in resistance of orders beat our men and snatch away the defendants from them; thus causing great annoyance to the poor people under our control, which we have frequently complained of to you by petitions; and the individuals of this party who harass the poor people in this manner are, moreover, not unknown to you. It is besides probable that unless this faction is put down, serious affrays and murders may hereafter occur, attended with ruination to our country, which it will be difficult for us to account for to you, and we shall be punished by Providence if the poor are violently oppressed by such persons of our village as have numerous friends and relatives, and we, as rulers of the country, do not redress their grievances. But as the calamities of our poor people cannot be removed, or the country rendered tranquil without your assistance, we therefore throw ourselves on your protection, and voluntarily present this petition, soliciting that the persons under our control, who resist our officers, may be tried by you, and that you will, on our solicitation, grant us your help to bring to our Durbars all such persons as pertinaciously refuse to attend there when we send for them; and if any persons who are dissatisfied with our orders should appeal to you against them, or if we oppress or injure any persons, and they complain to you about it, we will agree to any investigations and orders that you may pass, and will never act in contravention of them, but will obey them without urging any objections. There is no prospect of relief to our country, unless you so favour us, and in this your power is absolute.

Dated the 30th of Bysack 1258 B.S. (Received 14th May 1851.)

Present: COLONEL LISTER, Political Agent.

The request of the Wahadadars is granted, and it is hereby ordered that a perwannah be written to them, to the effect that if any person hereafter oppresses or injures another, and the person so oppressed complains to the Wahadadars and the oppressor, when called for by them obstinately and in disobedience of the Wahadadars' orders refuses to attend at their Durbars, they must send him to Cherra Poonjee with the witnesses to the fact of the opposition made to their authority, and the prosecutor and his witnesses, when proper orders will be passed.

(V.)—THE GÁRO HILLS.

The Gáro hills, peopled by a wild race nearly akin to the Meches or Kacharis of the plains, were surrounded on all sides except the east by the estates of the great frontier zamindars or chaudharis of Rangpur and My-mensing; the Gáros were in the habit of resorting to the markets in the plains estates of these zamindars for the sale of their cotton and the purchase of the supplies they needed; and the police of the border was maintained, and taxation levied on the hill produce, by the zamindars. The Gáros lived in a state of constant internecine warfare. The border was vexed by constant raids for the purpose of obtaining heads or prisoners which they required in their funeral ceremonies; and the exactions of the plains zamindars at the hátis likewise furnished frequent occasions for quarrel.

The raids of the Gáros on the plains being a source of constant trouble, Mr. David Scott was deputed in 1816 to report on the best means of preserving the peace of the frontier. He found that at that time the frontier zamindars had for the most part succeeded in reducing a greater or smaller area on their borders to a state of subjection; beyond these areas thus incorporated in their zamindaris, the chaudharis had so far established their influence that several villages in the interior paid them tribute. Beyond these, again, in the heart of the hills, were the independent or bemalwa Gáros. Mr. Scott proposed to separate all the tributary Gáros (from whom, and from the independent villages beyond, the raids proceeded) from the zamindars' control, and take them under Government management, compensating the zamindars for any losses which they might show that they had sustained; to make the Chiefs of the villages thus brought under our jurisdiction responsible for the peace and the collection of revenue; and to bring the submontane hátis under Government control, all duties being abolished there, except upon independent Gáros frequenting them. These proposals were approved by Government, and afterwards embodied in Regulation X of 1822, which gave Mr. Scott, who was appointed Special Commissioner, authority to extend British administration over other Gáro communities which might be still independent, and exempted the whole tract (together with the district of Goalpara) from the operation of the General Regulations. After the passing of the Regulation, Mr. Scott proceeded to conclude engagements with the independent Chiefs, and no fewer than 121 of those living west of the Someswari are said to have entered into terms with him.

In 1866, in consequence of the raids which, under the irritation caused by the attempts of the Mymensing zamindars to levy rents in the hills, were constantly being perpetrated, the Gáro hills were formed into a separate district and placed under the charge of a special officer. A number of villages submitted peaceably; but the independent tribes in the interior continuing to raid upon Gáros subject to the British Government, an expedition was sent against them in 1872 which ended in the subjugation of the whole country. Since then the history of the tract has been one of profound peace. In February and March 1881 a slight disturbance took place near Bangalkhata at the north-west corner of the hills in consequence of the construction of a road, but it was speedily suppressed without bloodshed.

The area of the Gáro hills is 3,149 square miles; the population, according to the census of 1891, is 121,219. The revenue of the Gáro hills, which is principally derived from a house-tax, and in a less degree from fisheries, forest produce and royalty on elephants, amounts to about Rupees 88,000 per annum.

(VI.)—NORTH-EASTERN FRONTIER OR NAGA HILLS.

To the east of the Jaintia hills and north of Manipur lie the Naga Hills stretching from about the 93rd to the 97th degree of longitude. For many years commencing from 1835 Naga raids were of almost annual occurrence. Between 1835 and 1851 ten military expeditions were led into the hills. But the country was never permanently occupied. The policy of non-interference which was decided on after the successful capture of Khonoma in December 1850, and the withdrawal of British troops, resulted in an increase in the number of raids. In 1866 it was found necessary for the protection of British villages in the plains to form part of the Naga hills into a district, the headquarters of which were fixed at Samaguting on the extreme edge of the Angami country. This measure proved for several years successful in putting an end to raids on British villages. In February 1877, however, the Angami Nagas of Mezuma raided upon the village of Gumaigaju, in the heart of North Kachar, killing six and wounding two persons: the cause of the attack was a feud thirty years old. With this exception, no raid had been committed by Angami Nagas within British territory since 1866, although there were numerous complaints of their depredations in Manipur; and their internal feuds were, as always, incessant. The village of Mezuma refused to give up the raiders and in the cold weather of 1877-78 an expedition was sent against it, and the village was burned. These events led to a review of the position, which we occupied in the hills; and in 1878 it was determined to abandon Samaguting, a low and unhealthy site, and to fix the head-quarters of the Political Officer at Kohima, in the midst of the group of powerful villages which it was specially necessary to control.

In the course of the rains of 1879 indications of coming trouble began to present themselves, but no serious apprehensions were entertained by the Political Officer, Mr. Damant. On the 14th October, however, while on a visit to Khonoma, he was shot dead in front of the village gate, which on arrival he found closed, and a number of his escort and followers were killed. A military expedition was immediately despatched. Our troops were aided by a force of Manipuris. Khonoma was taken on the 22nd November 1879, and the defenders retired to a fort above the village which they held till the end of the campaign. But the resistance was not broken. In January 1880 a party of Khonoma men made a raid upon a tea-garden in Kachar, more than 80 miles distant, killed the Manager, Mr. Blyth, and sixteen coolies, and sacked the place. On the 27th March the fort of Khonoma submitted, and the campaign was at an end. Fines were imposed upon offending villagers, and the Nagas were obliged to surrender their firearms. Khonoma was razed to the ground; and its site occupied by a British outpost. An agreement was taken from all villages to pay revenue in the shape of one maund of rice and one rupee per house; to provide a certain amount of labour annually for State purposes; and to appoint a headman who should be responsible for good order and for carrying out the wishes of Government.

After the close of this, the twelfth and last expedition, the whole policy to be adopted in dealing with the Nagas was reconsidered; and in February 1881 it was finally decided that our position at Kohima should be retained, a regiment permanently stationed in the hills, and the district administered as British territory. Since that date the history of the district shows the progressive establishment of peace and good order, and the quiet submission of the Nagas to our rule.

Soon after the formation of the Naga Hills district difficulties respecting its southern boundary arose with Manipur. In 1842 the northern boundary of Manipur had been demarcated as far as the River Mao, and the Manipur Government claimed the right of extending its jurisdiction east of that river, and had in fact done so by breaking over the watershed west of the Telizo peak, and occupying the Sopomah group of villages. In 1872 these villages were included within the Manipur frontier which was demarcated as far as the Telizo peak; eastward of this peak the watershed of the main range of hills dividing the affluents of the Brahmaputra from those of the Irrawaddy was to form the northern boundary of Manipur. To determine this watershed and open up the unexplored country between the southern frontier of Sibsagar and the Patkoi pass, some 20 miles south-east of Jaipur, surveying parties were sent out. One of these under Lieutenant Holcombe was treacherously attacked by Nagas at the village of Nibang on the 2nd February 1875: Lieutenant Holcombe was murdered, and of a total strength of 197 men 80 were killed and 51 wounded. Troops were at once despatched against the villages implicated in the massacre; the operations were completely successful and due reparation was exacted.

The principal tribes on the Frontier of Upper Assam, taking them in geographical order from west to east, are—

|--------------------|----------------------|----------------------|
| 1. Akas , | 4. Abors , | 7. Singphos , |
| 2. Daflas , | 5. Mishmis , | 8. Nagas , |
| 3. Miris , | 6. Khamptis , | 9. Lushais . |

1. Akas.—The Akas occupy the Sub-Himalayan region as far east as the issue of the Khari-Dikarai river. This tribe is divided into two sections, called by the Assamese the Hazarikhoas and the Kapaschors. The former received a posa, or stipend, from the Assam Rajas, and the latter levied contributions without having any such title. Both tribes are believed to be very few in number; but to the north of them is an allied race called the Mijis, of whose strength nothing certain is known. Though small, however, this tribe has a great reputation for violence and audacity. For many years Tagi Raja, the Chief of the Kapaschor Akas, gave us much trouble by his robberies and murders in the plains. In 1829 he was captured, and lodged for nearly four years in the Gauhati jail. In 1832 he was released, in the hope that he had learnt a lesson and would be quiet in future; but he immediately resumed his attacks, and in 1835 massacred all the inhabitants of the British village and police outpost of Balipara. For seven years after this he evaded capture, his tribe remaining outlawed in the hills. At length, in 1842, he surrendered, and it was decided to use his influence with the other Chiefs to secure the peace of the border. Agreements (Nos. LXX, CXIII and CXIV) were made under which the Kapaschor Aka Chiefs were to receive Rs. 520 and the Hazarikhoas Rs. 180 (but these amounts are liable to variation) a year as pension. Both tribes have certain small areas of land in the plains allotted to them for cultivation. The Kapaschors threatened in 1875 to give trouble, claiming an extensive tract of forest and other land on the Bhoroli river which was cut off by the demarcation of the boundary in 1874-75. Nothing further occurred at the time, and the new boundary was quietly accepted. This dispute, however, was the cause of the aggression which led to the Aka expedition of 1883-84.

The ostensible pretext was the visit to their country of an Assamese gentleman named Lakhidar to procure agricultural and ethnological specimens for the Calcutta Exhibition. They seized and imprisoned Lakhidar. This was in November 1883. At the same time a party of Akas committed an outrage at Balipara in British territory. In December a military punitive expedition was despatched under Brigadier-General Hill. On the 8th January 1884 the Akas were attacked and dispersed; but after visiting a few villages the force returned on the 23rd January to the plains. The Aka Chiefs promised to come down after the rains and submit. Until they did so the posa was suspended, and the Kapaschor Akas prevented from visiting the low country. After the expedition the Hazarikhoa Akas submitted and remained on friendly terms, receiving their posa. The Kapaschor Akas did not submit till January 1888. In the meantime they were blockaded and prevented from coming to the plains to trade. In 1886-87 the Hazarikhoas were prevented from trading in the plains. It was supposed that they were acting as commissariat agents for the Kapaschors, and pressure was put upon them. A written agreement was entered into with the Kapaschor Chief in 1888, but posa was withheld for two years to see how they behaved themselves. Their conduct having been satisfactory, their posa, amounting to Rupees 382, was paid to all the Kapaschor Chiefs in the cold weather of 1889-90.

2. Dafas.—Next to the Akas come the Dafas, who, with the Hill Miris and the Abors, occupy the whole of the rest of the Sub-Himalayan hills until the Mishmi country is reached. These three races speak languages which are said to be mutually intelligible, and they are evidently nearly akin. The Dafas and Miris were, like the Akas, in receipt of posa, or pensionary allowance, under the Assam Government, as a condition of their refraining from aggression on the northern tracts of Darrang and Lakhimpur; these allowances have been continued by the British Government. The Dafas are divided into two septs, called the Paschim, or Western Dafas, and the Tagin Dafas who live to the east of these. For many years the Dafas have been quiet neighbours. Previous to 1837 their raids on the frontier were numerous; but in that year the system of annual pensions was settled. The only occasions since then when they have given trouble were in 1872 and 1873, when the Tagin Daffas broke the peace by seizing some plains Daffas who were believed by them to have caused sickness in the hills. These outrages were first punished by a blockade; but as the surrender of the captives was not thereby secured, an expedition was sent into the hills north of the Dikhrang river in the cold weather of 1874-75, and this was followed by the release of the prisoners and the submission of the tribe. Since then, our relations with the Daffas have been peaceful. Considerable numbers of this people have settled in the plains of Darrang and Lakhimpur. In 1883 Colonel Woodthorpe, R.E., who was sent to survey part of the country, met with a favourable reception.

3. Miris.—The Miris are a quiet and inoffensive race. They receive an annual allowance in money, salt, and rum. It is believed that they stand in some sort of servile relation to the Abors, to avoid which large numbers of this tribe have settled in Upper Assam as British subjects. Retaining their own language among themselves, they also speak Assamese, to which is due the name by which they are known in Assam (Miri or Mili meaning 'go-between or interpreters'), as they form a channel of communication with the Abors of the hills.

4. Abors.—The Abors, who call themselves Padam, occupy the hills east of the Miris as far as the Dihong river. They bear a different character from these latter, and the want of population on the north bank of the Brahmaputra from opposite Dibrugarh to Sadiya is chiefly due to dread of their raids. Their principal villages are in the hills about the course of the Dihong, but several recent settlements have been founded on the plains. Murders and outrages committed by them on Government rayats, in some cases close to the headquarters station of Dibrugarh, have led to several punitive expeditions against them. In 1858 a force was sent to punish the massacre of a Bihia village by the Bor Meyong Abors, but was not successful in its object. In 1859 another expedition was sent, and met with better fortune. In 1861 a further massacre of Bihias, a few miles from Dibrugarh, on the south side of the Brahmaputra, occurred. This was followed by preparations for establishing a line of outposts along the north bank of the Brahmaputra, connected by a road, to guard against such attacks in future. The Abors appear to have been impressed by these operations; they made overtures which were responded to, and a meeting took place in November 1862 between them and the Deputy Commissioner. An Agreement (No. CXV) was here arranged with eight communities of the tribe, promising them, on condition of good behaviour, an annual allowance of iron hoes, salt, rum, opium, and tobacco. Subsequently, in November 1862 and in January 1863 other powerful villages made similar Agreements (No. CXVI); the last concluded was made with the remaining communities in April 1866 (No. CXVII). The dues in kind stipulated for in these engagements were commuted in 1877 to money payments aggregating Rs. 3,312 a year, but the distribution of this amount among the different tribes is subject to variation. Payment is generally made at Sadiya. All the above-mentioned agreements recite that British territory extends to the foot of the hills.

In 1881 it was apprehended that certain Abor villagers, who had expressed an intention to cross the Dihong river and settle upon the hills beneath those occupied by the Chulikata Mishmis, would carry their hostilities with the latter tribe into British territory, and cut them off from access to Sadiya. As the relations between the British Government and the Mishmis are now friendly, it was determined to prevent the execution of this plan by establishing a post at Nizamghat, where the Dihong river issues from the hills north of Sadiya, and another lower down, opposite the Abor village of Bomjur. The occupation was carried out by a mixed force of troops and police. The posts were held through the cold weather of 1881-82, and were again occupied in 1882-83. The measure was completely successful in effecting its object; no overt opposition was offered by the Abors; and although there were threats and rumours of hostile preparations from the more warlike (and distant) villages, no active measures were taken to give effect to them.

In 1888-89 a somewhat serious case occurred in connection with the Meyong Abors, two of whose villages had combined and murdered four British subjects, Miris, whom they had induced to go beyond the Inner Line; and there were also not wanting signs of unrest among the other Abor tribes. Enquiries showed that the object of the Meyongs was to obtain posa, and a blockade of the whole of the Meyong and Passi Abors was accordingly ordered, with the result that the offending villages expressed regret for the outrage and paid a fine.

5. Mishmis.—The Mishmis, who occupy the hills from the Dihong to the Brahmakund, in the north-eastern corner of the valley, are divided into three tribes, called respectively the Chulikata or crop-haired Mishmis, the Tain or Digam Mishmis, and the Mizhu or Midhi Mishmis. The first-named have on several occasions attacked Khampti settlements in the neighbourhood of Sadiya, and have threatened to give trouble. Of late years, however, they have become embroiled with the Abors, and have looked to the British Government for protection and assistance. They resort in considerable numbers to the Sadiya fair, and are active traders. The Digaru Mishmis are a quiet, inoffensive people, and act as guides to the pilgrims to the Brahmakund. Of the Mizhu or Midhi Mishmis, who are the most remote of the three, we know little. In 1854 two French priests, MM. Krick and Bourry, who endeavoured to pass through their country from Assam to Tibet, were murdered by a party of these Mishmis. This outrage was avenged in February 1855 by an expedition under Lieutenant Eden. None of the Mishmi tribes receive any posa, nor do formal treaties or agreements with them exist.

In 1884 the Chulikata Mishmis were placed under blockade in consequence of the murder of a British subject. The blockade was maintained until the cold-weather of 1887-88, when it was raised, without the perpetrators having been discovered, on the tribe paying a fine of Rs. 2,000.

6. Khamptis.—The Khamptis, settled about Sadiya, are immigrants from a Shan State beyond the Patkoi range, which is tributary to Burma, and is known to the Assamese as Bor Khampti. They are of the same race as the Ahoms, but differ from the latter in being Buddhists. They are more civilised than any of their neighbours. They first settled in Sadiya during the latter part of the eighteenth century. When the Burmese were expelled from Assam, the Khampti Gohain, or Chief of Sadiya, executed an Agreement (No. CXVIII) of allegiance to the British Government, and Sadiya was selected as the residence of the Political Agent in Upper Assam. In 1839, after the death of the Khampti chief with whom we made the agreement, the Khamptis of Sadiya suddenly rose, and massacred the Political Agent, Colonel White, and many of his guards and attendants. The hostilities which followed ended in the transportation of the Khampti chief's son and his followers to a distant part of British territory. In 1843 some chiefs of this race surrendered on conditions (No. CXIX), and were again allowed to settle about Sadiya; and in 1850 a new immigration from Bor Khampti took place. The Khamptis living about Sadiya and Saikwa are British rayats, and pay revenue. Those living on the Tengapani beyond the Inner Line acknowledge allegiance to the British Government, but pay no revenue. A small force of 24 men, known as the Khampti volunteers, are employed for the protection of the villages about Sadiya. They receive a trifling yearly pay from Government.

The Phakials, who are chiefly settled on the Buri Dihing river, are almost undistinguishable, in dress, manners and language, from the Khamptis. They are, in fact, but a separate body of immigrants from the same country.

7. Singphos.—The Singphos, who live intermixed with the Khamptis on the New and Old Dihings, the Tengapani, and the mountains beyond, are only an outlying branch from the main race who occupy in force the hilly country between the Patkoi and the Chindwin river and the tracts near the head-waters and confluence of the Irawadi; and who were nominally subject to the King of Burma. To the Burmese they are known as Kachins; and Singpho (or Chingpaw) is but the word in their language meaning “man;” they are apparently related to the adjacent Naga tribes, to whom, however, they stand in the position of masters and superiors.

The Singphos are recent arrivals in Assam, having made their appearance at the head of the valley during the troubles of Raja Gaurinath Singh with the Moamarias about 1793. It was through their country that the Burmese invaders passed into Assam in 1818 and 1822; and the ravages of the Singphos added to those of the Burmese contributed greatly to the depopulation of the Matak country and Sibsagar. When Assam was conquered from the Burmese, the chiefs of the Singphos, after several engagements with our troops, tendered their allegiance, and entered into Agreements in 1826 (No. CXX) and in 1836 (No. CXXI) not to disturb the peace of the frontier. Great numbers of Assamese slaves, who had been carried off by them in the early years of the century, were released, and the wealth and power of the tribe in this manner much reduced. In 1839 they joined the Khamptis in their attack on Sadiya; but by 1842 they had again been brought to acknowledge their subjection. Many of the Singpho immigrants with whom agreements were made in 1826 have since retired across the frontier into Hukong.

The Duanias, or Singpho-Assamese half-breeds, are the offspring of the intercourse between these slaves and their captors; they are chiefly settled along the Buri or Old Dihing, and are peaceable subjects.

The chiefs of these people meet annually at the full moon of Magh (in the end of January or beginning of February) at Sadiya, to present themselves, with the chiefs of the Mishmi and Abor tribes, before the Political Officer, who receives their offerings and gives them in return small presents. They pay no revenue except where settled within the Inner Line.

8. Nagas.—The tribes known to the Assamese as Nagas or Nugas stretch uninterruptedly from the Patkoi, along the southern frontier of the Lakhimpur and Sibsagar districts, to the valley of the Dhansiri and North Kachar.

Our relations with these tribes, excepting those of the British district of the Naga Hills, vis., the Angamis, Kacha Nagas, Rengmas, Semas, and Lhotas, are conducted through the Deputy Commissioner of Dibrugarh and Sibsagar. From the Tirap river eastward to the Patkoi the Nagas are completely in subjection to the Singphos, and are apparently a very quiet race. West of this point begins a succession of groups of villages, known to the Assamese by the names of the passes or Duars through which their inhabitants resort to the plains, as the Namsangias, Borduarias, Paniduarias, Mithonias, Banphas, Jobokas, Bhitarnamsangias, Jaktungias, Tablungias, Assiringias, Hathigorias, and those who come down through the Geleki and Dhopdas Duars. The outer tribes of this region are in constant communication with the plains, and in the times of the Assam Rajas used to make annual offerings of elephants' tusks and other such articles. They do a considerable trade in cotton and other hill produce, and carry back large quantities of salt and rice. The inner tribes, known to the Assamese as Abors or wild men, are kept from access to the plains by these outer or Bori (subject, civilised) Nagas, who thus keep the carrying trade in their own hands. Besides trade, these outer Nagas come down in considerable numbers for labour in tea plantations and on roads during the cold weather. Unlike the Angamis, Semas, and Lhotas, who are intensely democratic in their social economy, many of the eastern Nagas appear to acknowledge the authority of Rajas and minor chiefs among themselves.

With the internal affairs of these people we hardly meddle at all; but they are prohibited from carrying their quarrels into the settled British territory, and if they do so are tried and punished by our courts. On this frontier a system prevails by which the Nagas of each group have allotted to them certain Assamese agents, called kotokis, who manage small plots of revenue-free land, called Naga khats, on behalf of the tribes. When the attendance of the chiefs in the hills is required for any purpose, they are summoned through these kotokis. If satisfaction for robberies and other outrages is not in this way obtained, the Duar or pass through which the tribe visits the plains is blocked, and no one is allowed to come down or go up. This system has rarely failed to secure reparation, and, on the whole, the conduct of the Nagas on this frontier, when left to themselves, has been peaceable and quiet, so far as the settled lands of the plains are concerned. Among themselves, however, their feuds are incessant, and are only composed to break out anew.

The Naga country up to the Patkoi range is nominally British territory by inheritance from the rulers of Assam, and was recognised as such in treaties with Burma. It has from time to time been explored by survey parties, and on one of these occasions, in February 1875, a party sent into the hills south of Jaipur was treacherously attacked at Ninu, a village four marches from the plains up the valley of the Disang, and Lieutenant Holcombe, the Assistant Commissioner accompanying the party, with 80 coolies and followers, was killed, Captain Badgley, the survey officer, and 50 others being wounded. This outrage led to a punitive expedition, resulting in the capture and destruction of the villages which took part in the massacre. During the same season the survey party in the western Naga hills was attacked by Nagas; and in December 1875 Captain Butler, the Political Agent, who was accompanying the survey party, was again attacked near the Lhota Naga village of Pangti, and received a wound of which he died a few days later. The village was at once destroyed by the force which accompanied the survey party.

In 1883 and 1884 the Nagas on the Sibsagar frontier committed three outrages within the British border on account of inter-tribal or inter-village disputes. Although these outrages were punished, yet the feuds on the borders of the Sibsagar and Naga Hills districts continued, and it was found necessary in 1884-85 to send a considerable military force into the country included between these districts and the Dikhu river; no opposition was however encountered. It was subsequently considered advisable to place a portion of this country, lying to the west of the Dikhu, under the political control of the Deputy Commissioner of the Naga Hills, whose action was, however, to be confined to a yearly visit. After a series of expeditions, necessitated by the continued lawlessness of the tribes, the whole question as to the manner in which this tract should be controlled was reconsidered, with the result that it was decided to incorporate it within the district boundary, and it now forms the Mokokchang sub-division of the Naga Hills district. This measure was carried out without opposition.

AGREEMENT entered into by the MEYONG ABORS on 5th November 1862.

Whereas it is expedient to adopt measures for maintaining the integrity of the British territory in the District of Luckhimpoor, Upper Assam, on the Meyong Abor Frontier, and for preserving peace and tranquillity, and whereas by virtue of a letter No. 11 of 11th October 1862, from the Officiating Commissioner of Assam, transmitting orders from the Government of Bengal conveyed in a letter No. 265T, dated 8th August 1862, from the Officiating

Junior Secretary to the Government of Bengal, the Deputy Commissioner of Luckhimpoor has been authorized to proceed in this matter, an Engagement to the following effect has been entered into with the Meyong Abors this 5th day of November A.D. 1862 at Camp Lalee Mookh:—

Offences committed by the Meyong Abors in a time of hostility towards the British Government, and for which the assembled heads of villages have sued for pardon, are overlooked and peace is re-established.

ARTICLE 2.

The limit of the British territory which extends to the foot of the hills is recognized by the Meyong Abors, who hereby engage to respect it.

ARTICLE 3.

The British Government will take up positions on the frontier in the plains, will establish stations, post guards, or construct forts, or open roads, as may be deemed expedient, and the Meyong Abors will not take umbrage at such arrangements, or have any voice in such matters.

ARTICLE 4.

The Meyong Abors recognize all persons residing in the plains in the vicinity of the Meyong Hills as British subjects.

ARTICLE 5.

We, late inhabitants of Derack and Suddeya, were engaged in the attack upon the latter place, and fled to the Mishmee country; we have offered our submission to return back, if our former offences were overlooked, and now we have returned agreeably to the orders of the Political Agent, with our followers, viz., Chowdung, Chawding, Long Fong, Poychoy, Chalan, Sham, Poom, Metong, and Chowlah, but the whole of the Khamptees are unable to return for the present, owing to their crops being uncut. However, they hereby promise to come in with all their families after their crops have been gathered, or within a month and half from this date.

6th.—Should we or any of the Khampteas in any way depart from the faithful adherence of the above Agreement, and commit any acts of violence, we shall be subject to be driven out of the Province, and be without further excuse.

Agent to the Governor-General.

II.—MANIPUR

Manipur is a protected State lying between Burma on the east, the Naga hills on the north, Kachar on the west, and Lushai-land and the country of the Sukte Kukis on the south. By the Burmese the Manipur country is called Kathay, and by the Shans and tribes east of the Chindwin river, Kassny; by the inhabitants of Kachar it is termed Moglie, and by those of Assam, Miklie. With the exception of the central valley in which the capital is situate, Manipur is almost entirely a hill country. The area is between 7,000 and 8,000 square miles, and the population according to the census of 1881 amounted to 221,070. Of these, 85,288 were returned as hill tribes, the remainder being by religion Hindu or Muhammadan, and consisting of the population of the central valley. The newly completed census records for 1891 were destroyed during the recent Manipur rebellion, and the results of the enquiry are hopelessly lost. The claim of the Manipuris to be Hindus rests on no better foundation than the same claim on the part of the Ahoms, Kacharis, or Tipperahs (with all of whom the Manipur royal family has intermarried); and while their features clearly show that they belong to the Indo-Chinese stock, their language is closely allied to that of the Kuki tribes on the south.*

The kingdom of Manipur first emerges from obscurity as a neighbour and ally of the Shan kingdom of Pông, the capital of which was at Mogaung. The regalia of the royal family are said to have been bestowed by King Komba of Pông, who at the same time added the Kubo or Tammu-Kampat valley to Manipur. In 1714 a Naga named Pamhaiba became Raja of Manipur, and adopted Hinduism, taking the name of Gharib-Nawaz. His people followed his example, and since that date have been conspicuous for the rigidity with which they observe the rules of caste and ceremonial purity. Gharib-Nawaz, during his reign of forty years, was engaged in constant warfare with Burma, and this state of things continued under his successors.

Gharib-Nawaz had three sons, named Sham Shah, Ugat Shah, and Barat Shah. Ugat Shah murdered his father and his elder brother, but was expelled by Barat Shah, who ruled two years, and was succeeded by Guru Sham, son of Sham Shah. Guru Sham associated with himself his brother Jai Singh and they ruled alternately until Guru Sham's death, about 1764, when the sole authority fell to Jai Singh.

* Although the above is true of the present people of Manipur, there is some reason for believing that this territory was the road by which Hindu influence from the west was first brought to bear upon the Burmese races of the Irrawaddy Valley. See Playre, History of Burma, pages 3, 4 and 15.

After the death of Gharib-Nawaz the Burmese invaded Manipur, and Jai Singh having sought the aid of the British, a treaty of alliance, offensive and defensive, was negotiated by Mr. Verelst on behalf of the East India Company on the 14th September 1762. The force sent to assist Manipur was, however, recalled, and in October of the following year Guru Sham confirmed, with some modifications, the treaty which had been made with Jai Singh. No copies of these treaties appear to be extant.

The invasions of Manipur by the Burmese were frequent ; their last occupation of the country began in 1819. The three Manipuri princes, Marjit, Chaurjit, and Gambhir Singh, sons of Jai Singh, were compelled to escape to Kachar, which country they occupied. With them large numbers of Manipuris emigrated, and a considerable population of this race is still to be found in Kachar and Sylhet.

When war was declared against Burma by the British Government in 1824, and the Burmese had been expelled from Kachar, assistance in arms and money was given by the Company to Gambhir Singh in an attempt to recover possession of Manipur. In this he was successful, occupying not only the valley in which the capital is situated, but also the Kubo valley, lying to the east of the former boundaries of the State, and peopled by Shans (called Kabau in Manipuri). By the treaty* of Yandabo with Burma, executed in February 1826, the King of Ava recognised (article 2) the independence of Gambhir Singh as Raja of Manipur.

Gambhir Singh being thus established on the throne, the levy with which he had effected the re-conquest of his country was placed under the management of two British officers, and supplied with ammunition, and also with pay, by the British Government. In 1833 the British Government agreed (No. CXXII) to annex to Manipur the ranges of hills on the west, between the eastern and western bends of the Barak, giving the State the line of the Jiri and the western bend of the Barak as its boundary, on the condition that the Raja removed all obstructions to trade between Manipur and Kachar, kept in repair the road between Manipur and British territory, and promised to assist the Government both with carriage and troops in the event of war with Burma. In 1834 Gambhir Singh died, and

* See Ava Treaty of 24th February 1826, No. CXXV.

Nar Singh, his minister, and a great-grandson of Gharib-Nawaz, was appointed regent on behalf of the dead king's son Chandra Kirti Singh, then one year old. In the same year the British Government decided to restore the Kubo valley to the King of Burma, who had never ceased to remonstrate against its separation from that country: the valley was given back, and a new boundary laid down in the presence of British Commissioners, under an Agreement (No. CXXIII) dated the 9th January 1834, and at the same time the British Government bound itself to pay a monthly stipend of Rupees 500 to the Raja of Manipur in compensation for his loss. In 1835 the assistance formerly given to the Manipur levy was withdrawn, and a Political Agent was appointed to reside at Manipur.

In 1844 the Rani dowager, widow of Gambhir Singh and mother of Chandra Kirti, attempted to poison Nar Singh, the Regent; her attempt failed and she fled from the country with her son. Nar Singh then assumed the chiefship in his own name and ruled till his death in 1850. He was succeeded by his brother Debendra Singh, but this prince ruled for only three months, Chandra Kirti Singh, with the help of Nar Singh's three sons, succeeding in ejecting him and recovering possession of the throne. This was followed by some disorder in the State; but in 1851 the Government of India decided to recognise Chandra Kirti Singh, guaranteeing the chiefship to him, and declaring that any attempts to dislodge him would be suppressed by force of arms if necessary.

Since that time there have been many efforts on the part of various members of the Manipur ruling family to gain possession of the chief power in the State; but all have been defeated, and the leaders have been either killed, imprisoned, or placed under surveillance in British territory. In 1851 the sons of Debendra Singh and Nar Singh attempted a rising. In 1852 another attempt occurred, led by Kanhai Singh, son of Marjit, Gambhir Singh's brother. In 1857 some of the rebellious sepoys from Chitragong, who had found their way to Kachar, were used by one Narendrajit, a younger son of Chaurjit, to raise a disturbance; but it was suppressed and Narendrajit was transported. In 1859 Maipak, a descendant of Gharib-Nawaz, invaded the valley, but was defeated and fled. In 1862, in conjunction with another Rajputra named Khaifa Singh, he headed a second attack, and penetrated to the Raja's palace, where he was captured. Kanhai Singh also made an attempt in 1865, when his followers were dispersed by British troops and police. In 1866 a raid was perpetrated by Gokul Singh, a younger son of Debendra Singh; his enterprise failed like the rest, but he himself escaped for the time. He was captured in 1868, tried in Kachar, and sentenced to seven years' imprisonment.

Chandra Kirti Singh died in May 1886 and was succeeded by his son Sur Chandra Singh. The succession was not accepted without a rising under Bara Chauba Singh, the eldest son of Nar Singh, who attempted to get possession of the gadi. After some skirmishes with the Kachar frontier police, who had been sent to help the rightful heir, Bara Chauba's force was defeated and his son and two brothers were taken prisoners. Shortly after this Bara Chauba gave himself up, and he and his relatives were deported to Hazaribagh. Two other unsuccessful risings took place in September 1887. The first under the Wangkhairakpa, the highest judicial officer in the State, came to an abrupt termination by the leader being shot. The second and more important rebellion was headed by one Jogendra Singh, who, though not himself related to the ruling family, acted on behalf of the exiles. The insurgent force was attacked and routed by parties of the 44th Gurkhas and the Kachar frontier police, Jogendra Singh was killed and several of his followers were made prisoners. Many of the latter were imprisoned for waging war on a friendly State.

Manipur has been repeatedly the subject of raids by the Lushai tribes, and in the British expedition against the Lushais in 1871* the levies of Manipur were employed as auxiliaries. The expedition was successful; and while submitting to the Government of India, several of the Lushai chiefs entered into an engagement with the Manipur authorities also, to keep the peace with that State for the future. In 1870, and again, after this expedition, in 1872, the Government of India laid down the policy to be followed by Manipur with regard to the Lushais. The Raja was held responsible for acts of unprovoked aggression on the tribes, and for taking effective steps to make his subject Kukis understand this, and to punish them should they disregard these instructions; at the same time it was declared to be the Raja's duty to take all necessary measures for the protection of his frontier. In 1873 orders were issued that the Political Agent at Manipur should not visit the Lushai country without the express sanction of the Government of India.

Manipur has also for many years had hostile relations with the Suti, Sukti, or Sôktè tribe—also called Kamhow after their great chief who died in 1868. This tribe lies to the south of Manipur and east of the Turul or Manipur river, between the country of the Lushai proper and the territory which till recently formed the Shan State of Kale. The Manipuris consider this tribe more formidable than the Lushais. It is a constant source of trouble to them, and has at times rendered the southern portion of Manipur uninhabitable. The raiding propensities of the Kamhows have been ascribed to a tribal migration northwards under the influence of a forward movement of the Shindus, a powerful confederacy living to the south-east of the Chittagong Hill Tracts.

The Lushais also hold the Sutis in great dread. In 1871, when preparations were being made for the expedition against the Lushai tribes, the Sutis sent a deputation to the Manipur Raja with friendly assurances, which there is reason to believe were sincere. But at the conclusion of the expedition the Manipuris repaid the pacific intentions of the Sutis by treacherously attacking a party of them, and making them prisoners together with their Chief, Kokatung, who died shortly after in the Manipur jail. The Manipur authorities justified their conduct on the ground that many of their countrymen were still in captivity with the Sutis. In 1872 the Government of India intimated that the Darbar must be guided in its policy towards this tribe by the principles laid down in connection with the treatment of the Lushais, and the Political Agent, Colonel Mowbray Thomson, succeeded in arranging for the mutual exchange of nearly all the prisoners. In March 1873 peace was sworn between Kokatung's son and Manipur. This did not, however, last long. In October 1874 the Sutis made an unprovoked attack upon two Manipur villages. In retaliation the Raja in 1875 organised an expedition, but no collision appears to have occurred between the opposing parties; and the matter ended in the surrender by each side of all the remaining captives. Nevertheless raiding did not cease; and in 1876, 1877 and 1879, frequent Suti outrages were reported. There was, however, reason to believe that these were not altogether unprovoked. In 1877 there was a remarkable migration of some 2,000 Sutis into Manipur territory, where they settled on lands assigned to them by the Maharaja. In 1879-80 the tribe again committed a number of outrages on the frontier, but it was observed that considerable numbers came into Manipur and took up cultivation. In 1880-81 the Sutis were reported quiet so far as regards Manipur, although they were guilty of several raids on the Kubo and Kale valleys. In 1883 the Sutis raided on Tepsimukh bazaar, but the perpetrators were discovered with the assistance of the Manipur Raja and immediate reparation was exacted from the Chiefs of the tribe. In 1885 and 1886 further raids were committed on the Kubo valley.

The aggressions of the Chasad or Chuksad tribe of Kukis on the eastern frontier of Manipur have also given rise to much trouble. No notice of them prior to 1878 has been traced. When they first came under observation they lived on the borders of the Kubo valley in territory which has often been in dispute between Manipur and Burma. They are one of the Kuki tribes which are being gradually pushed on towards the north-east from the country south of the valley. It was believed that their raids were abetted by the Shan Sawbwa, who is known to the Manipuris as the chief of Samjök, in the Kubo valley, and to the Burmese as the Sawbwa of Thaingthut (Hsawng-Hseep) on the Chindwin river. The frontier north of the Kubo valley proper, as set forth in the agreement of 1834, was disputed and the Government of India accordingly sent a Commission to define and demarcate the boundary of Manipur in this direction. This task was accomplished in the cold weather of 1881-82. It was ascertained that the raiding Kukis, who were favoured in their enterprise by the uncertainty of the frontier, were settled within Manipur territory, and some of them have been induced to move farther in, and have thus been brought under stricter control. The Chasads refused to submit to the Raja, and were in the habit of levying revenue and exacting labour from the Tungkhal Naga villages, until in December 1888 the Raja organised a successful expedition which ended in the surrender of the Chasad Chief.

During the year 1890-91 the Manipur State was the scene of much anarchy. Maharaja Sur Chandra Singh, who succeeded his father Chandra Kirti Singh in 1886, was a prince of weak character; the peace of the State was frequently disturbed by the quarrels of his seven brothers, and the family was broken up into two factions. On one side were the Maharaja's three uterine brothers headed by Pakka Sena, and on the other his four half-brothers under the leadership of the Senapati Tekendrajit Bir Singh.

The Maharaja was quite unable to assert his authority over these two turbulent relatives, and matters reached a climax on the 21st September 1890, when the palace walls were suddenly scaled by the two younger brothers and a few shots in the air were sufficient to drive the timid Sur Chandra Singh to seek safety at the Residency. The next day, contrary to the advice of the Political Agent, the Maharaja proclaimed his intention to abdicate and to proceed on a pilgrimage to Bindraban, and on the 23rd idem he left the State, accompanied by his three uterine brothers and a few followers, and arrived at Kachar by the end of the month. Here he changed his tone, represented to the Chief Commissioner that he had no intention of abdicating and solicited assistance to regain the gadi.

In the meanwhile the Senapati, who was the real mover in the rebellion, had induced his elder brother, the Jubraj Kula Chandra Dhaja Singh, to occupy the gadi, and application was made to the Government of India to ratify this accession.

The whole question was considered by the Government of India, and it was concluded that it would be to the advantage of the Manipur State and to the furtherance of British interests to recognise the Jubraj in his new position rather than to restore the Maharaja Sur Chandra Singh; it was however decided to remove the Senapati from Manipur and punish him for his lawless conduct towards his eldest brother.

The Chief Commissioner of Assam was directed to visit Manipur and carry out the orders of the Government of India. Accordingly, Mr. Quinton, the Chief Commissioner, left Golaghat with an escort of 400 men of the Assam Gurkha Battalions under the command of Lieutenant-Colonel Skene, of the 42nd Regiment. This force, with the Political Agent's escort at Manipur and the support of 200 men en route from Silchar, was considered sufficient to over-awe the malcontents and quell any possible resistance.

On the 22nd March Mr. Quinton and his party reached the neighbourhood of Manipur, and were met by the Senapati who had with him two Manipuri regiments. On arrival at Manipur the Chief Commissioner was saluted by the Manipuri troops and by the Regent, and he announced that a Darbar would be held in the Residency the same day. As the Senapati did not attend on the plea of ill-health, the Darbar was postponed until next morning, when again he failed to appear, and at an interview with the Regent the Political Agent was informed that the Regent was unable to enforce his brother's arrest. Political negotiations having failed, the Chief Commissioner decided to capture the Senapati in his house, which was surrounded on the morning of the 24th by our troops. A serious engagement ensued and the Manipuris attacked the Residency which was held till 8 p.m., when an armistice was arranged and Mr. Quinton and four other* officers, who accompanied him under a flag of truce from the Residency to the Palace, were cruelly and treacherously murdered. Our troops retired to Silchar.

An expedition was then ordered to Manipur to re-assert the political supremacy of the British Government and to enforce the unconditional submission of the Darbar. The force marched in three columns from Kohima, Silchar and Tammu, all of which reached the capital on the 27th April 1891.

The Tammu column was the only one which met with resistance, the other two columns entering Manipur unmolested. On arrival the force found the capital deserted; the arsenal with its guns had been destroyed, and the principal houses had been looted by the villagers. The Regent, the Senapati and the other brothers had taken to flight, and the leading officials were in hiding. Within a month all were captured, and the Senapati and the two elder brothers were tried by a Special Commission at which Tekendrajit Bir Singh, alias the Senapati, was convicted of waging war against the Queen-Empress and of abetment of the murder of British officers; he was sentenced to death and hanged, as was also the Tongal (Tangkhul) General who was convicted on the same charges by the Chief Political Officer with the force. Kula Chandra Dhaja Singh and his brother were also convicted of the first-mentioned charge and were sentenced to transportation for life along with thirteen other persons. In September 1891, the question of the future of the Manipur State was decided by His Excellency the Governor-General in Council, and Chura Chand, a minor of five years of age, the son of Chowbi Yaima, and a grandson of Nar Singh, was selected as Raja and granted a salute of 11 guns. It was further ordered that the Chiefship of the Manipur State, and the title and salute would be hereditary, and would descend in the direct line by primogeniture, provided that in each case the succession was approved by the Government of India.

The State has been assessed to an annual tribute of Rs. 50,000 and a British officer has been appointed Superintendent during the minority of the Raja. A fine of 2½ lakhs of rupees recoverable in five years has also been imposed upon the State as a punishment for rebellion. Measures have been taken to abolish slavery, the system of 'lalup' or forced labour has been done away with, and the administration has been placed upon a sound basis.

The Governor-General and Supreme Council of Hindoostan declare as follows :—With regard to the two ranges of Hills, the one called the Kalanaga Range, and the other called the Noon-jai Range, which are situated between the eastern bend of the Barak and the western bend of the Barak, we will give up all claim on the part of the Honorable Company thereunto, and we will make these Hills over in possession to the Rajah, and give him the line of the Jeeree and the western bend of the Barak as a boundary, provided that the Rajah agrees to the whole of what is written in this paper, which is as follows :—

1st.—The Rajah will, agreeably to instructions received, without delay, remove his Thanna from Chundrapore, and establish it on the eastern bank of the Jeeree.

2nd.—The Rajah will in no way obstruct the trade carried on between the two countries by Bengali or Munnipooree merchants. He will not exact heavy duties, and he will make a monopoly of no articles of merchandise whatsoever.

3rd.—The Rajah will in no way prevent the Nagas inhabiting the Kalanaga and Noon-jai Ranges of Hills, from selling or bartering ginger, cotton, pepper, and every other article, the produce of their country, in the Plains of Cachar, at the Banskandee and Oodharbun bazaars, as has been their custom.

4th.—With regard to the road commencing from the eastern bank of the Jeeree and continued via Kalanaga and Kowpoom, as far as the Valley of Munnipore—after this road has been finished, the Rajah will keep it in repairs, so as to enable laden bullocks to pass during the cold and dry seasons. Further, at the making of the road, if British officers be sent to examine or superintend the same, the Rajah will agree to everything these officers may suggest.

5th.—With reference to the intercourse already existing between the territories of the British Government and those of the Rajah, if the intercourse be further extended, it will be well in every respect, and it will be highly advantageous to both the Rajah and his country. In order, therefore, that this may speedily take place, the Rajah, at the requisition of the British Government, will furnish a quota of Nagas to assist at the construction of the road.

III.—THE LUSHAI HILLS.

That portion of the Lushai Hills which is at present under the Assam Administration, is known as the North Lushai Hills, and is bounded on the north by the Kachar District and Manipur, on the east by the Manipur River, on the south by an imaginary line drawn east and west through the peak marked in maps as Savanga, and on the west by the State of Hill Tipperah.

As early as 1826 we find the first record of a raid by the Lushais, or Kukis as they were then generally called, on British territory when they attacked a party of Sylhet wood-cutters near the Simla river. From this date to 1888, when Lengpunga made a most successful raid into the Chengri Valley, the Lushais have been a constant source of danger to our frontier.

In 1844, Lalchokla raided on the Manipuri colony of Kocharbari in Parbatgarh, killing twenty people and taking six captives. His punishment was rapidly effected. An expedition under Captain Blackwood captured his village, the Chief made an unconditional surrender, was tried, and transported. The capture and transportation of Lalchokla is the one bright spot in the history of our relations with the Lushais until the expeditions of 1870 and 1871. In spite of the fate of Lalchokla, frequent raids took place in 1847 and 1849, and in 1850 Colonel Lister's expedition entered the Lushai country and successfully attacked a village belonging to a Chief called Mullab. Owing to the warlike reputation the Lushais then enjoyed, Colonel Lister decided to retire at once, although in sight of the village of Barmocelin, the greatest of the Lushai Chieftains. Colonel Lister in his report wrote that he considered he would be compromising the safety of his detachment by going further, and concluded by suggesting to Government to send a force of some 3,000 men into the country the following cold weather. The Government of India, however, deprecated any extended military measures unless further outrage rendered them necessary.

In 1862 a series of raids was committed on Sylhet villages by Sukpial, at that time the most considerable of the Lushai Chiefs; but proposals to coerce him were for various reasons abandoned. An attempt commenced in 1864 to open negotiations with Sukpial ended in failure. In December 1868 Sukpial's followers committed devastations in Hill Tipperah and advanced into Sylhet, plundering and burning villages on their way. Similar outrages were committed early in 1869 by other Lushais on tea gardens in Kachar. A small force in two columns was despatched against these tribes, but, owing to the lateness of the season and scarcity of supplies, returned without fully accomplishing the objects in view. In December 1869, Mr. Ware Edgar, Deputy Commissioner of Kachar, visited the Lushai country at the invitation of some of the Chiefs, and concluded arrangements with Sukpilal, which on the occasion of a second visit in 1870 were embodied in a Sanad (No. XXVIII) given to Sukpilal and accepted by him, with the reservation that he was only responsible for the security of traders from the Chattachura range of hills to the Sonai, as his authority did not extend east of the river. The result of these negotiations cannot be called satisfactory, for while Mr. Edgar was actually in Sukpilal's village, the Lushais perpetrated the most extensive series of raids they had hitherto attempted in Kachar and Sylhet. The tea gardens of Ainerkhal, Kutlicherra, Monierkhal, Darmiakhal, Nugdigram, Jhalnacherra, and Alexandrapur were attacked in succession, and at the last named garden the Manager (Mr. Winchester) was killed and his daughter carried off a prisoner. Similar raids were reported from Hill Tipperah and Manipur.

On the 11th July 1871, orders were issued by the Governor-General in Council for an expedition to be sent into the Lushai country; one column to operate from Kachar, and another from Chittagong. This expedition was decidedly successful when compared with the expeditions of former years. Many Chiefs submitted to the General Officers commanding the columns, and Mary Winchester was given up. The Lushais were undoubtedly impressed with the fact that their villages were no longer inaccessible to us, and we gained a large amount of information about them and their country. After this expedition the Lushais gave no serious trouble until the raids in 1888 on the Chittagong frontier. At the close of the expedition, when the policy to be adopted was laid down by the Government of India, it was decided that the Sylhet and Kachar frontier should be protected by a line of outposts; the establishment of these outposts in Kachar and Sylhet resulted in our frontier on the Assam side remaining unmolested.

In March 1888 a survey party under the command of Lieutenant Stewart, while engaged in survey operations on the hills about 12 miles north-east of Ranganati on the Chittagong frontier, was surprised and cut up by a Shendu chief named Howsata; Lieutenant Stewart and two European Sergeants were killed and their heads were carried off by the raiders. Owing to the lateness of the season, it was considered inadvisable to make any reprisals until the following cold weather, and in December 1888, while the troops were actually being concentrated, a raid was made by a party of Lushais, led by Vutai's sons, on the Pakuma Rani's village, which was within a few miles of the police guard at Demagri. Forty-two persons were killed and sixteen taken prisoners. The raiders, although pursued, succeeded in making good their escape. A still more serious raid, which occurred soon after in the Chengri Valley, was led by Lengpunga and Jarak, sons of Sukpilal, and no less than one hundred and one persons were butchered. These raiders also effected a retreat without loss.

Our policy up to 1888 may be summarised as a policy of non-intervention, except when we were absolutely forced by unprovoked attacks on our subjects to take measures of retaliation. These measures were never sufficient to cause more than a temporary cessation of raids on our frontier, but, inadequate as they were, they succeeded far better than our efforts at peaceful negotiation. The latter were invariably followed by fresh outbreaks on the part of the Lushais, who, like all savages, mistook any anxiety for peace on our part for fear, clemency for weakness, and inaction for inability to reach their villages.

The Government of India issued orders on the 19th December 1888 that an expedition should enter the Lushai country, making a good road as it advanced, and should endeavour to establish a post to dominate the raiding tribes and punish such Chiefs as were concerned in the recent raids on the Chittagong frontier and in the murder of Lieutenant Stewart. A force, consisting of 1,200 troops, with two guns was to be employed.

The expedition constructed 42 miles of good hill road to Lungleh, where a stockaded post was established and stocked with eight months' supplies for a garrison of 200 men. A punitive expedition of 300 men succeeded in reaching Howsata's village, which was destroyed. Howsata himself had died some few months previously. Lieutenant Stewart's gun was found in his grave—a conclusive proof of Howsata's complicity in the raids. The last troops retired on the 16th April 1889 from Lungleh, leaving there a garrison of 200 men of the Chittagong Frontier Police with Mr. Murray, District Superintendent of Police, as Assistant Political Officer.

In the open season of 1889-90 two columns operated in the Lushai Hills, one from Chittagong and one from Kachar. The Chittagong column, working from Fort Lungleh as an advanced base, continued road-making towards Haka, in the Chin Hills, and established a second post at Fort Tregear, midway between Haka and Lungleh. A portion of this column was detached northwards to punish Lengpunga on account of the Chengri valley raid, and the sons of Vutai, Nikama, Lunglena, and Kairuma on account of the raid on the Pakuma Rani's village. This column, called the northern Lushai column, co-operated with the Kachar column, of 400 military police, and was instructed, on meeting it, to endeavour to select some suitable spot for the establishment of a post to dominate the Northern Lushai tribes. The villages of Lengpunga, Nikama and Lunglena were burnt, but the Chiefs could not be induced to surrender. A post was established at Fort Aijal with a garrison of 200 men, and a second post of 100 men at Changsil, the terminus of the river communication with Silchar.

Captain Browne, Assistant Commissioner, Assam, was appointed Political Officer in the North Lushai Hills, and on his arrival at Fort Aijal in May 1890 to take up his duties, the Lushais were informed that they would have to pay tribute and supply us with labour. Captain Browne, however, owing to the weakness of the garrisons in the North Lushai country, was not in a position to enforce his demands, and the Lushais, being fully aware of this, declined to obey orders and made a bold effort to throw off our authority. On the 9th September they ambushed Captain Browne, when on the march from Aijal to Changsil, and so severely wounded him that he died shortly after reaching Changsil. The stockades at Aijal and Changsil were simultaneously attacked, as were also all our parties on the road between the two stockades. News of the outbreak was sent to Jhalnacherra by boat, but it was not till nearly three weeks afterwards that re-inforcements reached Changsil, after meeting with determined opposition while ascending the river, and losing their commanding officer, Lieutenant Swinton.

Mr. McCabe, Deputy Commissioner of the Naga Hills district, was appointed Political Officer in the North Lushai Hills, after Captain Browne's death, and directed the subsequent offensive operations which resulted in the unconditional surrender of all the Western Lushai Chiefs concerned in the rising. Three of the leading Chieftains, Khalkam, Lengpung and Thangula were sentenced to transportation for life.

Meanwhile in February 1891 an unprovoked attack was made upon Mr. Murray near Fort Tregear. A punitive expedition was promptly organised, and carried out its task successfully, heliographic communication being opened with Mr. McCabe's column from Aijal.

In the early part of 1891 the arrangements to be made for the administration of the South Lushai Hills were under consideration; and, Mr. Murray having been posted to the newly formed sub-division of the Chittagong Hill Tracts, Captain Shakespear, who had rendered valuable services as Intelligence Officer with the troops in 1889-90 and had acted temporarily for Mr. Murray in 1890, was appointed Superintendent with a force of military police under a District Superintendent of Police, as Commandant, and four Assistant Superintendents of Police. It was understood, however, that these arrangements were merely provisional.

The Lushais then remained peaceful for over a year, paying revenue, and complying readily with our demands for labour; but on the 1st March 1892 Mr. McCabe, who had gone with a party of one hundred police to enforce a demand for labour with which the Lushais had not complied, was treacherously attacked at Lalbura's village and the assailants were only repulsed after severe fighting. A general rising of nearly all the tribes east of the Sonai between Forts Aijal and Lungleh followed, and a similar attack was made on Captain Shakespear, Superintendent of the South Lushai Hills, who was forced to stockade himself at Vansanga's village; while on the 4th April a party of Eastern Lushais raided the Burancherra tea garden, 6 miles from Jhalnacheria on the south-east frontier of Kachar, killing 38 coolies, wounding 10 and carrying off 4 prisoners.

Active operations against the Eastern Lushais were conducted by Mr. McCabe until the commencement of June, with the result that the villages concerned in the rising, and more particularly those implicated in the raids on the Kachar frontier, were severely punished, and most of the inhabitants with their Chiefs made full submission. In the end of April a strong column from Fort White, in the Chin Hills of the Burma Command, marched across through an exceedingly difficult and almost entirely unknown country to the assistance of Captain Shakespear, with whom a junction was effected on the 4th May. Successful punitive action was taken against the principal offending villages, and Captain Shakespear reported that the Lushais were completely over-awed by the unexpected appearance of the Burma column.

In accordance with the recommendations of the Chin-Lushai Conference, which sat at Calcutta early in 1892, it has been decided to place the whole of the Lushai Hills under the administrative control of Assam, but the transfer of the Southern Hills from Bengal will probably not be carried out before the end of the open season of 1892-93.

PART III.

RELATING TO THE

TERRITORIES COMPRISED WITHIN, OR IN POLITICAL

THE

I.—BURMA PROPER.

(From a Report by Colonel Phayre and other papers in the Foreign Office)

It is believed that no real treaty existed between the British Government in India and the King of Burma, until that of Yandabo, which was concluded on the 24th February 1826. At the period when the British in India represented a trading body, and not a sovereign power, deputations were occasionally sent from the Governors of the Settlements both in Bengal and Madras to establish trade with the Burmese territory. Factories were erected at Syriam, near Rangoon, and at Negrais.

In 1757 a treaty is said to have been made with the Burmese Government. The Chief of the English factory at Negrais deputed Ensign Lester to the capital of Burma. He had an interview with King Alompra (Alaungpaya), the founder of the dynasty which retained power until the annexation of Upper Burma in 1886; on this occasion the island of Negrais, and some ground near the town of Bassein, were granted to the East India Company. It is not known that any copy of this so-called treaty is now in existence. Afterwards the English at Negrais were treacherously killed; but a second grant of land, for the erection of a factory at Bassein, was subsequently made by the Burmese Government.

The first direct political intercourse between the British and Burmese Governments appears to have been when Captain Michael Symes was deputed by the Governor-General as Envoy to the Court of Ava in 1795, for the purpose of strengthening the political and commercial relations of the British Government with that Court, and of preventing the French from gaining a footing in Burma. Captain Symes obtained a Royal Order (No. CXXIV), whereby permission was given for a British Agent or Superintendent to reside at Rangoon, to protect the interests of British subjects, and arrangements were made for the protection of trade.

In virtue of these arrangements Captain Cox was appointed Superintendent, and he landed at Rangoon in October 1796. He proceeded to the capital to deliver certain presents to the King, which had been formerly promised by Captain Symes. He was, however, treated with much contumely. Eventually he returned to Rangoon and left for Bengal at the latter end of 1797.

About this time disputes arose on the border between Arakan and Chittagong. The Burmese had conquered Arakan in 1782. The Arakanese rebelled, and about the year 1797 numbers of them began to take refuge in the Chittagong district. The Burmese Governor of Arakan wrote during 1798, and demanded in an insolent manner that the fugitives should be given up. The Governor-General, the Marquess of Wellesley, then determined to send another Embassy to the Court of Ava. Captain Symes was again selected. He proceeded to the capital. There he obtained merely a verbal assurance that no further demand would be made for the Arakanese fugitives. The King would make no apology for the style in which the demand had been made, nor enter into any new engagement. Captain Symes returned to Rangoon, where he was not treated with ordinary civility by the Governor, and left for Bengal in January 1803.

After this Captain Canning was deputed to Rangoon, apparently as the representative of Captain Symes, to endeavour to obtain some apology from the Burmese Court for their past insolence, and to ascertain whether the French were establishing any interest in Burma. However, in consequence of the overbearing conduct of the local authorities at Rangoon, Captain Canning was, before long, obliged to leave the country.

In the year 1809 Captain Canning was again deputed to Rangoon as Agent to the Governor-General. He was apparently instructed to enter into explanations regarding the blockade of the Isle of France, which interfered with the trade between Rangoon and that island. Captain Canning proceeded to the capital, and was well received. He accomplished his object and returned to Bengal.

In the year 1811 the Arakanese once more rebelled, and many of them having fled to the district of Chittagong, disputes again occurred on that frontier. An Arakanese Chief collected a body of his countrymen in the hilly tracts of the Chittagong district, and marched into Arakan to attack the Burmese. Captain Canning was deputed to the Court of Ava to explain that this movement was neither instigated nor supported by the British Government, and also to complain of outrages on British subjects perpetrated with the sanction of the Burmese authorities in Arakan. In the meantime the Burmese troops in Arakan had followed the Arakanese rebels into British territory, and orders were sent down from the Burmese Court to the Governor of Rangoon to make Captain Canning prisoner, and retain him as a hostage for the surrender of the Arakanese rebels. Captain Canning was fortunately safe from violence on board a ship-of-war, with an armed ship in company. He left Rangoon in August 1811.

Subsequently to that year the Burmese officials in Arakan more than once made demands for the surrender of Arakanese refugees, and even advanced pretensions to the sovereignty of Bengal, as far as the city of Murshidabad, alleging that this territory pertained to the kingdom of Arakan. In 1819 they interfered in Assam, and in 1824 they invaded Kachar.

In the meantime the Burmese had been encroaching on the Arakan side ; they had arrested the elephant hunters employed by the British Government, and they finally laid claim to the island of Shahpuri, situate at the mouth of the river Naaf. On the night of the 24th September 1823 a strong Burman force occupied the island, killing a few sepoy of the provincial battalion stationed there. The Governor of Arakan also intimated that the island belonged to the Burmese and that they intended to keep it. The Governor-General addressed the King of Ava, demanding the dismissal of the Governor of Arakan. No reply was received for some months. The answer which eventually came was probably written by the Hlutdaw, or Royal Council, and merely stated that the Governors on the frontier had full powers to act.

Thus, on every point where the British territory, or the territories of Chiefs under British protection, touched the Burmese dominions, aggression and insult had been committed by Burmese officials, while applications for redress were treated by the Burmese Government either with silent contempt, or with additional insult. War was therefore declared by the Governor-General against Burma on the 5th March 1824. On the 11th May of that year a force under Sir Archibald Campbell took possession of Rangoon, and after two campaigns peace was concluded at Yandabo, about 40 miles distant from the capital, on the 24th February 1826.

By that Treaty (No. CXXV) Arakan and the Tenasserim Provinces were ceded to the British; each Government was empowered to maintain a Resident at the Court of the other; and it was stipulated that a commercial treaty should be afterwards negotiated.

To arrange this commercial treaty, Mr. John Crawford proceeded to Amārapura, where, on the 23rd November 1826, he signed a Treaty (No. CXXVI) of four Articles.

Under the treaty of Yandabo Colonel H. Burney was appointed Resident at the Court of Ava. He arrived there in April 1830. He remained at the Burmese Court until June 1837, when he proceeded to Rangoon and eventually returned to Bengal. The immediate cause of his leaving was a revolution during which the reigning King was deposed, and his brother, the Prince of Tharawadi, ascended the throne. In 1834 an Agreement (No. CXXVII) was made for the restoration to Burma of the Kubo valley, which had been annexed to Manipur.

At the end of 1881, in consequence of disturbances which had occurred on the frontier, and to remove doubts regarding jurisdiction, the limits of the Kubo valley were definitely ascertained, and the boundary between Burma and Manipur was finally demarcated. The Burmese Government declined to recognise the delimitation.

In 1838 Colonel Benson was deputed to the Court of Burma to re-establish the friendly relations which had been interrupted. He reached the capital in October 1838. In consequence of the insulting conduct of the Burmese Court, the Resident left Amārapura in 1839. From that time there was no direct official communication between the Governor-General of India and the King of Burma for several years.

In July 1851 Lieutenant-Colonel Bogle, Commissioner of the Tenasserim Province, forwarded to the Supreme Government a petition from the master of a British ship, complaining of gross oppression which he had suffered from the Governor of Rangoon. In November of that year Commodore Lambert was deputed to Rangoon with a letter addressed to the King, in order to obtain redress. But all reparation for the injuries suffered by British subjects was refused. The Governor-General therefore sent a force to Rangoon, under the command of Major-General Godwin. Rangoon fell to the combined naval and military forces on the 14th April 1852. From that time, until the 27th January 1853, no communication from the Burmese Government reached the British commanders. When the combined forces had advanced to Myedè, about 250 miles by the river above Rangoon, a Burmese officer arrived with a letter, announcing that a new King reigned in Amarapura, and expressing his desire for peace. Early in April the Burmese Wungyi, duly empowered, reached Prome, but as he refused to sign a treaty acknowledging the Province of Pegu to be British territory, the negotiations were broken off and the British frontier was declared to be a line drawn due east from the summit of the Arakan mountains in the latitude of, and intersecting a point, six English miles north from the flag-staff in the fort of Myedè, and continued thence in the same direction until it reached the Sittaug river and the territory of the Red Karen Chief. On both sides, however, it was understood that hostilities should cease.

Almost immediately after the end of the second war, Pagán Min, who had ruled from 1846 to 1852, was deposed by his brother, thenceforward known as Mindôn Min, or King Mindôn. Mindôn Min was an enlightened prince who, while professing no love for the British, recognised the power of the British Government, was always careful to keep on friendly terms with them, and was anxious to introduce into his kingdom, as far as was compatible with the maintenance of his own autocratic power, Western ideas and Western civilisation. He sent Envoys to Europe to study the arts and manufactures of European nations; and throughout his reign young representatives of the families of leading men about the Court were sent to England, France, and Italy to study the languages and manners of those countries. In the latter end of the year 1854 the Burmese Government deputed two Envoys of high rank, and some subordinate officials, to convey a complimentary letter and presents from the King to the Marquess of Dalhousie. They were received in Calcutta with distinction, and returned to Burma at the beginning of the year 1855. The Government of India sent a return Embassy to the Burmese Court in the rainy season of 1855. The Envoy, Major Phayre, was received by the King and Court in the most friendly manner. The King, however, manifested an insuperable aversion to signing any treaty giving up the Province of Pegu, and this was never done. On the 10th November 1862 a Treaty (No. CXXVIII) was concluded for the protection of trade and the establishment of free intercourse with Burma. Though the King's zeal was not always tempered by discretion, he did much to increase the revenue and to promote the commercial prosperity of his country. In August 1866 an insurrection headed by one of the King's sons broke out at Mandalay; the King's brother and declared successor was killed, and the King himself was for some time in great danger. The Prince took refuge in British territory and was allowed to reside in Rangoon: soon afterwards he was found to be intriguing against the King and was placed under restraint. In February 1867 he effected his escape, took refuge with the Chief of Western Karenni, and endeavoured to raise a rebellion among the Shans to the north-east of Toungoo who were tributary to Burma. The attempt was unsuccessful, and in August 1868 he was arrested in Rangoon and sent as a State prisoner to Chunar. In 1882 this Prince, known as the Myingun Prince, succeeded in escaping from British territory and resided first at Chandanagar, and later at Pondicherry. In 1889, he left Pondicherry and went to Saigôn where he has since remained. In 1867 a Treaty (No. CXXIX) was concluded at Mandalay between the British and Burmese Governments, providing for the mutual extradition of criminals, the free intercourse of traders, and the establishment of permanent diplomatic relations between the two countries. In 1868 an expedition was sent under the command of Major Sladen to explore the old trade routes between south-western China and Burma via Bhamo, to ascertain the causes of the cessation of the valuable trade formerly carried on by these routes, the possibility of reviving it, and the influence exercised upon it by the Shans, Panthays, and Kachins. The expedition arrived safely at Momein—which was then in the hands of the Muhammadan Panthays who had rebelled against the Chinese—and gathered much valuable information as to the physical characteristics of the country and its trade capabilities.

In 1874 a similar expedition was sent under the command of Colonel Browne, but owing to unforeseen obstacles was compelled to return without having effected its purposes and with the loss of one of its members, Mr. Margary, who was murdered near the Chinese border town of Manwaing. This led to negotiations with the Chinese Government, which resulted in the agreement signed at Chefu on the 13th September 1876. By this agreement the Yunnan case was satisfactorily settled, and an indemnity was paid by China, while further arrangements were made in respect to official intercourse and the regulation of trade. So long as Mindôn Min lived, though he clung to the obsolete ceremonials to which he was accustomed and thus in his later years debarred the British Resident at Mandalay from access to his presence, there was no reason to apprehend a breach in the friendship between England and Burma.

In October 1878 Mindôn Min died and was succeeded by his son the Thibaw Prince. Early in 1879 the execution of a number of the members of the royal family at Mandalay excited much horror in Lower Burma. Executions of this kind were the usual incidents of a change in the occupancy of the throne of Ava. But hitherto, owing to the remoteness of the capital of the Burmese kingdom from our own territories and to the difficulty of communication, these relics of barbarism had not been forcibly presented before the eyes of the civilised world. In 1879 a British Resident was stationed at Mandalay, telegraphic communication was open between Upper and Lower Burma, and trading steamers passed constantly between Mandalay and Rangoon. The cruelties which marked the accession of the new monarch thus attracted more notice than similar outrages on previous similar occasions. The British Resident was instrumental in securing the escape of some members of the royal family, and was energetic in his protests against the barbarities with which the new reign was ushered in. Indignation among Englishmen at the state of affairs in Mandalay and resentment in the minds of the courtiers of the King on account of the attitude of the Resident combined to render imminent a rupture of the friendly relations between the two countries. The immediate apprehension of war passed away; but throughout the year the tension continued, and in October 1879, in view of the passive unfriendliness of the Burmese Government and of the unsatisfactory nature of the position of the British Resident in Mandalay, the Government of India withdrew their representative from the Burmese Court, and as long as the Native Government continued to exist no fresh agent was appointed.

These occurrences were sinister omens for the reign of King Thibaw: nor did the progress of events afford prospect of the re-settlement of the relations between the Indian and Burmese Governments. Although on two occasions—once in 1879-80 by means of an Envoy who, not being accredited with full powers, was not permitted to proceed beyond Thayetmyo; and once in 1882, when an Embassy visited Simla—attempts were made to re-establish cordial relations, there was no real revival of confidence and good feeling between 1879 and 1885. The action of the Burmese Government gave much reason for complaint. The Resident had been withdrawn from Mandalay because the Burmese monarch had persistently refused to accord him treatment compatible with his dignity and security. In the absence of the Resident matters gradually drifted from bad to worse. British subjects, travellers and traders from Lower Burma, were subjected to insult and violence by local officials in Upper Burma, and representations to the central administration were often fruitless in obtaining redress. In contravention of the express terms of the treaty of 1867 monopolies were created to the detriment of the trade of both England and Burma. Owing to the weakness and corruption of the Burmese Government, society was thoroughly disorganised and the elements of disorder on our frontier became a standing menace to the peace of the British province.

The Government of India, though frequently and vehemently urged to interfere in the interests of the peace and commerce of British Burma, found the situation unsatisfactory, but not yet intolerable, and decided that interposition in the domestic administration of Upper Burma was not necessary. Such was the state of affairs at the beginning of 1885. Early in that year the Burmese Government found or made cause for complaint against the Bombay-Burma Trading Corporation, a company of merchants, chiefly British subjects, who had extensive dealings in Upper Burma. The claim which the Burmese Government advanced against the Corporation was for several lakhs of rupees. In view of the magnitude of the interests which the Corporation had at stake, the Chief Commissioner addressed the Burmese Government for the purpose of securing an impartial investigation of their complaint. Disregarding this attempt at mediation, the Burmese Council decided the case against the Corporation without giving them reasonable opportunity of being heard, and condemned them to pay a fine amounting to £230,000. Acting under the orders of the Supreme Government, the Chief Commissioner protested against this despotic act of the Burmese authorities and invited them to stay proceedings against the Corporation, and to refer the matter to an arbitrator appointed by His Excellency the Viceroy. The reply of the Burmese Foreign Minister was that proceedings against the Corporation would on no account be suspended. In view of this decisive and discourteous refusal to accept the mediation of the British Government in a case where the interests of British subjects were largely involved, and bearing in mind the accumulated grounds for dissatisfaction with the existing state of things, the Government of India decided once for all to adjust the relations between the two countries. The Chief Commissioner was therefore instructed to send to the King of Burma an ultimatum requiring him to suspend action in the execution of the decree against the Corporation, to receive at Mandalay an Envoy from the Viceroy with a view to the settlement of the matter at issue, and in future to permit the residence at his capital of an agent of the Indian Government, who should be received and treated with the respect due to the Government which he represented. It was further intimated that the Burmese Government would in future be required to regulate the external relations of the country in accordance with the advice of the Government of India, and to afford facilities for opening up British trade with China. A letter embodying these terms was despatched by special steamer to Mandalay on the 22nd October 1885. The Burmese Government were informed that a reply must be received not later than the 10th November and that, unless the conditions laid down were accepted without reserve, the Indian Government would deal with the matter as it thought fit. In view of the possible refusal by the Burmese Government of the terms offered to them, preparations were made for the despatch to Rangoon of a military force of 10,000 men. On the 9th November a reply amounting to an unconditional refusal of the terms was received in Rangoon. On the 7th November, three days after the date of the reply from the Burmese Minister and two days before the receipt by the Chief Commissioner of that reply, the King of Burma issued a Proclamation calling on his subjects to rally round him and to resist the unjust demands of the British Government, and expressing his determination to efface these heretic foreigners and to conquer and annex their country. In accordance with the terms of the ultimatum, and in view of the hostile tone of the King's Proclamation, the Expeditionary Force was ordered to advance. The frontier was crossed on the 14th November 1885. On the 17th Minhla, on the 23rd Pagan, and on the 25th Myingyan were successively occupied. Except at Minhla scarcely any resistance was encountered. Before the Expeditionary Force reached Ava an Envoy from the Burmese Court arrived, and, after some negotiation, the unconditional surrender of the capital and of the royal family was arranged. On the 26th and 27th November the forts at Ava and Sagaing were surrendered, and on the 28th General Prendergast and his force occupied Mandalay. The King and his two Queens, with their mother, were at once sent down to Rangoon. The ex-King and his two Queens were subsequently removed to Ratnagiri in the Bombay Presidency, where they have since resided. Simultaneously with the advance on Mandalay operations were undertaken with success on the Thayetmyo and Toungoo frontiers.

Immediately after the occupation of Mandalay a provisional administration was constituted. All the members of the Hlutdaw, or great Council of State, professed themselves willing to continue to take part in the government. They were therefore retained in office, under the guidance of Colonel (afterwards Sir E. B.) Sladen and the control of General (now Sir Harry) Prendergast. Theoretically there was to be no breach of continuity. The State Council was to continue to discharge all its functions, and all Civil officers whether British or Burmese, were to work under its direction. The Council began by issuing proclamations to this effect and ordering Burmese officials to continue in the regular performance of their duties. On the 15th December the Chief Commissioner arrived at Mandalay and assumed charge of the civil administration. On the 1st January 1886, by the Viceroy's Proclamation, Upper Burma was declared to be part of Her Majesty's dominions and placed under the direct administration of the Governor-General, and later on, the districts of Upper Burma were brought under the regular administration, and Upper and Lower Burma were formed into a single province called Burma.

II.—THE SHAN STATES.

The Shan States formed an integral part of the Burmese kingdom. They may be divided into three groups—(1) the States west of the Irawadi river; (2) the States east of the Irawadi and west of the Salween; (3) the States east of the Salween. A list of these States is given in an Appendix.* Each State is governed by a ruler styled Sawbwa, Myoza, or Ngwegunhmu.

The States west of the Irawadi were, at the time of annexation, Wuntho, Kale, Hsawng-hsûp, Singaling Hkamti, and Hkamti Lông.

The State of Wuntho was a land-locked territory, wedged in between the districts of Katha, Bhamo, Shwebo, Ye-u, and the Upper Chindwin. For some time after the annexation of Upper Burma the Sawbwa of Wuntho assumed an attitude of hostility to the British Government, and in 1886-87 operations were undertaken with a view to reducing him to submission. After the occupation of the capital of his State by British troops the Sawbwa tendered his submission, and agreed to pay the tribute levied from his State in the time of the Burmese Government. He long declined, however, to receive British officers in a becoming manner, and it was not till the middle of 1890 that the Deputy Commissioner of Katha met him in his capital. For some time after this meeting the Sawbwa's attitude was more satisfactory: he rendered assistance in the suppression of crime, settled a considerable portion of the outstanding fines for dakaitis committed by Wuntho men, and paid in over half a lakh of rupees on account of tribute.

* See Appendix No. 2.

In January 1891 successful operations were undertaken, in concert with the Sawbwa's levies, against a dakait leader who had been giving trouble in the neighbourhood of Kaingyi. The northern portion of Wuntho territory was at this time under the domination of the old Sawbwa of Wuntho, the ruling Sawbwa's father, who resided at Mansi. A proposal to send a punitive column up the Mesa valley was not acquiesced in by the Sawbwa, and it was rumoured that any advance through the northern part of the State would be opposed by his father. A reconnaissance conducted on the 12th February revealed the fact that the road was stockaded and that active preparations for resistance had been made. The outbreak which followed had evidently been pre-concerted. Active measures were immediately taken: the insurgents were severely handled in several engagements; the capital of Wuntho was occupied on the 26th February, and by the end of the month both the Sawbwa and his father were fugitives. The direct administration of Wuntho, as a part of the Katha district, was then undertaken, and, under orders issued by the Government of India on the 26th October 1891, Wuntho was finally removed from the category of Shan States, and incorporated in the adjoining districts of Burma.

The State of Kale was situate on the Chindwin river, and bordered on the Chin hills which lie between Burma and Bengal. After the annexation of Upper Burma Kale was disturbed by internal schism until early in 1887, when the old and incapable Sawbwa was deposed, and his nephew and rival recognised in his stead. Early in 1888 the ex-Sawbwa absconded from Mandalay, where he had been living in receipt of a small pension, and made his way to the Chiu country bordering on Kale. There he found an asylum among the Tashóns, one of the principal Chin tribes, and induced them to attack Kale with a view to his restoration to power. In consequence of this action of the Tashóns, and of the designs of the ex-Sawbwa, Kale was occupied by British troops and military police, and operations, referred to in a later paragraph, were undertaken against the Chins. At the end of 1889 the ex-Sawbwa surrendered to the British Government and was again granted a small pension. Shortly after the suppression of the Wuntho rebellion it was proved that the ruling Chief of Kale was thoroughly disloyal, and had been engaged in a variety of intrigues. He was accordingly deported to Rangoon; the administration was entrusted to British officers; and under orders of the Government of India, dated the 5th August 1891, the State of Kale was incorporated in the Upper Chindwin district.

The State of Hsawng-hsûp (Thaung-thut) comprises a small territory on the Chindwin river to the east of Manipur. The Sawbwa tendered his allegiance in 1886 and has since remained on good terms with the Government. In 1889 he received a sanad of appointment from the Chief Commissioner. The Sawbwa's conduct has been consistently loyal and satisfactory, and he was proof against all the efforts of his son-in-law, the ex-Sawbwa of Wuntho, to induce him to join in the rebellion of February 1891.

The petty State of Singaling Hkamti lies considerably higher up the Chindwin river. It is of no importance. Its Chief is on friendly terms with the officers of the adjacent British district; he has received an order of appointment from the Commissioner of the division under the Chief Commissioner's orders, and pays a nominal tribute of Rs. 50 per annum.

The State of Hkamti Lông, known in Assam as Bor Khampti, lies near the head-waters of the western branch of the Irawadi. It was visited from Assam by Colonel Woodthorpe, R.E., and Major Macgregor in 1884-85, and the exploring party was exceedingly well received. Since the annexation of Upper Burma friendly advances have been made by some of the Hkamti Shan Chiefs, but that region has not yet been visited by any British officer from the side of Burma, and a great part of the adjoining tract to the north, east and south of Hkamti Lông is practically unknown country.

East of the Irawadi and separated from it by districts under settled administration lies the great stretch of country known as the Shan States. The Burmese Government always claimed sovereignty over these States up to and beyond the Mekong river. But from time to time, as opportunity occurred, the Sawbwes endeavoured to throw off the Burmese yoke. At the date of the annexation of Upper Burma the rulers of several of the more powerful States were in exile at Kêng Tung, an important State east of the Salween river. These exiled Chiefs conceived the plan of erecting the Shan States into an independent kingdom, and invited a scion of the Burmese royal house, known as the Limbin Prince, to become their sovereign. The Limbin Prince joined the exiles at Kêng Tung, and with them crossed the Salween. Till the end of 1886 a great part of the Cis-Salween States was in the hands of this coalition. In January 1887 a British force entered the Shan States and the Limbin Prince's confederacy almost at once fell to pieces. The Chiefs of the Cis-Salween States tendered their submission and received sanads of appointment on suitable terms. Since 1888 the Cis-Salween Shan States, with the exception of Mông Mit and of the petty Chiefship of Maw, have been administered by two Superintendents, one for the Southern States, with head-quarters at Fort Stedman in Yawng Hwe, and another for the Northern States, with head-quarters at Lashio in North Hsen Wi.

Maw is administered under the control of the Commissioner, Eastern Division, and Mōng Mit under that of the Commissioner, Northern Division. The young Sawbwa of Mōng Mit is a minor, and the affairs of the State were at first directed by a Council of Regency composed of Native officials. In 1889 the experiment was tried of placing the State in charge of Saw Maung, ex-Sawbwa of Yawng Hwe, for a term of five years. Experience having proved that this plan was not likely to be successful, it was decided in February 1892 to administer the State directly during the minority. The form of administration has been assimilated to that of the adjoining Ruby Mines district, of which Mōng Mit now practically forms a subdivision in charge of an Assistant Commissioner.

Some uncertainty in respect to the Trans-Salween States was caused by the action of the Siamese Government in advancing claims to the possession of five small States called Mōng Tun, Mōng Hâng, Mōng Heat, Mōng Kyawt, and Mōng Hta on the east of the Salween. After full examination of the Siamese claims it was definitely decided in 1890 that they could not be admitted, and the boundaries of these States and of certain other territory, of which the limits towards Siam were uncertain, were settled by a Commission appointed for the purpose. At the same time Kêng Tung, one of the most important of the Trans-Salween States, was visited by the Superintendent of the Shan States, and a sanad granted to the Sawbwa. No final decision has yet been arrived at in regard to the other Trans-Salween States.

The rulers of the Cis-Salween States have all received sanads signed by the Chief Commissioner confirming them in their dignities. Forms of the Sanad (No. CXXX) granted to Sawbwas and Myozas, and of the Order of appointment (No. CXXXI) of minor Chiefs styled Ngwegunhmus, are given. The Sanad (No. CXXXII) bestowed on the Sawbwa of Hsi Paw differs slightly from that granted to the other Chiefs of similar rank. The Cis-Salween States are treated as part of British India, but their administration is in the hands of the Native Chiefs subject to the control and supervision of the Superintendents. Except in the group of petty States on the borders of Burma proper, known as the Myelat, the law administered is for the present the customary law of each State modified by the prohibition of barbarous and unusual punishment, and by the prescription of simple rules of criminal procedure.

Only such Acts and Regulations as are specially extended to the Shan States by the Chief Commissioner, with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council, are in force in these States. The Myelat is under the more direct control of British officers, and the criminal law administered therein is the same as in other parts of Upper Burma. The Trans-Salween State of Kéng Tung is not included in British India. It is dealt with as a Native State in subordinate alliance with the British Government, and its Chief has received a Sanad (No. CXXXIII) in a form somewhat different from that conferred on the rulers of the Cis-Salween States.

III.—THE KACHINS.

The Kachins are a semi-barbarous race of mountaineers, living almost exclusively on the summits and ridges of hills, and for the most part in small villages, the headmen or petty Sawbwás of which render a nominal obedience in certain cases to the recognised Chief of their tribe or clan. The great majority of the Kachins are spirit-worshippers, but in places where they have mingled with Shans and Burmans, they occasionally maintain póngyis (Buddhist priests) and profess Buddhism. The Kachins are regarded by the Shans and Burmese with a strange superstitious dread. The manners and customs of various Kachin tribes have been described at considerable length in Dr. Anderson's 'Mandalay to Momien,' and in the late Colonel Hannay's 'Sketch of the Singphos or the Kakhyens of Burma.'

The Hkamti tract between the head-waters of the Malikha and Mogaung rivers is generally believed to have been the original home of the Kachin race. The name which these mountaineers ordinarily give to themselves is 'Ching-paw' (softened among the tribes on the Assam border into 'Singpho') which in their language is literally 'men.' Dr. Anderson thus describes the Kachins:—'They are distributed all over the mountains that define the valley of the Irrawadi north of Hotha, and on the hills that occur between them, as far as the wall of mountains that closes in the Kampti (Hkamti) plain on the north. They may be said, in general terms, to be confined, as far as our present knowledge goes, between the 23rd and 28th parallels of north latitude, and the 95th and 99th degrees of east longitude.' Later information tends to prove that these limits are exceedingly accurate as marking the furthest extension of the Kachins. The Nagas and Mishmis on the Assam border, the Khunungs (or Kanongs) and certain other tribes on the north of Hkamti, the Marus in the 'Nmaikha valley, the Lashis and 'Szis on the western frontier of Yunnan and to the south of Mogaung, and possibly also the Lishaws (or Yawwysins), are tribes cognate to the Kachins. The best account yet given of the various Kachin tribes and clans is, probably, that contained in Captain Elliott's report on the reconnaissance of 1890-91 in the upper Irawadi basin. The oldest and original tribes are the Marip, Lataung, Lepei, 'Nkum, and Maran; the remaining tribes and clans being merely offshoots. The Kakus, or 'Kachins of the river sources,' hold the area between the Marao stream (in about latitude $26^{\circ} 18'$) and the Hkamti plain in the Malikha valley, and also the country farther west: the 'Nkums are the most powerful tribe among these Kachins.

The following is a list of Kachin tribes described by Captain Elliott:—

Lakun,		'Nkum,
Lataung,		Sadan,
Maran,		Sassun,
Marip,		Lepei.

Other, non-Kachin, hill tribes, who are intermixed and closely connected with the Kachins in the north of Upper Burma are styled:—

Lashi,		Maru,
Lishaw,		'Sr-i.

Prior to 1891, although the tribes south of the Taping had been taught by several punitive expeditions to recognise and respect our authority, the country north of that river was entirely unvisited save for the reconnaissance of the 1890-91 season. Repeated outrages which had been committed by the tribes in this area had proved that the country must be brought under control, and the necessity for early action was accentuated by reports that the ex-Sawbwa of Wuntho was at Sadôn stirring up the tribes to raid. Four columns were accordingly detailed in the open season of 1891-92 to bring under subjection what has been conveniently styled the 'Eastern Kachin Tract.' The net results of the operations were the recognition of our authority throughout the greater part of the area visited, the disarmament of a large number of villages, the collection of a certain amount of tribute, and the construction of a post at Sadôn.

In the first year after the annexation, it was through our occupation of Mogaung and our interests in the Jade Mines that we were chiefly brought into contact with the Kachins. Early in 1886 a British force accompanied by the Deputy Commissioner, Bhamo, visited Mogaung and received the submission of the local officials, but no direct control was then established. In December 1887, however, a strong column, accompanied by Major Adamson as Political Officer, was detailed to place our authority on a satisfactory basis, and to open up relations with the Kachin tribes inhabiting the Jade and Amber Mine tracts. The summary of the Burma Administration Report of 1887-88 records that 'by the tact and good management of Major Adamson, the Kachin Sawbwas, who dominate the tract in which the Jade Mines are situated, were induced to tender their submission.' These Kachins are of the Marip tribe and have since remained friendly. Mogaung was constituted a subdivision of the Bhamo district, and an Assistant Commissioner was posted to the charge.

Early in this century the Hukong valley was in the possession of the Hkamti Shans, whose capital was at Müng Khôm (Maingkwan); they were, however, expelled by the Burmese, and the valley was subsequently settled by Kachins who paid allegiance to Burma. The Hukong valley is surrounded by hills and traversed by several rivers, the principal of which is the Chindwin, called the Tanai by the Kachins. The valley contains a magnificent rubber forest, and gold-washing is freely and successfully carried on. The Amber mines lie about 5 miles south-west of Maingkwan. The Kachins in the valley are peaceable and friendly.

Captain Elliott has noted in his reconnaissance report that 'above Myit-kyi-na the country is entirely Kachin, the Shan element completely disappearing.' The name 'Malikha' signifies 'big river' in Kachin, while 'Nmaikha signifies 'bad water,' a name which has its origin in the difficulties offered to navigation by the rapids in the eastern branch of the Irawadi. Captain Elliott and Major Hobday came to the conclusion, from calculations as to the varying depths and velocities of the two rivers at the confluence, that the eastern branch has the greatest discharge of water, and is thus entitled to be called the true source of the Irawadi. The difference, however, is not very marked. From Marao Sida (on the Malikha in latitude $26^{\circ} 20'$, approximately) upwards come the Kaku Kachins, or Kachins of the head-waters. Their country extends as far north as the Hkamti plain. Round Hkamti to the east and north-east come the Kanong, Passu, and Naukmong tribes, and to the north and north-west the Kamans and Khangs. The Karines (a tribe of the Kakus) live east of the Malikha. The Kanongs live in high mountains east of the Karines, and there is apparently a good deal of intercourse between them and the Karine villages. The Kanongs, Passus, and Naukmongs give das, necklaces, and musk as tribute to the Shan Sawbwa of Hkamti Lông. The Khangs, however, seem to be exempted from this tax.

The northern and eastern parts of the State of Mōng Mit contain a large Kachin population. The Kachin villages are mixed up with those of the Palaungs (an entirely separate race whose principal habitat is in Tawng Peng); the hills here are easier of access than most of those in which the Kachins are found, and from their proximity to the plain country of Mōng Mit and to the Irawadi the Kachins are better to do than in other regions.

In the Northern Shan States almost the whole of the north-eastern corner of North Hsen Wi, and other considerable tracts on the east, south-east, and north-west of that State are dominated and mainly inhabited by Kachins. In the north of Tawng Peng and in the north-east of South Hsen Wi there are also considerable Kachin settlements, and a few villages are to be found in the north of Mōng Lōng.

The general policy to be adopted towards the Kachins has been recently under consideration, and it has been decided that they shall be dealt with in two main divisions, viz.,—

- (i) the tribes and clans within our line of outposts and settled villages who will be brought under thorough administration;
- (ii) the tribes and clans without that line, who will be subjected to political control only.

IV.—THE CHINS.

To the west of Burma, between the districts bordering on the Chindwin river and Bengal and Assam, lies a mountainous tract, the eastern portion of which is inhabited by races known under the general name of Chins. For many years prior to the annexation of upper Burma the Chins, a savage and barbarous people, had been in the habit of raiding on the adjacent plains of Burma and on the State of Kale. The main subdivisions of the Chins, so far as the tribes bordering on Burma are concerned, are the Kanbaws, the Siyins, the Tashōns, the Hakas, the Yōkwas, and the Chinbōks. Roughly speaking, these tribes lie in the above order from north to south. In consequence of incessant raids committed in the plains operations were undertaken against these tribes in the year 1888-89. Severe punishment was inflicted on the northern clans, the Siyins and Kanbaws; and in the open season of 1889-90 further operations were undertaken against the Tashōns, Yōkwas, and Hakas. These latter tribes submitted almost without resistance, the Siyins and other clans in the north subsequently came to terms, and British garrisons, with Political Officers, were established at Fort White in the north, and at Haka in the south, for the purpose of controlling the Chins and compelling them to abstain from further aggressions on British territory.

In 1890-91 the Chin Hills were administered from three centres—the northern tribes from Fort White, the central tribes from Haka, and the southern tribes from Yawdwin. In the north the open season operations resulted in the submission of the three important tribes of Siyins, Mobingyis, and Kanhaws. The principal tribes in the central district are the Tashôns, Hakas, Tlantlangs, Yôkwas and Baungshes. The Thetta clan of the Baungshe tribe gave some trouble, but was reduced to order, and there was a sudden rising among the Tlantlangs. The remaining tribes behaved, on the whole, very well. Among the southern tribes the Chinbôks, who had committed several raids, were severely punished; but the rest of the country remained practically unvisited.

In 1891-92 a series of expeditions on a carefully prepared scheme were undertaken in the northern Chin country, and practically the whole area was explored. A column from the Burma side marched across to Fort Lungleh, and rendered valuable assistance in subduing the rebellious Lushais; trade between the Chin Hills and Burma revived; and it was considered safe to withdraw the outposts in the Kubo valley.

The various columns operating from Haka in 1891-92 reduced the Baungshes to order, severely punished the Tlantlangs for the outbreak of the preceding year, and completed the domination of the Tashôns by establishing a permanent post at their principal village, Falam. A successful season's work was accomplished among the southern Chin tribes; the country was thoroughly explored, tribute collected, and satisfactory relations everywhere established.

A scheme is now under consideration for placing the whole of the Chin Hills under the control of one Political Officer posted at Falam, with assistants at Haka, Fort White, etc.

V.—THE RED KARENS.

To the north-east of Lower Burma, bordering on the Shan States on the north and the Salween river on the east, lies the mountainous tract known as Karenni, the country of the Red Karens. The first occasion on which the British Government came into contact with these people was in 1836, when the Commissioner of the Tenasserim provinces deputed Mr. Richardson to proceed to Karenni and make arrangements for opening trade. It is believed that at that time one Chief dominated the whole country, and that he was independent of the King of Burma. After the annexation of Pegu, when the boundary between British and Native Burma was declared to be the parallel 6 miles north of Myedé, it was thought that the Karenni were subject to the Burmese Government, and it was therefore declared that the boundary should extend to the Salween through the Karenni country. As, however, it was ascertained that the Red Karens were independent, and as there was no intention of asserting a right of conquest over them, the demarcation of the boundary was not carried farther east of the Sittang than the Kunaung ridge of the Panglang range of mountains.

The earliest rulers of the whole of Karenni were a race known as Yintalais, or Yinkalas, whose origin is unknown. Their language differed from that of the Red Karens and was connected with the Karenbyu (White Karen) and Taungthu dialects. The petty Sawbwa of Bawlake is said to be the only remaining ruler of pure Yintalai blood. The history of Karenni is obscure and of no special interest or importance. The two main divisions into which the country has long been divided are known as Eastern and Western Karenni. It is not precisely known when these divisions were constituted. In each section there are, and have long been, several Chiefs who are practically independent of one another, though one Chief in each division has usually endeavoured to assert supremacy over the rest. Western Karenni was formerly divided into two parts; the southern called after the name of a former Chief, Kyetpogyi, and the northern called Kyetpogale, also after the name of a former Chief. The Western Karenni Chiefs, of whom the most important seems to have been Kyetpogyi, showed from the first an anxious desire for British protection.

In 1855 an agent on the part of the British Government was placed at Kyetpogyi's chief town in order to observe and report events in the neighbouring States, and to use his influence to check the wars and forays carried on to secure captives to be sold into slavery. In January 1857 the Deputy Commissioner of Toungoo, Mr. E. O'Riley, proceeded to Karenni, on which occasion he made a contract of friendship with the ancient chieftain. From that period this Chief considered himself as being under the protection of the British Government, and though no promise of protection was made to him, yet the known fact of the public acknowledgment of friendship, and the presence of the Agent who remained at his town till 1862, served to preserve the Chief from serious attack.

In 1863 Mr. O'Riley was again deputed to Karenni to arrange differences that had arisen with the Chiefs of Eastern Karenni and to provide for the safe transit of caravans through all parts of that country. He found the Chiefs of Western Karenni firm in their attachment to the British Government and renewed with them the contract of friendship made in 1857. Kyetpogyi died in 1868, and his sons, Kun Ti and Kun Sha, repeated the request previously made by their father that the British Government would take possession of and administer Western Karenni. This was declined, but in consequence of applications made in 1869 by the Chief of Eastern Karenni to the Burmese Government for assistance against the Western Karens, the King of Burma was urged to abstain from interference with the independence of Western Karenni, and positive assurances were given by his Prime Minister that the wishes of the British Government would be scrupulously respected. Towards the end of 1873, in consequence of reports of a threatened movement of the Burmese against Western Karenni, the Burmese Government were reminded of the assurances given in 1869 and 1870; they repudiated these assurances and asserted a claim to exercise sovereignty over Western Karenni. The determination of the British Government not to allow any extension of Burmese authority south of the prolongation of the British boundary line remained unchanged, and as no satisfactory proposal was made by the Envoy whom the King deputed towards the end of 1874 to discuss the question, Sir Douglas Forsyth was instructed to proceed to Mandalay and, as a preliminary to further discussion, to require an assurance from the King that the status quo in Western Karenni should be maintained. The King, however, anticipated all discussion by volunteering to guarantee the independence of Western Karenni, and an Agreement (No. CXXXIV) to this effect was executed on the 21st June 1875. The Burmese Government were at the same time informed that the boundary between Western Karenni and Burmese territory would be demarcated by a British officer, who might, should the King desire it, be accompanied by a Burmese official.

The boundary was accordingly demarcated early in 1876 by Mr. Hildebrand. But the Burmese outposts established at Nammékôn and Lawdawku in Western Karenni were not withdrawn till May 1877. Kun Ti appears to have died about 1879, and his brother Kun Sha in the following year: the latter was succeeded by a younger brother known as Byareh or Kun Bya, who was associated in the Chiefship with Kun Po, a son of Kun Ti. It would appear, however, that the influence of these two descendants of Kyetpogyi was but weak, and this division of Western Karenni seems to have come gradually under the supremacy of Po Bya, who had been for some years de facto ruler of Kyetpogale. Po Bya is believed to have been originally the deputy of Kyetpogyi, and during Mr. Hildebrand's visit in 1876 the chiefship of the Northern division was nominally held by Peh Bu, a son of Kyetpogale. The power appears, however, to have rested even then with Po Bya, and since Peh Bu's death in 1878 Po Bya's title has been undisputed. Po Bya was in a measure responsible for the difficulties at first thrown in the way of Mr. Hildebrand in 1876, but he subsequently showed himself most anxious to secure the favour and support of the British Government. In 1885, according to an account given by certain emissaries sent to Rangoon by Po Bya, the divisions of Western Karenni were as follows :—The northern part, Nammékôn, was directly under Po Bya ; south of this was Naungpale, ruled by Si Pe, grandson of Kyetpogale ; Kyetpogyi, to the south of Naungpale, was governed by Kun Bya and Kun Po ; while on the extreme south was Bawlaké under the rule of Pa Bin. According to the statement of the emissaries all these subdivisions acknowledged the supremacy of Po Bya. Kun Bya (Byareh) died in September 1889 and Kyetpogyi is now under the nominal rule of his nephew Kun Po (Po Reh). The paramount power in Western Karenni remained with Po Bya until his death at the close of 1891. In January 1892 the Superintendent, Southern Shan States, visited Western Karenni and granted Sanads (No. CXXXV) as Myozas to the Chiefs of Naungpale, Kyetpogyi, and Bawlake. At Nammékôn the Superintendent was invited to elect and appoint a successor to Po Bya ; a meeting of the heads of all villages in the State was held and the public choice fell on Kun Pya, a son-in-law of the late Chief. The appointment was confirmed by the Chief Commissioner. Each of the Western Karenni Myozas will in future pay a nominal tribute of Rs. 100 per annum.

In Eastern Karenni the supreme power was for many years exercised by a Chief called Sawlapaw, who claimed to be of Yintalai descent. He was elected Chief of Eastern Karenni on the death of his brother Sawpyatin in 1225 B.E. (about 1863).

The Burmese Government never abstained from intrigues in Karenni, and made special efforts to obtain an acknowledged supremacy over Eastern Karenni or, as it was styled by the Burmese Government, Kantarawadi. The claim of the Burmese Government to exercise sovereignty over Western Karenni was, as already explained, explicitly renounced by the treaty of 1875 ; and the Resident at Mandalay was expressly ordered to decline to acknowledge any similar claim put forward in respect of Eastern Karenni. It is known, however, that Sawlapaw took the oath of allegiance to the King of Burma and regarded himself as subject to the Burmese Government. In the latter years of the separate existence of the Burmese kingdom the weakness of the central administration prevented any active interference in Karenni affairs, and after the withdrawal of the Resident from Mandalay the relations between Burma and Karenni attracted little attention.

After the annexation of Upper Burma in 1886 the British Government continued to regard Karenni as independent. As it had always been maintained that Karenni was in no way subject to the King of Burma, it was assumed that the extinction of the Burmese monarchy did not affect the relative position of the Karenni Chiefs and the British Government. With Western Karenni friendly relations were constantly maintained. But Sawlapaw, the Chief of Eastern Karenni, assumed an unfriendly attitude, and in 1888 attacked the British Shan States on his borders. In consequence of this a military expedition was sent to Eastern Karenni in 1888-89 and the capital, Sawlôn, was occupied. Sawlapaw fled and his nephew Sawlawi was appointed Chief in his stead. Sawlawi has up to the present time faithfully observed his engagements with the British Government, and Eastern Karenni has been admitted as a feudatory of the Empire. In 1890 a Sanad of appointment (No. CXXXVI), similar to that granted to the Chief of Keng Tung, was granted to Sawlawi, who has succeeded in extending his authority almost over the whole of Eastern Karenni. Sawlawi has no brother or sister living. His principal wife, by whom he has one daughter, is of the house of the Myozas of Tam Hpak. He has two other wives, but has no children by them. Sawlapaw died in October 1890.

The subjoined table shows the genealogy and relationships of the Eastern Karenni Chiefs :—

At the time of the expedition of 1888-89 the Siamese Government was invited to co-operate by taking action to prevent the escape of Sawlapaw across the Salween. Advantage was taken of the opportunity to occupy a tract of country east of the Salween, which had for many years been in the possession and under the administration of the Chief of Eastern Karenni. This tract was claimed by the Siamese Government and by Sawlawi. In 1889-90 a Boundary Commission held a local investigation into the claims advanced by Sawlawi. Although the Commission was appointed at the instance of the Siamese Government, that Government at the last moment declined to join in the enquiry, which was accordingly held ex parte, and the British Government decided the question of ownership in favour of Karenni. The boundary laid down by the British Commissioners was subsequently accepted by the Siamese Government.

No. CXXIV.

TRANSLATION of the ROYAL MANDATE, accompanying the letter to the GOVERNOR-GENERAL, dated September 1795.

To all Killadars and Governors of Ports, in like virtue to the Maywoon of Henzawuddy.

The source of greatness and dignity celestial, whose threshold is as the firmament, and whose suppliants, when he places the Golden Foot of Majesty on their fortunate heads, like the blooming water-lilly, are inspired with confidence untounded, such are the ministers of exalted rank, the guardians of the Empire, from among whom the high and transcendent Minister proclaims these Orders :—

Governor of Henzawuddy, whose title is Meen La Noo Retha ; Governor of the Waters, whose title is Yazoon or Rawoon ; Collector of the King's Revenues, whose title is Ackawoon ; Collector of Customs, whose title is Ackoon ; Commander of the Troops, whose title is Chekaw.

1. Whereas English merchants resort to the port of Rangoon to carry on trade, in friendship, good faith, and confidence in the Royal protection, therefore when merchants come to the port of Rangoon, duties for godown, rabeat (searchers or appraisers) and other charges, all these shall be regulated according to the former established rates, and no more, on any pretence, shall be taken.

2. All English merchants, who have paid the Port Duties, shall be allowed to go to whatever part of the country they think fit, having obtained a certificate and order from the Maywoon, or Governor of the Province, and whatever goods English merchants wish to purchase in return, they shall not be impeded or molested, or prevented in their barter, bargain, or purchase ; and if it should be judged expedient to establish any person, on the part of the English Company, at Rangoon, for the purpose of trade, and to forward letters or presents to the King, to such person a right of residency is granted.

3. If any English merchant is aggrieved, or thinks he suffers oppression, he may complain either to the Governor of the Province, by petition to the Throne, or prefer his complaint in person ; and as Englishmen are, for the most part, unacquainted with the Burman tongue, they may employ whatever interpreters they think fit, previously acquainting the King's interpreters what person they mean to employ.

4. English ships driven into any Birman port by stress of weather, and in want of repairs, on due notice of their distress being given to the Officers of Government, such vessels shall be expeditiously supplied with workmen, timber, iron, and every requisite, and the work shall be done, and the supplies granted, at the current rates of the country.

5. As the English have long had commercial connexions with this Nation, and are desirous of extending them, they are to be allowed to come and depart at their pleasure, without hinderance: and seeing that the illustrious Governor-General of Calcutta, in Bengal, on the part of the King of England, has sent tokens of friendship to the Golden Feet, these orders are therefore issued for the benefit, ease, and protection of the English people.

TRANSLATION of the ROYAL ORDERS, regulating the Customs to be taken at the several Chokeys between Ummerapoor and Rangoon.

Sirdars, Chokeydars and Guards of the several Ghauts, extending to the verge of the ocean.

Whereas the Governor-General, out of his friendship, has deputed Captain Michael Symes from Calcutta, in Bengal, to be his vakeel at this Court, who having made representation and memorial to us, such representation has accordingly been taken into due consideration.

Merchants having paid the established Duty on their merchandize, who do not dispose of such goods at the place of importation, but choose to bring them to the capital (literally the Golden Feet) either in person or by their agent, from such merchants no Duties are, on any pretence, to be exacted or demanded on the way to the Capital, but when merchants going back carry with them goods in return, they are to pay Duties on such returning goods, in like manner as is specified by the Regulations issued from the Duffer of the Golden Palace, in the Burman year 1145: wherefore orders are despatched to the several Chokeys, also to the Maywoon of Henzawuddy, and those matters which were submitted by the principal Ministers to His Majesty are fully authorized.

Moreover, in the Burman year 1157, and the 26th of the Burman month Saundecoup, or the 26th of the Mussulman month Rubbi-ul-awul, the Royal Mandate came forth to the following effect:—

At the Chokey called Keouptaloom, boats returning from the capital shall pay one mima, or one anna and a half.

At the Chokey called Muggoe, if the breadth of the boat be four cubits, for each cubit twelve annas, or three takals in all shall be paid. But if it be less than four cubits, one takal shall be paid for every thousand viss weight of goods; and if the boat be empty, then shall one mima, or four annas, be paid for each man.

At the Chokey called Pulloe, if the breadth be four cubits, six mima, or ten annas, shall be paid for each cubit; and if the boat exceeds, or is under, four cubits, the same rate shall be paid: and if the boat be laden with heavy commodities, then shall one takal be taken for every thousand viss.

At the Chokey called Puttoo the Custom taken shall be, for each cubit in breadth, three mima, or twelve annas.

At the Chokey called Keounzelee, and the Chokey called Nawalee no Duty is to be exacted. Yet same trifle should be given by way of present; but no boat is to be stopped or impeded.

At the Chokey called Tow, where the Duty formerly was levied in lead, it shall now be levied in silver, that is, one takal shall be paid by each boat for every thousand viss burthen.

At the Chokey called Trougmeow, if the boat be four cubits in breadth, two hundred and fifty takals of lead (about ten annas) shall be paid for each cubit, but if the boat be less than four cubits, then shall three viss and thirty takals of lead be taken for the whole (something less than a Rupee).

At the Chokey called Bamen, boats shall pay six mima, or ten annas, for each cubit in breadth.

At the Chokey called Ackeo there is no established Duty, but from boats laden with rice, salt, fish, and nappoe, it is customary to give some trifle.

At the Chokey called Henzawa, if a boat carries ten boatmen, besides the steersman, for each of such boatman thirty-five takals of lead shall be paid, but the steersman shall pay nothing. If a boat be laden with rice, dhall, paddy, barley, kengid or cotton, then shall the boat so laden pay a quarter of a basket of such commodity; and if a boat be laden with heavy articles, such as salt, fish, and nappee, four viss of such heavy commodity shall be exacted from each boat. And when a boat going down pays these Duties, no Duties shall be required of the same boat returning; and the reverse, a boat that has paid the Duty shall not be taxed going down. Some trifling present will be proper.

At the Chokey called Denoubeon, if the breadth of the boat be four cubits, such boat shall pay two hundred and fifty takals of lead; if under that size, for each boatman fifty takals.

At the Chokey called Yangansea, and the Chokey called Panglang, on the north side, no Duty is to be paid, but a tray is to be given (meaning a trifling present, not more than the value of a Rupee).

In the Burman year 1145, a Mandate was issued from the Register of the Golden Palace, that foreign merchants should have liberty to come to the Capital (Golden Feet) without paying Duties; nevertheless, in returning they shall pay agreeable to the rates specified in the Royal Mandate issued from the Darbar of the Golden Palace, nor shall more or less be demanded or accepted; but to the Chokey of Yangansea, on the north side, and the Chokey Panglang, on the north side, and the Chokey Koongee and the Chokey of Loungee, no authority is granted from the Golden Palace to exact Duties, and none on any pretence are to be required or received.

TRANSLATION of a ROYAL ORDER respecting the Duty to be taken on timber.

Guards, Chokeydars, and persons in authority, as far as the seashore.

Whereas the Governor-General of the Company at Calcutta, in Bengal, having deputed Captain Michael Symes with presents to the Golden Feet, who requests liberty for merchants to purchase, load, and take away timber, according to established and authorized custom, therefore merchants of the English Nation, desirous of transporting rafts of timber down the river, shall have liberty to carry from towns and villages such timber. And as, in the year 1145, enquiry and investigation were made respecting the amount of Duties formerly taken at each of the Chokeys, His Majesty was pleased to direct that no Duties should be taken, except what are specified therein; for that reason it is now ordered that no Duties shall be taken at Chokeys on timber going down, nor any Impost exacted on wood, except five per cent., payable at Rangoon, agreeable to former Regulation.

(2) The Government reserves to itself the proprietary right in all forests, mines, and minerals. If you are permitted to work or to let on lease any forest or forests in your territory, you shall pay such sums for rent or royalty as the local Government may from time to time direct; and in the working of such forests you shall be guided by such rules or orders as the Government of India may from time to time prescribe. If you are permitted to work or let on lease any mine or mines in your State, you shall pay such royalty on all metals, precious stones, and other minerals produced in Thibaw as the Governor-General in Council may from time to time direct.

(3) You shall administer the territory of Thibaw according to the custom of the country, and in all matters subject to the guidance of the Superintendent of the Shan States. You shall recognize the rights of the people and continue them in the same, and on no account shall you oppress them or suffer them in any way to be oppressed.

(4) You shall maintain order within the territory of Thibaw and keep open the trade routes within that territory. Should traders or caravans be attacked within the boundaries of the said territory, you shall pay such compensation as the Superintendent of the Shan States may fix.

(5) You shall, if the Superintendent of the Northern Shan States so desires, keep an Agent who shall reside at the head-quarters of the Superintendent, and who shall keep him informed concerning the condition of the territory of Thibaw.

* Remitted for five years from 1st January 1887 (Burmese date).

(6) In case of a dispute arising connected with any other part of the Shan States, you shall submit the matter to the Superintendent of the Shan States and abide by his decision. Should any inhabitants of Thibaw commit raids on any place outside the limits of Thibaw, you shall pay such compensation as the Superintendent of the Shan States may fix.

(7) If the Government wishes at any time to make a railway through the territory of Thibaw, you shall provide land for the purpose free of cost, except that of the compensation adjudged to the actual occupiers of occupied land, and shall help Government as much as possible.

(8) Opium, spirits, or fermented liquor, and other articles which are liable to duties of customs or excise when imported by sea into Lower Burma, or when produced in any part of Upper Burma to which the Regulations of the Governor-General in Council apply, shall not be brought from Thibaw into Lower Burma or into any such part as aforesaid of Upper Burma, except in accordance with rules made by the Government and on payment of such duties as may be prescribed in those rules.

(9) You shall deliver up, on the requisition of an officer of the Government, any criminal who takes refuge in the territory of Thibaw; you shall aid officers of the Government who pursue criminals into the said territory; and in the event of offenders from the said territory taking refuge in any place beyond the limits of that territory, you shall make a representation of the matter to the authorities concerned.

(10) You shall not exercise criminal jurisdiction over European British subjects. In the event of any criminal charge being brought against any such person, you shall make a representation of the matter to the Superintendent of the Shan States.

(11) The rulers of the subordinate States of Mainglon, Maington, and Thonze shall communicate with the British Government through you, and you will be held responsible for the maintenance in these States of peace and order. You may at any time nominate, for the approval of the Chief Commissioner, a fit person according to Shan usage to be the successor of the ruling Myoza of any of these States, but you shall not remove any Myoza without the previous consent of the Chief Commissioner. The tribute of these subordinate States shall be remitted through you, and you will be held responsible for punctual payments.

The treaty by which the general policy of the British Government in the Eastern Seas is regulated is the treaty with the Dutch of the 17th March 1824 (See Bengal No. XV),* by the 10th article of which the connection of the Dutch with the Peninsula of Malacca was severed. This treaty was modified by the Treaty of the 2nd November 1871 (No. CLXVI) : see Sumatra.

* NOTE addressed by the BRITISH PLENIPOTENTIARIES to the PLENIPOTENTIARIES of the NETHERLANDS.

In proceeding to the signature of the Treaty which has been agreed upon, the Plenipotentiaries of His Britannick Majesty have great satisfaction in recording their sense of the friendly and liberal spirit which has been evinced by Their Excellencies the Plenipotentiaries of His Netherland Majesty; and their conviction that there is, on both sides, an equal disposition to carry into effect, with sincerity and good faith, the Stipulations of the Treaty, in the sense in which they have been negotiated.

The differences which gave rise to the present discussion are such as it is difficult to adjust by formal Stipulation; consisting, in great part, of jealousies and suspicions, and arising out of the acts of subordinate Agents, they can only be removed by a frank declaration of intention, and a mutual understanding as to principles between the Governments themselves.

The disavowal of the proceedings whereby the execution of the Convention of August 1814 was retarded, must have satisfied Their Excellencies the Netherland Plenipotentiaries, of the scrupulous regard with which England always fulfils her engagements.

The British Plenipotentiaries record, with sincere pleasure, the solemn disavowal, on the part of the Netherland Government, of any design to aim, either at political supremacy, or at commercial monopoly, in the Eastern Archipelago. They willingly acknowledge the readiness with which the Netherland Plenipotentiaries have entered into Stipulations, calculated to promote the most perfect freedom of Trade between the subjects of the Two Crowns and their respective Dependencies, in that part of the World.

The undersigned are authorized to express the full concurrence of His Britannick Majesty, in the enlightened views of His Majesty the King of the Netherlands.

Malacca was founded about the middle of the 18th century by Raja Sikandar Shah of Singapore. It was taken by the Portuguese under Albu-

Aware of the difficulty of adapting, at once, to a long established system of monopoly, the principles of commercial policy which are now laid down, the undersigned have been authorized to consent to the exception of the Molucca Islands from the general Stipulation for freedom of Trade contained in the Treaty. They trust, however, that, as the necessity for this exception is occasioned solely by the difficulty of abrogating, at the present moment, the monopoly of spices, its operation will be strictly limited by that necessity.

The British Plenipotentiaries understand the term Moluccas as applicable to that cluster of Islands, which has Celebes to the westward, New Guinea to the eastward, and Timor to the southward; but that these three Islands are not comprehended in the exception: nor would it have included Ceram, if the situation of that Island, in reference to the two principal Spice Isles, Amboyna and Banda, had not required a prohibition of intercourse with it, so long as the monopoly of spices shall be maintained.

The territorial exchanges which have been thought expedient for avoiding a collision of interests, render it incumbent upon the Plenipotentiaries of His Britannick Majesty to make, and to require, some explanations with respect to the Dependants and Allies of England, in the Island from which she is about to withdraw.

A Treaty concluded in the year 1819, by British Agents, with the King of Acheen, is incompatible with the 3rd Article of the present Treaty. The British Plenipotentiaries therefore undertake, that the Treaty with Acheen shall, as soon as possible, be modified into a simple arrangement for the hospitable reception of British vessels and subjects in the Port of Acheen. But as some of the provisions of that Treaty (which has been communicated to the Netherland Plenipotentiaries) will be conducive to the general interests of Europeans established in the Eastern Sea, they trust that the Netherland Government will take measures for securing the benefit of those provisions. And they express their confidence, that no measures, hostile to the King of Acheen, will be adopted by the new possessor of Fort Marlborough.

It is no less the duty of the British Plenipotentiaries to recommend to the friendly and paternal protection of the Netherland Government, the interests of the natives and settlers, subject to the ancient Factory of England at Bencoolen.

This appeal is the more necessary, because, so lately as the year 1818, Treaties were made with the Native Chiefs, by which their situation was much improved. The system of forced cultivation and delivery of pepper was abolished; encouragement was given to the cultivation of rice; the relations between the cultivating classes and the Chiefs of the districts were adjusted; the property in the soil was recognized in those Chiefs; and all interference in the detailed management of the interior was withdrawn, by removing the European residents from the out-stations, and substituting in their room native officers. All these measures were calculated greatly to promote the interests of the native inhabitants.

In recommending these interests to the care of the Netherland Government, the undersigned request the Plenipotentiaries of His Netherland Majesty to assure their Government, that a corresponding attention will be paid, on the part of the British authorities, to the inhabitants of Malacca and the other Netherland Settlements which are transferred to Great Britain.

In conclusion, the Plenipotentiaries of His Britannick Majesty congratulate Their Excellencies the Netherland Plenipotentiaries, upon the happy termination of their Conferences. They feel assured that, under the arrangement which is now concluded, the commerce of both nations will flourish, and that the two allies will preserve inviolate in Asia, no less than in Europe, the friendship which has, from old times, subsisted between them. The disputes being now ended, which, during two centuries, have occasionally produced irritation, there will henceforward be no rivalry between the English and the Dutch nations in the East, except for the more effectual establishment of those principles of liberal policy which both have this day asserted in the face of the world.

The undersigned request Their Excellencies the Plenipotentiaries of His Netherland Majesty will accept the assurances of their distinguished consideration.

querque in 1511, and fell into the hands of the Dutch in 1641, who held it till 1795, when it was reduced, along with the other Dutch settlements in the east, by the British. REPLY of the NETHERLAND PLÉNIPOTENTIARIES to the NOTE of the PLÉNIPOTENTIARIES of GREAT BRITAIN.

Les Soussignés, Plénipotentiaires de Sa Majesté Le Roi des Pays-Bas, ont trouvé, dans la Note qui vient de leur être remise par Leurs Excellences Messieurs les Plénipotentiaires Britanniques, un résumé fidèle des communications, qui avaient eu lieu à l'époque où des circonstances, indépendantes de la volonté des négociateurs, amenèrent la suspension de leurs conférences.

Appelés à reprendre un travail dont l'achèvement a toujours été désiré de part et d'autre avec une égale sincérité, les Soussignés n'ont pas tardé à reconnaître dans leurs Collaborateurs, cet esprit d'équité et de conciliation, qui facilite l'arrangement des questions les plus compliquées, et auquel ils ne peuvent rendre hommage dans un moment plus opportun que celui qui va sanctionner, par la signature d'un Traité formel, les dispositions adoptées après le plus mûr examen, comme éminemment utiles pour le maintien de la bonne intelligence, même entre les Agens inférieurs des Puissances Contractantes.

Ce but essentiel, cette tendance principale du Traité, sont palpables pour tous ceux qui en lisent avec attention les différens Articles. Ce qui s'y trouve expressément stipulé, semble devoir suffire pour lever, d'un commun accord, toute incertitude, qui pourrait se présenter par la suite. Cependant, comme Messieurs les Plénipotentiaires Britanniques ont cru devoir entrer dans quelques détails ultérieurs, les Soussignés, qui, de leur côté, sentent l'importance de ne rien donner au hasard, dans une matière aussi intéressante, ne font aucune difficulté de les suivre dans ces détails, et de compléter, par le développement succinct de leur manière de voir, la réponse, due par eux, à la susdite Note de Leurs Excellences.

L'Article VII. renferme une exception au principe général de la liberté du Commerce. La nécessité de cette exception, déjà admise par l'Angleterre dans les conférences de 1820, repose sur l'existence du système relatif au Commerce exclusif des épiceries. Si les délibérations du Gouvernement des Pays-Bas conduisent à l'abandon de ce système aussitôt le Commerce libre reprend ses droits, et tout cet Archipel, qui a été fort justement décrit comme compris entre Celebes, Timor et la Nouvelle Guinée, est ouvert à toutes les spéculations légitimes, sur le pied à établir par les ordonnances locales, et, pour ce qui concerne en particulier les sujets de Sa Majesté Britannique, conformément aux bases consacrées par le Traité pour toutes les possessions Asiatiques des deux Parties Contractantes.

Par contre, aussi long-temps que l'exception, dont il s'agit, reste en vigueur, les navires qui traversent les Moluques, doivent s'abstenir de relâcher, dans d'autres Ports que ceux dont la désignation a été officiellement communiquée Aux Puissances Maritimes il y a quelques années; sauf les cas de détresse pour lesquels il est superflu d'ajouter, qu'ils trouveront, dans tous les endroits où flotte le Pavillon des Pays-Bas, les services et les secours dûs à l'humanité souffrante.

Si le Gouvernement de la Grande Bretagne pense qu'il y a un avantage réel pour lui à ce qu'en se dégageant, d'après les principes consacrés par le Traité qui va être signé, des liaisons que ses Agens formaient, il y a quatre ou cinq ans, dans le Royaume d'Acheen, il assure, par quelque stipulation nouvelle, l'accueil hospitalier des Sujets et Vaisseaux Britanniques dans les Ports de ce Royaume,—les Soussignés n'hésitent pas à déclarer que, de leur côté, ils n'y voyent aucun inconvénient; et ils croient pouvoir assurer, en même tems, que leur Gouvernement s'appliquera, sans délai, à régulariser ses rapports avec Acheen, de manière que cet Etat, sans rien perdre de son indépendance, offre au Navigateur et au Commerçant cette constante sécurité qui semble ne pouvoir y être établie, que par l'exercice modéré d'une influence Européenne.

A l'appui des informations contenues dans la dernière Note de Messieurs les Plénipotentiaires Britanniques, au sujet de Bencoolen, Leurs Excellences ont communiqué aux soussignés les deux Conventions respectivement signées le 23 Mai et le 4 Juillet de 1818, d'un côté par le Lieutenant-Gouverneur de cet établissement, et de l'autre par les Chefs de quelques tribus Naning.—To the north of Malacca lies Naning, which, at the time of the Dutch occupation of Malacca, was governed by four Chiefs, who formed a treaty with the Dutch. The headman or Punghulu was appointed by the Dutch. After the British occupation of Malacca and Naning, an Engagement (No. CXXXVII) was made with the Chiefs in 1801. In 1831 the Chiefs rebelled, and it was found necessary to subdue the country by force.

Kedah.—Our earliest political relations with this State may be said to have commenced with the negotiations which were opened with the Raja of voisines. On leur a aussi fait part d'une dépêche du Gouverneur-Général en Conseil, datée de Fort William, le 9 Mai 1823, et d'après laquelle l'administration Britannique a aboli au Fort Marlborough le monopole du poivre, encouragé la culture du riz, et placé sur un pied stable et uniforme, les rapports des différentes classes de Natifs, tant entre elles, qu'avec leur chefs. Or, pour autant que les Soussignés ne se trompent point en supposant, que le but de ces arrangements a été d'assurer la prospérité agricole de la Colonie, et d'écarter les vexations qui résultent souvent du contact immédiat de la population indigène avec les autorités ou balernes d'une administration étrangère, ils éprouvent une grande satisfaction à dire, que loin d'avoir à redouter des mesures rétroactives, les individus intéressés à l'ordre actuel des choses peuvent, au contraire, nourrir l'espoir, que le nouveau Gouvernement aura égard à leurs droits acquis, et à leur bien être; et, ce que les Soussignés aiment surtout à garantir, il fera observer les Articles des Conventions déjà mentionnées sur la foi desquels les habitants de Pasumamah, Ulu Manna, et d'autres peuplades de l'intérieur ont reconnu l'autorité, ou accepté la protection de la Compagnie des Indes Britanniques; sauf toutefois la faculté d'y substituer, du plein gré des parties intéressées, d'autres conditions analogues, si les circonstances venaient à rendre un changement nécessaire.

Quant aux dispositions équitables et bienveillantes du Gouvernement Britannique envers les habitants de Malacca, et des autres établissemens Hollandois cédés par le Traité, les Plénipotentiaires de Sa Majesté le Roi des Pays-Bas, en acceptent l'assurance avec une confiance illimitée; et ce même sentiment les porte à ne pas insister, pour que les instructions et ordres, qui seront adressés aux Autorités Anglaises dans l'Inde, relativement à la remise du Fort Marlborough, et de ses dépendances, soient conçus en termes tellement clairs, précis, et positifs, qu'on n'y puisse trouver aucun motif d'incertitude, in aucun prétexte de délai; car ils sont persuadés que Messieurs les Plénipotentiaires Britanniques, après avoir apporté tant de modération et de loyauté à l'accomplissement de leur tâche sauront veiller à ce que le résultat des travaux communs ne soit pas compromis par égard pour des intérêts subordonnés, et des considérations secondaires. Ce résultat, Messieurs les Plénipotentiaires Britanniques l'ont décrit eux-mêmes dans leur dernière Note, et il ne reste aux Soussignés qu'à se féliciter d'y avoir concouru, et à joindre leurs vœux à ceux de leurs Excellences, pour que les Agens respectifs dans les possessions Asiatiques, se montrent toujours pénétrés du sentiment des devoirs, que deux nations, amies et animées de vœux vraiment libéraux ont à remplir, tant l'une à l'égard de l'autre, que vis à vis des indigènes, que le cours des événements ou les traités ont placés sous leur influence.

(TRANSLATION.)

The Under-signed, Plenipotentiaries of His Majesty the King of the Netherlands, have found in the Note, which is just delivered to them by Their Excellencies the British Plenipotentiaries, a faithful recapitulation of the communications which had taken place at the time, when circumstances, independent of the will of the Negotiators, caused a suspension of their conferences.

Kedah by Captain Francis Light, and which resulted in the Agreement of 1786 (No. CXXXVIII), for the cession of the island of Penang, thenceforward called Prince of Wales' Island. The island was formally taken possession of on the 11th August 1786.

Summoned to resume a work, the completion of which has ever been desired with equal sincerity by both Parties, the Undersigned have not failed to recognize in their Co-labourers in this work, that spirit of equity and conciliation, which facilitates the arrangement of the most complicated questions, and to which they cannot do justice at a time more fitting than that which is about to sanction, by the signature of a formal Treaty, the Resolutions, adopted after a most strict examination, as eminently useful for the maintenance of a good understanding, even among the inferior Agents of the Contracting powers.

This essential aim and principal tendency of the Treaty is evident to all who read its different Articles with attention. What is therein expressly stipulated ought to suffice for the removal, by common consent, of all uncertainty which might present itself in the sequel. However, as the British Plenipotentiaries have considered it necessary to enter into some further details, the undersigned, who, on their part, are sensible of the importance of leaving nothing doubtful in so important a matter, have no difficulty in following them through these details, and in supplying, by a concise display of their view of the subject, the answer which is due from them, to the aforesaid Note of Their Excellencies.

The 7th Article contains an exception to the general principle of liberty of commerce. The necessity of that exception, already admitted by England in the conferences of 1820, rests upon the existence of the system which respects the exclusive trade in spice. Should the determinations of the Government of the Netherlands lead to the abandonment of that system, the rights of free trade will be immediately restored, and the whole of that Archipelago, which has been very justly described as comprised between Celebes, Timor, and New Guinea, will be open to all lawful speculations, on the footing to be established by local Ordinances, and, so far as particularly concerns the Subjects of His Britannick Majesty, in conformity with the grounds sanctioned by the Treaty for all the Asiatic Possessions of the two Contracting Powers.

On the other hand, so long as the exception in question remains in force, the Ships which traverse the Moluccas must refrain from touching at any ports, but those whereof the description has been officially communicated to the Maritime Powers some years back; except in cases of distress, in which it is superfluous to add, that they will find in all places, where the Flag of the Netherlands may be flying, those good offices and succours which are due to suffering humanity.

If the Government of Great Britain conceives it to be a real advantage, that by disengaging itself, according to the principle sanctioned by the Treaty which is about to be signed, from the connections which were formed by its Agents four or five years ago, in the Kingdom of Acheen, it secures, by some new clause, the hospitable reception of British Vessels and Subjects in the ports of that Kingdom; the Undersigned hesitate not to declare, that, on their part, they do not see any difficulty in it, and conceive that they may assert at the same time that their Government will apply itself, without delay, to regulate its relations with Acheen, in such a manner that that State, without losing anything of its independence, may offer both to the sailor and the merchant that constant security which can only be established by the moderate exercise of European influence.

In support of the information contained in the last Note of the British Plenipotentiaries on the subject of Benocolen, Their Excellencies have communicated to the Undersigned the two Conventions respectively signed on the 23rd of May and the 4th of July 1818, by the Lieutenant-Governor of that establishment, on the one side, and by the Chiefs of some neighbouring tribes on the other. They have likewise communicated a Despatch of the Governor-General in Council, dated Fort William, the 9th of May 1823, and according to which the British Government has abolished at Fort Marlborough the monopoly of Pepper; encouraged the cultivation of Rice; and placed on a firm and uniform footing the relations of the different classes of Natives, as well among themselves, as with their Chiefs. But inasmuch as the Undersigned are not wrong in supposing that the subject of these arrangements has been the security of the agricultural prosperity of the Colony, and the removal of the vexations which often result from the immediate contact of the Native population with the subordinate authorities of a Foreign Government, they experience great satisfaction in saying, that, far from having cause to dread retroactive measures, the individuals interested in the existing order of things may, on the contrary, cherish the hope that the new Government will respect their acquired rights, and their welfare; and, what the Undersigned are above all things desirous to guarantee, that it will cause the Articles of the abovementioned Conventions to be observed, on the faith of which the Inhabitants of Pasummah ulu Manna, and the other Colonists in the interior, have recognized the authority, or accepted the protection of the British East India Company; saving, however, the power of substituting, with the full consent of the parties interested, other analogous conditions, if circumstances should render a change necessary.

On the 1st of May 1791, a Treaty (No. CXXXIX) was concluded by Captain Light, which provided for the mutual surrender of runaway slaves, debtors, forgers, and murderers; for the necessary supply of provisions (duty free) from the mainland to the residents in the island and shipping in the harbour; and for the annual payment to the King of Kedah, styled His Highness Jang de Per Tuan, of the sum of six thousand Spanish Dollars; it also bound the King not to allow Europeans of other nations to settle in his country.

On the 6th June 1800, Sir George Leith, who had succeeded to the Lieutenant-Governorship of Prince of Wales' Island, entered into further negotiations with the ruler of Kedah, and another Treaty (No. CXL) was concluded for the cession of a considerable district, now called Province Wellesley, on the mainland. This treaty was not confirmed till November 1802.

Both these treaties appear to have been negotiated under the impression that the Ruler of Kedah was an independent Chief, whereas he was tributary to Siam.

With respect to the equitable and benign intentions of the British Government towards the Inhabitants of Malacca and the other Dutch establishments ceded by the Treaty, the Plenipotentiaries of His Majesty the King of the Netherlands accept the assurance thereof with unlimited confidence; and the same sentiment prevents them from insisting that the orders and instructions which shall be addressed to the English authorities in India, relative to the surrender of Fort Marlborough, and its dependencies, should be conceived in such clear, precise, and positive terms, that no cause of uncertainty, or any pretext for delay, may be discovered in them:—Being persuaded that the British Plenipotentiaries, after having accomplished their labours with so much moderation and equity, will take care that the result of their common exertions be not compromised by any regard to subordinate interests and secondary considerations. This result the British Plenipotentiaries themselves have described in their last Note, and it only remains for the Undersigned to congratulate themselves on having contributed thereto, and to unite their wishes with those of Their Excellencies, that their respective Agents in their Asiatic possessions, may ever show themselves sensible of the duties, which two Friendly Nations, animated with truly liberal views, have to fulfil, both with reference to each other, and also towards the Natives whom the course of events of Treaties have placed under their influence.

The Undersigned avail themselves of this opportunity of renewing to Their Excellencies, the British Plenipotentiaries, the assurance of their most distinguished consideration.

In 1820 the Raja of Kedah having given umbrage to the Court at Bangkok, by delaying to forward the usual tribute of gold and silver flowers, and by non-compliance with other customary observances and marks of vassalage, that Court determined upon depriving him of his delegated Government, and in November 1821 the Raja of Ligor, another feudatory of Siam, advanced into Kedah at the head of a formidable army, and expelled the Raja, who found refuge in Penang, on the express condition that neither he nor any of his followers should, during their stay in that island, carry on any political correspondence without the approval of the British Government. This condition he violated, and as the mediation of Government with a view to his restoration proved unsuccessful, it was stipulated under the treaty of Bangkok * that he should leave Penang. In accordance with the provisions of the above engagement, the ex-Raja was compelled to take up his residence at Malacca, a suitable pension having been assigned for his maintenance by the British Government.

The ex-Raja made several unsuccessful attempts to recover his country from the Ligor Chief. At length in 1842, his eldest son proceeded to Bangkok and made submission to Siam on behalf of his father, and through the intercession of the Governor of the Straits Settlements the ex-Raja was put in charge of central Kedah, one of the three Governorships into which Kedah had been divided. The 13th article of the treaty of Bangkok was therefore modified. In 1843 the Raja of Kedah forcibly seized the Krian district in Perak, the ruler of which country appealed to the Governor of the Straits Settlement for redress. Owing to the remonstrances of the Governor, the Raja eventually withdrew his followers from the district, but his annual allowance was suspended for a year as a punishment for his contumacy in the first instance.

On the Raja's death, his eldest son, Tuanku Abdoola, was appointed by the Court at Bangkok to succeed him; he was similarly succeeded by his brother Tuanku Daie, who died on the 8th May 1854; his son, the present Raja, Tuanku Ahmad, at once assuming the reins of Government.

Perak.—The State of Perak was originally a dependency of Malacca, and about the middle of the sixteenth century, the Bandahara of Johor was raised to the dignity of the Sultan of Perak, under the name of Muzaffar Shah. His son, Mansur Shah, became King of Achin about 1567, and Perak was thenceforth tributary to him and his successors, who received the customary token of vassalage, the Bungah Mas (golden flower). On the decline of the power of Achin, Perak became independent and fell under the influence of the Dutch. In 1795 an expedition from Penang compelled the Dutch garrison of the small Fort at Perak to surrender. This led to an increase of British trade with the country, the whole of the produce of the tin mines being brought to Penang. The then reigning Sultan, Muhammad Taj-ud-din, died in 1801, and was succeeded by his son, Sultan Mansur Shah.

* In this Treaty the Government of the British over Penang and Province Wellesley was acknowledged by the Siamese.

In 1818 a Treaty (No. CXLI) was concluded by the Governor of Prince of Wales' Island with the Raja of Perak, Sultan Abdulla, under the provisions of which the right of free trade with Perak was secured to British subjects.

In 1825 differences having arisen between the Rulers of Perak and Selangor, Mr. Anderson was deputed to adjust matters. This led to the negotiation of the Treaty (No. CXLII), dated the 6th September 1825, by which the boundary between the two States is determined; the Raja of Perak also thereby engaged not to interfere in the Government of Selangor, and to permit all foreign traders to carry on their trade without any interruption.

Under the provisions of article 14 of the treaty of Bangkok, the independence of Perak is secured, though the Raja is permitted, should he so desire, to maintain a friendly communication with Siam, and even to send the gold and silver flowers as formerly. This article also contains a guarantee on the part of the British Government to protect Perak from any attack by a force from Selangor. In September of the above year intimation having been received by the Governor of Prince of Wales' Island, that the Raja of Ligor had introduced a body of troops into Perak and deprived the Raja of Perak of all power, a small force was at once despatched to insist upon the strict fulfilment of the terms of the treaty. The Siamese evacuated the position they had taken up on the bank of the river, and the independence of Perak has ever since been fully recognised.

Under a Treaty (No. CXLIII) dated the 18th October 1826, the Raja of Perak, on the plea of his inability to suppress the piracy then prevalent along his coast, ceded to the British the Dinding island, the islands of Pungkor, and all other islands previously appertaining to Perak; and by a second Treaty (No. CXLIV), concluded on the same date, he engaged to hold no intercourse with the King of Siam, or any of his Chiefs, or with the Raja of Selangor; not to present the Bungah Mas or any other species of tribute, nor to receive any ambassadors, and in case of any interference with his country on the part of foreign Chiefs, to rely entirely on the aid and protection of the British Government: this aid and protection being guaranteed to him, provided he faithfully fulfilled all his engagements. On the 25th October a supplementary Treaty (No. CXLV) was signed, which provides for the better management of the country, the suppression of piracy, and the protection of trade.

Although the Raja is the only Chief recognised by us as having power in Perak, it would appear that this power is shared with the following great Officers of his Court:—Raja Muda, Bandahara, Orang Kaya Besar, and Tumongong, whose seals are attached to the different treaties. The first mentioned is the heir-apparent to the State, an elective, and not hereditary post, though the choice is limited to members of the ruling family.

Selangor.—In 1786 the independent Raja of Selangor was obliged to acknowledge himself a vassal of the Dutch, who were then in possession of Malacca. When the Dutch came again into possession of Malacca in 1818, they wished to re-enter on their former relations with Selangor, but the Raja refused owing to his strong partiality for the British, with whom he had formed a commercial Treaty (No. CXLVI).

In 1825, when Mr. Anderson was deputed to settle the dispute between Selangor and Perak, a Treaty (No. CXLVII) was concluded with the Raja, under the provisions of which the former agreement was confirmed, whilst the boundary between Selangor and Perak having been determined, the Raja of Selangor agreed never to interfere in the Government of the latter country, or to cross the frontier with an armed force; he also undertook to prevent pirates from resorting to his coast, as well as to surrender all offenders, such as pirates, robbers, murderers, and others, who might escape from the British territories and seek shelter in his country—these latter conditions being reciprocal. By the 14th article of the treaty of the 20th June 1826 with Siam, the safety of Selangor from any attack on the part of a Siamese force, is guaranteed, and this State, equally with Perak, may therefore be considered under British protection.

Although still nominally under one Chief, Selangor is at present divided into five almost independent States, viz., Lukut, Lungat, Kallang, Selangor, and Berman. Of these the principal is Lukut, by the Raja of which country Cape Rachado has, with the sanction of the Sultan of Selangor, been made over to the British Government for the erection of a light-house.

Confederate States of Sungei Ujong, Rembau, Johol, and Sri Menanti.—These States were originally dependencies of Johor. About 1778 they renounced their allegiance to that sovereign, and elected a Chief, under the title of Jang de Per Tuan Besar, to preside over the council of the four Punghulus; each Punghulu having, however, independent jurisdiction in his own State. Hence all real power remains in their hands, that possessed by the Jang de Per Tuan being only nominal. Subsequently, in 1796, another Chief was appointed a member of the Council, under the title of Jang de Per Tuan Muda.

In 1814 an appeal was made by the then Jang de Per Tuan Muda to the British Resident at Malacca, for assistance against the four Punghulus, with whom he was at variance. This was, however, refused.

On the 30th November 1831, Raja Ali being then Jang de Per Tuan Besar, and his son-in-law, Sharif Saiyid Saban, Jang de Per Tuan Muda, a Treaty (No. CXLVIII) was concluded between the British Government and the confederate States. This treaty provides, under special conditions, for the mutual surrender of criminals, and the settlement of disputes that may arise between the contracting Governments or any of their dependent States, as well as for the protection of trade and the suppression of piracy. A similar Treaty (No. CXLIX) was negotiated with Rembau, as a separate State, on the 28th January 1832.

The position of Malacca, where it is conterminous with the boundaries of Rembau and Johol, was defined in separate Agreements made with the Rulers of these States, dated respectively the 9th January and the 15th June 1833 (Nos. CL and CLI).

Although the Rulers of the different States still occasionally meet for the discussion of any matter affecting their common interests, for some time past the confederacy may be said to have ceased to exist, and the late Jang de Per Tuan, who was also the Punghulu of Sri Menanti, exercised but little influence over the other Chiefs. His position indeed seems never to have been recognised by the British Government, all correspondence with the various Chieftains having been conducted without any reference to his authority. The foregoing observations may be deemed generally applicable to the small States of Lingie and Gumimechi, the former being a dependency of Sungei Ujong, and the latter of Johol.

The districts of Kuh and Tamping, though forming a portion of Rembau, are at present ruled by Saiyid Saban, under whose authority they were originally placed, in his capacity of Jang de Per Tuan Muda.

Johor.—Our political relations with Johor may be said to date from 1818, on the 19th of August of which year a Treaty (No. CLII) of peace and friendship, having for its aim the protection of commerce, was concluded by Major Farquhar with Sultan Abdur Rahman Shah, the youngest son of Sultan Muhammad, who had, however,—consequent on the absence of his elder brother Tuanku Husain in Pahang, whither he had proceeded to celebrate his marriage with the daughter of the Bandahara,—assumed the sovereignty, though it is alleged only as a temporary measure, on his father's demise.

Sultan Abdur Rahman Shah is reported to have subsequently abdicated in favor of his brother, who was publicly installed as Sultan by Sir Stamford Raffles in 1819. On the 6th of February and the 26th June of that year, Treaties (Nos. CLIII and CLIV) were negotiated with the Sultan and the Tumongong for the establishment of an English Factory at Singapore, and for the protection of British commerce throughout the Sultan's dominions.

In 1824 it was deemed desirable to obtain the absolute cession of Singapore in full sovereignty, and with this view a fresh Treaty (No. CLV) was entered into with the Sultan and Tumongong, under the provisions of which the island of Singapore, with the seas, straits and islets, within ten * geographical miles from its coasts, became a British settlement, whilst due arrangements were effected for the suppression of piracy and the furtherance of British commercial interests in Johor.

The Sultan and Tumongong and their successors have, up to the present date, continued to reside at Singapore. Owing, however, to the differences between them arising out of their respective claims to the revenue derived from the sovereignty of Johor on the mainland, it was considered by the Local Government advisable that this sovereignty should be vested in the hands of one Chief, who should exercise undivided authority over the whole country, and the Tumongong having been selected for the purpose, with the consent of the Governor-General in Council, on the 10th March 1855; a Treaty

* In November 1861 it was ruled that the right of the British Government over the waters within 40 miles of Singapore must be limited to a distance of 3 miles from any coast either of mainland or island, within a circle of 10 miles of which Singapore is the centre.

(No. CLVI) was arranged between His Highness and the Sultan, under the terms of which, the latter, in consideration of the payment of a certain sum and a monthly pension, ceded to the former absolute sovereignty over Johor, merely retaining authority over the district of Segamat or Moar, a small tract between Johor and the British settlement of Malacca, which has never formed a part of the former, having always been governed by a distinct Chief, bearing, however, the title of Tumongong, and acknowledging allegiance to the Sultan. Under the provisions of the above treaty, in the event of the Sultan's being desirous of relinquishing the sovereignty of Moar, it is in the first instance to be offered for the acceptance of the British Government.

The position of the Tumongong, with reference to the lands left him in Singapore under the 6th and 7th articles of the treaty of 1824 was very unsatisfactory. By a Treaty (No. CLVII) concluded on the 19th December 1862 these articles were abrogated so far as they relate to any claims or rights between the British Government and the Tumongong, his heirs and successors.

The States of Jellabu Ulu Pahang (including Sutting and Jumpol) and Jillye also formed a portion of the original confederacy of the Malayan Peninsula owing allegiance to the Sultan of Johor. This allegiance seems never to have been formally renounced by their Punghulus, as they continued to acknowledge the Sultan's authority after the secession of Sungei Ujong, Rembau, Johol, and Sri Menanti. Hence, as no separate treaties have ever been negotiated with these Chiefs, our political relations with them could only be regulated with reference to any rights acquired by virtue of the various treaties concluded with the Sultan of Johor, to whom they still apparently consider themselves nominally feudatories, although he has long since ceased to exercise any control over their actions.

Pahang.—The State of Pahang was originally a dependency of Johor and governed by a hereditary Officer of that Court, styled the Bandahara. But for some years past the Bandahara has completely thrown off his allegiance to Johor, and asserted his independence.

Pahang may, to a certain extent, be considered as under the protection of the British Government, as, notwithstanding the non-existence of any treaty obligations, on all occasions of necessity, either owing to internal dissension or external attack, the advice and support of the Governor of the Straits Settlements have always been sought by the Bandahara, and to the assistance thus obtained his present independent position may be mainly attributed.

In 1862 the Tumongong of Johor, with the sanction of the British Government, entered into a Treaty (No. CLVIII) of mutual defence and protection with the Bandahara of Pahang, under the 6th article of which all disputes between them are to be referred to the arbitration of the British Government, without whose knowledge and consent neither party is to maintain correspondence with any foreign power.

With effect from the 1st April 1867 the Straits Settlements ceased to form part of India, and became one of the Colonial Possessions of the Crown. Since that date the conduct of relations with the States in the Malay Peninsula has rested with the Colonial Office.

son of the deceased JUMMAL-OOLAH, and SUPREME RULER over the PERAK COUNTRY, made and delivered to CAPTAIN JAMES

LOW, Agent of the HONOURABLE ROBERT FULLERTON, GOVERNOR in COUNCIL OF PRINCE OF WALES' ISLAND, SINGAPORE and MALACCA, and which is to be everlasting, as the revolutions and endurance of the Sun and Moon—1826.

The Sultan, who governs the whole of the Perak Country and its dependencies, has this day, in the month and year herein specified, given over and ceded to the Honourable the East India Company of England, to be under its government henceforward and for ever, the Pulo Dinding and the Islands of Pankgor, together with all and every one of the Islands which belonged of old and until this period to the Kings of Perak, and which have been hitherto included within the Perak State, because the said Islands afford safe abodes to the pirates and robbers, who plunder and molest the traders on the coast and the inhabitants of the main land, etc., effectually deprive them of the means of seeking subsistence, and as the King of Perak has not the power or singly to drive those pirates. For these reasons the King of Perak has, of his own free will and pleasure, ceded and given over as aforesaid, the Islands governed by them, and to be placed under any one of their governments, as they may think fit. To this deed, as tokens of its validity, have this day been put the great seal or chop of the ruler of the Perak Country, Paduka Sri Sultan Abdullah Ma-Alum Shah, together with the chops of the Chief Ministers of His Majesty's government.

This Deed is made and written this sixteenth day of Rubba-ool-awal, Wednesday, 1242, or the Eighteenth day of October, in the year 1826.

ENGAGEMENT entered into betwixt HIS MAJESTY PADUKA SRI SULTAN ABDULLAH MA-ALUM SHAHIBUN MURHOOM JUMMAL-OOLLAH, SUPREME and RIGHTFUL RULER over all and every part of the PERAK COUNTRY, and CAPTAIN JAMES LOW, AGENT to the HONOURABLE ROBERT FULLERTON, GOVERNOR of PULO PENANG, SINGAPORE and MALACCA, on behalf of the HONOURABLE THE EAST INDIA COMPANY, whereof copies have been interchanged, and which is to be everlasting as the Sun and Moon. Moreover, it is a token of lasting friendship and alliance to exist betwixt the HONOURABLE THE EAST INDIA COMPANY and the KING of PERAK, and betwixt the KING and the HONOURABLE ROBERT FULLERTON—1826.

ARTICLE FIRST.—His Majesty the King of Perak, 'of his own free will and pleasure, hereby engages, that he will adhere to the stipulations respecting the boundaries of Perak and the settlement of other points which were made with the Rajah of Salengore by Mr. John Anderson, Agent to the Honourable Robert Fullerton, Governor of Pulo Penang, etc., and also to all the stipulations contained in the Engagement Hegira which His Majesty made with the said Mr. John Anderson, dated the 20th day of Mohurru, Monday, in the year of the 1241, all of which deeds are here declared to be fixed and unalterable. Moreover, His Majesty now engages that he will not hold any communication or intercourse with the Rajah of Siam, or with any of his chiefs or vassals, or with the Rajah of Salengore, or any of his chiefs or vassals, which may or can have reference to political subjects, or to the administration of his government and the management of his country of Perak. His Majesty will not countenance any of his subjects who may connect themselves with, or league, or intrigue with the Siamese King, or with any of his chiefs or vassals, or with the Rajah of Salengore, or any of his chiefs or vassals, or with any other Siamese or Malayan people, by which the country of Perak can in any degree or manner be disturbed, and the government of His Majesty interfered with.

SECOND.—His Majesty the King of Perak will not give or present the bungamas, or any other species of tribute whatever, to the Rajah or King of Siam, or to any of his governors or vassals, nor will he give or present such to the Rajah of Salengore, or to any other Siamese or Malayan people henceforward and for ever. Moreover, His Majesty will not receive or permit to enter into his country of Perak, from the Rajah or King of Siam, or from any of his governors or chiefs, any ambassadors or armaments arriving at Perak for the purpose of arranging political matters, or interfering in any way in the affairs and administration of the country of Perak. In like manner he will not receive into his country embassies or armaments sent by the Rajah of Salengore, or by any other Siamese or Malayan people; nor will he receive any party from any of the people, Rajahs, or countries here specified into his country, should its strength even consist of no more than thirty men, nor will he allow the least number to enter his country. But all persons of every country will, as heretofore, have free permission to trade unmolested to any port in the Perak Country, provided they do not interfere in its affairs. Should parties or armaments of the description above stated arrive in the Perak Country from any one of the countries, or Rajahs, Governors, or Chiefs, or people above specified, or should any of the said Rajahs, Governors, or Chiefs league with subjects of the King of Perak, in order to disturb his country and interfere in any way in his government, then in any such case or cases His Majesty will rely, as he now relies, and in all future times will rely, on the friendly aid and protection of the Honourable the East India Company, and of the Honourable the Governor in Council of Pulo Penang, etc., etc., to be manifested in such a manner and by such means as may to them seem most expedient.

THIRD.—Captain James Low, as Agent for the Honourable the Governor in Council of Prince of Wales' Island, engages that if His Majesty the King of Perak will faithfully adhere to and perform all and each of the stipulations contained in this Engagement as above specified, then His Majesty shall receive the assistance of the British in expelling from his country any Siamese or Malays as above stated, who, as also above specified, may at any time, enter the Perak Country with political views, or for the purpose of interfering in any way with the Government of His Majesty. But if His Majesty shall fail to perform all and every Article of this his Engagement, binding on him, then the obligation on the British to protect him and to assist him against his enemies will cease, and he will lose the confidence and friendship of the Honourable the Governor in Council of Pulo Penang, etc., etc., for ever.

This Engagement, which His Majesty has voluntarily and with great satisfaction entered into, has received as mark of its validity the chop or seal of His Majesty, and the seal and signature of the Agent, Captain James Low, together with the chops of the ministers of Perak, who are also parties in this Engagement with the Agent, and it is delivered to the said Agent to remain as an ever-enduring memorial of alliance and friendship betwixt the King of Perak and the British.

SUPPLEMENTARY ENGAGEMENTS of the RAJAH of PERAK, contained in a letter addressed by HIS MAJESTY to the AGENT, CAPTAIN JAMES LOW—1826.

After compliments—He who governs Perak, Paduka Sri Sultan Abdullah Ma-Alum Shah, desires to make known to his friend, Captain James Low, Agent to the Hon'ble Robert Fullerton, Governor in Council of Prince of Wales' Island, Malacca, and Singapore, with relation to the subjects on which His Majesty and the Agent have already conferred:—

First.—That His Majesty will come down the river to stay at Kotah-loomoot, where he will build a fort of proper strength, and assign a competent number of soldiers for its protection and his own, in order that all enemies and pirates may be kept at a distance, and these men will be well armed, and will be maintained by His Majesty as a standing force, to be at all times ready for defence, and to obey his orders; and for the temporary accommodation of any British Officer who may be sent to visit him, His Majesty will direct that a small house be built opposite to his own residence.

Second.—His Majesty will keep a prow always ready to convey information of importance to Pulo Penang, and will further, without delay, take measures for opening a communication overland, betwixt the Perak river and the Krian river, and thence to Pulo Penang.

Third.—The Luksamana and the Shabunder will be forthwith sent down to reside at Quala Bidor, at the spot where Rajah Hussan formerly posted himself, and these two persons will, by His Majesty's orders, erect a fort there, and will collect the population and settle the country in that direction, and those persons trading at Perak will be encouraged and protected, according to ancient custom.

Fourth.—His Majesty will speedily seize or expel the head officers now residing at Koraw, at Laroot, at Trong, at Sinkang, and at Bruwas, who may have connected themselves with pirates or robbers, and will give warning to the people there, that should they let pirates or robbers remain amongst them, and should any English come there from Penang in search of pirates, the innocent might in that case suffer with the guilty.

Fifth.—All traders to all parts of Perak will be cherished by His Majesty, and their traffic will not be delayed, but every means will be afforded for a speedy settlement of accounts betwixt buyer and seller, and His Majesty will coerce any of his subjects, or others, should their conduct require harsh measures, to come to a speedy settlement of accounts with traders to Perak, and to prevent their distressing such in any way.

Sixth.—His Majesty the King of Perak will drive out of his country any person convicted of having carried off clandestinely, or by force, from any British possession, any subject of, or person living under, the British Government, and should any person so carried off be discovered, His Majesty will detain that person and give information to the Honourable the Governor of Pulo Penang in order that such mischievous practices may be wholly prevented.

Seventh.—When the country has again got settled, His Majesty will direct his people to sow abundance of rice, gram, and rear as much poultry and as many cattle as possible, in order that his people, and those residing under the British Government, may receive mutual advantage.

Eighth.—His Majesty intends to appoint, and will appoint, a properly qualified person to superintend the collection of Duties on exports, such as tin and other merchandize.

Should any trader, a subject of His Majesty, arrive at a British port, and not be able to show a port clearance, the same will be forfeited according to custom.

Ninth.—His Majesty wishes to establish schools in this country, and will be happy should his friend, Captain James Low, assist him by sending a well-skilled school master from Pulo Penang, and should His Majesty send any child or children to Pulo Penang to be educated in all the requisite branches of knowledge, he hopes that such child or children will be favorably received and treated.

All these things His Majesty agrees to with the greatest satisfaction.

No. CXLIX.

A TREATY made in friendship, to last as long as the Sun and Moon revolve, between the RULERS of INDIA under the ENGLISH on the one part, and RAJAH ALI and the PANGHULUS of the eight SUKUS ruling over RUBMOWE and its dependencies on the other part—1832.

On the part of the English the Honourable Robert Ibbetson, Esq., Resident of Singapore, Pulo Penang, and Malacca, and its dependencies, and on the part of Rumbowe and its dependencies Rajah Ali and the Panghulus of the eight Sukas, that these countries, both those under the English and under the said Chiefs, may hereafter be ruled with justice, and according to their several customs, and not to infringe upon the rights of each other.

The English Government by these presents cancel and annul all former Treaties and Agreements made between Rumbowe and the Dutch Government and the present Government of the English, and make this Treaty with the Rumbowe Chief as a Government of itself, excluding all others.

Firstly.—On the part of the English Government they hereby acknowledge Rajah Ali and the present Panghulus of eight Sukas as the rulers of Rumbowe and its dependencies.

Secondly.—The English Government and that of Rumbowe do hereby form a friendship to last for ever, and the Rumbowe Government will never do anything offensive against the English Government, and the English Government promise on their part to be equally friendly towards the Government of Rumbowe, either by attacking each other, or taking possession of the territories of that of either party.

Thirdly.—If, in any of the places under the English Government, they should ill-treat any people of Rumbowe, the Government of Rumbowe shall not attack or fight against that place, but the Rumbowe Government will first inform the English Government of it, who will enquire into the causes and see that justice be done—if the fault lays on the part of the English, justice shall be accorded according to the English Law; and if the same should happen on the part of the Rumbowe people, towards that of the subjects of the English, the English Government shall not take upon itself to attack or destroy that country, but shall, in the first place, acquaint the Rumbowe Chiefs of the aggression, and the Chiefs of Rumbowe shall enquire into the causes and do justice, and if the fault lies on the part of the Rumbowe people, they shall be punished according to the magnitude of their offences.

Should any of the places in the neighbourhood of the English territories be preparing for warfare by assembling men or vessels, and should the English Government enquire the cause of doing so, the Chiefs of Rumbowe shall state the reasons for doing so; on the part of the English Government they promise to do the same to Rumbowe.

Fourthly.—With regard to the boundaries which decide the territories of Rumbowe from those of the English, should the latter be at a loss to find out the exact places, the person governing on the part of the English will write and send persons on their part to Rumbowe, and the latter will send their officers, and the said officers for both parties will ascertain the boundaries and settle them on the most amicable terms: should the Government of Rumbowe be similarly situated, and wish to ascertain the exact boundaries, they will act in the same manner, and send their officers to the English Government, who will in the same manner go to the spot and ascertain the same in the most friendly manner.

Fifthly.—Should any of the inhabitants of Rumbowe run away to the territories of the English Government, it will not be lawful for any Rumbowe people to follow and seize them within the English territories, but the Rumbowe people can give information and demand them of the English Government in a proper manner, and the English can deliver them up or not as they may think proper.

When any Rumbowe people wish to go to places under the English, or, on the other hand, any English wish to go to places under Rumbowe, they shall be guided by the customs and usages of those places, and should they, on either part, be ignorant of such customs and usages, the Officers of such places shall inform them; further, all inhabitants of Rumbowe who should go to places under the English Government, shall be guided by the orders that they may have given to them in those districts, and the English inhabitants who may go to places under Rumbowe shall also do the same.

Seventhly.—Rajah Ali and Panghulus of the eight Sukus shall not allow pirates to remain in their ports, but do all in their power to give safety to traders, thereby destroying these evil-disposed people, and the English on their part shall promise to do the same.

Eighthly.—If Rajah Ali and Panghulus of the four Sukus shall hear of any acts of the enemy, they shall do all in their power to prevent their carrying them into execution, and shall give information of the same.

Another copy of this Treaty shall be made and sent to Bengal for the purpose of being approved of by the Right Honourable the Governor-General, and when the same shall be returned and confirmed, notice shall be made of it in writing in these two copies, that they may never be changed and literally interpreted as long as the world may last.

Done at Singapore this nineteenth day of Dole Haijah in the Mahomedan year one thousand two hundred and seventy-eight, corresponding with the seventeenth day of June in the Christian year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-two, in presence of the Honourable Colonel Orfeur Cavenagh, Governor of Prince of Wales' Island, Singapore, and Malacca.

II.—SUMATRA.

The island of Sumatra is divided into a number of petty States, the chief of which are Achin, Delly, Langket, and Siack.

Achin.—Our political relations with Achin date as far back as 1602. Various attempts, however, which were made to establish a factory at Achin, failed.

In 1815 a revolution broke out, and the reigning Chief, Jauhar Shah, a dissolute prince, was deposed, and Saif-ul Alam Shah, the son of a wealthy merchant, who was related to the ruling family, was raised to the throne. After protracted negotiations, however, the ex-Raja was restored, through the mediation of Sir Stamford Raffles, and a Treaty (No. CLIX) was concluded with him.

The official note appended to the treaty with the Dutch of 1824 required that the treaty with Achin should be modified into a simple arrangement for the hospitable reception of British vessels and subjects in the port of Achin. As our relations with Achin, however, were merely nominal, and the treaty of 1819 had been a dead letter, and as there was free and open intercourse with the Achin ports, it was not considered necessary to enter into any formal arrangement with Achin.

In consequence of the numerous acts of aggression committed upon British vessels trading with the natives along the Achin coast in 1837, Captain Chads of H. M. S. Andromache was requested to visit Achin with the view of demanding redress. In 1844 a British force, under the command of Captain the Honourable G. F. Hastings, was again despatched to Achin on the same account. On this last occasion severe punishment was inflicted upon the inhabitants of the villages of Qualla, Battu, and Murdu, which had been mainly concerned in the piracies complained of. No opposition to the measure seems to have been displayed by the Raja, who, on the contrary, had previously endeavoured to procure the surrender to our authorities of the principal offenders.

In 1859 Major Haughton was deputed on a mission to Achin with a letter from the Viceroy and Governor-General of India to the Sultan. Major Haughton was treated with discourtesy and returned without delivering the letter. An explanation was submitted by the Sultan which was considered satisfactory.

Delly, Langket and Siack.—With Delly, Langket, and Siack Treaties (Nos. CLX to CLXV) exist, but after the treaty with the Dutch of 1824 (See Bengal No. XV) the diplomatic connection of the English with Sumatra ceased.

By the Treaty of the 2nd November 1871 (No. CLXVI) the British Government withdrew all objections to the extension of the Netherlands dominion in Sumatra, and consequently from the reserve in that respect contained in the notes (pp. 382-387) exchanged by the Netherlands and British plenipotentiaries at the conclusion of the treaty of the 17th March 1824. It was stipulated that British subjects should enjoy the same privileges of trade and navigation in Siack and any other State in Sumatra to which the Netherlands dominion might extend as those enjoyed by the subjects of His Majesty the King of the Netherlands.

No. CLIX.

TREATY of FRIENDSHIP and ALLIANCE between the HONOURABLE ENGLISH EAST INDIA COMPANY and the KINGDOM of ACHEEN, concluded by the HONOURABLE SIR THOMAS STAMFORD RAFFLES, KNIGHT, and CAPTAIN JOHN MONCKTON COOMBS, AGENT to the GOVERNOR-GENERAL, in the name and on the behalf of the MOST NOBLE FRANCIS, MARQUIS OF HASTINGS, KNIGHT of the MOST NOBLE ORDER of the GARTER, one of HIS BRITANNIC MAJESTY'S MOST HONOURABLE PRIVY COUNCIL, GOVERNOR-GENERAL in COUNCIL of all the BRITISH POSSESSIONS in INDIA, on the one part, and HIS HIGHNESS SRI SULTAN ALLA IDDUN JOWHAR ALLUM SHAH, KING OF ACHEEN, for himself, his heirs and successors, on the other.— 1819.

In consideration of the long and uninterrupted peace, amity, and good understanding which has subsisted between the Honourable English East India Company and His Highness' ancestors, the Kings of Achéen, and in order to perpetuate and improve their friendship to the advantage and prosperity of their mutual States and subjects, it is hereby agreed and determined :—

ARTICLE 1.

There shall be a perpetual peace, friendship, and defensive alliance between the States, dominions, and subjects of the high contracting parties, neither of whom shall give any aid or assistance to the enemies of the other.

ARTICLE 2.

At the request of His Highness the British Government engages to require and to use its influence to effect the removal of Syfful Allum from His Highness' territories, and the British Government further engages to prohibit him or any of his family, as far as they may be subject to their authority, from doing or committing in future any act or acts tending to prevent or impede the full re-establishment of His Highness' authority, His Highness the King engaging himself to place at the disposal of the Supreme Government of British India such Pension or Annuity as it may, in its wisdom, deem meet to recommend for the said Syfful Allum on the consideration of his retiring to Penang, and engaging to relinquish all claims to the sovereignty of Achéen, within three months from the date hereof.

ARTICLE 3.

His Highness the King grants to the British Government the free trade of all his ports, and engages that the Duties on merchandize levied at those ports shall be fixed and declared, and shall also be payable by the resident merchant. His Highness likewise engages not to grant or authorize a monopoly of the produce of his States by any person whatsoever.

ARTICLE 4.

His Highness engages, whenever the British Government may desire it, to receive and protect an accredited Agent of the British Government, with a suitable establishment, who shall be permitted to reside at His Highness' Court for the purpose of conducting the affairs of the Honourable Company.

ARTICLE 5.

In consideration of the injury which might result to the British trade from its exclusion from the ports of His Highness' States not at present subject to his authority, His Highness agrees and consents that ships and vessels of Great Britain shall continue their commercial intercourse with the Ports of Achéen and Jillusamañy, in the same manner as heretofore, unless a temporary blockade of these ports or either of them shall at any time be established by, and with the consent of, the British Government or resident authority. It is clearly understood, however, by the contracting parties, that no warlike stores or arms of any kind shall be furnished, given, or sold to any of His Highness' rebellious subjects by the vessels so trading to the aforesaid ports, under penalty of confiscation of ship and cargo.

ARTICLE 6.

His Highness Sri Sultan Alla Iddun Jowhar Allum Shah agrees, promises, and engages himself, his heirs and successors, to exclude the subjects of every other European power, and likewise all Americans, from a fixed habitation or residence in his dominions. He also engages not to enter into any negotiation or conclude any treaty with any power, Prince, or Potentate whatsoever, unless with the knowledge and consent of the British Government.

ARTICLE 7.

His Highness engages not to permit the residence, in his dominions, of any British subject to whom the Resident Agent shall offer any objection.

ARTICLE 8.

The British Government agrees to give and furnish to His Highness, without delay, all the arms and military stores which are detailed in the paper appended to this Treaty, and signed by His Highness. The British Government likewise agrees to advance to His Highness the sum of money therein mentioned, as a temporary loan, to be repaid by His Highness at his earliest convenience.

ARTICLE 9.

This Treaty, consisting of nine Articles, has this day been concluded, subject to the Ratification of the Governor-General within six months from the date hereof, but it is to be understood that the several provisions herein contained may be carried into immediate effect, without awaiting the said Ratification.

The letter from the Honourable William Edward Phillips, Governor of Pulo Penang, of which his Agent, Mr. John Anderson, had the charge, duly reached His Majesty, who is seated on the throne of Siack, and respecting all that is therein contained relating to the good will of the Governor of Pulo Penang, and the improvement and enlargement of mercantile connections between Siack and Pulo Penang, His Majesty is impressed with the greatest satisfaction, because Siack and its dependencies will thereby become populous, and there will be a constant and beneficial intercourse with Penang; wherefore His Majesty, in concert with his Chiefs, viz., the Tuanko Panglima Besar, the Datu Sri Pakama Rajah, the Datu Sri Biji Wangsa, the Datu Maharajah Lela Muda, and the Tuan Imaum, have confirmed the Treaty formerly given to Colonel Farquhar, Agent of the Governor of Pulo Penang; and in addition to that, His Majesty and the five Chiefs above-named make the following Engagement, and send it to the Governor of Pulo Penang, for the purpose of strengthening and perpetuating their reciprocal friendship, and that there may be no change or variation in the connection between Siack and Pulo Penang for ever and ever.

First.—His Majesty and the five Chiefs will not grant the Dutch, or any other nation, a settlement, or permit them to hoist their colours, or reside at Siack or any place under its dominion.

Second.—His Majesty and Chiefs will not interrupt or prevent any Noquedahs of vessels, or traders, from going to Penang, and will not give them any orders to trade solely with Malacca, but they shall be at full liberty to follow their own inclination, and proceed to Penang as heretofore.

Third.—There shall be no interference with the Chiefs of the States tributary to Siack, and they shall also have full power to enter into any negotiations, or make any engagements with Penang, which shall not be liable to be altered or varied by His Majesty, and the Datus and the Chiefs shall be at liberty to trade with Penang as they please.

Fourth.—All merchants or traders coming from Penang to Siack, shall meet with no interruption at Siack, but be free to buy and sell where they please.

Fifth.—To all prows, brigs, or ships, which may come to trade at Siack, meeting with any accident, either there or at sea, His Majesty and the Chiefs engage to render them every possible assistance, to enable them to return in safety to Penang.

Sixth.—The Duties established on imports from Penang, or exports from Siack, are fixed by a list delivered to Mr. John Anderson, and they shall not be altered or varied.

Seventh.—His Majesty and Chiefs will not countenance or permit any pirates to remain in Siack or its dependencies, but will turn them out, in order that the trade between Siack and Pulo Penang may flourish.

III.—SIAM.

THE diplomatic relations of the British Government with Siam may be said to have commenced with Mr. John Crawfurd's mission in 1821. The chief object of this mission was to procure an unrestricted trade with Siam, but Mr. Crawfurd's negotiations were unsuccessful.

In 1826 a Treaty (No. CLXVII) was negotiated by Captain Burney, with the view chiefly of preventing the Siamese from co-operating with the Burmese during the first Burmese war, in which the British Government was then engaged, and of providing for the peace of the Malayan Peninsula then disturbed in consequence of the occupation of Kedah by the Siamese. Besides the above Treaty, Captain Burney effected a Commercial Agreement (No. CLXVIII) with Siam. The provisions of this Engagement were systematically violated by the Siamese, and as the 6th Article placed British subjects under Siamese laws, its abrogation was indispensable.

In 1850 Sir James Brooke was deputed to Siam armed with plenipotentary powers from the Queen. But his efforts to conclude a satisfactory treaty were unsuccessful. Five years later, however, a Treaty (No. CLXIX) of friendship and commerce between Her Majesty and the Kings of Siam was negotiated by Sir John Bowring. In 1856 Mr. Parker conveyed to Siam the ratification of the treaty by the Queen, when an Agreement (No. CLXX) was made with Siamese Commissioners to give effect to the treaty and to define its intentions.

The Dependencies of Siam in the Malayan Peninsula are Kedah, Ligor, Tringganu, Kalantan, Patani and Junkceylon or Puket. The Engagements with Kedah have been already given (Nos. CXXXVIII to CXL). In 1831, after the Raja of Ligor had defeated the ex-Raja of Kedah in an attempt to recover his country (see Kedah), the Resident of Penang visited him at Kedah and concluded an Engagement (No. CLXXI) with him regarding the boundaries of Province Wellesley, in conformity with the 3rd Article of the treaty of Bangkok.

This boundary was not, however, actually marked out for many years. The Commission, composed partly of British and partly of Siamese officers, which had been appointed for the performance of this duty, was dissolved owing to the illness of some of the members, before its labours had been completed.⁶ In 1864, however, another Commission was appointed, and satisfactory arrangements were made for the boundary at the Isthmus of Kraw and the sea-ward line from the mouth of the Pakchan to Junkceylon. The boundary northward from Kraw was demarcated by a separate Commission who completed the work in 1867. A Convention (No. CLXXII) was signed on the 8th February 1868, defining the boundary in its entire length.

King Phrabat Somdetch Phra Chom Klow died on the 1st October 1868, after a reign of seventeen and a half years, and was succeeded by his eldest son Chow Fa Chula Longkorn, a minor.

The western portion of Siam, bordering on the Salween river and separated by it from Eastern Karenni, is occupied by the Chiengmai or Zimmé Shans, whose Chief is tributary to Siam. Disputes regarding the valuable forests situated on the eastern bank of the Salween led to chronic hostilities between the Karens and the Shans and numerous bands of dakaitis traversed the country, committing outrages on British traders and their property. To remedy this state of things a special officer with a strong force of police at his disposal was placed in charge of the Salween tracts, and advantage was taken of the visit of His Majesty the King of Siam to Calcutta in 1872 to discuss the measures necessary for the encouragement of trade and the repression of dakaiti on the Salween frontier. These discussions resulted in the deputation towards the end of 1873 of a Siamese Embassy to Calcutta, and on the 14th January 1874 a Treaty (No. CLXXIII) was signed, having for its objects the promotion of commercial intercourse with the Province of Chiengmai and the repression of heinous crime. The Siamese Government agreed to post guards along the eastern bank of the Salween, to maintain a sufficient police force, and to appoint judges in Chiengmai for the purpose of settling civil disputes between British and Siamese subjects. The treaty came into force on the 1st January 1875.

Under the terms of the treaty of 1855 and the supplementary agreement of 1856, the British Consul at Bangkok alone could try civil and criminal cases in which either both parties or the defendant were British subjects, and the cause of action arose in Siamese territory. The distance of Bangkok and the limited powers possessed by the Consul under the Order of Council of the 26th July 1856 led to much inconvenience in the disposal of cases arising in Chiengmai. The consent of the Siamese Government was obtained to the appointment of the Superintendent of the Yunzalin district in British Burma, to exercise all the powers that may be exercised by the Consul at Bangkok under the 2nd Article of the Treaty of 1855 and the 2nd Article of the supplementary agreement of 1856, and he was in virtue of this consent appointed to exercise for the territories of the King of Siam all the powers of a Political Agent under Act XI of 1872.

The treaty of 1874 did not work satisfactorily. Notwithstanding the good will shewn by the Siamese Government, it was found that, in the absence of any English officer, British subjects at times suffered unfriendly usage at the hands of the local authorities at Zimmé. It was also apparent that the treaty of 1874 was to some extent inconsistent with the Order of the Queen in Council, dated the 28th July 1856. Under these circumstances Major C. W. Street, of the British Burma Commission, was deputed in 1879 on a mission to Zimmé, for the purpose of enquiring into certain specific cases in which British subjects were concerned, and into the general question of establishing a British Agency at Zimmé. After protracted discussion a Treaty (No. CLXXIV) supplementary to the treaty of 1855 was finally concluded at Bangkok in May 1884. By this agreement, which relates only to the territories of Chiangmai, Lakon, and Lampunchi, and now including Phree and Nan, the treaty of 1874 was abrogated, and provision was made for the appointment of a British Consul or Vice-Consul at Zimmé. The Consul or Vice-Consul has judicial powers in respect of cases in which British subjects are defendants or accused; and in all such cases tried by the local judges appeal may be made to Bangkok. The treaty also contains provisions concerning the issue of passports to British and Siamese subjects travelling in Siamese or British territory respectively, concerning the extradition of offenders, and concerning the working of forests in the territories of the Prince of Chiangmai. Mr. E. B. Gould, the first British Vice-Consul, arrived at Zimmé in April 1884.

Her Majesty's Order in Council* under the treaty was promulgated on the 26th June 1884.

Two Orders in Council† have been issued by the King of Siam to facilitate the working of the Courts established under the treaty and for other purposes.

After the annexation of Upper Burma a question arose as to the ownership of the four small trans-Salween States of Mōng Tun, Mōng Hang, Mōng Kyawt, and Mōng Hta, which were claimed both by the Chief of Chiangmai and by the Sawbwa of Mōng Pan, and also in regard to Mōng Hsat which was claimed by Siam and Kéng Tung. At the end of 1887 Mr. A. H. Hildebrand, Superintendent, Southern Shan States, was directed to make a local enquiry in conjunction with Commissioners appointed by the Siamese Government. As a result it was ordered that the four first named States should henceforth be considered as a portion of the Shan States tributary to Her Majesty the Queen-Empress, and they were replaced under the Möng Pan Sawbwa with effect from the 15th November 1888. The State of Möng Hsat was found to be actually (under the management of Kéng Tung and was also declared under British protection.

The long-standing disputes above alluded to in respect to trans-Salween Karenni first claimed attention in September 1887, when the Chief Commissioner of Burma reported aggressions by the Siamese. In 1888 when his unprovoked attack on Mawk Mai compelled the British Government to punish Sawlapaw, Siam was invited to co-operate with a view to preventing his escape; and the acceptance of this suggestion was followed by their occupation of trans-Salween Karenni. This measure led to long correspondence, and it was not till October 1892 that the Siamese consented to evacuate this tract, and measures were taken for its restoration to Sawlawi, the Chief whom the British Government had recognised as Myoza of Karenni in succession to Sawlapaw deposed. In 1889 the Siamese Government proposed the appointment of a Joint Commission to settle claims to sovereignty over various districts on the east bank of the Salween. Various difficulties, however, arose, and the British Commissioners were compelled to take up the investigation alone. Work was commenced in Karenni and the boundary of the trans-Salween tract and of the small States previously in dispute was provisionally laid down. In 1889-90 the demarcation was continued, and on this occasion representatives of both Siam and Kéng Tung rendered assistance. A line of frontier extending as far as the Mekong was traced, and the whole of this border was accepted in 1892 by Siam. The final delineation by a Joint Commission in the open season of 1892-93 has now been arranged for.

Should any place or country subject to the Siamese do anything that may offend the English, the English shall not go and injure such place or country, but first report the matter to the Siamese, who will examine into it with truth and sincerity, and if the fault lie with the Siamese, the Siamese shall punish according to the fault. gold and silver flowers to Siam as heretofore, the English will not prevent his doing as he may desire. The Siamese or English shall not send any force to go and molest, attack, or disturb Perak. The English will not allow the State of Salengore to attack or disturb Perak, and the Siamese shall not go and attack or disturb Salengore. Both copies of the Treaty are sealed and attested by Their Excellencies the Ministers, and by Captain Henry Burney. One copy Captain Henry Burney will take for the Ratification of the Governor of Bengal, and one copy, bearing the royal seal, Chao Phya of Ligor will take and place at Quedah. Captain Burney appoints to return to Prince of Wales' Island in seven months, in the second Moon of the year dog 8, and to exchange the ratifications of this Treaty with Phra Phak-di-Bori-rak, at Quedah. The Siamese and English shall form a friendship that shall be perpetuated, that shall know no end or interruption as long as Heaven and Earth endure.

COMMERCIAL TREATY of 1827.

Their Excellencies the Ministers and Captain Henry Burnet having settled a Treaty of Friendship, consisting of fourteen Articles, now frame the following Agreement with respect to English vessels desiring to come and trade in the city of the sacred and great Kingdom of Si-a-yoo-tha-ya (Bangkok).

ARTICLE 1.

Vessels belonging to the subjects of the English Government, whether Europeans or Asiatics, desiring to come and trade at Bangkok, must conform to the established laws of Siam in every particular. Merchants coming to Bangkok are prohibited from purchasing paddy or rice for the purpose of exporting the same as merchandize, and if they import fire-arms, shot, or gunpowder, they are prohibited from selling them to any party but to the Government. Should the Government not require such fire-arms, shot, or gunpowder, the merchants must re-export the whole of them. With exception to such warlike stores, and paddy and rice, merchants, subjects of the English, and merchants at Bangkok, may buy and sell without the intervention of any other person, and with freedom and facility. Merchants coming to trade shall pay at once the whole of the duties and charges consolidated according to the breadth of the vessel.

If the vessel bring an import cargo, she shall be charged seventeen hundred (1,700) ticals for each Siamese fathom in breadth.

If the vessel bring no import cargo, she shall be charged fifteen hundred (1,500) ticals for each Siamese fathom in breadth.

No import, export, or other Duty shall be levied upon the buyers or sellers from, or to, English subjects.

ARTICLE 2.

Merchant vessels, the property of English subjects, arriving off the bar, must first anchor and stop there, and the Commander of the vessel must despatch a person with an account of the cargo, and a return of the people, guns, shot, and powder on board the vessel, for the information of the Governor, at the mouth of the river, who will send a pilot and interpreter to convey the established regulations to the Commander of the vessel. Upon the pilot bringing the vessel over the bar, she must anchor and stop below the chekey, which the interpreter will point out.

ARTICLE 3.

The proper officers will go on board the vessel and examine her thoroughly, and after the guns, shot and powder have been removed and deposited at Paknam (port at the mouth of the Menam), the Governor of Paknam will permit the vessel to pass up to Bangkok.

ARTICLE 4.

Upon the vessel's arriving at Bangkok, the officers of the customs will go on board and examine her, open the hold, and take an account of whatever cargo may be on board, and after the breadth of the vessel has been measured and ascertained, the merchants will be allowed to buy and sell according to the first article of this agreement. Should a vessel, upon receiving an export cargo, find that she cannot cross the bar with the whole, and that she must hire cargo boats to take down a portion of the cargo, the officers of the customs and chokeys shall not charge any further Duty upon such cargo boats.

ARTICLE 5.

Whenever a vessel or cargo boat completes her lading, the Commander of the vessel must go and ask Chao Phya Phra Khlang for a port clearance, and if there be no cause for detention, Chao Phya Phra Khlang shall deliver the port clearance without delay. When the vessel, upon her departure, arrives at Paknam, she must anchor and stop at the usual chokey, and after the proper officers have gone on board and examined her, the vessel may receive her guns, shot and powder, and take her departure.

ARTICLE 6.

Merchants being subjects of the English Government, whether Europeans or Asiatics, the Commanders, officers, lascars, and the whole of the crew of vessels, must conform to the established laws of Siam, and to the stipulations of this Treaty in every particular. If merchants of every class do not observe the Articles of this Treaty, and oppress the inhabitants of the country, become thieves or bad men, kill men, speak offensively of, or treat disrespectfully, any great or subordinate officers of the country, and the case become important in any way whatever, the proper officers shall take jurisdiction of it, and punish the offender. If the offence be homicide, and the officers, upon investigation, see that it proceeded from evil intention, they shall punish with death. If it be any other offence, and the party be the commander or officer of a vessel, or a merchant, he shall be fined. If he be of a lower rank, he shall be whipped or imprisoned, according to the established laws of Siam. The Governor of Bengal will prohibit English subjects, desiring to come and trade at Bangkok, from speaking disrespectfully or offensively to, or of the great officers in Siam. If any person at Bangkok oppress any English subject, he shall be punished according to his offence in the same manner.

The six Articles of this Agreement, let the Officers at Bangkok, and merchants subject to the English, fulfil and obey in every particular.

TREATY of 1855 with SIAM.

Her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and all its dependencies, and their Majesties Phra Bard Somdetch Phra Paramendo Maha Mongkut Phra Choni Klan Chan Yu Hua, the first King of Siam, and Phra Bard Somdetch Phra Pawarendo Ramese Mahiswarese Phra Pin Klan Chan Yu Hua, the second King of Siam, desiring to establish, upon firm and lasting foundations, the relations of peace and friendship existing between the two countries, and to secure the best interests of their respective subjects by encouraging, facilitating, and regulating their industry and trade, have resolved to conclude a Treaty of Amity and Commerce for this purpose, and have therefore named as their Plenipotentiaries; that is to say,

Her Majesty the Queen of Great Britain and Ireland, Sir John Bowring, Knight, Doctor of Laws, etc., etc.

Who, after having communicated to each other their respective full powers, and found them to be in good and due form, have agreed upon and concluded the following Articles:—

Article 1.—There shall henceforward be perpetual peace and friendship between Her Majesty the Queen of Great Britain and Ireland and Her successors, and their Majesties the first and second Kings of Siam and their successors. All British subjects coming to Siam shall receive from the Siamese Government full protection and assistance to enable them to reside in Siam in all security, and trade with every facility, free from oppression or injury on the part of the Siamese. And all Siamese subjects going to an English country shall receive from the British Government the same complete protection and assistance that shall be granted to British subjects by the Government of Siam.

Article 2.—The interests of all British subjects coming to Siam shall be placed under the regulation and control of a Consul, who will be appointed to reside at Bangkok. He will himself conform to, and will enforce the observance by British subjects, of all the provisions of this Treaty and such of the former Treaty negotiated by Captain Burney in 1826 as shall still remain in operation. He shall also give effect to all Rules or Regulations as are now, or may hereafter be, enacted for the government of British subjects in Siam, the conduct of their trade, and for the prevention of violations of the Laws of Siam. Any disputes arising between British and Siamese subjects shall be heard and determined by the Consul in conjunction with the proper Siamese Officers; and criminal offences will be punished, in the case of English offenders, by the Consul, according to English Laws, and in the case of Siamese offenders, by their own Laws through the Siamese authorities. But the Consul shall not interfere in any matters referring solely to Siamese, neither will the Siamese authorities interfere in questions which only concern the subjects of Her Britannic Majesty.

It is understood, however, that the arrival of the British Consul at Bangkok shall not take place before the Ratification of this Treaty, nor until ten vessels owned by British subjects, sailing under British colors and with British papers, shall have entered the Port of Bangkok for the purposes of trade, subsequent to the signing of this Treaty.

Article 3.—If Siamese, in the employ of British subjects, offend against the Laws of their country, or if any Siamese having so offended, or desiring to desert, take refuge with a British subject in Siam, they shall be searched for, and upon proof of their guilt or desertion shall be delivered up by the Consul to the Siamese authorities. In like manner any British offenders, resident or trading in Siam, who may desert, escape to, or hide themselves in Siamese territories, shall be apprehended and delivered over to the British Consul on his requisition. Chinese not able to prove themselves to be British subjects shall not be considered as such by the British Consul, nor be entitled to his protection.

Article 4.—British subjects are permitted to trade freely in all the seaports of Siam, but may reside permanently only at Bangkok, or within the limits assigned by this Treaty. British subjects coming to reside at Bangkok may rent land and buy or build houses, but cannot purchase lands within a circuit of 200 seng (not more than four miles English) from the City walls, until they shall have lived in Siam for ten years, or shall obtain special authority from the Siamese Government to enable them to do so. But with the exception of this limitation British residents in Siam may at any time buy or rent houses, lands, or plantations situated anywhere within a distance of twenty-four hours' journey from the City of Bangkok, to be computed by the rate at which boats of the country can travel. In order to obtain possession of such lands or houses it will be necessary that the British subject shall, in the first place, make application through the Consul to the proper Siamese officer, and the Siamese officer and the Consul having satisfied themselves of the honest intentions of the applicant, will assist him in settling, upon equitable terms, the amount of the purchase-money, will make out and fix the boundaries of the property, and will convey the same to the British purchaser under sealed Deeds, whereupon he and his property shall be placed under the protection of the Governor of the district, and that of the particular local authorities: he shall conform in ordinary matters to any just directions given him by them and will be subject to the same taxation that is levied on Siamese subjects. But if, through negligence, the want of capital or other cause, a British subject should fail to commence the cultivation or improvement of the lands so acquired within a term of three years from the date of receiving possession thereof, the Siamese Government shall have the power of resuming the property upon returning to the British subject the purchase-money paid by him for the same.

Article 5.—All British subjects intending to reside in Siam shall be registered at the British Consulate. They shall not go out to sea, nor proceed beyond the limits assigned by this Treaty for the residence of British subjects, without a passport from the Siamese authorities, to be applied for by the British Consul, nor shall they leave Siam if the Siamese authorities show to the British Consul that legitimate objections exist to their quitting the country. But within the limits appointed under the preceding Article British subjects are at liberty to travel to and fro under the protection of a Pass, to be furnished them by the British Consul, and counter-sealed by the proper Siamese Officer, stating, in the Siamese character, their names, calling, and description. The Siamese Officers at the Government Stations in the interior may, at any time, call for the production of this Pass; and, immediately on its being exhibited, they must allow the parties to proceed, but it will be their duty to detain those persons who, by travelling without a Pass from the Consul, render themselves liable to the suspicion of their being deserters; and such detention shall be immediately reported to the Consul.

Article 6.—All British subjects visiting or residing in Siam shall be allowed the free exercise of the Christian Religion, and liberty to build Churches in such localities as shall be consented to by the Siamese Authorities. The Siamese Government will place no restrictions upon the employment, by the English, of Siamese subjects as servants, or in any other capacity. But wherever a Siamese subject belongs or owes service to some particular master, the servant who engages himself to a British subject, without the consent of his master, may be reclaimed by him, and the Siamese Government will not enforce an Agreement between a British subject and any Siamese in his employ, unless made with the knowledge and consent of the master, who has a right to dispose of the services of the person engaged.

Article 7.—British Ships of War may enter the river and anchor at Paknam, but they shall not proceed above Paknam, unless with the consent of the Siamese authorities, which shall be given where it is necessary that a ship shall go into dock for repairs. Any British Ship of War conveying to Siam a public functionary, accredited by the British Government to the Court of Bangkok, shall be allowed to come up to Bangkok, but shall not pass the Forte called Phrachamit and Pit-pach-nuck, unless expressly permitted to do so by the Siamese Government. But in the absence of a British Ship of War the Siamese authorities engage to furnish the Consul with a force sufficient to enable him to give effect to his authority over British subjects, and to enforce discipline among British Shipping.

Article 8.—The measurement Duty hitherto paid by British vessels trading to Bangkok, under the Treaty of 1826, shall be abolished from the date of this Treaty coming into operation; and British Shipping or Trade will thenceforth be only subject to the payment of Import and Export Duties on the goods landed or shipped.

On all articles of import the Duty shall be three per cent., payable at the option of the importer, either in kind or money, calculated upon the market value of the goods. Drawback of the full amount of duty shall be allowed upon goods found unsaleable and re-exported. Should the British Merchant and the Custom House Officers disagree as to the value to be set upon imported articles, such disputes shall be referred to the Consul and proper Siamese Officer, who shall each have the power to call in an equal number of Merchants as assessors, not exceeding two on either side, to assist them in coming to an equitable decision.

Opium may be imported free of Duty, but can only be sold to the Opium farmer or his agents. In the event of no arrangement being effected with them for the sale of the Opium it shall be re-exported, and no Import or Duty shall be levied thereon. Any infringement of this Regulation shall subject the Opium to seizure and confiscation.

Articles of export, from the time of production to the date of shipment, shall pay one Import only, whether this be levied under the name of Inland Tax, Transit Duty, or Duty on exportation. The Tax or Duty to be paid on each article of Siamese produce, previous to or upon exportation, is specified in the Tariff attached to this Treaty; and it is distinctly agreed that goods or produce that pay any description of Tax in the interior shall be exempted from any further payment of Duty on exportation. English merchants are to be allowed to purchase directly from the producer the articles in which they trade, and in like manner to sell their goods directly to the parties wishing to purchase the same, without the interference, in either case, of any other person.

The rates of Duty laid down in the Tariff attached to this Treaty are those that are now paid upon goods or produce shipped in Siamese or Chinese vessels or junks; and it is agreed that British Shipping shall enjoy all the privileges now exercised by, or which hereafter may be granted to, Siamese or Chinese vessels or junks.

British subjects will be allowed to build ships in Siam on obtaining permission to do so from the Siamese authorities.

Whenever a scarcity may be apprehended of salt, rice, and fish, the Siamese Government reserve to themselves the right of prohibiting, by public proclamation, the exportation of these articles.

Bullion or personal effects may be imported or exported free of charge.

Article 9.—The Code of Regulations appended to this Treaty shall be enforced by the Consul, with the co-operation of the Siamese Authorities, and they, the said Authorities and Consul, shall be enabled to introduce any further Regulations which may be found necessary in order to give effect to the objects of this Treaty.

All fines and penalties inflicted for infraction of the provisions and regulations of this Treaty shall be paid to the Siamese Government.

Until the British Consul shall arrive at Bangkok and enter upon his functions, the consignees of British vessels shall be at liberty to settle with the Siamese Authorities all questions relating to their trade.

Article 10.—The British Government and its subjects will be allowed free and equal participation in any privileges that may have been, or may hereafter be, granted by the Siamese Government to the Government or subjects of any other nation.

Article 11.—After the lapse of ten years from the date of the Ratification of this Treaty, upon the desire of either the British or Siamese Government, and on twelve months' notice given by either party, the present, and such portions of the Treaty of 1826 as remain unrevoked by this Treaty, together with the Tariff and Regulations thereunto annexed, or those that may hereafter be introduced, shall be subject to revision by Commissioners appointed on both sides for this purpose, who will be empowered to decide on and insert therein such amendments as experience shall prove to be desirable.

Article 12.—This Treaty, executed in English and Siamese, both versions having the same meaning and intention, and the Ratifications thereof having been previously exchanged, shall take effect from the 8th day of April in the year 1856 of the Christian Era, corresponding to the 1st day of the fifth month of the One Thousand Two Hundred and Eighteenth year of the Siamese Civil Era.

In witness whereof the above-named Plenipotentiaries have signed and sealed the present Treaty in quadruplicate at Bangkok, on the Eighteenth day of April, in the year 1855 of the Christian Era, corresponding to the second day of the Sixth month of the One Thousand Two Hundred and Seventeenth year of the Siamese Civil Era.

GENERAL REGULATIONS under which BRITISH TRADE is to be conducted in SIAM.

Regulation 1.—The Master of every English ship coming to Bangkok to trade must, either before or after entering the river, as may be found convenient, report the arrival of his vessel at the Custom House at Paknam, together with the number of his crew and guns, and the port from whence he comes. Upon anchoring his vessel at Paknam, he will deliver into the custody of the Custom House Officers all his guns and ammunition, and a Custom House Officer will then be appointed to the vessel, and will proceed in her to Bangkok.

Regulation 2.—A vessel passing Paknam without discharging her guns and ammunition, as directed in the foregoing Regulation, will be sent back to Paknam to comply with its provisions, and will be fined eight hundred ticals for having so disobeyed. After delivery of her guns and ammunition, she will be permitted to return to Bangkok to trade.

Regulation 3.—When a British vessel shall have cast anchor at Bangkok, the Master, unless a Sunday should intervene, will, within four and twenty hours after arrival, proceed to the British Consulate, and deposit there his Ship's Papers, Bills of Lading, etc., together with a true Manifest of his Import Cargo; and upon the Consul's reporting these particulars to the Custom House, permission to break bulk will at once be given by the latter.

For neglecting so to report his arrival, or for presenting a false Manifest, the Master will subject himself, in each instance, to a penalty of four hundred ticals; but he will be allowed to correct, within twenty-four hours after delivery of it to the Consul, any mistake he may discover in his Manifest, without incurring the above-mentioned penalty.

Regulation 4.—A British vessel breaking bulk and commencing to discharge before due permission shall be obtained, or smuggling, either when in the river or outside the bar, shall be subject to the penalty of eight hundred ticals and confiscation of the goods so smuggled or discharged.

Regulation 5.—As soon as a British vessel shall have discharged her cargo and completed her outward lading, paid all her Duties, and delivered a true Manifest of her outward cargo to the British Consul, a Siamese Port Clearance shall be granted her on application from the Consul, who, in the absence of any legal impediment to her departure, will then return to the Master his Ship's Papers, and allow the vessel to leave. A Custom House Officer will accompany the vessel to Paknam, and on arriving there she will be inspected by the Custom House Officers of that Station, and will receive from them the guns and ammunition previously delivered into their charge.

Regulation 6.—Her Britannic Majesty's Plenipotentiary having no knowledge of the Siamese language, the Siamese Government have agreed that the English text of these Regulations, together with the Treaty of which they form a portion, and the Tariff hereunto annexed, shall be accepted as conveying in every respect their true meaning and intention.

No. CLXX.

AGREEMENT entered into between the undermentioned ROYAL COMMISSIONERS, on the part of THEIR MAJESTIES the FIRST and SECOND KINGS of SIAM, and HARRY SMITH PARKES, ESQ., on the part of HER BRITANNIC MAJESTY'S GOVERNMENT—1856.

Mr. Parkes having stated, on his arrival at Bangkok, as bearer of Her Britannic Majesty's Ratification of the Treaty of Friendship and commerce concluded on the 18th day of April 1855, between Her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and their Majesties Phra Bard Somdetch Phra Paramendy Maha Mongkut Phra Cham Klan Chan Yu Hua, the First Hing of Siam, and Phra Bard Somdetch Phra Pawarendr Ramesr Mahiswaresr Phra Pin Klan Chan Yu Hua, the Second King of Siam, that he was instructed by the Earl of Clarendon, Her Britannic Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, to request the Siamese Government to consent to an enumeration of those Articles of the former Treaty, concluded in 1826, between the Honourable East India Company and their late Majesties the First and Second Kings of Siam, which are abrogated by the Treaty first named, and also to agree to certain explanations which appear necessary to mark the precise force and application of certain portions of the new Treaty, their aforesaid Majesties, the First and Second Kings of Siam, have appointed and empowered certain Royal Commissioners, namely, His Royal Highness Krom Hluang Wang-sa Dhiraj Snidh, and their Excellencies the four Senaputhies or Principal Ministers of Siam, to confer and arrange with Mr. Parkes the matters above-named, and the said Royal Commissioners having accordingly met Mr. Parkes for this purpose on repeated occasions, and maturely considered all the subjects brought by him to their notice, have resolved—

That it is proper, in order to prevent future controversy, that those clauses of the old Treaty, which are abrogated by the new Treaty, should be distinctly specified, and that any clause of the new Treaty, which is not sufficiently clear, should be fully explained. To this end they have agreed to and concluded the following twelve Articles:—

ARTICLE 1.

On the old Treaty concluded in 1826.

The Articles of the old Treaty not abrogated by the new Treaty or 1, 2, 3, 8, 11, 12, 13, and 14, and the undermentioned clauses of Articles 6 and 10.

In Article 6, the Siamese desire to retain the following clause:—

“If a Siamese or English merchant buy or sell without enquiring and ascertaining whether the seller or buyer be of a good or bad character, and if he meet with a bad man who takes the property and absconds, the rulers and officers on either side must make search and endeavour to produce the property of the absconder, and investigate the matter with sincerity. If the party possess money or property, he can be made to pay; but if he does not possess any, or if he cannot be apprehended, it will be the merchant's own fault, and the authorities cannot be held responsible.”

Of Article 10, Mr. Parkes desires to retain that clause relating to the Overland Trade, which states—

“Asiatic merchants of the English countries, not being Burmese, Peguans or descendants of Europeans, desiring to enter into and to trade with the Siamese dominions from the countries of Mergui, Tavoy, Tenasserim, and Ye, which are now subject to the English, will be allowed to do so freely overland and by water, upon the English furnishing them with proper certificates.” Mr. Parkes, however, desires that all British subjects, without exception, shall be allowed to participate in this Overland trade. The said Royal Commissioners therefore agree, on the part of the Siamese, that all traders under British rule may cross from the British territories of Mergui, Tavoy, Ye, Tenasserim, Pegu, or other places, by land or by water, to the Siamese territories, and may trade there with facility, on the condition that they shall be provided by the British authorities with proper Certificates, which must be renewed for each journey.

The Commercial Agreement annexed to the old Treaty is abrogated by the new Treaty, with the exception of the undermentioned clauses of Articles 1 and 4:—

Of Article 1, the Siamese desire to retain the following clause:—

“British Merchants importing fire-arms, shot, or gunpowder, are prohibited from selling them to any party but the Government; should the Government not require such fire-arms, shot or gunpowder, the Merchants must re-export the whole of them.”

Article 4 stipulates that no charge or duty shall be levied on boats carrying cargo of British ships at the bar. The Siamese desire to cancel this clause for the reason that the old measurement duty of 1,700 ticals per fathom included the fees of the various officers. But as this measurement duty has now been abolished, the Siamese wish to levy on each native boat taking cargo out to sea a fee of 8 ticals 2 salungs, this being the charge paid by Siamese traders; and Mr. Parkes undertakes to submit this point to the consideration of Her Majesty's Minister Plenipotentiary to the Court of Siam.

ARTICLE 2.

On the exclusive jurisdiction of the Consul over British subjects.

The 2nd Article of the Treaty stipulates that “any disputes arising between the British and Siamese subjects shall be heard and determined by the Consul in conjunction with the proper Siamese officers; and criminal offenders will be punished, in the case of English offenders, by the Consul according to English laws, and in the case of Siamese offenders, by their own laws, through the Siamese authorities." But the Consul shall not interfere in any matters referring solely to Siamese, neither will the Siamese authorities interfere in questions which only concern the subjects of Her Britannic Majesty.

On the non-interference of the Consul with the Siamese, or of the Siamese with British subjects, the said Royal Commissioners desire, in the first place, to state that, while for natural reasons they fully approve of the Consul holding no jurisdiction over Siamese in their own country, the Siamese authorities, on the other hand, will feel themselves bound to call on the Consul to apprehend and punish British subjects, who shall commit, whilst in Siamese territory, any grave infractions of the laws, such as cutting, wounding or inflicting other serious bodily harm. But in disputes or in offences of a slighter nature committed by British subjects among themselves, the Siamese authorities will refrain from all interference.

With reference to the punishment of offences, or the settlement of disputes, it is agreed—

That all criminal cases in which both parties are British subjects, or in which the defendant is a British subject, shall be tried and determined by the British Consul alone.

All criminal cases in which both parties are Siamese, or in which the defendant is a Siamese, shall be tried and determined by the Siamese authorities alone.

That all civil cases in which both parties are British subjects, or in which the defendant is a British subject, shall be heard and determined by the British Consul alone. All civil cases in which both parties are Siamese or in which the defendant is a Siamese, shall be heard and determined by the Siamese authorities alone.

That whenever a British subject has to complain against a Siamese, he must make his complaint through the British Consul, who will lay it before the proper Siamese authorities.

That in all cases in which Siamese or British subjects are interested, the Siamese authorities in the one case, and the British Consul in the other, shall be at liberty to attend at and listen to the investigation of the case, and copies of the proceedings will be furnished from time to time, or whenever desired, to the Consul or the Siamese authorities, until the case is concluded.

That although the Siamese may interfere so far with British subjects as to call upon the Consul in the manner stated in this Article, to punish grave offences when committed by British subjects, it is agreed that—

British subjects, their persons, houses, premises, lands, ships or property of any kind shall not be seized, injured, or in any way interfered with by the Siamese. In case of any violation of this stipulation, the Siamese authorities will take cognisance of the case, and punish the offenders. On the other hand, Siamese subjects, their persons, houses, premises, or property of any kind shall not be seized, injured, or in any way interfered with by the English, and the British Consul shall investigate and punish any breach of this stipulation.

ARTICLE 3.

On the right of the British Subjects to dispose of their property at will.

By the 4th Article of the Treaty, British subjects are allowed to purchase in Siam "houses, gardens, fields or plantations." It is agreed in reference to this stipulation, that British subjects, who have accordingly purchased houses, gardens, fields, or plantations, are at liberty to sell the same to whomsoever they please. In the event of a British subject dying in Siam, and leaving houses, lands or any property, his relations, or those persons who are his heirs according to English laws, shall receive possession of the said property; and the British Consul, or some one appointed by the British Consul may proceed at once to take charge of the said property on their account. If the deceased should have debts due to him by the Siamese or other persons, the Consul can collect them; and if the deceased should owe money, the Consul shall liquidate his debts as far as the estate of the deceased shall suffice.

ARTICLE 4.

On the taxes, duties, or other charges leviable on British subjects.

The 4th Article of the Treaty provides for the payment on the lands held or purchased by British subjects, of "the same taxation that is levied on Siamese subjects." The taxes here alluded to are those set forth in the annexed schedule.

Again, it is stated in the 8th Article, "that British subjects are to pay import and export duties according to the tariff annexed to the Treaty." For the sake of greater distinctness, it is necessary to add to these two clauses the following explanation, namely, that besides the land tax, and the import and export duties mentioned in the aforesaid articles, no additional charge or tax of any kind may be imposed upon a British subject, unless it obtain the sanction both of the supreme Siamese authorities and the British Consul.

ARTICLE 5.

On passes and port clearances.

The 5th Article of the Treaty provides that passports shall be granted to travellers, and the 5th Article of the regulations, that port clearances shall be furnished to ships. In reference thereto, the said Royal Commissioners, at the request of Mr. Parkes, agree that the passports to be given to British subjects travelling beyond the limits assigned by the Treaty for the residence of British subjects, together with the passes for cargo boats and the port clearances of British ships, shall be issued within twenty-four hours after formal application for the same shall have been made to the proper Siamese authorities. But if reasonable cause should at any time exist for delaying or withholding the issue of any of these papers, the Siamese authorities must at once communicate it to the Consul.

Passports for British subjects travelling in the interior, and the port clearances of British ships, will be granted by the Siamese authorities free of charge.

ARTICLE 6.

On the prohibition of the exportation of rice, salt, and fish, and on the duty on paddy.

The 8th Article of the Treaty stipulates that "whenever a scarcity may be apprehended of salt, rice and fish, the Siamese Government reserve to themselves the right of prohibiting, by public proclamation, the exportation of these articles."

Mr. Parkes, in elucidation of this clause, desires an agreement to this effect, namely, that a month's notice shall be given by the Siamese authorities to the Consul prior to the enforcement of the prohibition, and that British subjects, who may previously obtain special permission from the Siamese authorities to export a certain quantity of rice which they have already purchased, may do so even after the prohibition comes in force. Mr. Parkes also requests that the export duty on paddy should be half of that on rice, namely, 2 ticals per koyan.

The said Royal Commissioners, having in view the fact that rice forms the principal sustenance of the nation, stipulate that, on the breaking out of war or rebellion, the Siamese may prohibit the trade in rice, and may enforce the prohibition so long as the hostilities thus occasioned shall continue. If a dearth should be apprehended on account of the want or excess of rain, the Consul will be informed one month previous to the enforcement of the prohibition. British merchants who obtain the Royal permission, upon the issue of the proclamation, to export a certain quantity of rice which they have already purchased, may do so irrespective of the prohibition to the contrary; but those merchants who do not obtain the Royal permission will not be allowed, when the prohibition takes effect, to export the rice they may already have purchased.

The prohibition shall be removed as soon as the cause of its being imposed shall have ceased to exist.

Paddy may be exported on payment of a duty of 2 ticals per koyan, or half the amount levied on rice.

ARTICLE 7.

On permission to import gold-leaf as bullion.

Under the 8th Article of the Treaty, bullion may be imported or exported free of charge. With reference to this clause, the said Royal Commissioners, at the request of Mr. Parkes, agree that foreign coins of every denomination, gold and silver in bars or ingots, and gold-leaf, may be imported free; but manufactured articles in gold and silver, plated-ware, and diamonds or other precious stones, must pay an import duty of three per cent.

ARTICLE 8.

On the establishment of a Custom House.

The said Royal Commissioners, at the request of Mr. Parkes, and in conformity with the intent of the 8th Article of the new Treaty, agree to the immediate establishment of a Custom House, under the superintendency of a high Government functionary, for the examination of all goods landed or shipped, and the receipt of the import and export duties due thereon. They further agree that the business of the Custom House shall be conducted under the regulations annexed to this agreement.

ARTICLE 9.

On the subsequent taxation of articles now free from duty.

Mr. Parkes agrees with the said Royal Commissioners that whenever the Siamese Government deem it to be beneficial for the country to impose a single tax or duty on any article not now subject to a public charge of any kind, they are at liberty to do so, provided that the said tax be just and reasonable.

ARTICLE 10.

On the boundaries of the four-mile circuit.

It is stipulated in the 4th Article of the Treaty that "British subjects coming to reside at Bangkok may rent land, and buy or build houses, but cannot purchase lands within a circuit of 200 sen (not more than four miles English) from the city walls, until they shall have lived in Siam for ten years, or shall obtain special authority from the Siamese Government to enable them to do so."

The points to which this circuit extends due north, south, east and west of the city, and the spot where it crosses the river below Bangkok, have accordingly been measured by officers on the part of the Siamese and English; and their measurements, having been examined and agreed to by the said Royal Commissioners and Mr. Parkes, are marked by stone pillars placed at the under-mentioned localities, viz. :—

On the North :—One sen north of Wat Kemabherataram.

On the East :—Six sen and seven fathoms south-west of Wat Bangkopi.

On the South :—About nineteen sen south of the village of Bangpakjo.

On the West :—About two sen south-west of the village of Bangphrom.

The pillars marking the spot where the circuit line crosses the river below Bangkok are placed on the left bank, three sen below the village of Bangmanan, and on the right bank about one sen below the village of Banglam-puluem.

On the boundaries of the 24-hours' journey.

It is stipulated in the 4th Article of the Treaty that "excepting within the circuit of four miles, British merchants in Siam may at any time buy or rent houses, lands, or plantations, situated any where within a distance of twenty-four hours' journey from the city of Bangkok, to be computed by the rate at which boats of the country can travel."

The said Royal Commissioners and Mr. Parkes have consulted together on this subject, and have agreed that the boundary of the said twenty-four hours' journey shall be as follows :—

1. On the North :—The Bangputsa Canal, from its mouth on the Chow Phya River to the old City walls of Lobpary, and a straight line from Lobpary to the landing-place of Thra of Phrangam, near to the town of Saraburi, on the River Pasak.

2. On the East :—A straight line drawn from the landing-place of Thra Prangam to the junction of the Klongkut Canal with the Bangpakong River; the Bangpakong River from the junction of the Klongkut Canal to its mouth; and the coast from the mouth of the Bangpakong River to the Isle of Srimaharajah, to such distance inland as can be reached within twenty-four hours' journey from Bangkok.

3. On the South :—The Isle of Srimaharajah and the Islands of Se-change on the east side of the Gulf, and the City walls of Petchaburi on the west side.

4. On the West :—The Western Coast of the Gulf to the mouth of the Mecklong River to such a distance inland as can be reached within twenty-four hours' journey from Bangkok; the Mecklong River from its mouth to the City walls of Kaggury; a straight line from the City walls of Kaggury to the Town of Swbharnapury, and a straight line from the Town of Swbharnapury to the mouth of the Bangputsa Canal on the Chow Phya River.

ARTICLE 12.

On the incorporation in the Treaty of this Agreement.

The said Royal Commissioners agree, on the part of the Siamese Government, to incorporate all the Articles of this Agreement in the Treaty concluded by the Siamese Plenipotentiaries and Sir John Bowring on the 18th April 1855, whenever this shall be desired by Her Britannic Majesty's Plenipotentiary.

In witness whereof the said Royal Commissioners and the said Harry Smith Parkes have sealed and signed this Agreement in duplicate, at Bangkok, on the thirteenth day of May, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-six of the Christian era, corresponding to the ninth day of the waxing moon of the lunar month of Wesakh, in the year of the Quadrupedi Serpent, being the year one Thousand two hundred and eighteen of the Siamese astronomical era, which is the nineteenth of Her Britannic Majesty's and sixth of their present Siamese Majestys' reigns.

BRITISH ORDER IN COUNCIL, PROVIDING for the EXERCISE of BRITISH JURISDICTION in SIAM, JULY 28, 1856.

At the Court at Osborne House, Isle of Wight, the 28th day of July 1856.

PRESENT: THE QUEEN'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY IN COUNCIL.

WHEREAS by a certain Act of Parliament, made and passed in the Session of Parliament holden in the 6th and 7th years of Her Majesty's reign (Cap. 94), entitled "An Act to remove doubts as to the exercise of power and jurisdiction by Her Majesty within divers countries and places out of Her Majesty's dominions and to render the same more effectual," it is amongst other things enacted, that it is and shall be lawful for Her Majesty to hold, exercise, and enjoy any power or jurisdiction which Her Majesty now hath, or may at any time hereafter have, within any country or place out of Her Majesty's dominions, in the same and as ample a manner as if Her Majesty had acquired such power or jurisdiction by the cession or conquest of territory ;

And whereas Her Majesty hath power and jurisdiction in the dominions of the Kings of Siam ;

And whereas it is expedient at the present time to make provision for the due exercise of the jurisdiction possessed by Her Majesty as aforesaid :

I.—Now, therefore, in pursuance of the above-recited Act of Parliament, Her Majesty is pleased, by and with the advice of her Privy Council, to order, and it is hereby ordered that Her Majesty's Consul appointed to reside in the kingdom of Siam shall have full power and authority to carry into effect, and to enforce, by fine or imprisonment, as hereinafter provided, the observance of the stipulations of any Treaty, or of regulations appended to any Treaty, now existing, or which may hereafter be made between Her Majesty, her heirs and successors, and the Kings of Siam, their heirs and successors, and to make and enforce, by fine or imprisonment, rules and regulations for the observance of the stipulations of such Treaties, and for the peace, order, and good government of Her Majesty's subjects being within the dominions of the Kings of Siam.

II.—And it is further ordered that a copy of all such rules and regulations made by the said Consul shall forthwith be affixed, and kept affixed and exhibited in some conspicuous place in the public office of the said Consul ; and printed copies of the said rules and regulations shall, as soon as possible, be provided by the said Consul, and sold at a price not exceeding 1 Dollar for each copy ; and for the purpose of convicting any person offending against the said rules and regulations, and for all other purposes of law whatsoever, a printed copy of the said rules and regulations, certified under the hand of the said Consul to be a true copy thereof, shall be taken as conclusive evidence of such rules and regulations ; and no penalty shall be incurred, or shall be enforced, for the breach of any such rules or regulations to be hereafter made, until the same shall have been so affixed and exhibited for 1 calendar month in the public office of the Consul : Provided always, that any such rule or regulation made by Her Majesty's Consul, and to be enforced by a penalty, shall be submitted to Her Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs for allowance or disallowance, and if any such rule or regulation should be disallowed by Her Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, the same shall cease to have effect from the receipt by the Consul of such disallowance ; nevertheless the Consul shall not be liable to be proceeded against in any of Her Majesty's Courts in regard to any act done by him under such rule or regulation previously to its disallowance.

III.—And it is further ordered that it shall be lawful for Her Majesty's Consul as aforesaid, upon information, or upon the complaint of any party that a British subject has violated any of the stipulations of Treaties or of regulations appended to any Treaty, between Her Majesty and the Kings of Siam, or has disregarded or infringed any of the rules and regulations for the observance of the stipulations of such Treaties, affixed and exhibited according to the provisions of the next preceding Article of this present Order, to summon before him the accused party, and to receive evidence and examine witnesses as to the guilt or innocence of such party in regard to the offence laid to his charge; and to award such penalty of fine or imprisonment to any party convicted of an offence against the said Treaties, or appended regulations, or the said rules and regulations, as may be specified therein respectively; and any charge against a British subject for a breach of Treaties or regulations, or for a breach of the rules and regulations for the observance of such Treaties, shall be heard and determined by the Consul, without assessors: Provided always, that in no case shall the penalty to be attached to a breach of the said rules and regulations exceed 500 dollars, or three months' imprisonment.

IV.—And it is further ordered that any charge against a British subject for a breach of rules and regulations, other than those relating to the observance of Treaties, shall in like manner be heard and determined by Her Majesty's Consul; and in all cases in which the penalty shall not exceed 200 dollars or one month's imprisonment, the Consul shall hear and determine the charge summarily, without the aid of assessors; but where the penalty attached to a breach of the rules and regulations other than those relating to the observance of Treaties shall amount to more than 200 dollars, or to imprisonment for more than one month, the Consul, before he shall proceed to hear the charge, shall summon two British subjects of good repute to sit with him as assessors, which assessors shall, however, have no authority to decide on the innocence or guilt of the party charged, or on the amount of fine or imprisonment to be awarded to him on conviction; but it shall rest with the Consul to decide on the guilt or innocence of the party charged, and on the amount of fine or imprisonment to be awarded to him: Provided always that in no case shall the penalty to be attached to a breach of rules and regulations other than those for the observance of Treaties exceed 500 dollars or three months' imprisonment; and provided further that in the event of the said assessors or either of them dissenting from the conviction of the party charged, or from the penalty of fine or imprisonment awarded to him by the Consul, the Consul shall take a note of such dissent, with the grounds thereof, and shall require good and sufficient security for the appearance of the party convicted at a future time, in order to undergo his sentence or receive his discharge; and the Consul shall, with as little delay as possible, report his decision, with all the particulars of the case, together with the dissent of the assessors or either of them, and the grounds thereof, to Her Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, and Her Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs shall have authority to confirm, or vary, or reverse the decision of the Consul, as to him may seem fit.

V.—And it is further ordered that it shall be lawful for Her Majesty's Consul to hear and determine any suit of a civil nature against a British subject, arising within any part of the dominions of the Kings of Siam, whether such suit be instituted by a subject of the Kings of Siam, or by a subject or citizen of a foreign State in amity with Her Majesty; and if either, or any, party in such suit shall be dissatisfied with the decision given by such Consul, it shall be lawful for such party within 15 days to give to the Consul notice of appeal to the Supreme Court in Her Majesty's Possession of Singapore; whereupon the Consul shall, with as little delay as possible, transmit all the documents which were produced before him and none other, together with a statement of the grounds on which he has formed his decision, to the said Supreme Court, and shall forthwith notify to the several parties the transmission of the process: Provided always that it shall be lawful for the Consul to require from any party appealing to the said Supreme Court reasonable security, which shall consist in part of one or two sufficient sureties, to be approved by the Consul, that such party shall abide by the decision to be given by the said Supreme Court, and, if such appeal shall fail, to answer all costs, loss, and damages sustained by the other party in consequence of such appeal.

VI.—And it is further ordered that it shall be lawful for Her Majesty's Consul, in like manner, to hear and determine any suit of a civil nature, arising within any part of the dominions of the Kings of Siam, instituted by a British subject against a subject of the Kings of Siam, or against a subject or citizen of a foreign State in amity with Her Majesty, provided that the defendant in such suit shall consent to submit to his jurisdiction and give sufficient security that he will abide by the decision of the Consul, or, in case of appeal, by that of the Supreme Court of Her Majesty's Possession of Singapore, and will pay such expenses as the Consul or the said Supreme Court shall adjudge; and if either or any party in such suit shall be dissatisfied with the decision given by such Consul, it shall be lawful for such party within 15 days to give to the Consul notice of appeal to the said Supreme Court, and the proceedings in such a suit, or in an appeal arising therefrom, shall be conformable to, and under the same conditions as, the proceedings in a suit, or in an appeal arising therefrom, in which a British subject is defendant, and a subject of the Kings of Siam, or a subject or citizen of a foreign State in amity with Her Majesty, is plaintiff.

VII.—And it is further ordered that in the event of any suit of a civil nature arising between British subjects within the dominion of the Kings of Siam, it shall be lawful, upon the application of a party, for Her Majesty's Consul to hear and determine such suit, subject to an appeal to the Supreme Court of Her Majesty's Possession of Singapore: and every such appeal shall be made and conducted in the same manner and form, and under the same conditions, as in cases in which the defendant only is a British subject.

VIII.—And it is further ordered, that it shall be lawful for Her Majesty's Consul to summon two, and not more than four, British subjects of good repute, to sit with him as assessors at the hearing of any suit whatever of a civil nature brought before him for decision; and in case the sum sought to be recovered shall exceed 500 dollars, such suit shall not be heard by the Consul without assessors, if within a reasonable time such assessors can be procured; and the assessors aforesaid shall have no authority to decide on the merits of such suit, but in the event of such assessors, or any, or either, of them, dissenting from the decision of the Consul, the Consul shall enter the fact of such dissent, and the grounds thereof, in the minutes of the proceedings, and, in case of appeal, shall transmit the same to the Supreme Court of Her Majesty's Possession of Singapore, together with the documents relating to the suit.

IX.—And it is further ordered that it shall be lawful for Her Majesty's Consul to enforce his decision against a British subject in a civil suit, by distress or imprisonment, in like manner as a decision of the Supreme Court of Her Majesty's Possession of Singapore in a civil suit is enforced within the said possession.

X.—And it is further ordered that in an appeal to the Supreme Court of Her Majesty's Possession of Singapore from the decision of Her Majesty's Consul, it shall be lawful for the said Supreme Court to admit any further legal evidence, besides that adduced before the Consul, on its being established to the satisfaction of the said Supreme Court, by oath or affidavit, that the party desiring to produce such further evidence was ignorant of the existence of such evidence, or was taken by surprise at the hearing before the Consul, or was unable to produce it before the Consul, after due and reasonable diligence and exertion on his part in that behalf, or where, under the circumstances of the case, it shall appear to the said Supreme Court that further evidence ought to be received.

XI.—And it is further ordered that Her Majesty's Consul shall have power in a civil suit to examine on oath, or in such form, and with such ceremony, as he may declare to be binding on his conscience, any witness who may appear before him, and shall have power, on the application of any party in the said suit, to issue a compulsory order for the attendance of any person being a British subject, who may be competent to give evidence in such suit; and any British subject having been duly served with any such compulsory order, and with a reasonable notice of the day of hearing of such suit, upon his expenses of appearing as a witness having been paid or tendered to him by the party at whose application he shall have been ordered to attend, shall, on his wilful default to appear as a witness of the hearing of such suit, be punished with a fine not exceeding 100 dollars, or with imprisonment for a period not exceeding 30 days, at the discretion of the said Consul; and every witness, being a British subject, so examined as aforesaid, in case of wilful false testimony, may be convicted of, and punished for, the crime of wilful and corrupt perjury.

XII.—And it is further ordered that it shall be lawful for Her Majesty's Consul to promote the settlement of a suit or contention by amicable agreement between the parties, and, with the consent of the several parties, to refer the decision of a suit or contention to one or more arbitrators, and to take security from the parties that they will be bound by the result of such reference, and the award of such arbitrator or arbitrators shall be, to all intents and purposes, deemed and taken to be a judgment or sentence of Her Majesty's Consul in such suit or contention, and shall be entered and recorded as such, and shall have the like effect and operation, and shall be enforced accordingly, and shall not be open to appeal.

XIII.—And it is further ordered that it shall be lawful for Her Majesty's Consul to cause to be apprehended and brought before him any British subject who may be charged with having committed any crime or offence within the dominions of the Kings of Siam, and such Consul shall thereupon proceed, with all convenient speed, to inquire of the same, and for such purpose and end shall have power to examine on oath, or in such form and with such ceremony as he shall declare to be binding on his conscience, any witness who may appear before him to substantiate the charge; and shall have power to compel any person, being a British subject, who may be competent to give evidence as to the guilt or innocence of the party so charged, to appear and give evidence, and to punish the wilful default of any such person to appear and give evidence, after reasonable notice of the day of the hearing of such charge, by fine or imprisonment, in like manner as provided in Article XI. of this Order; and shall examine every such witness in the presence and hearing of the party accused, and afford the accusing party all reasonable facility for cross-examining such witness; and shall cause the deposition of every such witness to be reduced to writing, and the same to be read over, and, if necessary, explained to the party accused, together with any other evidence that may have been urged against him during the course of the inquiry: and shall require such accused party to defend himself against the charge brought against him, and, if necessary, advise him of the legal effects of any voluntary confession, and shall take the evidence of any witness whom the accused party may tender to be examined in his defence; and every witness, being a British subject, so examined as aforesaid, in case of wilful false testimony, may be convicted and punished for the crime of wilful and corrupt perjury; and when the case has been fully inquired of, and the innocence or guilt of the person accused established to the satisfaction of the Consul, the Consul, as the case may be, shall either discharge the party accused from custody, if satisfied of his innocence, or proceed to pass sentence on him, if satisfied of his guilt: and it shall be lawful for the Consul, having inquired of, tried, and determined, in the manner aforesaid, any charge which may be brought before him, to award to the party convicted any amount of punishment not exceeding imprisonment for one month, or a fine of 200 dollars.

XIV.—And it is further ordered that if the crime or offence whereof any person, being a British subject, may be accused before Her Majesty's Consul as aforesaid, shall appear to such Consul to be of such a nature as, if proved, would not be adequately punished by the infliction of such punishment as aforesaid, it shall be lawful for such Consul to summon two, or not more than four, British subjects of good repute, to sit with him as assessors for inquiring of, trying, and determining the charge against such person; and the Consul, when he shall try any such charge with the assistance of assessors as aforesaid, shall, if he is himself convinced of the guilt of the party accused, have power to award any amount of punishment not exceeding imprisonment for 12 months, or a fine of 1,000 dollars; and the assessors aforesaid shall have no authority to decide on the innocence or guilt of the party accused, or on the amount of punishment to be awarded to him on conviction; but in the event of the said assessors, or any, or either, of them dissenting from the conviction of, or from the amount of punishment awarded to, the accused party, the said assessors, or any, or either, of them, shall be authorised to record in the minutes of the proceedings the grounds on which the said assessors, or any, or either, of them, may so dissent; and the Consul shall forthwith report to Her Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs the fact that such dissent has been so recorded in the minutes of the proceedings, and shall, as soon as possible, lay before him copies of the whole of the depositions and proceedings, with the dissent of the assessors or assessor recorded therein; and it shall be lawful thereupon for Her Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, by warrant under his hand and seal, addressed to the Consul, to confirm, or vary, or remit altogether, as to him may seem fit, the punishment awarded to the party accused; and such Consul shall give immediate effect to the injunction of any such warrant: Provided always that in any case in which the assessor or assessors shall dissent from the conviction of, or from the amount of punishment awarded to, the accused party, it shall be lawful for Her Majesty's Consul to take good and sufficient bail from the accused party to appear and undergo the punishment awarded to him, provided the same, or any portion thereof, is confirmed by Her Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, which punishment, or any portion thereof, shall commence to take effect from the day on which the decision of Her Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs shall be notified to the party accused.

XV.—And in order more effectually to repress crimes and offences on the part of British subjects within the dominions of the Kings of Siam, it is further ordered that it shall and may be lawful for Her Majesty's Consul to cause any British subject who shall have been twice convicted before him of any crime or offence, and punished for the same, and who after execution of the sentence of the Consul on any second conviction, shall not be able to find good and sufficient security to the satisfaction of the Consul for his future good behaviour, to be sent out of the dominions of the Kings of Siam; and to this end the Consul shall have power and authority, as soon as may be practicable after execution of the sentence on such second conviction, to send any such twice-convicted party, if a native of the territories administered by the East India Company, to Her Majesty's Possession of Singapore, or to some other port of the said territories, or if such party is not a native of the said territories, to England, and in the meanwhile to detain such party in custody, until a suitable opportunity for sending him out of the dominions of the Kings of Siam shall present itself; and any person so to be sent out of the said dominions as aforesaid shall be embarked in custody on board one of Her Majesty's vessels of war, or if there should be no such vessel of war available for such purpose, then on board any British vessel bound to Singapore, or to some other port in the territories administered by the East India Company, or to England as the case may be; and it shall be lawful for the commander of any of Her Majesty's ships of war, or of any British vessel bound to any such port as aforesaid, or to England, to receive any such person as aforesaid under a warrant from the Consul to him addressed, and thereupon to convey him in custody to any such port as aforesaid, or to England, in the same manner as if he were a distressed British subject, unless he shall be willing and able himself to defray the expenses of his passage.

XVI.—And it is further ordered that in any case in which any British subject shall be accused before Her Majesty's Consul of the crime of arson, or house-breaking, or cutting and maiming, or stabbing, or wounding, or assault endangering life, or of wilfully causing any bodily injury dangerous to life, the proceedings before the Consul shall be carried on with the aid of assessors convened in the manner aforesaid; and it shall be lawful for the Consul, if to him it shall seem fit, to cause any person convicted before him of any of the crimes aforesaid, over and above any fine or imprisonment which may be awarded to such person, to be sent out of the dominions of the Kings of Siam in the manner pointed out in the next preceding Article of this Order, notwithstanding the crime laid to the charge of such person may be the first of which he has been convicted before the Consul.

XVII.—And it is further ordered that it shall be lawful for Her Majesty's Consul, within the dominions of the Kings of Siam, upon information laid before him by one or more credible witnesses, that there is reasonable ground to apprehend that any British subject is about to commit a breach of the public peace, to cause such British subject to be brought before him, and to require such British subject to give sufficient security to keep the peace; and in the event of any British subject being convicted of, and punished for, a breach of the peace, to cause such British subject, after he shall have undergone the punishment which may have been awarded to him by the Consul, to find security for his good behaviour; and in the event of any British subject who may be required, as aforesaid, to give sufficient security to keep the peace, or to find security for his good behaviour, being unable, or wilfully omitting to do so, then, and in that case, it shall be lawful for Her Majesty's Consul to send such British subject out of the dominions of the Kings of Siam in the manner pointed out in Article XV. of this Order.

XVIII.—And it is further ordered that in all cases in which a British subject shall have been sent out of the dominions of the Kings of Siam, as provided in Articles XV, XVI, and XVII of this Order, the Consul sending him out shall forthwith report such act of deportation, with the grounds of his decision, to Her Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, or, in a case where the party so deported is a native of the territories administered by the East India Company, to the Governor-General of India.

XIX.—And it is further ordered that in cases of assault it shall be lawful for the Consul before whom complaint is made, to promote reconciliation between the parties, and to suffer compensation and amends to be made, and the proceedings thereby to be stayed.

XX.—And it is further ordered that a minute of the proceedings in every case heard and determined before the Consul in pursuance of this Order, shall be drawn up and be signed by the Consul, and shall, in cases where assessors are present, be open for the inspection of such assessors, and for their signature, if they shall therein concur; and such minute, together with the depositions of the witnesses, shall be preserved in the public office of the said Consul.

XXI.—And it is further ordered that save and except as regards offences committed by British subjects against the stipulations of Treaties between Her Majesty and the Kings of Siam, or against rules and regulations for the observance of the stipulations of such Treaties, duly affixed and exhibited, according to the provisions of Article II of this Order, or against rules and regulations for the peace, order and good government of Her Majesty's subjects being within the dominions of the Kings of Siam, duly affixed and exhibited as aforesaid, no act done by a British subject being within the dominions of the Kings of Siam, shall, by Her Majesty's Consul, be deemed and taken to be a crime, or misdemeanour, or offence, rendering the person committing it amenable to punishment, which, if done within any part of Her Majesty's dominions, would not, by a court of justice, having criminal jurisdiction in Her Majesty's dominions, have been deemed and taken to be a crime, or misdemeanour, or offence, rendering the person so committing it amenable to punishment; and Her Majesty is pleased to appoint, by and with the advice of her Privy Council, Her Majesty's Possession of Singapore as the place where crimes and offences committed by British subjects within the dominions of the Kings of Siam, which it may be expedient shall be inquired of, tried, determined, and punished within Her Majesty's dominions, shall be so inquired of, tried, determined, and punished, and Her Majesty's Consul resident in the kingdom of Siam shall have authority to cause any British subject charged with the commission of any crime or offence, the cognizance whereof may, at any time, appertain to him, to be sent for trial to Her Majesty's said Possession of Singapore.

XXII.—And it is further ordered, that it shall be lawful for Her Majesty's Consul to cause any British subject charged with the commission of any crime or offence, the cognizance whereof may at any time appertain to him, to be sent, in any of Her Majesty's ships of war, or in any British vessel, to Her Majesty's Possession of Singapore, for trial before the Supreme Court of the said Possession; and it shall be lawful for the Commander of any of Her Majesty's ships of war, or of any British vessel, to receive any such person on board, with a warrant from the said Consul, addressed to the Chief Magistrate of Police of the said Possession, and thereupon to convey him in custody to Singapore, and on his arrival there to deliver him, with the said warrant, into the custody of the said Chief Magistrate of Police, or other officer within the said Possession lawfully acting as such, who, on the receipt of the said warrant and of the party therein named, shall be authorized to commit, and shall commit, such party so sent for trial to the common gaol of the said Possession, and it shall be lawful for the keeper of the said common gaol to cause such party to be detained in safe and proper custody, and to be produced upon the order of the said Supreme Court; and the Supreme Court, at the sessions to be next holden, shall proceed to hear and determine the charge against such party in the same manner as if the crime with which he may be charged had been committed within Her Majesty's Possession of Singapore.

XXIII.—And it is further ordered that Her Majesty's Consul, on any occasion of sending a prisoner to Singapore for trial, shall observe the provisions made with regard to prisoners sent for trial to a British colony in an Act passed in the 6th and 7th years of Her Majesty's reign, intitled "An Act to remove doubts as to the exercise of power and jurisdiction by Her Majesty within divers countries and places out of Her Majesty's dominions, and to render the same more effectual."

XXIV.—And it is further ordered that the Supreme Court of Her Majesty's Possession of Singapore shall have and may exercise, concurrently with Her Majesty's Consul, authority and jurisdiction in regard to all suits of a civil nature between British subjects arising within any part of the dominions of the Kings of Siam: Provided always that the said Supreme Court shall not be bound, unless in a fit case it shall deem it right so to do by writ of certiorari or otherwise, to debar or prohibit the Consul from hearing and determining, pursuant to the provisions of the several Articles of this Order, any suit of a civil nature between British subjects, or to stay the proceedings of the Consul in any such matter.

XXV.—And it is further ordered that all fines and penalties imposed under this Order may be levied by distress, and seizure, and sale of ships, and goods and chattels; and no bill of sale, mortgage, or transfer of property made after the apprehension of a party, or with a view to security in regard to crimes or offences committed, or to be committed, shall avail to defeat any of the provisions of this Order.

XXVI.—And it is further ordered that it shall be lawful for Her Majesty's Consul from time to time to establish rules of practice to be observed in proceedings before the said Consul, and to make regulations for defraying the expenses of witnesses in such proceedings and the costs of criminal prosecutions, and also to establish rates of fees to be taken in regard to civil suits heard and determined before the said Consul, and it shall be lawful for the said Consul to enforce by seizure and sale of goods, or, if there be no goods, by imprisonment, the payment of such established fees and of such expenses as may be adjudged against the parties, or either, or any, of them: Provided always that a table, specifying the rates of fees to be so taken, shall be affixed and kept exhibited in the public office of the said Consul.

XXVII.—And it is further ordered that all fees, penalties, fines, and forfeitures levied under this Order, save and except such penalties as may by Treaty be payable to the Siamese Government, shall be paid to the public account, and be applied in diminution of the public expenditure on account of Her Majesty's Consulate in Siam: Provided always that in the event of the Siamese authorities declining to receive fines payable to the Siamese Government as aforesaid, the same shall be paid to the public account, and applied in the manner last mentioned.

XXVIII.—And it is further ordered that it shall be lawful for Her Majesty's Consul to grant probate of the will or letters of administration to the intestate estate of a British subject deceased, and leaving property within the Kingdom of Siam; and in the case of a party so deceased either leaving a will, or intestate, it shall be lawful for the Consul, provided that probate of the will or letters of administration to the estate of the party deceased shall not have been applied for within 30 days by any person lawfully entitled thereto, to administer to such estate, and to reserve to himself out of the proceeds of such estate a commission not exceeding 2½ per centum.

XXIX.—And it is further ordered that a register shall be kept by Her Majesty's Consul of all British subjects residing within the Kingdom of Siam, and that every British subject now residing within the dominions of the Kings of Siam who shall not be already enrolled in such Consular Register, shall, within a reasonable time after promulgation of this Order, to be specified in a notice to be affixed and publicly exhibited in the Consular Office, apply to the Consul to be enrolled in such register; and every British subject who may arrive within the said dominions, save and except any British subject who may be borne on the muster-roll of any British ship arriving in a port of Siam, shall, within a reasonable time after his arrival, to be specified as aforesaid, apply to the Consul to be enrolled in such register; and any British subject who shall refuse or neglect to make application so to be enrolled, and who shall not be able to excuse, to the satisfaction of the said Consul, such his refusal or neglect, shall not be entitled to be recognized or protected as a British subject in any difficulties or suits whatsoever, in which he may have been involved within the dominions of the Kings of Siam within the time during which he shall not have been so enrolled.

XXX.—And it is further ordered that Her Majesty's Consul may exercise any of the powers which by any Acts of the Imperial Parliament now enacted or hereafter to be enacted for the regulation of merchant seamen, or for the regulation of the mercantile marine, may be exercised by one or more justices of the peace within Her Majesty's dominions.

XXXI.—And it is further ordered that nothing in this Order contained shall be taken or construed to preclude Her Majesty's Consul within the dominions of the Kings of Siam from performing any act of administration or jurisdiction, or other act, which British Consuls within other States at amity with Her Majesty are by law, usage, or sufferance, enabled to perform.

XXXII.—And it is further ordered that any suit or action brought against Her Majesty's Consul by reason of anything done under the authority and in execution of the power or jurisdiction of Her Majesty entrusted to him by this Order, shall be commenced or prosecuted within six months after he shall have been within the jurisdiction of the Court in which the same may be brought, and not otherwise, and the defendant in every such action or suit shall be entitled to the benefit of the provisions made with respect to defendants in actions or suits, in an Act passed in the 6th and 7th years of Her Majesty, intituled "An Act to remove doubts as to the exercise of power and jurisdiction by Her Majesty within divers countries and places out of Her Majesty's dominions, and to render the same more effectual."

XXXIII.—And it is further ordered that the term "Consul" in this present Order shall be construed to include all and every officer in Her Majesty's service, whether Consul-General, Consul, Vice-Consul, or Consular Agent, or person duly authorized to act in any of the aforesaid capacities within the dominions of the Kings of Siam, and engaged in carrying out the provisions of this Order; and that wherever in this order with reference to any person, matter, or thing, any word or words is or are used importing the singular number, or the masculine gender only, yet such word or words shall be understood to include several persons as well as one person, females as well as males, and several matters or things as well as one matter or thing, unless it be otherwise specially provided, or there be something in the subject or context repugnant to such construction.

XXXIV.—And it is further ordered, that this Order shall take effect from and after the 1st day of December next ensuing.

And the right honourable the Earl of Clarendon, and the Board of Commissioners for the Affairs of India, and the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, are to give the necessary directions herein, as to them may respectively appertain.

No. CLXXII.

LIEUTENANT ARTHUR HERBERT BAGGE, ROYAL ENGINEERS, HER BRITANNIC MAJESTY'S COMMISSIONER, with powers from HIS EXCELLENCY the RIGHT HONOURABLE SIR JOHN LAWRENCE, VICEROY AND GOVERNOR-GENERAL OF INDIA, on the one part, CHOW PHYA SRI SURI WONGSE, the SAMNHA PHRA KALAHOME, PRIME MINISTER, PRESIDENT of the WESTERN and SOUTH-WESTERN PROVINCES, and CHOW PHYA PHUTTA-RAPHAI, the SAMNHA NA YOKE, PRESIDENT of the NORTHERN and NORTH-WESTERN PROVINCES, with full powers from HIS MAJESTY the KING of SIAM, on the other part, have unanimously agreed to this CONVENTION regarding the BOUNDARIES on the MAIN-LAND between the KINGDOM of SIAM and the BRITISH PROVINCE of TENASSERIM, to wit:

On the north the channel of the River "Maymuey" (Siamese) or "Thoungyeng" (Burmese) up to its source in the "Pa Wau" range of mountains, the eastern or right bank of the said river being regarded as Siamese territory, and the western or left bank being regarded as English territory. Then along the "Pa Wau" range to the main watershed, and along it to "Khow Kra dook moo" or "Moogadok Toung" in the province of "Thee tha Wat." Here the boundary line crosses the valleys of the "Houng dran" and "Maygathat" Rivers in almost a straight line, and meets the main watershed near the common source of the "Pha be sa" and "Krata" Rivers. From this point it runs down the central range of mountains which forms the main watershed of the Peninsula as far as "Khow Htam Dayn" in the district of Chumpon, thence along the range known as "Khow Dayn Yai" as far as the source of the "Kra-na-ey" stream, which it follows to its junction with the Pakchan; thence down the Pakchan River to its mouth; the west or right bank belonging to the British, the eastern or left bank belonging to the Siamese.

With regard to the islands in the River Pakchan, those nearest to the English bank are to belong to the English and those nearest to the Siamese bank are to belong to the Siamese, excepting the island of "Kwan" off Maleewan, which is Siamese property.

The whole of the western bank of the River Pakchan down to Victoria Point shall belong to the British, and the eastern bank throughout shall belong to Siam.

This Agreement, written both in Siamese and English, shall fix the boundary line between the Kingdom of Siam and the British Province of Tenasserim for ever.

A Tabular Statement is attached to this Agreement, in which the various boundary marks in the valleys and along the mountain ranges are specified, together with their geographical positions.

Within the term of six months from the date of this Agreement, Her Britannic Majesty's Commissioner shall forward two maps which shall be compared with the present map now signed and sealed, showing the boundary in a "red line." Should the two maps be found correct, the British and Siamese Governments shall ratify the same.

Signed and sealed by the respective Commissioners at Bangkok on Saturday, the fifteenth day of the waxing moon, the year of Rabbit, the 9th of the Decade Siamese Civil Era 1229, corresponding with the eighth day of February 1868 of the Christian Era.

AFTER TITLES

I have received your Majesty's gratifying letter on the subject of the settlement of the boundary line between the Kingdom of Siam and the British Province of Tenasserim.

Lieutenant Arthur Herbert Bagge of the Royal Engineers, whom I had deputed as my Commissioner to demarcate the boundary, has also informed me of the satisfactory conclusion of this matter. He reports that there is now only one point remaining for adjustment between the two Governments, viz., the sovereignty of certain islands off the mouth of the Pakchan river.

There are altogether five islands or groups of islands situated there, viz., the island of Victoria, Saddle, Delisle, St. Matthew, and the Bird's-nest group.

Your Majesty's Government make no claim regarding St. Matthew and the Bird's-nest group. Regarding the three other islands, I am inclined to view the following as the best solution of the matter, viz., that the island of Victoria, which is nearer to the British than the Siamese Coast, should belong to the British Government, and that the two other islands, Saddle and Delisle, shall be considered part of your Majesty's territories. I have to invite your Majesty's friendly consideration to this proposed method of solving the only question remaining unadjusted. Feeling confident that its reasonableness will commend itself to your Majesty's judgment, I have affixed my seal and signature to the map prepared by Lieutenant Arthur Herbert Bagge, in which the islands are divided in the manner above proposed; and I have directed the Secretary of my Government in the Foreign Department to forward to your Majesty's Ministers the above map, with a duplicate, to which I have the honor to request that your Majesty will affix your Royal seal and signature, and will then direct its return to the Consul of Her Majesty the Queen of Great Britain and Ireland at Bangkok.

The agreement must be executed in duplicate, each party retaining a copy, and each copy must be sealed by the British Consul or Vice-Consul and a Siamese Judge and Commissioner at Chiangmai, appointed under Article 8 of this Convention, and be countersigned by a competent local authority, and every such agreement shall be duly registered in the British Consulate and in the Siamese Court at Chiangmai. Any British subject cutting or girdling trees in a forest without the consent of the owner of the forest obtained as aforesaid, or after the expiration of the agreement relating to it, shall be liable to pay such compensation to the owner of the forest as the British Consular Officer at Chiangmai shall adjudge.

Transfers of agreements shall be subject to the same formalities.

The charges for sealing, countersigning, and registration shall be fixed at a moderate scale, and published for general information,

The Siamese Judges and Commissioners at Chiangmai appointed under Article 8 shall, in conjunction with the local authorities, endeavour to prevent the owners of forests from executing agreements with more than one party for the same timber or forests, and to prevent any person from illegally marking or effacing the marks on timber which has been lawfully cut or marked by another person, and they shall give such facilities as are in their power to the purchasers and fellers of timber to identify their property. Should the owners of forests hinder the cutting, girdling, or removing of timber under agreements duly executed in accordance with Article 11 of this Convention the Siamese Judges and Commissioners of Chiangmai and the local authorities shall enforce the agreement, and the owners of such forests acting as aforesaid shall be liable to pay such compensation to the persons with whom they have entered into such agreements as the Siamese Judges and Commissioners at Chiangmai shall determine, in accordance with Siamese law.

ARTICLE 13.

Except as and to the extent specially provided, nothing in this Treaty shall be taken to affect the provisions of the Treaty of Friendship and Commerce between Her Majesty and the Kings of Siam of the 18th April 1855, and the Agreement supplementary thereto of the 13th May 1856.

ARTICLE 14.

This Treaty has been executed in English and Siamese, both versions having the same meaning; but it is hereby agreed that in the event of any question arising as to the construction thereof, the English text shall be accepted as conveying its true meaning and intention.

ARTICLE 15.

This Treaty shall come into operation immediately after the exchange of the ratifications thereof, and shall continue in force for seven years from that date, unless either of the two Contracting Parties shall give notice of their desire that it should terminate before that date. In such case, or in the event of notice not being given before the expiration of the said period of seven years, it shall remain in force until the expiration of one year from the day on which either of the High Contracting Parties shall have given such notice. The High Contracting Parties, however, reserve to themselves the power of making, by common consent, any modifications in these Articles which experience of their working may show to be desirable.

ARTICLE 16.

This Treaty shall be ratified, and the ratifications exchanged at Bangkok as soon as possible.

In witness whereof the respective Plenipotentiaries have signed the same in duplicate, and have affixed thereto their respective seals.

Every such District Court shall, subject to the provisions of this Order, have and exercise within its district all the powers and jurisdiction which can be exercised by the Consul-General under the Siam Orders in Council, and the Treaties or Agreements for the time being in force between Great Britain and Siam.

5. An appeal may be brought from a Judgment or Order of a District Court to the Consul-General in the like cases and in the like manner, and subject to the like regulations in, and subject to which an appeal can under the said Orders in Council be brought to the Supreme Court of the Straits Settlements; and for the purposes of this Article the provisions of the said Orders in Council shall have effect as if such District Court were therein mentioned instead of the Consul-General, and as if the Consul-General were therein mentioned instead of the said Supreme Court.

For the purposes of hearing and determining any such appeal the Consul-General may proceed in the same manner and shall have the same powers as if the appeal were an original proceeding instituted in his Court, and he shall certify his decision to the District Court, which shall give effect thereto.

6. Where an appeal is brought under this Order to the Court of the Consul-General a further appeal shall lie to the Supreme Court of the Straits Settlements in the like cases and manner and on the like grounds and conditions in and on which an appeal can under the said Orders in Council be brought from the Consul-General to the said Supreme Court.

7. In every case in which, under the said Orders in Council, a report of any proceedings, Order, Judgment, or sentence is directed to be made to Her Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, such report, if made by a District Court, shall be transmitted through the Consul-General, who shall transmit therewith his observations and recommendation (if any) in the matter.

8. The power of deportation under the said Orders in Council shall not be exercised by a District Court without the approbation in writing of the Consul-General.

9. Any Rules, Regulations, Rules of Practice, or Tables or Rates of Fees made by a District Court under this Order shall not have any effect unless approved in writing by the Consul-General, and shall also be subject to the provisions of the said Orders in Council with respect to allowance or disallowance by a Secretary of State, in the same cases and manner as Rules or Regulations made by the Consul-General.

10. Every Court acting under the Siam Orders in Council shall have power to rehear any civil matter, and to review its Judgments or Orders in any case in which, in the opinion of the Court, justice so requires, on such terms as to costs and otherwise as the Court thinks just.

11. In any matter in which an appeal lies as of right or otherwise from any Court acting under the Siam Orders in Council to the Supreme Court of the Straits Settlements, it shall be lawful for that Supreme Court, by special leave, to enlarge the time for appealing or to permit an appeal to be brought on such terms as to costs or otherwise as it thinks fit, although the time limited for appeal has elapsed, or any other formal requisite for an appeal has not been complied with.

12. The Governor in Council of the Straits Settlements shall have power, in the name of Her Majesty, to remit in whole or in part any sentence passed by a Court exercising criminal jurisdiction under the Siam Orders in Council, and every such Court shall give effect to any such remission.

13. Every Court acting under the Siam Orders in Council (including the Supreme Court of the Straits Settlements in the exercise of concurrent jurisdiction under the Siam Orders in Council) shall be a Court of Bankruptcy, and as such shall, so far as circumstances admit, have with respect to British subjects and to Siamese subjects or foreigners submitting to the jurisdiction of the Court any such civil jurisdiction in bankruptcy within the district of such Court as can be exercised by any Court exercising bankruptcy jurisdiction in the Straits Settlements.

14. With the consent of the Government of the King of Siam, and at the request of the Consul-General, a Judge of the Supreme Court of the Straits Settlements may exercise at Bangkok or elsewhere within Siam any such civil or criminal jurisdiction as can, under the Siam Orders in Council, be exercised in Siam by the Consul-General or a Consul or Vice-Consul, or as can, under the said Orders in Council, or the Foreign Jurisdiction Acts, or any Acts of Parliament relating to Siam or to the Straits Settlements, be exercised at Singapore or elsewhere in the Straits Settlements by the Supreme Court of the Straits Settlements in relation to crimes committed or matters arising in Siam; and a Judge acting in Siam in pursuance of this Article may pass any sentence or give any Judgment or make any order which could be passed, given, or made by the said Supreme Court in relation to the same offence or matter, and for the purposes of the 5th section of "The Foreign Jurisdiction Act, 1843," (or any enactment for the time being in force amending or substituted for that section) in relation to the execution of sentences, the Colony of the Straits Settlements is hereby appointed as a Colony in which any sentence so passed may be executed.

An appeal may be brought from a Judgment or Order of a Judge acting under this Article in the like cases and in the like manner (mutatis mutandis) in which an appeal might be brought if such Judgment or Order were given or made by the Consul-General.

15. Where in pursuance of the IXth Article of the Treaty between Great Britain and Siam, dated the 3rd September 1883, an appeal is brought to Bangkok from any Siamese Judge or Judges, Commissioner or Commissioners, the Consul-General shall take such steps as may be necessary or as may be directed by a Secretary of State in order that the final decision on appeal may be recorded at Bangkok and duly transmitted to the Court from which the appeal is brought, and in order that effect may be given thereto by such Court.

16. Where, by virtue of the Siam Orders in Council or otherwise, any Imperial Acts are applicable in Siam, or any forms, regulations, or procedure prescribed or established by or under any such Order or Act in relation to any matter are made applicable to any other matter, such Acts, forms, regulations, or procedure shall be deemed applicable so far only as the constitution and jurisdiction of the Courts acting under the Orders and the local circumstances permit, and for the purpose of facilitating their application they may be construed or used with such alterations and adaptations not affecting the substance as may be necessary, and anything required to be done by or to any Court, Judge, officer, or authority may be done by or to a Court, Judge, officer, or authority, having the like or analogous functions; and the seal of the Court may be substituted for any seal required by any such Act, form, regulation, or procedure.

17.—(1.) In cases of murder or manslaughter, if either the death or the criminal act which wholly or partly caused the death happened within the jurisdiction of a Court acting under this Order, such Court shall have the like jurisdiction over any British subject who is charged either as the principal offender or as accessory before the fact to murder, or as accessory after the fact to murder or manslaughter, as if both such criminal act and the death had happened within such jurisdiction.

(2.) In the case of any crime committed on the high seas, or within the Admiralty jurisdiction, by any British subject on board a British ship, or on board a foreign ship to which he did not belong, a Court acting under this Order shall have jurisdiction as if the crime had been committed within the district of such Court.

(3.) In cases tried under this Article, no different sentence can be passed from the sentence which could be passed in England if the crime were tried there.

(4.) The foregoing provisions of this Article shall be deemed to be adaptations, for the purposes of this Order and of "The Foreign Jurisdiction Act, 1878," of the following enactments described in the first schedule to that Act (that is to say) :—

"The Admiralty Offences (Colonial) Act, 1849."

"The Admiralty Offences (Colonial) Act, 1860."

"The Merchant Shipping Act, 1867," section 11.

And the said enactments shall, so far as they are repeated and adopted by this Article (but not further or otherwise), extend to all places to which this Order applies.

18. "The Fugitive Offenders Act, 1881," shall, with respect to British subjects, apply to all places to which this Order applies, as if such places were British possessions, and for the purposes of Part II of the said Act and of this Article, all the places to which this Order for the time being applies, and the Straits Settlements, shall, for the purposes of Part II of the said Act, be deemed to be one group of British possessions, and the Consul shall, as regards any place within his jurisdiction, have the powers of a Governor or Superior Court of a British possession.

19. Rules and forms of procedure in civil and criminal matters in any Court acting under the Siam Orders in Council may, from time to time, be made and prescribed by the Consul-General, subject to the provisions of the said Orders; but no such rules or forms shall come into operation until they have been approved, with or without alteration, by a Secretary of State, provided that—

(1.) Any such rules or forms, if and as provisionally approved, with or without alteration, by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the Straits Settlements, shall have effect pending approval or disapproval by Secretary of State.

(2.) Until rules and forms have been made and approved, or provisionally approved, under this Article in relation to any matter, any rules or forms heretofore in force or use in the Court of the Consul-General, or in the Supreme Court of the Straits Settlements, or in the Consular Courts of Shanghai or Japan, may be observed and used in any Court acting under this Order, with such modifications as circumstances require.

20. For all the purposes of the Siam Orders in Council the expression "British subject" includes every person for the time being properly enjoying Her Majesty's protection in Siam, in so far as by Treaty, Capitulation, grant, usage, sufferance, or other lawful means, Her Majesty has jurisdiction in Siam in relation to such persons.

And the Right Honourable the Earl Granville and the Right Honourable the Earl of Kimberley, two of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, and the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, are to give the necessary directions herein as to them may respectively appertain.

APPENDIX No. 4.—Page 463.

ROYAL DECREE of the KING of SIAM, under the Treaty of 1883.

Dated the 9th January 1885.

Phrabat Somdetch Phra Paramindr Maha Chulalonkorn Patindr Debia Maba Mongkut Purnsaratne Rajarawiwongse, Warutwabongse Paribat Warakhattiarajanikarotama Chaturantaparama Maha Chakrabartirajatangkas Paramadharmika Maharajadhiraja Paramanarth Pabitr Phra Chula Chom Klow King of Siam, fifth Sovereign of the present Royal Dynasty which, founded the City Ratne Kosindr Mahendr Ayudhya at Bangkok, the great Capital of the Dominions of Siam, both Northern and Southern, Suzerain of Laos Chiang, and Laos Kow, Malayan and Korean Dependencies, etc., etc., etc., having ascended the throne in the Royal Audience Hall Chakree Maha Prasad Borom Raj Piman in the Royal Palace, the Royal Princes, the Ministers of State, Councillors, men of high legal and scientific knowledge and officers of the Civil and Military Departments, being assembled in Audience, His Majesty graciously signified His pleasure that—

Whereas a new Convention has been made between Siam and Great Britain with a view to promote trade and commerce in the Provinces of Chiang-mai, Lakon and Lampoon, and with a view to reorganize the mode of legal procedure in cases between Laos and foreigners; it therefore pleased His Majesty to appoint further Judges for the International Court at Chiangmai in addition to those already there, whose duty it shall be to examine all such cases, in order that the Royal Commissioner previously appointed, may give his attention to the discussion and settlement of subjects connected with foreign countries in conjunction with the Consul or Vice-Consul in Chiangmai, and it pleased His Majesty to command that His Royal Highness Krom Phra Bamrap Parapax Samuha Nayoke should consult with the Royal Judges (Luk Khun Sala and Luk Khun San Luang) and establish laws for the guidance of the Royal Commissioner and Judges, and for the use of the Laos Courts in Chiangmai as follows:—

Article 1st.—All matters connected with the subjects and citizens of foreign countries which have treaty relations with Siam, which may arise in any part of the three Northern States of Siam, namely Chiangmai, Lakon and Lampoonchi, shall be under the supervision of the Royal Commissioner for Foreign Affairs who is appointed by His Majesty the King for this purpose.

Article 2nd.—All matters connected with the subjects and citizens of foreign countries having treaty relations with Siam and the three Northern States, unless there shall be an order or authorization from the Royal Commissioner for Foreign Affairs for the said State or a despatch bearing the Phra-Racchasi seal authorizing the same, shall not be administered or interfered with.

in any manner by any Prince or Chief or officer or person of any rank whatever. If any one shall meddle with such matters whether his action is right or wrong he shall be adjudged as having done wrong, and all such actions shall be considered as null and void, and will not be considered as having any official force whatever.

Article 3rd.—The Royal Commissioner for Foreign Affairs is invested with full power to compel the various departments of the three States of Chiang-mai, Lakon and Lampoonchi to do whatever is just and in keeping with their official duties with a view to regulate and control all foreign affairs in his department. All the officers of the various departments shall give heed to and obey his instructions. If, however, such instructions are unjust and not consistent with duty to Government, let the officers and provincial authorities hasten to report the matter to Bangkok and the Minister of the North has power to set aside and annul such improper orders and actions of the Royal Commissioner.

Article 4th.—The Royal Commissioner for Foreign affairs shall appoint officers to perform the various duties necessary for the effectual carrying out of the provisions of the Treaty, and it shall always be the duty of the Royal Commissioner to explain the meaning of the Treaty and the law and what is just and suitable for the information of the various Princes, Chiefs and officers, and if any difficulties shall arise in regard to any official matter in his department or outside of it and the Chiefs and officers concerned shall come to ask his opinion on the subject or to receive his orders, it shall be his duty to give them his advice, assistance and instructions whenever requested. He shall not offer objections or postpone or neglect the matter nor fail to use his best endeavours to render them such assistance.

Article 5th.—It shall be the duty of the Royal Commissioner to make arrangements and regulations and establish stations for the purpose of being accurately informed at all times with regard to the number and nationality of foreigners from friendly nations who enter the States under his jurisdiction, and as to where they are, and to take proper precautions to prevent others falsely passing themselves off as such. If there is any reason for suspicion, it shall be his duty to make proper investigations and representations regarding the matter, and it shall be the duty of the Royal Commissioner to issue proper passports to people to travel or trade in foreign countries.

Article 6th.—It shall be the duty of the Royal Commissioner to exercise a watchful care to prevent an unlawful or improper collection of taxes or obstruction of trade. Whenever any new tax is to be collected or if any change is to be made in the tariff of taxes, the Rulers of the country shall consult with the Royal Commissioner who shall examine the matter with care and not suffer anything to be done contrary to the treaties or allow any obstruction to trade or unreasonable exactions to be established which will be a cause of hindrance to trade. The method of collecting taxes shall not be allowed to be such as to cause unnecessary difficulties to the people and to traders as that they cannot have reasonable advantages. When such matters have been agreed upon, it shall be the duty of the Royal Commissioner to publish the same accurately and properly.

Article 7th.—It shall be the duty of the Royal Commissioner to supervise and direct that the authorities of the Krom Mu'ang Department shall establish a proper police force to guard the frontier of the country, that there may be no carelessness and neglect of duty in this respect, and further he has full power to devise means to prevent crime and to bring criminals to justice who are in any way connected with the subjects and citizens of friendly nations. If any person guilty of committing any of the crimes mentioned in the extradition laws shall escape from the territory of a friendly power into any of the three States, or if any such person shall escape into the territory of a friendly power, it shall be the duty of the Royal Commissioner to take suitable action for the extradition of such offenders according to the extradition laws, dated 13th July 1885, and that the interests of both countries may not be allowed to suffer.

Article 8th.—The Royal Commissioner shall be the chief of the Forest Department of the three Northern States of Siam, and, in like manner, as the chief of the Forest Department in Bangkok, he shall exercise full authority in superintending and administering all matters connected with the forests according to the regulations at the time in force, but he shall be under the instructions of the authorities in Bangkok. Whatever action he shall take or if he shall experience any difficulties, he shall report them to the chief of the Forest Department in Bangkok on every occasion.

Article 9th.—All law-suits in which foreign subjects are parties either as plaintiffs or defendants, shall be heard and determined only in the International Court at Chiangmai which His Majesty has been pleased to establish the sole Court for the hearing of all such cases, and if any such cases as aforementioned shall arise and it shall be necessary to investigate and decide them in Lakon or Lampoon or in any other State, the Royal Commissioner, after receipt of a Thongkra from Bangkok giving special authorization in the particular case, is at liberty to try the case civilly or criminally in Chiangmai or in such other State as he shall think fit, in accordance with the laws of Siam.

Article 10th.—In the examination of cases or of witnesses in this Court the use of ordeal by diving under water or by walking through fire, etc., and investigation by means of flogging, the head-screw, the thumb-screw, and the other means prescribed by the criminal procedure law, inflicting punishment in cases of suspicion or slighter doubt, when the actual truth is not ascertained, are not permitted in the practice of the Court.

Article 11th.—In the examination of criminal cases, if it does not appear from the evidence given by witnesses taken from the common people that the accused parties are guilty, and if there is still ground for suspecting the accused, let them give proper securities and then set them at liberty.

Article 12th.—All cases to be tried in this Court in which either of the parties, without reference to his rank or position, shall duly and in legal form appoint an attorney to represent him, or in case either of the parties is at a distance from the Court and shall go before a Local Magistrate and make out a power of attorney in due form and pay the established fee, the Court shall allow such attorneys to appear instead of their clients.

Article 13th.—In the investigation of all cases in which a foreign subject is a defendant or in which both parties are foreign subjects, the Consul or Vice-Consul of the party or parties shall be allowed to attend the hearing of the case and be informed of all the proceedings according to the Treaty. And if the Consul or Vice-Consul shall consider the proceedings of the Judge unjust, he may make note of any suggestions or objections in writing to the Judge, and the Judge shall consider whether such objections are in accordance with law and justice, and, in case the Judge does not approve of them, he shall note his reasons in writing, except as hereinafter provided, and he shall proceed with the case to the end and shall decide the case according to law.

Article 14th.—Any case in which foreign subjects are defendants or in which both parties are foreign subjects, if their Consul shall disagree with the opinion of the Judge as mentioned in the foregoing article, and they shall not be able to come to an agreement on the subject, if the Consul shall make out a requisition to the Judge that the case be referred to his Court for trial, let the Judge deliver the case up to him according to the Treaty. All cases besides those mentioned herein shall be determined in the International Court alone.

Article 15th.—There cannot be any appeal to Bangkok in any case before judgment is given, but if the parties object to any order of the Judge, they may enter a protest and the Judge shall record such protest and the Judge shall have his own answer to every such protest recorded as well. In case the parties make such objections and the Judge shall refuse to receive them, let the parties report the matter to the Royal Commissioner. After judgment is given, if either of the parties shall desire to appeal to Bangkok, the following form shall be observed.

Article 16th.—It shall be the duty of the Royal Commissioner to have an oversight of the chief Judge and inferior Judges who have been appointed by His Gracious Majesty to try cases connected with foreign subjects in the three Northern States, in connection with the Judges appointed in those States, in order that they may administer justice. If either the plaintiff or defendant in any case is dissatisfied with the decision or the order of any Judge on any point, and desires to appeal the case to Bangkok, he shall lodge a notice of appeal within 15 days after the decision has been given, and in accordance with the Treaty he must first ask the sanction and consent of the Commissioner, and the Commissioner shall enquire into the matter, and in case he finds there is suitable ground for appeal he shall allow the appeal to be made. But if the Royal Commissioner shall find that the object is simply to cause delay and to avoid the judgment, he shall enforce the judgment before allowing the appeal to be made. In any case in which the Judges have received notice of an appeal, and the Commissioner shall consider that the appeal should be allowed, he shall forward a transcript of all the proceedings in the case to Bangkok. But the Commissioner cannot receive or try any appeal against the decision of the Judges or set aside or overthrow the decision of the Judges except in case he shall receive instructions to that effect from Bangkok. If the Judges shall act contrary to law or justice in any matter of great or small importance, let the Commissioner without fail report the matter to Bangkok without delay.

Article 17th.—If the Royal Commissioner or the Judges shall act in any respect contrary to the law, any one can complain against them in Bangkok, and in Bangkok only, if the complaint is not of the nature of an appeal against a decision in any case.

Article 18th.—As to receiving complaints, if any complaint is made to the Court, and the Judge who receives the complaint considers that it should be entertained and that there are charges to be collected according to the established tariff, let a summons be issued for the defendant which shall bear the seal and signature of the Commissioner. In civil cases where there appears to be no proof or where no Court-fees are deposited by the plaintiff as security, the Judge shall dismiss the case, and shall not suffer such cases to remain on the docket of the Court as an incumbrance.

In criminal cases the Royal Commissioner shall appoint an attorney for the State to collect evidence and prosecute the case.

Article 19th.—When a decision has been given by the Judge or in cases where there is no security furnished and where the parties wish to watch each other, let the Judge hand over the parties in the case to the Commissioner who shall then hand them over to the custody of a proper officer pending the decision, and in decided cases the officer may, to enforce the decision, confine them in the lock-up for detaining persons sub judice or in the prison for condemned persons. If such parties are subjects of foreign powers, the Consul shall have free access to them.

Article 20th.—In any case in which a foreign subject shall be imprisoned under a sentence of the Judge, if the Consul shall, by a written requisition under his hand, require that the prisoner be removed to the Consular prison, there to undergo the residue of his term of imprisonment, the Commissioner shall hand over such person to the Consul.

Article 21st.—The Commissioner and the Judges together with the Rulers of the three Northern States of Chiangmai, Lakhon and Lampoonchi are empowered to establish rules regulating the procedure in cases concerning foreigners or natives for the better and more effectual administration of justice. But before such rules shall be enforced, they shall be reported to the authorities in Bangkok.

Proclaimed on 9th January 1885.

ROYAL DECREE of the KING of SIAM under the TREATY of 1883, dated 28th April, 1887.

Phra Bat Somdetch Phra, etc., etc., etc.

Preamble.—Whereas a Royal Decree, dated the 9th January 1885, was promulgated in several Articles containing instructions to the Judges of the Court established in accordance with the Treaty concluded between Siam and Great Britain on the 3rd September 1883, and whereas it seems expedient to us to make certain alterations and amendments to our said Decree; it has pleased His Majesty to aver as follows:—

That Article 12 be taken to refer only to civil cases.

That Article 13 be annulled and the following substituted for it:—

In the investigation of all cases in which a British subject is a party or in which both parties are British subjects, the Consul or Vice-Consul is entitled according to the Treaty to be present at the hearing, and to be furnished with copies of the proceedings, which, when the defendant or accused is a British subject, shall be supplied free of charge, and to make any suggestions to the Judge or Judges which he may think proper in the interests of justice. Such copies shall be furnished from time to time as the Consul or Vice-Consul may request.

The judgment shall be communicated to the Consul or Vice-Consul in draft form before its delivery in Court, in cases where the defendant or both parties are British subjects, and in other cases the judgment shall not be delivered except in the presence of the Consul or Vice-Consul, unless he shall have had due notice beforehand.

That the following be substituted for Article 14:—

The Consul or Vice-Consul has power under the Treaty at any time before judgment, if he thinks proper in the interests of justice, by a written requisition under his hand, directed to the Judge or Judges, to signify his desire that any cases in which both parties are British subjects be transferred for adjudication to the British Consular Court. If therefore the Consul or Vice-Consul shall make a requisition to the Judge or Judges as provided by Treaty, let them hand over the case to him.

In Article 15 omit the words:—In case the parties make such objections and the Judge shall refuse to receive them, let the parties report the matter to the Royal Commissioner.

For Article 16, substitute the following:—

In civil and criminal cases in which British subjects may be parties in the International Court either party is entitled to appeal to Bangkok; if a British subject with the sanction and consent of the British Consul or Vice-Consul, and in other cases by leave of the Judge or Judges who shall have tried the case.

Pending the result of this appeal, the judgment of the Court at Chiangmai shall be suspended on such terms and conditions (if any) as shall be agreed upon between the said Judge or Judges and the Consul or Vice-Consul.

Rules of appeal which have been agreed upon between His Majesty's Minister for Foreign Affairs and Her Britannic Majesty's Minister Resident are hereto annexed, and will be binding upon parties wishing to appeal.

This Decree given on Thursday, the 7th waxing of the 6th month of the year Kun 1249 of the Siamese astronomical era in the 20th year of His Majesty's Reign, corresponding to 28th April 1887.

By His Majesty's Command,
